5 And he that was gouernour of Ahabs house, and he that ruled the citie, and the Elders, and the bringers vp of the children sent to Iehu, saying, We are thy seruants, and will do all that thou shalt bid vs: we will make no king: do what seemeth good to thee.

6 ¶ Then hee wrote another letter to them, saying, If yee be mine, and will obey my voyce, e take the heads of the men that are your masters sonnes, and come to me to Izreel by to morowe this time. (Now the kings sonnes, euen seuentie persons were with the great men of the citie, which brought them vp.)

7 And when the letter came to them, they tooke the Kings sonnes, and slewe the seuentie persons, and layd their heads in baskets, and sent them vnto him to Izreel.

8 ¶ Then there came a messenger and tolde him, saying, They haue brought the heads of the Kings sonnes. And he said, Let them lay them on two heapes at the entring in of the gate vntill the morning.

9 And when it was day he went out, and stood and said to all the people, Ye be d righteous: behold, I conspired against my master, and slewe him: but who slew all these?

10 Knowe nowe that there shall fall vnto the earth nothing of the word of the Lord, which the Lord spake concerning the house of Ahab: for the Lord hath brought to passe the things that he spake † by his seruant * Elijah.

11 So Iehu slew all that remained of the house of Ahab in Izreel, and all that were great with him, and his familiars, and his e priests, so that he let none of his remaine.

12 ¶ And he arose, and departed, and came to Samaria. And as Iehu was in the way by an house where the sheepheards did sheare, 13 He met with the brethren of Ahaziah king of Iudah, and said, Who are ye? And they answered, Wee are the brethren of Ahaziah, and goe downe to salute the children of the King and the children of the Queene.

14 And he said, Take them aliue. And they tooke them aliue, and slew them at the well beside the house where the sheepe are shorne, euen two and fourtie men, and he f left not one of them.

15 ¶ And when he was departed thence, hee met with Iehonadab the sonne of Rechab coming to meete him, and hee g || blessed him, and said to him, Is thine heart vpright, as mine heart is toward thine? And Iehonadab answered, Yea, doubtlesse. Then giue me thine hand. And when he had giuen him his hand, hee tooke him vp to him into the charet.

16 And he said, Come with mee, and see the zeale that I haue for the Lord: so they made him ride in his charet.

17 And when he came to Samaria, he slewe all that remained vnto Ahab in Samaria, till he had destroyed him, according to the word of the Lord, which he spake to Elijah.

18 Then Iehu assembled all the people, and said vnto them, Ahab serued h Baal a little, but Iehu shall serue him much more.

19 Now therefore call vnto mee all the prophets of Baal, all his seruants, and all his priests, and let not a man be lacking: for I haue a great sacrifice for Baal: whosoeuer is lacking, he shall not liue. But Iehu did it by a subtiltie to destroy the seruants of Baal.

20 And Iehu said, † Proclaime a solemne assembly for Baal. And they proclaimed it.

21 So Iehu sent vnto all Israel, and all the seruants of Baal came, and there was not a man left that came not. And they came into the house of Baal, and the house of Baal was full from ende to ende.

22 Then hee sayde vnto him that had the charge of the vestry, Bring forth vestments for all the seruants of Baal. And hee brought them out vestments.

23 And when Iehu went, and Iehonadab the sonne of Rechab into the house of Baal, he saide vnto the seruants of Baal, Search diligently, and looke, least there be here with you any of the † seruants of the Lord, but the seruants of Baal onely.

24 And when they went in to make sacrifice and burnt offering, Iehu appointed fourescore men without, and sayd, If any of the men whom I haue brought into your handes, escape, || his soule shall be for his soule.

25 And when hee had made an ende of the burnt offering, Iehu sayd to the guard, and to the captaines, Goe in, slay them, let not a man come out. And they smote them with the edge of the sword. And the gard, and the captaines cast them out, and went into the k city, where was the temple of Baal.

26 And they brought out the images of the temple of Baal, and burnt them.

27 And they destroyed the image of Baal, and threw downe the house of Baal, and made a iakes of it vnto this day.

28 So Iehu destroyed Baal out of Israel.

29 But from the sinnes of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat which made Israel to sinne, Iehu departed not from them, neither from the golden calues that were in Beth-el and that were in Dan.

30 ¶ And the Lord sayd vnto Iehu, Because thou hast diligently executed that which was right in mine eyes, and hast done vnto the house of Ahab according to all things that were in mine heart, therefore shall thy l sonnes vnto the fourth generation sit on the throne of Israel.

31 But Iehu regarded not to walke in the law of the Lord God of Israel with all his heart: for hee departed not from the sinnes of Ieroboam, which made Israel to sinne.

32 In those dayes the Lord began to || loathe Israel, and Hazael smote them in all the coasts of Israel.

33 From Iorden Eastward, euen all the land of Gilead, the Gadites, and the Reubenites, and them that were of Manasseh, from Aroer (which is by the riuer Arnon) and Gilead and Bashan.

34 Concerning the rest of the actes of Iehu, and all that he did, and all his valiant deedes, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel?

35 And Iehu slept with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria, and Iehoahaz his sonne reigned in his stead.

36 And the time that Iehu reigned ouer Israel in Samaria is eight and twentie yeeres.

1 Amaziah the king of Iudah putteth to death them that slewe his father. 7 and after smiteth Edom. 15 Ioash dieth, and Ieroboam his sonne succeedeth him. 29 And after him reigneth Zachariah.

10 Because thou hast smitten Edom, thine heart hath made thee proude: [f] bragge of glory, and tary at home. Why doest thou prouoke to thine hurt, that thou shouldest fall, and Iudah with thee?

11 But Amaziah would not heare: therefore Iehoash king of Israel went vp: and he and Amaziah king of Iudah saw one another in the face at Beth-shemesh which is in Iudah.

12 And Iudah was put to the worse before Israel, and they fled euery man to their tents.

13 But Iehoash king of Israel tooke Amaziah king of Iudah, the sonne of Iehoash the sonne of Ahaziah at Beth-shemesh, and ‖ came to Ierusalem, and brake downe the wall of Ierusalem from the gate of Ephraim to the corner gate, foure hundreth cubites.

14 And hee tooke all the gold and siluer, and all the vessels that were found in the house of the Lord, and in the treasures of the kings house, and the children that were in [g] hostage, and returned to Samaria.

15 Concerning the rest of the acts of Iehoash which he did, and his valiant deeds, and how hee fought with Amaziah king of Iudah, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel?

16 And Iehoash slept with his fathers, and was buried at Samaria among the kings of Israel: and Ieroboam his sonne reigned in his stead.

17 ¶ And Amaziah the sonne of Ioash king of Iudah, liued after the death of Iehoash sonne of Iehoahaz king of Israel, fiftеene yeere.

18 Concerning the rest of the acts of Amaziah, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Iudah?

19 But they * wrought treason against him in Ierusalem, and he fled to [h] Lachish, but they sent after him to Lachish, and slew him there.

20 And they brought him on horses, and hee was buried at Ierusalem with his fathers in the citie of Dauid.

21 Then all the people of Iudah tooke [i] Azariah which was sixteene yeere old, and made him king for his father Amaziah.

22 Hee built [k] Elath, and restored it to Iudah, after that the king slept with his fathers.

23 ¶ In the fifteenth yeere of Amaziah the sonne of Ioash king of Iudah, was Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash made king ouer Israel in Samaria, and reigned one and fortie yeere.

24 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord: for he departed not from all the [l] sinnes of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne.

25 Hee restored the coast of Israel, from the entring of Hamath, vnto the sea of the wildernesse, according to the word of the Lord God of Israel, which he spake † by his seruant Ionah the sonne of Amittai the Prophet, which was of Gath Hepher.

26 For the Lord saw the exceeding bitter affliction of Israel, so that there was none [m] shut vp, nor any left, neither yet any that could helpe Israel.

27 Yet the Lord * had not decreed to put out the name of Israel from vnder the heauen: therefore he preserued them by the hand of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash.

28 Concerning the rest of the acts of Ieroboam, and all that he did, and his valiant deeds, and how he fought, and how hee restored Damascus, and [n] Hamath to Iudah in Israel, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel?

29 So Ieroboam slept with his fathers, euen with the kings of Israel, and Zachariah his sonne reigned in his stead.

Lord, according to all that his father Amaziah did.

4 But the hie places were not put away: for the people yet offered, and burned incense in the hie places.

5 And the Lord b smote the king: and he was a leper vnto the day of his death, and dwelt in an house apart, & Iotham the kings sonne gouerned the house, and c iudged the people of the land.

6 Concerning the rest of the actes of Azariah, and all that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Iudah?

7 So Azariah slept with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the citie of Dauid, and Iotham his sonne reigned in his stead.

8 ¶ In the eight and thirtieth yeere of Azariah king of Iudah, did Zachariah the sonne of Ieroboam reigne ouer Israel in Samaria six e moneths.

9 And did euill in the sight of the Lord, as did his fathers: for hee departed not from the sinnes of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne.

10 And Shallum the sonne of Iabesh conspired against him, & smote him in the sight of the people, and e killed him, and reigned in his stead.

11 Concerning the rest of the actes of Zachariah, behold, they are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel.

12 This was the * word of the Lord, which he spake vnto Iehu, saying, Thy sonnes shall sit on the throne of Israel vnto the fourth generation after thee. And it came so to passe.

13 ¶ Shallum the sonne of Iabesh began to reigne in the nine and thirtieth yeere of Vzziah King of Iudah: and he reigned the space of a moneth in Samaria.

14 For Menahem the sonne of Gadi went vp from Tirzah, and came to Samaria, and smote Shallum the sonne of Iabesh in Samaria, and slew him, and reigned in his stead.

15 Concerning the rest of the actes of Shallum, and the treason which he wrought, behold, they are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel.

16 ¶ Then Menahem destroyed f Tiphsah, and all that were therein, and the coasts thereof from Tirzah, because they opened not to him, and hee smote it, and ript vp all their women with child.

17 The nine and thirtieth yeere of Azariah king of Iudah, began Menahem the sonne of Gadi to reigne ouer Israel, and reigned ten yeeres in Samaria.

18 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, and departed not all his dayes from the sinne of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat which made Israel to sinne.

19 ¶ Then Pul the king of Asshur came against the g land: and Menahem gaue Pul a thousand talents of siluer, that his hand might be with him, and establish the kingdome in his hand.

20 And Menahem exacted the money in Israel, that all men of substance should giue the king of Asshur fifty shekels of siluer a piece: so the king of Asshur returned, and taried not there in the land.

21 Concerning the rest of the actes of Menahem, and all that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel?

22 And Menahem slept with his fathers, and Pekahiah his sonne did reigne in his stead, 23 ¶ In the fiftieth yeere of Azariah king of Iudah, began Pekahiah the sonne of Menahem to reigne ouer Israel in Samaria, & reigned two yere.

24 And he did euill in the sight of the Lord: for he departed not from the sinnes of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat which made Israel to sinne.

25 And Pekah the sonne of Remaliah, his captain conspired against him, and smote him in Samaria in the place of the kings palace with h Argob and Arieh, and with him fifty men of the Gileadites: so he killed him, and reigned in his stead.

26 Concerning the rest of the actes of Pekahiah, and all that he did, behold, they are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel.

27 ¶ In the two and fiftieth yeere of Azariah King of Iudah, began Pekah the sonne of Remaliah to reigne ouer Israel in Samaria, and reigned twentie yeere.

28 And he did euill in the sight of the Lord: for he departed not from the sinnes of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat that made Israel to sinne.

29 In the dayes of Pekah king of Israel i came Tiglath Pileser king of Asshur, and took Iion, and Abel, Beth-maachah, and Ianoah, and Kedesh, and Hazor, and Gilead, and Galilah, and all the land of Naphtali, and caried them away to Asshur.

30 And Hoshea the sonne of Elah wrought treason against Pekah the sonne of Remaliah, and smote him, and slew him, and reigned in his stead in the twentieth yeere of Iotham the sonne of Vzziah.

31 Concerning the rest of the actes of Pekah, and all that he did, behold, they are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel.

32 ¶ * In the second yeere of Pekah the sonne of Remaliah King of Israel, began Iotham sonne of ‖ Vzziah King of Iudah to reigne.

33 Fiue and twentie yeere old was hee, when he began to reigne, and he reigned sixteene yeere in Ierusalem: and his mothers name was Ierusha the daughter of Zadok.

34 And hee did vprightly in the sight of the Lord: he did according k to all that his father Vzziah had done.

35 But the hie places were not put away: for the people yet offered and burnt incense in the hie places: he built the higheſt gate of the house of the Lord.

36 Concerning the rest of the actes of Iotham, and all that hee did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Iudah?

37 In l those dayes the Lord began to send against Iudah, Rezin the king of Aram, and m Pekah the sonne of Remaliah.

yea, and made his sonne to b go through the fire, after the abominations of the heathen, whom the Lord had cast out before the children of Israel.

4 Also he offered and burnt incense in the hie places, and on the hils, and vnder euery greene tree.

5 * Then Rezin King of Aram and Pekah sonne of Remaliah king of Israel came vp to Ierusalem, to fight: and they besieged Ahaz, but could not ouercome c him.

6 At the same time Rezin king of Aram restored d Elath to Aram, and droue the Iewes from Elath: so the Aramites came to Elath, and dwelt there vnto this day.

7 Then Ahaz sent e messengers to Tiglath Pileser king of Asshur, saying, I am thy seruant and thy sonne: come vp, and deliuer mee out of the hand of the king of Aram, and out of the hand of the king of Israel which rise vp against me.

8 And Ahaz tooke the siluer and the golde that was found in the f house of the Lord, and in the treasures of the kings house, and sent a present vnto the king of Asshur.

9 And the king of Asshur consented vnto him: and the king of Asshur went vp against Damascus. And when he had taken it, he caried the people away to Kir, and slew Rezin.

10 And king Ahaz went vnto Damascus to meete Tiglath Pileser king of Asshur: and when king Ahaz saw the altar that was at Damascus, he sent to Vrijah the Priest the paterne of the altar, and the fashion of it, and all the workemanship thereof.

11 And Vrijah the Priest made an altar g in all points like to that which King Ahaz had sent from Damascus, so did Vrijah the Priest against king Ahaz came from Damascus.

12 So when the king was come from Damascus, the king saw the altar: and the king drew neere to the altar, and offered h thereon.

13 And hee burnt his burnt offering, and his meate offring, and powred his drinke offring, and sprinkled the blood of his peace offrings besides the altar,

14 And set it by the brasen altar which was before the Lord, and brought it in farther before the house betweene the altar and the house of the Lord, and set it on the i Northside of the altar.

15 And king Ahaz commaunded Vrijah the Priest, and said, Vpon the great altar set on fire in the morning the burnt offring, and in the euen the meate offering, and the kings burnt offering and his meat offering, with the burnt offering of all the people of the land, and their meate offring, and their drinke offrings: and powre thereby all the blood of the burnt offering, and all the blood of the sacrifice, and the k brasen altar shall be for me to enquire of God.

16 And Vrijah the Priest did according to all that King Ahaz had commanded.

17 And King Ahaz brake the borders of the bases, and tooke the caldrons from off them, and tooke downe the sea from the brasen oxen that were vnder it, & put it vpon a pauement of stones.

18 And the l vaile for the Sabbath (that they had made in the house) and the kings entry without turned he to the house of the Lord, m because of the king of Asshur.

19 Concerning the rest of the actes of Ahaz, which he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Iudah?

20 And Ahaz slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the citie of Dauid, and Hezekiah his sonne reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XVII.

3 Hoshea King of Israel is taken. 4 And hee and all his realme brought to the Assyrians. 18 for their idolatrie. 25 Lions destroy the Assyrians that dwelt in Samaria. 29 Euery one vvorshipeth the god of his nation, 35 Contrary to the commandement of God.

IN the twelft yeere of Ahaz king of Iudah began Hoshea the sonne of Elah to reigne in Samaria ouer Israel, and reigned nine yeeres.

2 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, a but not as the kings of Israel, that were before him.

3 And Shalmaneser king of Asshur came vp against him, and Hoshea became his seruant, and gaue him presents.

4 And the king of Asshur found treason in Hoshea: for he had sent messengers to So king of Egypt, and brought no present vnto the king of Asshur, b as he had done yeerely: therefore the king of Asshur shut him vp, and put him in prison.

5 Then the king of Asshur came vp throughout all the land, and went against Samaria, and besieged it three yeere.

6 ¶ * In the ninth yeere of Hoshea, the king of Asshur tooke Samaria, and caried Israel away vnto Asshur, and put them in Halah, and in Habor by the riuer of Gozan, and in the cities of the c Medes.

10 And had made them images and groues vpon euery hie hill, and vnder euery greene tree,

11 And there burnt incense in all the hie places, as did the heathen, whom the Lord had taken away before them, and wrought wicked things to anger the Lord,

12 And serued idoles: whereof the Lord had said vnto them, * Ye shall doe no such thing.

13 Notwithstanding the Lord testified to Israel, and to Iudah † by all the Prophets, and by all the Seers, saying, * Turne from your euill wayes, and keepe my commandements, and my statures, according to all the Law, which I commaunded your fathers, and which I sent to you by my seruants the Prophets.

14 Neuerthelesse they would not obey, * but hardened their neckes, like to the neckes of their f fathers, ỹ did not beleeue in ỹ Lord their God.

15 And they refused his statutes and his couenant, that he made with their fathers, and his testimonies (wherewith he witnessed vnto them) and they followed vanitie, and became vaine, and followed the heathen that were round about them: concerning whom the Lord had charged them, that they should not doe like them.

16 Finally they left all the commandements of the Lord their God, and made them molten images, * euen two calues, and made a grouе, and worshipped all the g hoaste of heauen, and serued Baal.

17 And they made their sonnes and their daughters h passe thorowe the fire, and vsed witchcraft and inchantmens, yea, i sold themselues to doe euill in the sight of the Lord, to anger him.

18 Therefore the Lord was exceeding wroth with Israel, and put them out of his sight, and none was left but the tribe of Iudah k onely.

19 Yet Iudah kept not the commandements of the Lord their God, but walked according to the fashion of Israel, which they vsed.

20 Therefore the Lord cast off all the seede of Israel, and afflicted them, and deliuered them into the hands of spoylers, vntill hee had cast them out of his l sight.

21 m For hee cut off Israel from the house of Dauid, and they made Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat king: and Ieroboam drewe Israel away from following the Lord, and made them sinne a great sinne.

22 For the children of Israel walked in all the sinnes of Ieroboam, which he did, and departed not therefrom, 23 Vntill the Lord put Israel away out of his sight, as he had said † by all his seruants ‡ * Prophets, and caried Israel away out of their land to Assyria vnto this day.

24 And the king of Assyria brought folke from Babel, and from n Cuthah, and from Aua, and from Hamath, and from Sepharuaim, and placed them in the cities of Samaria in stead of the children of Israel: so they possessed Samaria, and dwelt in the cities thereof.

25 ¶ And at the beginning of their dwelling there, they o feared not the Lord: therefore the Lord sent Lions among them, which slewe them.

26 Wherefore they spake to the king of Assyria, saying, The nations which thou hast remooued, and placed in the cities of Samaria, know not the manner of the God of the land: therefore he hath sent Lions among them, and behold, they slay them, because they know not the manner of the God of the land.

27 Then the king of Assyria commanded, saying, Carrie thither one of the Priests whom yee brought thence, and let him goe and dwell there, and teach them the manner of the God p of the countrey.

28 So one of the Priests which they had caried from Samaria, came and dwelt in Beth-el, and taught them how they should feare the Lord.

29 Howbeit, euery nation made their gods, and put them in the houses of the hie places, which the Samaritans had made, euery nation in their cities wherein they dwelt.

30 For the men of Babel made q Succoth Benoth: and the men of Cuth made Nergal, and the men of Hamath made Ashima, 31 And the Auims made Nibhaz, and Tartak: and the Sepharuims burnt their children in the fire to Adrammelech, and Anammelech the gods of Sepharuaim.

32 Thus they feared the Lord, and appointed out Priests out of themselues for the hie places, who prepared for them sacrifices in the houses of the hie places:

33 * They r feared the Lord, but serued their gods after the manner of the nations whom they caried thence.

34 Vnto this day they do after the old maner: they neither feare God, neither doe after l their ordinances, nor after their customes, nor after the Law, nor after the commandement, which the Lord commanded the children of Iakob, * whom he named Israel,

35 And with whom the Lord had made a couenant, and charged them, saying, * Feare none other gods, nor bowe your selues to them, nor serue them, nor sacrifice to them:

36 But feare the Lord which brought you out of the land of Egypt with great power, and a stretched out arme: him feare yee, and worship him, and sacrifice to him.

37 Also keepe yee diligently the statures and the ordinances, and the lawe, and the commandement, which he wrote for you, that yee doe them continually, and feare not other gods,

38 And forget not the couenant that I haue made with you, neither feare ye other gods, 39 But feare the Lord your God, and hee will deliuer you out of the handes of all your enemies.

40 Howbeit they obeyed not, but did after their old customе.

41 So these s nations feared the Lord, and serued their images also: so did their children, and their childrens children: as did their fathers, so doe they vnto this day.

sonne of Elah king of Israel) Shalmaneser king of Asshur came vp against Samaria, and besieged it.

10 And after three yeeres they tooke it, euen in the sixt yeere of Hezekiah: that is,* the ninth yeere of Hoshea king of Israel was Samaria taken.

11 Then the king of Asshur did carie away Israel vnto Asshur, and put them in Halah and in Habor, by the riuer of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes, 12 Because they would not obey the voyce of the Lord their God, but transgressed his couenant: that is, all that Moses the seruant of the Lord had commanded, and would neither obey nor doe them.

13 ¶ * Moreouer, in the foureteenth yeere of king Hezekiah, Sancherib king of Asshur came vp against all the strong cities of Iudah, and tooke them.

14 Then Hezekiah king of Iudah sent vnto the king of Asshur to Lachish, saying, [d] I haue offended: depart from me, and what thou layest vpon me, I will beare it. And the king of Asshur appoynted vnto Hezekiah king of Iudah three hundreth talents of siluer, and thirtie talents of golde.

15 Therefore Hezekiah gaue all the siluer that was found in the house of the Lord, and in the treasures of the kings house.

16 At the same season did Hezekiah pull off the plates of the doores of the Temple of the Lord, and the pillars (which the [e] king Hezekiah king of Iudah had couered ouer) and gaue them to the king of Asshur.

17 ¶ And the king of Asshur sent [o] Tartan, and Rab-saris, and Rabshakeh from Lachish to king Hezekiah with a great hoaste against Ierusalem. And they went vp, and came to Ierusalem, and when they were come vp, they stood by the conduit of the vpper poole, which is by the path of the fullers field,

18 And called to the king. Then came out to them Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah, which was steward of the house, and Shebnah the chancellor, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the [||] recorder.

19 And Rabshakeh sayd vnto them, Tell yee Hezekiah, I pray you, Thus saith the great king, euen the great king of Asshur, What confidence is this wherein thou trustest?

20 Thou thinkest, Surely I haue * eloquence, [t] but counsell and strength are for the warre. On whom then doest thou trust, that thou rebellest against me?

21 Loe, thou trustest now in this broken staffe of reede, to wit, on [g] Egypt, on which if a man leane, it will goe into his hand, and pierce it: so is Pharaoh king of Egypt vnto all that trust on him.

22 But if ye say vnto me, We trust in the Lord our God, is not that hee whose hie places, and whose altars Hezekiah hath [h] taken away, and hath sayd to Iudah and Ierusalem, Yee shall worship before this altar in Ierusalem?

23 Now therefore giue [i] hostages to my lord the king of Asshur, and I will giue thee two thousand horses, if thou be able to set riders vpon them.

24 For how canst thou despise any captaine of the least of my masters seruants, and put thy trust on Egypt for charets and horsemen?

25 Am I now come vp without the [k] Lord to this place, to destroy it? the Lord said to me, Goe vp against this land, and destroy it.

26 Then Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah, and Shebnah, and Ioah said vnto Rabshakeh, Speake I pray thee, to thy seruants in the * Aramites language, for we vnderstand it, and talke not with vs in the Iewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

27 But Rabshakeh sayd vnto them, Hath my master sent me to thy master and to thee to speake these words, and not to the men which sit on the wall, that they may eate their owne doung, and drinke † their owne pisse with you?

28 So Rabshakeh stood, and cried with a loud voyce in the Iewes language, and spake, saying, Heare the words of the great king, of the king of Asshur.

29 Thus saith the king, Let not Hezekiah deceiue you: for he shall not be able to deliuer you * out of mine hand 30 Neither let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Lord, saying, The Lord will surely deliuer vs, and this citie shall not be giuen ouer into the hand of the king of Asshur.

31 Hearken not vnto Hezekiah: for thus saith the king of Asshur, Make † appointment with me, and come out to me, that euery man may eat of his owne vine, and euery man of his owne figtree, and drinke euery man of the water of his owne well, 32 Till [l] I come and bring you to a land like your owne land, euen a land of wheat and wine, a land of bread and vineyards, a land of oliues, oyle, and hony, that ye may liue and not die: and obey not Hezekiah, for he deceiueth you, saying, The Lord will deliuer vs.

33 Hath any of the gods of the nations deliuered his land out of the hand of the King of Asshur?

34 Where is the god of Hamath, and of Arpad? where is the god of Sepharuaim? Hena and Iuah? howe haue they deliuered Samaria out of mine hand?

35 Who are they among all the gods of the nations, that haue deliuered their land out of mine hand, that the [m] Lord should deliuer Ierusalem out of mine hand?

36 But the people held their peace and answered him not a word: for the kings commandement was, saying, Answere ye him not.

37 Then Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah which was steward of the house, and Shebnah the chancellor, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder came to Hezekiah with their cloathes rent, and told him the words of Rabshakeh.

5 ¶ So the ſeruants of king Hezekiah came to Iſaiah.

6 And Iſaiah ſaid vnto them, So ſhall ye ſay to your maſter, Thus ſaith the Lord, Be not afraid of the words which thou haſt heard, wherewith the ſeruants of the king of Aſſhur haue blaſphemed me.

9 e He heard alſo men ſay of Tirhakah king of * Ethiopia, f Behold, hee is come out to fight againſt thee: he therefore departed and ſent other meſſengers vnto Hezekiah, ſaying, 11 Beholde, thou haſt heard what the kings of Aſſhur haue done to all lands, how they haue deſtroyed them: and ſhalt thou be deliuered?

12 Haue the gods of the heathen deliuered them which my fathers haue deſtroyed? as Gozan, and Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden, which were in Thelaſar?

13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the citie of Sepharuaim, Hena and Iuah?

14 ¶ So Hezekiah receiued the letter of the hand of the meſſengers, and read it: and Hezekiah went vp into the houſe of the Lord, and Hezekiah ſpread it before the h Lord.

15 And Hezekiah i prayed before the Lord, and ſaid, O Lord God of Iſrael, which dwelleſt betweene the Cherubims, thou art very God alone ouer all the kingdomes of the earth: thou haſt made the heauen and the earth.

19 Now therefore, O Lord our God, I beſeech thee, ſaue thou vs out of his hand, that all the m kingdomes of the earth may know, that thou O Lord, art onely God.

32 Wherefore thus ſaith the Lord, concerning the king of Aſſhur, Hee ſhall not enter into this citie, nor ſhoote an arrow there, nor come before it with ſhield, nor caſt a mount againſt it:

33 But hee ſhall returne the way he came, and ſhall not come into this citie, ſaith the Lord.

Amoz came to him, and said vnto him, Thus saith the Lord, Put thine house in an order: for thou shalt die, and not liue.

2 Then he turned his face to the [2] wall, and prayed to the Lord, saying,

3 I beseech thee, O Lord, remember now, how I haue walked before thee in trueth and with a [b] perfit heart, and haue done that which is good in thy sight: and Hezekiah [c] wept sore.

4 ¶ And afore Isaiah was gone out into the middle of the court, the word of the Lord came to him, saying,

5 Turne againe, and tell Hezekiah the captaine of my people, Thus saith the Lord God of Dauid thy father, I haue heard thy [d] prayer, and seene thy teares: behold, I haue healed thee, and the third day thou shalt goe vp to the [e] house of the Lord.

6 And I will adde vnto thy dayes fifteene yeere, and will deliuer thee and this city out of the hand of the king of Assiur, and will defend this citie for mine owne sake, and for Dauid my seruants sake.

7 Then Isaiah sayd, Take a [f] lumpe of drie figs. And they tooke it, and laid it on the boile, and he recouered.

8 ¶ For Hezekiah had said vnto Isaiah, What shalbe the signe that the Lord will heale mee, and that I shall goe vp into the house of the Lord the third day?

9 And Isaiah answered, This signe shalt thou haue of the Lord, that the Lord will doe that hee hath spoken, Wilt thou that the shadow goe forward ten degrees, or * goe backe ten degrees?

10 And Hezekiah answered, It is a light thing for the shadow to passe forward ten degrees: not so then, but let the shadow [g] go backe ten degrees.

11 And Isaiah the Prophet called vnto the Lord, and he brought againe the shadow ten degrees backe by the degrees whereby it had gone downe in the [h] diall of Ahaz.

12 ¶ * The same season Berodach Baladan the sonne of Baladan king of Babel sent letters and a [i] present to Hezekiah: for he had heard how that Hezekiah was sicke.

13 And Hezekiah heard them, and shewed them all his treasure house, to wit, the siluer, and the gold, and the spices, and the precious ointment, and all the house of his armour, and all that was found in his treasures: there was nothing in his house, and in all his [k] realme, that Hezekiah shewed them not.

14 Then Isaiah the Prophet came vnto King Hezekiah, and said vnto him, What sayd these men? and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiah said, They be come from a farre countrey, euen from Babel.

15 Then sayd hee, What haue they seene in thine house? And Hezekiah answered, All that is in mine house haue they seene: there is nothing among my treasures, that I haue not shewed them.

16 And Isaiah said vnto Hezekiah, Heare the word of the Lord.

17 Behold, the dayes come, that all that is in thine house, and whatsoeuer thy fathers haue layed vp in store vnto this day, * shall be caried into Babel: Nothing shall be left, saith the Lord.

18 And of thy sonnes, that shall proceede out of thee, and which thou shalt beget, shall they take away, and they shalbe eunuches in the palace of the king of Babel.

19 Then Hezekiah said vnto Isaiah, The word of the Lord, which thou hast [l] spoken, is good: for said he, Shall it not be good if [m] peace and trueth be in my dayes?

20 Concerning the rest of the actes of Hezekiah, and all his valiant deedes, and how he made a people and a conduit, and brought water into the citie, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Iudah?

21 And Hezekiah slept with his fathers: and Manasseh his sonne reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXI.

3 King Manasseh reboreth idolatry, 16 And vseth great crueltie. 18 He dieth and Amon his sonne succeedeth, 23 Who is killed of his owne seruants. 26 After him reigneth Iosiah.

MAnasseh * was twelue yeeres olde when hee began to reigne, and reigned fiftie and fiue yeeres in Ierusalem: his mothers name also was Hephzi-bah.

2 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord after the abomination of the heathen, whom the * Lord had cast out before the children of Israel.

3 For he went backe and built the hie places, * which Hezekiah his father had destroyed: and he erected vp altars for Baal, and made a groue, as did Ahab king of Israel, and worshipped all the hoaste of heauen and serued them.

4 Also hee * built altars in the house of the Lord, of the which the Lord said, * In Ierusalem will I put my Name.

5 And he built altars for all the hoast of the heauen in the two courts of the house of the Lord.

6 And he caused his sonnes [a] to passe through the fire, and gaue himselfe to witchcraft and sorcerie, and hee vsed them that had familiar spirits and were soothsayers, and did much euill in the sight of the Lord to anger him.

7 And hee set the image of the groue, that hee had made in the house, whereof the Lord had said to Dauid & to Salomon his sonne, * In this house and in Ierusalem, which I haue chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, will I put my Name for euer.

8 Neither will I make the feete of Israel mooue any more out of the land, which I gaue their fathers: so that they will [b] obserue and doe all that I haue commanded them, and according to all the Law that my seruant Moses commanded them.

9 Yet they obeyed not, but Manasseh ledde them out of the way, to doe more wickedly then did the heathen people, whom the Lord destroyed before the children of Israel.

10 Therefore the Lord spake by his seruants the Prophets, saying,

11 * Because that Manasseh king of Iudah hath done such abominations, and hath wrought more wickedly then all that the Amorites (which were before him) did, and hath made Iudah sinne also with his idoles, 12 Therefore thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Behold, I will bring an euill vpon Ierusalem and Iudah, that who so heareth of it, both his * eares shall [c] tingle.

13 And I will stretch ouer Ierusalem the line [d] of Samaria, and the plummet of the house of Ahab: and I will wipe Ierusalem, as a man wipeth a dish, which he wipeth, and turneth it vpside downe.

17 Concerning the rest of the actes of Manasseh, and all that hee did, and his sinne that he sinned, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Iudah?

18 And Manasseh slept with his fathers, and was buried in the garden of his owne house, euen in the garden of Vzza: and Amon his sonne reigned in his stead.

2. Chro. 33.20, 21. 19 ¶ * Amon was two and twentie yeere old, when hee began to reigne, and he reigned two yeere in Ierusalem: his mothers name also was Meshullemeth the daughter of Haruz of Iotbah.

20 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, as his father Manasseh did.

21 For hee walked in all the way that his father walked in, and serued the idoles that his father serued, and worshipped them.

22 And he forsooke the Lord God of his fathers, and walked not in the g way of the Lord.

23 And the seruants of Amon conspired against him, and slew the king in his owne house.

24 And the people of the land slewe all them that had conspired against king Amon, and the people made Iosiah his sonne King in his stead.

25 Concerning the rest of the actes of Amon, which he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Iudah?

26 And * they buried him in his sepulchre in the garden of Vzza: and Iosiah his sonne reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXII.

4 Iosiah repaireth the Temple. 8 Hilkiah findeth the booke of the Lavv, and causeth it to bo presented to Iosiah. 12 VVho sendeth to Huldah the prophetesse to enquire the Lords vvill.

IOsiah was * eight yeere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned one and thirtie yeere in Ierusalem. His mothers name also was Iedidah the daughter of Adaiah of Bozcath.

2 And hee did vprightly in the sight of the Lord, and a walked in all the wayes of Dauid his father, and bowed neither to the right hand, nor to the left.

3 ¶ And in the eighteenth yeere of King Iosiah, the king sent Shaphan the sonne of Azaliah the sonne of Meshullam the chanceller, to the house of the Lord, saying,

4 Goe vp to Hilkiah the hie Priest, that hee may * summe the siluer which is brought into the house of the Lord, which the keepers of the *b doore haue gathered of the people.

5 And let c them deliuer it into the hand of them that doe the worke, and haue the ouersight of the house of the Lord, let them giue it to them that worke in the house of the Lord, to repaire the decayed places of the house:

6 To vvit, vnto the artificers and capenters, and masons, and to buy timber, and hewed stone to repaire the house,

7 Howbeit, let no reckoning be made with them of the money, that is deliuered into their hand: for they deale d faithfullly.

8 And Hilkiah the high Priest said vnto Shaphan the chancellor, I haue found the e booke of the Law in the house of the Lord: and Hilkiah gaue the booke to Shaphan, and hee read it.

9 So Shaphan the chancellor came to the king, and brought him word againe, and sayd, Thy seruants haue † gathered the money, that was found in the house, and haue deliuered it vnto the hands of them that doe the worke, and haue the ouersight of the house of the Lord.

10 Also Shaphan the chancellor shewed the king, saying, Hilkiah the Priest hath deliuered me a booke. And Shaphan read it before the King.

11 And when the king had heard the wordes of the booke of the Law, he rent his cloathes.

12 Therefore the king commanded Hilkiah the Priest, and Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, and Achbor the sonne of Michaiah, and Shaphan the chancellor, and Asahiah the kings seruant, saying,

13 Goe ye and † inquire of the Lord for me and for the people, and for all Iudah concerning the wordes of this booke that is found: for great is the wrath of the Lord that is kindle against vs, because our fathers haue not obeyed the wordes of this booke, to doe according vnto all that which it written therein for vs.

14 ¶ So Hilkiah the Priest, and Ahikam, and Achbor, and Shaphan, and Asahiah went vnto Huldah the Prophetesse the wife of Shallum, the sonne of Tikuah, the sonne of Hathas keeper of the wardrobe: (and she dwelt in Ierusalem in the g colledge) and they communed with her.

15 And shee answered them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Tell the man that sent you to me,

16 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring euill vpon this place, and on the inhabitants thereof, euen all the wordes of the booke which the king of Iudah hath read, 17 Because they haue forsaken mee, and haue burnt incense vnto other gods, to anger me with all the h workes of their handes: my wrath also shall be kindled against this place, and shall not be quenched.

18 But to the king of Iudah, who sent you to inquire of the Lord, so shall ye say vnto him, Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, The words that thou hast heard, shall come to passe.

19 But because thine heart did i melt, and thou hast humbled thy selfe before the Lord when thou heardest what I spake against this place, and against the inhabitants of the same, to vvit, that it should be destroyed and accursed, and hast rent thy cloathes, and wept before mee, I haue also heard it, saith the Lord.

20 Behold therefore, I will gather thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt be put in thy graue in k peace, and thine eyes shall not see all the euill which I will bring vpon this place. Thus they brought the king word againe.

THen * the King a sent, and there gathered vnto him all the Elders of Iudah and of Ierusalem.

2 And the king went vp into the house of the Lord, with all the men of Iudah, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem with him, and the Priests and Prophets, and all the people both small and great: and he read in their eares all the words of the booke of the couenant, which was found in the house of the Lord.

3 And the king stood by b the pillar, and made a c couenant before the Lord, that they should walke after the Lord, and keepe his commandements, and his testimonies, and his statutes, with all their heart, and with all their soule, that they might accomplish the wordes of this couenant written in this booke. And all the people stood to the couenant.

4 Then the king commanded Hilkiah the hie Priest, and the d Priests of the second order, and the keepers of the doore, to bring out of the temple of the Lord all the vessels that were made for Baal, and for the groue, and for all the hoaste of heauen, and hee burnt them without Ierusalem in the fields of Kedron, and caried e the powder of them into Beth-el.

5 And he put downe the f Chemarims, whom the kings of Iudah had founded to burne incense in the hie places, and in the cities of Iudah and about Ierusalem, and also them that burnt incense vnto Baal, to the sunne and to the moone, and to the planets, and to all the hoaste of heauen.

6 And he brought out the g groue from the Temple of the Lord, without Ierusalem vnto the valley Kedron, and burnt it in the valley Kedron, and stampt it to powder, and cast the dust thereof vpon the h graues of the children of the people.

7 And hee brake downe the houses of the Sodomites, that were in the house of the Lord, where the women woue hangings for the groue.

8 Also hee brought all the priests out of the cities of Iudah, and defiled the hie places where the Priests had burnt incense, euen from Geba to Beer-sheba, and destroyed the hie places of the gates, that were in the entring in of the gate of Ioshua the gouernour of the citie, which was at the left hand of the gate of the citie.

9 Neuerthelesse the Priestes of the hie places i came not vp to the altar of the Lord in Ierusalem, saue onely they did eate of the vnleauened bread among their brethren.

10 Hee defiled also k Topheth, which was in the valley of the children of Hinnom, that no man should make his sonne or his daughter to passe thorow the fire to Molech.

11 Hee put downe also the l horses that the Kings of Iudah had giuen to the sunne at the entring in of the house of the Lord, by the chamber of Nethan-melech the eunuch, which was ruler of the suburbs, and burnt the charets of the sunne with fire.

12 And the altars that were on the top of the chamber of Ahaz, which the kings of Iudah had made, and the altars which Manasseh had made in the two courts of the house of the Lord did the King breake downe, and hasted thence, and cast the dust of them in the * brooke Kedron.

13 Moreouer the King defiled the hie places that were before Ierusalem and on the right hand of the m mount of corruption (which * Salomon the king of Israel had built for Ashtoreth the idole of the Zidonians, and for Chemosh the idole of the Moabites, and for Milchom the abomination of the children of Ammon.)

14 And he brake the images in pieces, and cut downe the groues, and filled their places with the bones of men.

15 Furthermore n the altar that was at Bethel, and the hie place made by Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne, both this altar, and also the hie place, brake he downe, and burnt the hie place, and stampt it to powder, and burnt the groue.

16 And as Iosiah turned himselfe, hee spied the graues that were in the mount, and sent and tooke the bones out of the graues, and burnt them vpon the altar, and polluted it, according to the word of the Lord, that the o man of God proclaimed, which cried the same words.

17 Then he said, What title is that which I see? And the men of the city sayd vnto him, It is the sepulchre of the man of God, which came from Iudah, and told these things that thou hast done to the altar of Beth-el.

18 Then said he, Let him alone: let none remoue his bones. So his bones were saued with the bones of the p Prophet that came from Samaria.

19 Iosiah also tooke away all the houses of the hie places, which were in the cities of Samaria, which the kings of Israel had made to anger the Lord, and did to them according to all the facts that he had done in Beth-el.

20 And hee sacrificed all the Priests of the hie places that were there, vpon the altars, and burnt mens bones vpon them, and returned to Ierusalem.

21 ¶ Then the king commanded all the people, saying, * Keepe the Passeouer vnto the Lord your God, * as it is written in the booke of this couenant.

22 And there was no Passeouer holden q like that from the dayes of the Iudges that iudged Israel, nor in all the dayes of the kings of Israel, and of the kings of Iudah.

23 And in the eighteenth yeere of King Iosiah was this Passeouer celebrated vnto the Lord in Ierusalem.

24 Iosiah also tooke away them that had familiar spirits, and the soothsayers, and the images, and the idoles, and all the abominations that were espied in the land of Iudah and in Ierusalem, to performe the words of the * Law, which were written in the booke that Hilkiah the Priest found in the house of the Lord.

25 Like vnto him was there no king before him, that turned to the Lord with all his heart, and with all his soule, and with all his might according to all the Law of Moses, neither after him arose there any like him.

26 Notwithstanding the Lord turned not from the r fiercenesse of his great wrath wherewith he was angry against Iudah, because of all the prouocations wherewith Manasseh had prouoked him.

27 Therefore the Lord saith, I will put Iudah also out of my sight, as I haue put away Israel, and will cast off this city Ierusalem, which I haue chosen, and the house whereof I sayd, * My Name shall be there.

booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Iudah?

29 ¶ * In his dayes Pharaoh Nechoh king of Egypt went vp against the king of Asshur to the riuer Perath. And king Iosiah ‖ went against him, whom when Pharaoh saw, hee slew him at Megiddo.

30 Then his seruants caried him dead from Megiddo, and brought him to Ierusalem, and buried him in his owne sepulchre. And the people of the land tooke Iehoahaz the sonne of Iosiah, and anoynted him, and made him king in his fathers stead.

31 * Iehoahaz was three and twenty yeere olde when he began to reigne, and reigned three moneths in Ierusalem. His mothers name also was Hamutal the daughter of Ieremiah of Libnah.

32 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, according to all that his [t] fathers had done.

33 And Pharaoh Nechoh put him in bondes [u] at Riblah in the land of Hamath, ‖ while he reigned in Ierusalem, and put the land to a tribute of an hundreth talents of siluer, and a talent of gold.

34 ¶ And Pharaoh Nechoh made Eliakim the sonne of Iosiah king in stead of Iosiah his father, and turned his name to Iehoiakim, and tooke Iehoahaz away, which when he came to Egypt, died there.

35 And Iehoiakim gaue the siluer and the golde to Pharaoh, and taxed the land to giue the money, according to the commandement of Pharaoh: hee lenied of euery man of the people of the land according to his value, siluer and gold, to giue vnto Pharaoh Nechoh.

36 Iehoiakim was fiue and twenty yeeres old, when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleuen yeeres in Ierusalem. His mothers name also was Zebudah the daughter of Pedaiah of Rumah.

37 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, according to all that his fathers had done.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 Iehoiakim made subiect to Nebuchad-nezzar, rebelleth. 3 The cause of his ruine and all Iudahs. 6 Iehoiachin reigneth. 15 Hee, and his people are carted vnto Babylon. 17 Zedekiah is made king.

IN his [a] dayes came Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel vp, and Iehoiakim became his seruant three yeere: afterward he turned, and rebelled against him.

2 And the Lord sent against him bands of the Caldees, and bands of the Aramites, and bands of the Moabites, and bands of the Ammonites, and he sent them against Iudah to destroy it, * according to the word of the Lord, which he spake by his seruants the Prophets.

3 Surely by the [b] commandement of the Lord came this vpon Iudah, that hee might put them out of his sight for the sinnes of Manasseh, according to all that he did,

4 And for the innocent blood that hee shed, (for hee filled Ierusalem with innocent blood) therefore the Lord would not pardon it.

5 Concerning the rest of the actes of Iehoiakim, and all that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Iudah?

6 So Iehoiakim [c] slept with his fathers, and Iehoiachin his sonne reigned in his stead.

7 ¶ And the king of Egypt came no more out of his land: for the king of Babel had taken from the riuer of Egypt, vnto the riuer ‖ Perath, all that pertained to the king of Egypt.

8 ¶ Iehoiachin was eighteene yeere old, when he began to reigne, and reigned in Ierusalem three moneths. His mothers name also was Nehushta, the daughter of Elnathan of Ierusalem.

9 And he did euill in the sight of the Lord, according to all that his father had done.

10 * In that time came the seruants of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel vp against Ierusalem: so the city was besieged.

11 And Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel came against the citie, and his seruants did besiege it.

12 Then Iehoiachin the king of Iudah [d] came out against the king of Babel, he, and his mother and his seruants, and his princes, and his eunuches: and the king of Babel tooke him in the eight yeere [e] of his reigne.

13 * And hee caried out thence all the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the kings house, and brake all the vessels of gold, which Salomon king of Israel had made in the Temple of the Lord, as the Lord had said.

14 And hee caried away all Ierusalem, and all the princes, and all the strong men of warre, euen ten thousand into captiuity, and all the workemen, and cunning men: so none remained sauing the poore people of the land.

15 * And he caried away Iehoiachin into Babel, and the kings mother, and the kings wiues, and his eunuches, and the mighty of the lande, caried hee away into captiuity from Ierusalem to Babel, 16 And all the men of warre, euen seuen thousand, and carpenters, and locksmiths a thousand: all that were strong and apt for warre, did the king of Babel bring to Babel captiues.

17 ¶ * And the king of Babel made Mattaniah his vncle king in his stead, and changed his name to Zedekiah.

18 Zedekiah was one and twenty yeere olde, when hee began to reigne, and hee reigned eleuen yeeres in Ierusalem. His mothers name also was Hamutall the daughter of Ieremiah of Libnah.

19 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, according to all that Iehoiakim had done.

20 Therefore certainely the wrath of the Lord was against Ierusalem and Iudah, vntill hee cast them out of his sight. And Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babel.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Ierusalem is besieged of Nebuchad-nezzar, and taken. 7 The sonnes of Zedekiah are slaine before his eyes, and after are his owne eyes put out. 21 Iudah is brought to Babylon. 25 Gedaliah is slaine. 27 Iehoiachin is exalted.

AND * in the [a] ninth yeere of his reigne, the [b] tenth moneth, and tenth day of the moneth, Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel came, he, and all his host against Ierusalem, and pitched against it, and they built ‖ forts against it round about.

2 So the citie was besieged vnto the eleuenth yeere of king Zedekiah.

3 And the ninth day of the moneth the famine was * sore in the citie, so that there was no bread for the people of the land.

4 Then the citie was broken vp, and all the men of warre fled by night, by the way of the [d] gate which is betweene two walles that was by the kings garden: now the Chaldees were by the city round about: and the king went by the way of the wilderneſſe.

5 But the armie of the Caldees pursued after the king, and tooke him in the deserts of Iericho, and all his hoaste was scattered from him.

6 Then they tooke the king, and caried him vp to the king of Babel to Riblah, where they e gaue iudgement vpon him.

7 And they slew the sonnes of Zedekiah before his eyes, and put out the eyes of Zedekiah, & bound him in chaines, & caried him to Babel.

8 ¶ And in the fift moneth, and f seuenth day of the moneth, which was the nineteenth yeere of king Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, came Nebuzar-adan ‖ chiefe steward and seruant of the king of Babel, to Ierusalem, 9 And burnt the house of the Lord, and the kings house, and all the houses of Ierusalem; and all the great houses burnt he with fire.

10 And all the armie of the Caldees that were with the chiefe steward, brake downe the walles of Ierusalem round about.

11 And the rest of the people that were left in the citie, and those that were fled and g fallen to the king of Babel, with the remnant of the multitude, did Nebuzar-adan chiefe steward cary away captiue.

12 But the chiefe steward left of the poore of the land to dresse the vines, and to till the land.

13 * Also the pillars of brasse that were in the house of the Lord, and the bases, and the brasen Sea that was in the house of the Lord, did the Caldees breake, and caried the brasse of them to Babel.

14 And the pots h also and the besoms, and the instruments of musicke, and the incense dishes, and all the vessels of brasse that they ministred in, tooke they away.

15 And the ashpannes, and the basens, and all that was of gold, and that was of siluer, tooke the chiefe steward away.

16 With the two pillars, one Sea and the bases, which Salomon had made for the house of the Lord: the brasse of all these vessels was without weight.

17 * The height of the one pillar was eighteene cubites, & ẏ chapiter thereon was brasse, and the height of the chapiter was with network three cubites, and pomegranates vpon the chapiter round about, all of brasse: & likewise was the second pillar with the networke.

18 And the chiefe steward tooke Seraiah the chiefe Priest, and Zephaniah the i second Priest, and the three keepers of the doore.

19 And out of the citie hee tooke an Eunuch that had the ouersight of the men of warre, and k fiue men of them that were in the kings presence, which were found in the citie, and Sopher captaine of the hoaste, who mustred the people of the land, and threescore men of the people of the land, that were found in the citie.

20 And Nebuzar-adan chiefe steward tooke them, and brought them to the king of Babel to Riblah.

21 And the king of Babel smote them, and slew them at Riblah in the land of Hamath. So Iudah was caried away captiue out of his owne land.

22 * Howbeit, there remained people in the land of Iudah, whom Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel left, and made Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan ruler ouer them.

23 Then when all the captaines of the hoaste and their men heard, that the king of Babel had made Gedaliah gouernour, they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, to wit, Ishmael ẏ sonne of Nethaniah, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and Seraiah the sonne of Tanhumeth the Netophathite, and Iaazaniah the sonne of Maachathi, they and their men.

24 And Gedaliah sware to them, and to their men, and said vnto them, Feare not to be the seruants of the Caldees: dwell in the land, and serue the king of Babel, and ye shall be well.

25 * But in the seuenth moneth Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah the sonne of Elishama, of the kings seede, came, & ten men with him, & smote Gedaliah, and hee died, and so did hee the Iewes, and the Caldees that were with him at Mizpah.

26 Then all the people both small and great, and the captaines of the armie arose, and came to m Egypt: for they were afraid of the Caldees.

27 Notwithstanding in the seuen and thirtieth yeere after n Iehoiachin king of Iudah was caried away, in the twelft moneth, and the seuen and twentieth day of the moneth, Euil-merodach king of Babel in ẏ yeere that he began to reigne, did lift vp the head of Iehoiachin king of Iudah out of the prison, the * Chronicles, or ‖ Paralipomenon.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Iewes comprehend both these bookes in one, which the Grecians because of the length, diuide into two: and they are called Chronicles, because they note briefly the histories from Adam to the returne from their captiuitie in Babylon. But these are not those bookes of Chronicles, which are so oft mentioned in the bookes of the kings of Iudah and Israel, which did at large set forth the storie of both the kingdomes, and afterward perished in the captiuitie: but an abridgement of the same, and were gathered by Esra, as the Iewes write after their returne from Babylon. This first booke conteineth a briefe rehearsall of the children of Adam vnto Abraham, Izhak, Iaakob, and the twelue Patriarches, chiefly of Iudah, and of the reigne of Dauid, because Christ came of him according to the flesh. And therefore it setteth forth more amply his actes both concerning ciuill gouernment, and also the administration and care of things concerning religion, for the good successe whereof he reioyceth and giueth thankes to the Lord.

* Heb. words of dayes.

and Abinadab, and Malchishua the sonnes of Saul.

3 And the battell was sore against Saul, and the archers † hit him, and he was wounded of the archers.

4 Then said Saul to his armour-bearer, Draw out thy sword, and thrust me thorow therewith, least these vncircumcised come and mocke at me: but his armour-bearer would not, for he was sore afraid: therefore Saul tooke the sword, and fell vpon it.

5 And when his armour-bearer saw that Saul was dead, hee fell likewise vpon the sword, and died.

6 So Saul died, and his three sonnes, and all his house, they died together.

7 And when all the men of Israel that were in the valley, saw how they fled, and that Saul and his sonnes were dead, they forsooke their cities and fled away, and the Philistims came and dwelt in them.

3 After the death of Saul Dauid is anoynted in Hebron. 5 The Iebusites rebell against Dauid, from whom he taketh the towre of Zion. 6 Ioab is made captaine. 10 His valiant men.

THen * all Israel [a] gathered themselues to Dauid vnto Hebron, saying, Behold, we are thy bones and thy flesh.

2 And in time past, euen when Saul was king, thou leddest Israel out and in: and the Lord thy God said vnto thee, Thou shalt feed my people Israel, and thou shalt be captaine ouer my people Israel.

3 So came all the Elders of Israel to the King to Hebron, and Dauid made a couenant with them in Hebron before the Lord. And they anointed Dauid king ouer Israel, * according to the word of the Lord, by the hand of Samuel.

4 ¶ And Dauid and all Israel went to Ierusalem, which is Iebus, where were the Iebusites, the inhabitants of the land.

5 And the inhabitants of Iebus said to Dauid, Thou shalt not come in hither. Neuertheless Dauid tooke the tower of Zion, which is the city of Dauid,

6 And Dauid sayd, * Whosoeuer smiteth the Iebusites first, shalbe the chiefe and captaine. So Ioab the sonne of Zeruiah went first vp, and was captaine.

7 And Dauid dwelt in the tower: therefore they called it the citie of Dauid.

8 * And he built the citie on euery side, from Millo euen round about: and Ioab repaired the rest of the citie.

9 And Dauid prospered and grew: for the Lord of hosts was with him.

10 ¶ * These also are the chiefe of the valiant men that were with Dauid, and ioyned their force with him in his kingdome with all Israel, to make him king ouer Israel, according to the word of the Lord.

12 And after him was Eleazar the sonne of * Dodo the Ahohite, which was one of the three valiant men.

13 He was with Dauid at Pas-dammim, and there the Philistims were gathered together to battell: and there was a parcell of ground full of barley, and the people fled before the Philistims.

14 And they stood in the middes of the field, [c] and saued it, and slewe the Philistims: so the Lord gaue a great victory.

15 ¶ And three of the [d] thirtie captaines went to a rocke to Dauid, into the caue of Adullam. And the armie of the Philistims camped in the valley of Rephaim.

16 And when Dauid was in the hold, the Philistims garison was at Beth-lehem.

17 And Dauid longed, and said, * Oh, that one would giue me to drinke of the water of the well of Beth-lehem that is at the gate.

18 Then these three brake thorow the hoaste of the Philistims, and drew water out of the well of Beth-lehem that was by the gate, and tooke it, and brought it to Dauid: but Dauid would not drinke of it, but powred it for an oblation to the Lord,

19 And said, Let not my God suffer me to doe this: should I drinke the [e] blood of these mens liues? for they haue brought it with the ieopardie of their liues: therefore he would not drinke it: these things did these three mighrie men.

20 ¶ And Abishai the brother of Ioab, he was chiefe of the three, & hee lift vp his speare against three hundreth, and slew them, and had the name among the three.

21 Among the three he was more honourable then the two, and he was their captaine: * but he attained not vnto the first three.

22 Benaiah the sonne of Iehoiada (the sonne of a valiant man) which had done many actes, and was of Kabzeel, hee slew two * strong men of Moab, hee went downe also and slewe a Lion in the middes of a pit in time of snow.

23 And hee slew an Egyptian, a man of great stature, euen fiue cubites long, and in the Egyptians hand was a speare like a weauers beame: and he went downe to him with a staffe, and pluckt the speare out of the Egyptians hand, and slewe him with his owne speare.

24 These things did Benaiah ỹ sonne of Iehoiada, and had the name among the three worthies.

27 And Iehoiada was the chiefe of them of [i] Aaron: and with him three thousand and seuen hundreth.

28 And Zadok a yong man very valiant, and of his fathers housholde came two and twenty captaines.

29 And of the children of Beniamin the brethren of Saul three thousand: for a great part of them vnto that time [k] kept the ward of the house of Saul.

30 And of the children of Ephraim twentie thousand, and eight hundreth valiant men and famous men in the housholde of their fathers.

31 And of the halfe tribe of Manasseh eighteene thousand, which were appointed by name to come and make Dauid King.

32 And of the children of Issachar which were men that had vnderstanding of the [l] times, to know what Israel ought to doe: the heads of them were two hundreth, and all their brethren were at their commandement.

33 Of Zebulun that went out to battell, expert in warre, and in all instruments of warre, fiftie thousand * which could set the battell in aray: they were not of a † double heart.

34 And of Naphtali a thousand captaines, and with them with shield and speare seuen and thirty thousand.

35 And of Dan expert in battell, eight and twenty thousand and sixe hundreth.

36 And of Asher that went out to the battell and were trained in the warres, forty thousand.

37 And of the other side of Iorden of the Reubenites, and of the Gadites, and of the halfe tribe of Manasseh with all instruments of warre to fight with, an hundreth and twenty thousand.

38 [m] All these men of warre * that could lead an armie, came with * vpright heart to Hebron to make Dauid king ouer all Israel: and all the rest of Israel was of one accord to make Dauid King:

39 And there they were with Dauid three dayes, eating and drinking: for their [n] brethren had prepared for them.

40 Moreouer, they that were neere them vntill Issachar, and Zebulun, and Naphtali brought bread vpon asses, and on camels, and on mules, and on oxen, euen meat, floure, figges, and raisins, and wine and oyle, and beeues and sheepe abundantly: for there was ioy in Israel.

CHAP. XIII.

7 The Arke is brought againe from Kiriath-iearim to Ierusalem. 6 Vzza dieth because he toucheth it.

AND Dauid counselled with the captaines of thousands and of hundreths, and with all the gouernours.

2 And Dauid said to all the Congregation of Israel, If it seeme good to you, and that it proceedeth of the Lord our God, we will send to and fro vnto our brethren, that are left in all the land of Israel (for with them are the Priests and the Leuites in the cities and their suburbes) that they may assemble themselues vnto vs,

3 And we will bring againe the [o] Arke of our God to vs: for we sought not vnto it in the dayes of Saul.

4 And all the Congregation answered, Let vs doe so: for the thing seemed good in the eyes of all the people.

5 ¶ * So Dauid gathered all Israel together from * Shihor in Egypt, euen vnto the entring of Hamath, to bring the Arke of God from [b] Kiriath-iearim.

6 And Dauid went vp and all Israel to * Baalath in Kiriath-iearim, that was in Iudah, to bring vp from thence the Arke of God the Lord that dwelleth betweene the Cherubims, where his Name is called on.

7 And they caried the Arke of God in a new cart out of the house of Abinadab: and Vzza and Ahio [c] guided the cart.

8 And Dauid and all Israel played before [d] God with all their might, both with songs and with harps, and with viols, and with timbrels, and with cymbals, and with trumpets.

9 ¶ And when they came vnto the threshing floore of [e] Chidon, Vzza put foorth his hand to hold the Arke, for the oxen did shake it.

10 But the wrath of the Lord was kindled against Vzza, and he smote him, because he layed his hand vpon the Arke: so he died there [f] before God.

11 And Dauid was angry, because the Lord had made a breach in Vzza, and he called the name of that place, Perez-Vzza vnto this day.

12 And Dauid feared God that day, saying, How shall I bring in to me the Arke of God?

13 Therefore Dauid brought not the Arke to him into the citie of Dauid, but caused it to turne into the house of [g] Obed Edom the Gittite.

14 So the Arke of God remained in the house of Obed Edom, euen in his house three moneths: and the Lord blessed the house of Obed Edom, and all that he had.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Hiram sendeth wood and workemen to Dauid. 4 The names of his children. 8, 14 By the counsell of God he goeth against the Philistims, and ouercommeth them. 15 God fighteth for him.

THEN * sent Hiram the king of † Tyrus messengers to Dauid, and Cedar trees, with masons and carpenters to build him an house.

2 Therefore Dauid knew that the Lord had confirmed him King ouer Israel, and that his kingdome was lift vp on hie, because of his [a] people Israel.

3 ¶ Also Dauid tooke moe wiues at Ierusalem, and Dauid begate moe sonnes and daughters.

4 And these are the names of the children which he had at Ierusalem, Shammua, and Shobab, Nathan and Salomon,

5 And Ibhar, and Elishua, and [b] Elpalet,

6 And Nogah, and Nepheg, and Iaphia,

7 And Elishama, and * Beeliada, and Elipha-let.

8 But when the Philistims heard that Dauid was anoynted King ouer Israel, all the Philistims came vp to seeke Dauid. And when Dauid heard, he went out against them.

9 And the Philistims came, and spread themselues in the valley of Rephaim.

10 Then Dauid asked counsel at God, saying, Shall I go vp against the Philistims, and wilt thou deliuer them into mine hand? And the Lord said vnto him, Goe vp: for I will deliuer them into thine hand.

11 So they came vp to Baal-perazim, and Dauid smote them there: and Dauid said, God hath diuided diuided mine enemies with mine hand, as waters are diuided: therefore they called the name of that place, c Baal-perazim.

12 And there they had left their gods: and Dauid said, Let them be euen burnt with fire.

13 Againe the Philistims came and spread themselues in the valley.

14 And when Dauid asked againe counsell at God, God said to him, Thou shalt not goe vp after them, but turne away from them, that thou mayest come vpon them ouer against the mulberie trees.

15 And when thou hearest the noyse of one going in the tops of the mulbery trees, then goe out to battell: for God is gone forth before thee, to smite the hoaste of the Philistims.

16 So Dauid did as God had commanded him: and they smote the hoaste of the Philistims from Gibeon euen to Gezer.

17 And the fame of Dauid went out into all lands: and the Lord brought the feare of him vpon all nations.

CHAP. XV.

1 Dauid prepareth an house for the Arke. 4 The number and order of the Leuites. 16 The singers are chosen out among them. 25 They bring againe the Arke with ioy. 29 Dauid dancing before it, is despised of his wife Michal.

AND Dauid made him houses in the a citie of Dauid, and prepared a place for the Arke of God, and pitched for it a tent.

2 Then Dauid said, * None ought to cary the Arke of God, but the Leuites: for the Lord hath chosen them to beare the Arke of the Lord, and to minister vnto him for euer.

3 ¶ And Dauid gathered all Israel together to Ierusalem to bring vp the b Arke of the Lord vnto his place, which he had ordained for it.

4 And Dauid assembled the sonnes of Aaron, and the Leuites.

5 Of the sonnes of Kohath, Vriel the chiefe, and his * brethren sixescore.

6 Of the sonnes of Merari, Asaiah the chiefe, and his brethren two hundreth and twentie.

7 Of the sonnes of Gershon, Ioel the chiefe, and his brethren an hundreth and thirtie.

8 Of the sonnes of c Elizaphan, Shemaiah the chiefe, and his brethren two hundreth.

9 Of the sonnes of d Hebron, Eliel the chiefe, and his brethren fourescore.

10 Of the sonnes of Vzziel, Amminadab the chiefe, and his brethren an hundreth and twelue.

11 ¶ And Dauid called Zadok and Abiathar the Priest, and of the Leuites, Vriel, Asaiah and Ioel, Shemaiah and Eliel, and Amminadab.

12 And he said vnto them, Yee are the chiefe fathers of the Leuites: e sanctifie your selues, and your brethren, and bring vp the Arke of the Lord God of Israel vnto the place that I haue prepared for it.

13 For * because ye were not there at the first, the Lord our God made a breach among vs: for we sought him not after due f order.

14 So the Priest and the Leuites sanctified themselues to bring vp the Arke of the Lord God of Israel.

15 ¶ And the sonnes of the Leuites bare the Arke of God vpon their shoulders with the barres as Moses had commanded, * according to the word of the Lord.

16 And Dauid spake to the chiefe of the Leuites, that they should appoint certaine of their brethren to sing with g instruments of musicke, with violes and harpes, and cymbals, that they might make a sound, and lift vp their voyce with ioy.

17 So the Leuites appointed Heman the sonne of Ioel, and of his brethren Asaph the sonne of Berechiah, and of the sonnes of Merari their brethren, Ethan the sonne of Kushaiah, 18 And with them their brethren in the h second degree, Zechariah, Ben, and Iaaziel, and Shemiramoth, and Iehiel, and Vnni, Eliab, and Benaiah, and Maaseiah, and Mattithiah, and Eliphelehu, and Mikneah, and Obed Edom, and Ieiel the porters.

19 So Heman, Asaph, and Ethan, were singers to make a sound with cymbals of brasse,

20 And Zechariah, and Aziel, and Shemiramoth, and Iehiel, and Vnni, and Eliab, and Maaseiah, and Benaiah, with viols on i Alamoth, 21 And Mattithiah, and Eliphelehu, and Mikneah, and Obed Edom, and Ieiel, and Azaziah, with harpes vpon k Sheminith Ienazzeah.

22 But Chenaniah the chiefe of the Leuites had the l charge, bearing of burden in the charge, for he was able to instruct.

23 And Berechiah and Elkanah were porters for the Arke.

24 And Shecaniah, and Iehoshaphat, and Nethaneel, and Amasai, and Zechariah, and Benaiah, and Eliezer the Priests did blowe with trumpets before the Arke of God, and Obed Edom, and Ieiah were porters m for the Arke.

25 * So Dauid and the Elders of Israel and the captains of thousands went to bring vp the Arke of the Couenant of the Lord from the house of Obed Edom with ioy.

26 And because that God n helped the Leuites that bare the Arke of the Couenant of the Lord, they offered * seuen bullockes and seuen rammes.

27 And Dauid had on him a linnen garment, as all the Leuites that bare the Arke, and the singers, and Chenaniah that had the chiefe charge of the singers: and vpon Dauid was a linnen o Ephod.

28 Thus all Israel brought vp the Arke of the Lords couenant with shouting, and sound of cornet, and with trumpets, and with cymbals, making a sound with violes and with harps.

29 And when the Arke of the q couenant of the Lord came into the citie of Dauid, Michal the daughter of Saul looked out a window, and saw king Dauid dancing and playing, and * shee despised him in her heart.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The Arke being placed, they offer sacrifices. 4 Dauid ordaineth Asaph and his brethren to minister before the Lord. 8 Hee appointeth a notable Psalme to be sung in praise of the Lord.

SO * they brought in the Arke of God, and set it in the midst of the Tabernacle that Dauid had pitched for it, and they offred burnt offerings and peace offerings before God.

3 And hee dealt to euery one of Israel both man and woman, to euery one a cake of bread, and a piece of flesh, and a bottell of wine.

4 And hee appoynted certaine of the Leuites to minister before the Arke of the Lord, and to [b] rehearse and to thanke and praise the Lord God of Israel:

5 Asaph the chiefe, and next to him Zechariah, Ieiel, and Shemiramoth, and Iehiel, and Mattithiah, and Eliab, and Benaiah, and Obed-Edom, euen Ieiel with instruments, violes, and harpes, and Asaph to make a sound with cymbals,

6 And Benaiah and Iehaziel Priestes, with trumpets continually before the Arke of the Couenant of God.

7 Then at that time Dauid did [c] appoynt at the beginning to giue thankes to the Lord by the hand of Asaph and his brethren.

8 * Praise the Lord, and call vpon his Name: declare his [d] workes among the people.

9 Sing vnto him, sing praise vnto him, and talke of all his [e] wonderfull workes.

10 Reioyce in his holy Name: let the hearts of them that seeke the Lord, reioyce.

11 Seeke the Lord and his strength: seeke his face continually.

12 Remember his marueilous workes that he hath done, his wonders, and the [f] iudgements of his mouth, 13 O seed of Israel his seruant, O the children of Iaakob his [g] chosen.

14 Hee is the Lord our God: his iudgements are throughout all the earth.

15 Remember his Couenant for euer, and the word, which he commanded to a thousand generations:

16 * Which hee made with Abraham, and his oathe to Izhak:

17 And hath confirmed it to Iaakob for a Law, and to Israel for an euerlasting Couenant, 18 Saying, To thee will I giue the land of Canaan, the † lot of your inheritance.

19 When ye were [h] few in number, yea, a very few, and strangers therein,

20 And walked about from nation to nation, and from one kingdome to another people,

21 Hee suffered no man to doe them wrong, but rebuked [i] Kings for their sakes, saying, 22 Touch not mine [k] anoynted, and doe my [l] Prophets no harme.

23 * Sing vnto the Lord all the earth: declare his saluation from day to day.

24 Declare his glory among the nations, and his wonderfull workes among all people.

25 For the Lord is great and much to be praised, and he is to be feared aboue all gods.

26 For all the gods of the people are [m] idoles, but the Lord made the heauens.

27 Praise and glory are before him: power and beautie are in his place.

28 Giue vnto the Lord, ye families of the people: giue vnto the Lord glory and power.

29 Giue vnto the Lord the glory of his Name: bring an offering and come before him, and worship the Lord in the glorious Sanctuarie.

30 [n] Tremble ye before him all the earth, surely the world shalbe stable, and not moue.

31 Let the [o] heauens reioyce, and let the earth be glad, and let them say among the nations, The Lord reigneth.

32 Let the sea roare, and all that therein is: let the field be ioyfull and all that is in it.

33 Let the trees of the wood then reioyce at the presence of the Lord: for hee commeth to [p] iudge the earth.

34 Praise the Lord for he is good, for his mercie endureth for euer.

35 And say ye, Saue vs, O God, our saluation, and gather vs, and deliuer vs from the heathen, that we may praise thine holy Name, and [q] glory in thy praise.

36 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel for euer and euer: and let all the people say, [r] So be it, and praise the Lord.

37 ¶ Then he left there before the Arke of the Lords Couenant Asaph and his brethren to minister continually before the Arke, that which was to be done euery day:

38 And Obed Edom and his brethren, threescore and eight: and Obed Edom the sonne of Iedduthun, and Hosah were porters.

39 And Zadok the Priest and his brethren the Priests were before the Tabernacle of the Lord, in the hie place that was at Gibeon, 40 To offer burnt offerings vnto the Lord vpon the burnt offering altar continually, in the morning and in the euening, euen according vnto all that is written in the Law of the Lord, which he commanded Israel.

41 And with [s] them were Heman and Iedduthun, and the rest that were chosen (which were appoynted by names) to praise the Lord, because his mercy endureth for euer.

42 Euen with them were Heman and Iedduthun, to make a sound with the cornets and with the cymbals, with excellent instruments of musicke: and the sonnes of Ieduthun were at the gate.

43 And all the people departed, euery man to his house: and Dauid returned to [t] blesse his house.

3 And the same [d] night euen the word of God came to Nathan, saying,

8 And I haue beene with thee whithersoeuer thou hast walked, and haue destroyed all thine enemies out of thy sight, and * haue made thee a name, like the name of the great men that are in the earth.

9 (Also I wil appoint a place for my people Israel, and will h plant it, that they may dwell in their place, and mooue no more: neither shall the † wicked people * vexe them any more, as at the beginning,

10 And since the time that I commaunded Iudges ouer my people Israel) And I will subdue all thine enemies: therefore I say vnto thee, that the Lord will i build thee an house.

11 And when thy dayes shalbe fulfilled to go with thy fathers, then will I raise vp thy seede after thee, which shalbe of thy sonnes, and will establish his kingdome.

12 He shall build me an house, and I will establish his throne for k euer.

13 I will be his father, and hee shall by my sonne, and I will not take my mercy away from him, as I tooke it from him that was before l thee.

14 But I will establish him in mine house, and in mine kingdome for euer, and his throne shall be stablished for euer.

15 According to all these words, and according to all this vision. So Nathan spake to Dauid.

16 ¶ And Dauid the king m went in and * sate before the Lord, and said, Who am I, O Lord God, and what is mine house, that thou hast brought me n hitherto?

17 Yet thou esteeming this a small thing, O God, hast also spoken concerning the house of thy seruant for a great while, and hast regarded me according to the estate of a man of o hie degree, O Lord God.

18 What can Dauid desire moore of thee for the honour of thy seruant? for thou knowest thy seruant.

19 O Lord, for thy seruants sake, euen according to thine p heart hast thou done all this great thing to declare all magnificence.

20 Lord, there is none like thee, neither is there any God besides thee, according to all that wee haue heard with our eares.

21 Moreouer what one nation in the earth is like thy people Israel, whose God went to redeeme them to be his people, and to make thy selfe a Name, and to doe great and terible things by casting out Nations from before thy people, whom thou hast deliuered out of Egypt?

22 For thou hast ordeined thy people Israel to be thine owne people for euer, and thou Lord art become their God.

23 Therefore now Lord, let the thing that thou hast spoken concerning thy seruant, and concerning his house, be confirmed for euer, and doe as thou hast said, 24 And let thy Name be stable and magnified for euer, that it may be said, The Lord of hoastes, God of Israel, is the God of q Israel, and let the house of Dauid thy seruant be established before thee.

25 For thou, O my God, hast r reuealed vnto the eare of thy seruant, that thou wilt build him an house: therefore thy seruant hath † beene bold to pray before thee.

26 Therefore now Lord (for thou art s God, and hast spoken this goodnesse vnto thy seruant,)

27 Now therefore, it hath pleased thee to blesse the house of thy seruant, that it may be before thee for euer: for thou, O Lord, hast blessed it, and it shalbe blessed for euer.

A Nd after this, Dauid smote the Philistims, and subdued them, and tooke a Gath, and the villages thereof out of the hand of the Philistims,

2 And he smote Moab, and the Moabites became Dauids seruants, and * brought gifts.

3 ¶ And Dauid smote * Hadarezer King of Zobah vnto Hamath, as hee went to stablish his border by the riuer * Perath.

4 And Dauid tooke from him a thousand charets, and seuen thousand horsemen, and twentie thousand footemen, and * destroyed all the charets, but he reserued of them an hundreth charets.

5 ¶ Then came the Aramites of Damascus to succour Hadarezer king of Zobah, but Dauid slew of the Aramites two and twentie thousand.

6 And Dauid put a garison in Aram of * Damascus, and the Aramites became Dauids seruants, and brought gifts: and the Lord b preserued Dauid whereseoeuer he went.

7 And Dauid tooke the shields of golde that were of the seruants of Hadarezer, and brought them to Ierusalem.

8 And from c Tibhath, and from Chun (cities of Hadarezer) brought Dauid exceeding much brasse, wherewith Salomon made the brasen * Sea, and the pillars and the vessels of brasse.

9 ¶ Then Tou king of Hamath heard how Dauid had smitten all the hoast of Hadarezer king of Zobah:

10 Therefore he sent d Hadoram his sonne to king Dauid, to salute him, and to reioyce with him, because hee had fought against Hadarezer, and beaten him (for Tou had warre with Hadarezer) who brought all vessels of golde and siluer and brasse.

11 And king Dauid did dedicate them vnto the Lord, with the siluer and gold that he brought from all the nations, from e Edom, and from Moab, and from the children of Ammon, and from the Philistims, and from Amalek.

12 ¶ And Abishai the sonne of Zeruiah smote of Edom in the salt valley f eighteene thousand.

13 And he put a garison in Edom, and all the Edomites became Dauids seruants: and the Lord preserued Dauid whereseoeuer he went.

14 So Dauid reigned ouer all Israel, and executed iudgement and iustice to all his people.

15 And Ioab the sonne of Zeruiah was ouer the hoaste, and Iehoshaphat the sonnne of Ahilud Recorder.

16 And Zadok the sonne of Ahitub, and Abimelech the sonne of Abiathar were the Priestes, and * Shausha the Scribe, 17 * And Benaiah the sonne of Iehoiada was ouer the g Cherethites and the Pelethites: and the sonnes of Dauid were chiefe about the King.

2 And Dauid said, I will shew kindnesse vnto Hanun the sonne of Nahash, because his a father shewed kindnesse vnto mee. And Dauid sent messengers to comfort him for his father. So the seruants of Dauid came into the land of the children of Ammon to Hanun, to comfort him.

3 And the princes of the children of Ammon said to Hanun, Thinkest thou that Dauid doeth honour thy father, that hee hath sent comforters vnto thee? Are not his seruants come to thee to b search, to seeke and to spie out the land?

4 Wherefore Hanun tooke Dauids seruants, and c shaued them, and cut off their d garments by the halfe vnto the buttockes, and sent them away.

5 And there went certaine and tolde Dauid concerning the men: and hee sent to meet them (for the men were exceedingly ashamed) and the King said, Tarie at Iericho, vntill your beards be growen: then returne.

6 ¶ When the children of Ammon sawe that they * stanke in the sight of Dauid, then sent Hanun and the children of Ammon a thousand talents of siluer, to hire them charets and horsemen out * of Aram Naharaim, and out of Aram Maachah, and out of e Zobah.

7 And they hired them two and thirtie thousand charets, and the king of Maachah and his people, which came and pitched before f Medeba: and the children of Ammon gathered themselues together from their cities, and came to the battell.

8 ¶ And when Dauid heard it, hee sent Ioab and all the hoaste of the valiant men.

9 And the children of Ammon came out, and set their battell in aray at the gate of the citie. And the kings that were come, were by themselues in the field.

10 When Ioab sawe that the front of the battell was against him before and behind, then hee chose out of all the choise of Israel, and set himselfe in aray to meete the Aramites.

11 And the rest of the people hee deliuered vnto the hand of Abishai his brother, and they put themselues in aray against the children of Ammon.

12 And he said, If Aram be too strong for me, then thou shalt succour me: and if the children of Ammon prenaile against thee, then I will succour thee.

13 Be strong, and let vs shew our selues valiant for our g people, and for the cities of our God, and let the Lord doe that which is good in his owne sight.

14 So Ioab and the people that was with him, came neere before the Aramites vnto the battell, and they fled before him.

15 And when the children of Ammon sawe that the Aramites fled, they fled also before Abishai his brother, and entred into the citie: so Ioab came to Ierusalem.

16 ¶ And when the Aramites sawe that they were discomfited before Israel, they sent messengers, and caused the Aramites to come forth that were beyond the h riuer: and Shophach the captaine of the hoste of Hadarezer went before them.

17 And when it was shewed Dauid, he gathered all Israel, and went ouer Iorden, and came vnto them, and put himselfe in aray against them: And when Dauid had put himselfe in battell aray to meet the Aramites, they fought with him.

18 But the Aramites fled before Israel, and Dauid destroyed of the Aramites i seuen thousand charets, and fourtie thousand footmen, and killed Shophach the captaine of the hoaste.

19 And when the seruants of Hadarezer sawe that they fell before Israel, they made peace with Dauid, and serued him. And the Aramites would no more succour the children of Ammon.

2 * Then Dauid tooke the crowne of their king from off his head, and found it the weight of a b talent of golde, with precious stones in it: and it was set on Dauids head, and hee brought away the spoyle of the citie exceeding much.

3 And he caried away the people that were in it, and cut them with sawes, and with harrowes of yron, and with axes: euen thus did Dauid with all the cities of the children of Ammon. Then Dauid & all the people came againe to Ierusalem.

6 But the Leuites and Beniamin counted hee not among them: for the Kings word was abominable to Ioab.

7 ¶ And God was displeased with this thing: therefore he smote Israel.

8 Then Dauid said vnto God, I haue sinned greatly, because I haue done this thing: but now, I beseech thee, remoone the iniquitie of thy seruant: for I haue done very foolishly.

* Or, Prophet, 9 And the Lord spake vnto Gad Dauids * Seer, saying, 10 Goe and tell Dauid, saying, Thus sayth the Lord, I offer thee three things: chuse thee one of them, that I may doe it vnto thee.

11 So Gad came to Dauid and said vnto him, Thus saith the Lord, Take to thee

12 Either three yeeres famine, or three moneths to be destroyed before thine aduersaries, and the sword of thine enemies * to take thee, or else the sword of the Lord and pestilence in the land three dayes, that the Angel of the Lord may destroy throughout all the coasts of Israel: now therefore aduise thee, what word I shall bring againe to him that sent me.

* Or, smite thee,

13 And Dauid said vnto Gad, I am in a wonderfull strait, let me now fall into the hand of the Lord: for his mercies are exceeding great, and let me not fall into the hand of man.

14 So the Lord sent a pestilence in Israel, and there fell of Israel seuentie thousand men.

15 ¶ And God sent the Angel into Ierusalem to destroy it. And [f] as he was destroying, the Lord beheld, and [g] repented of the euill, and sayd to the Angel that destroyed, It is now enough, let thine hand cease. Then the Angel of the Lord stood by the threshing floore of * Ornan the Iebusite.

f Read 2. Sam. 24. 16.

g When God draweth backe his plagues, he seemeth to repent, reade Gen. 6. 6.

* Or, Araunah,

16 And Dauid lift vp his eyes, and sawe the Angel of the Lord stand betweene the earth and the heauen, with his sword drawen in his hande and stretched out toward Ierusalem. Then Dauid and the Elders of Israel, which were cloathed in sacke, fell vpon their faces.

17 And Dauid said vnto God, Is it not I that commanded to number the people? It is euen I that haue sinned and haue committed euill, but these sheepe, what haue they done? O Lord my God, I beseech thee, let thine hand be on me and on my fathers house, and not on [h] thy people for their destruction.

h Thus he doth sheweth a true repentance and a fatherly care toward his people, which desireth God to spare them, and to punish him and his,

18 ¶ Then the Angel of the Lord commanded Gad to say to Dauid, that Dauid should goe vp, and set vp an altar vnto the Lord in the threshing flore of Ornan the Iebusite.

19 So Dauid went vp according to the saying of Gad, which hee had spoken in the name of the Lord.

20 And Ornan turned about and saw the Angel, and his foure sonnes that were with him, [i] hid themselues, and Ornan threshed wheat.

i If man hide himselfe at the sight of an Angel which is a creature, how much lesse is a sinner able to appeare before the face of God? k Thus he did by the commandement of God, as verse 18. for else it had beene abominable, except he had either Gods word, or reuelation, 21 And as Dauid came to Ornan, Ornan looked and saw Dauid, and went out of the threshing floore, and bowed himselfe to Dauid with his face to the ground.

22 And Dauid said to Ornan, Giue mee the place of thy threshing floore, that I may builde an [k] altar therein vnto the Lord: giue it mee for sufficient money, that the plague may be stayed from the people.

23 Then Ornan said vnto Dauid, Take it to thee, and let my lord the king doe that which seemeth him good: loe, I giue thee bullockes for burnt offerings, and threshing instruments for wood, and wheate for meate offering, I giue it all.

24 And King Dauid sayd to Ornan, Not so: but I will buy it for sufficient [l] money: for I will not take that which is thine for the Lord, nor offer burnt offerings without cost.

l That is, as much as it is worth: for hauing enough of his owne, and yet to haue taken of another mans goods to offer vnto the Lord, it had beene the first and not acceptable to God.

25 So Dauid gaue to Ornan for that place [m] six hundreth shekels of gold by weight.

m Reade 2. Sam. 24. 24.

26 And Dauid built there an altar vnto the Lord, and offered burnt offerings, and peace offerings, and called vpon the Lord, and hee [n] answered him by fire from heauen vpon the altar of burnt offering.

n God declareth that he heard his request, in that he sent downe fire from heauen: for els they might vse no fire in sacrifice, but of that which was reserued still vpon the altar, Leuit. 6. 13. and same downe from heauen, Leuit. 9. 24. as appeareth by the punishment of Nadab and Abihu, Leuit. 10. 2.

27 And when the Lord had spoken to the Angel, hee put vp his sworde againe into his sheath.

28 At that time when Dauid saw that the Lord had heard him in the threshing floore of Ornan the Iebusite, then he sacrificed there.

29 (But the Tabernacle of the Lord which Moses had made in the wildernesse, and the altar of burnt offering were at that season in the high place at Gibeon.

30 And Dauid could not goe before it to aske counsell at God: for hee was afraid of the sword of the Angel of the Lord.)

CHAP. XXII.

2 Dauid prepareth things necessary for the building of the Temple. 6 He commandeth his sonne Salomon to build the Temple of the Lord, which thing hee himselfe was forbidden to doe. 9 Vnder the figure of Salomon Christ is promised.

AND Dauid sayd, This is the [a] house of the Lord God, and this is the altar for the burnt offering of Israel.

a That is, the place wherein he will be worshipped.

2 And Dauid commanded to gather together the [b] strangers that were in the land of Israel, and hee set masons to hew and polish stones to build the house of God.

b Meaning, commining men of other nations which dwelt among the Iewes.

3 Dauid also prepared [c] much yron for the nailes of the doores and of the gates, and for the ioynings, and abundance of brasse passing weight, c To wit, which weighed fiftie thekels of gold, 1. Chron. 3. 28.

4 And cedar trees without number: for the Zidonians and they of Tyrus brought much cedar wood to Dauid.

5 And Dauid said, Salomon my sonne is yong and tender, and we must builde an house for the Lord, magnificall, excellent and of great fame and dignitie throughout all countreys: I will therefore now prepare for him. So Dauid prepared very much before his death.

6 Then hee called Salomon his sonne, and charged him to build an house for the Lord God of Israel.

7 And Dauid said to Salomon, * My sonne, I purposed with my selfe to build an house to the Name of the Lord my God,

* 2. Sam. 7. 13.

8 But the word of the Lord came to mee, saying, * [d] Thou hast shed much blood, & hast made great battels: thou shalt not build an house vnto my Name: for thou hast shed much blood vpon the earth in my sight.

* Chap. 28. 3.

d This declareth how greatly God detested the shedding of blood, seeing Dauid for this cause is stayed to build the Temple of the Lord, albeit hee enterprised no warre, but by Gods commandement and against his enemies,

9 Behold, a sonne is borne to thee, which shall be a man of rest, for I will giue him rest from all his enemies round about: therefore his name is Salomon: and I will send peace and quietnesse vpon Israel in his dayes.

10 * He shall build an house for my Name, and he shall be my sonne, and I will be his father, and I will establish the throne of his kingdome vpon Israel for euer.

11 Now therefore my sonne, the Lord shall be with thee, and thou shalt prosper, and thou shalt build an house to the Lord thy God, as he hath spoken of thee.

13 Then thou shalt prosper, if thou take heede to obserue the statutes & the iudgements, which the Lord commanded Moses for Israel: be strong and of good courage: feare not, neither be afraid.

14 For behold, according to my g ponertie haue I prepared for the house of the Lord an hundreth thousand talents of gold, and a thousand thousand talents of siluer, and of brasse and of yron passing weight: for there was abundance: I haue also prepared timber and stone, and thou mayest prouide more thereto.

15 Moreouer thou hast workemen with thee enough, * hewers of stone, and workemen for timber, and all men expert in euery worke.

16 Of gold, of siluer, and of brasse, and of yron there is no number: h Vp therefore, and be doing, and the Lord will be with thee.

17 Dauid also commanded all the princes of Israel to helpe Salomon his sonne, saying,

18 Is not the Lord your God with you, and hath giuen you rest on euery side? for he hath giuen the i inhabitants of the land into mine hand, and the land is subdued before the Lord, and before his people.

19 Now set k your hearts and your soules to seeke the Lord your God, and arise, and build the Sanctuary of the Lord God, to bring the Arke of the Couenant of the Lord, and the holy vessels of God into the house built for the Name of the Lord.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Dauid being olde, ordeineth Salomon King. 3 Hee causeth the Leuites to be numbred. 4 and assigneth them to their offices. 13 Aaron and his sonnes are for the high Priest. 14 The sonnes of Moses.

SO when Dauid was old and full of dayes, * he made Salomon his sonne King ouer Israel.

2 And he gathered together all the princes of Israel with the Priests and the Leuites.

3 And the Leuites were numbred from the age of thirtie yeere and aboue, and their number according to their summe was eight and thirtie thousand men.

4 Of these foure and twentie thousand were set to * aduance the worke of the house of the Lord, and sixe thousand were ouer-seers and iudges.

5 And foure thousand were porters, and foure thousand praysed the Lord with instruments which † he made to prayse the Lord.

6 * So Dauid diuided offices vnto them, to wit, to the sonnes of Leui, to * Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.

7 Of the Gershonites were * Laadan & Shimei.

8 The sonnes of Laadan, the chiefe was Iehiel, and Ietham and Ioel, three.

9 The sonnes of Shimei, Shelomith, and Haziel, and Haram, three: these were the chiefe fathers of Laadan.

10 Also the sonnes Shimei were Iahath, Zina, Ieush, and Beriah: these foure were the sonnes of Shimei.

11 And Iahath was the chiefe, and * Zizah the second, but Ieush and Beriah had not many sonnes: therefore they were in the families of their father, counted but as one.

12 ¶ The sonnes of Kohath were Amram, Izhar, Hebron and Vzziel, foure.

13 * The sonnes of Amram, Aaron and Moses: and Aaron was separated to * sanctifie the most holy place, he and his sonnes for euer to burne incense before the Lord, to minister to him, and to blesse in his Name for euer.

14 ¶ Moses also the man of God and his children were named with the b tribe of Leui.

15 The sonnes of Moses were Gershom, and Eliezer.

16 Of the sonnes of * Gershom was Shebuel the chiefe.

17 And the sonne of Eliezer was Rehabiah the c chiefe: for Eliezer had none other sonnes: but the sonnes of Rehabiah were very many.

18 The sonne of Izhar was Shelomith the chiefe.

19 The sonnes of Hebron were Ieriah the first, Amariah the second, Iahaziel the third, and Iekameam the fourth.

20 The sonnes of Vzziel were Michah the first, and Isshaiah the second.

21 ¶ The sonnes of Merari were Mahli and Mushi. The sonnes of Mahli, Eleazar and Kish.

22 And Eleazar died, and had no sonnes, but daughters, and their d brethren the sonnes of Kish tooke them.

23 The sonnes of Mushi were Mahli, and Eder, and Ierimoth, three.

24 These were the sonnes of Leui according to the house of their fathers, eum the chiefe fathers according to their offices, according to the number of names, and their summe that did the worke for the seruice of the house of the Lord from the age of e twentie yeeres and aboue.

25 For Dauid said, The Lord God of Israel hath giuen rest vnto his people, that they may dwell in Ierusalem for euer.

26 And also the Leuites shall no more beare the Tabernacle and all the vessels for the seruice thereof.

27 Therefore according to the last words of Dauid, the Leuites were numbred from twentie yeere and aboue,

28 And their office was vnder the hand of the sonnes of Aaron, for the seruice of the house of the Lord in the courts, and chambers, and in the f purifying of all holy things, and in the worke of the seruice of the house of God,

29 Both for the shewbread, and for the fine flour, for the meate offering, and for the vnleauened cakes, and for the fried things, and for that which was rosted, and for all measures and cise,

30 And for to stand euery morning, to giue thanks and to praise the Lord, & likewise at euen,

31 And to offer all burnt offerings vnto the Lord in the Sabbaths, in the moneths, and at the appointed times, according to the number and according to their custome, continually before the Lord:

16 O Lord our God, all this abundance that wee haue prepared to builde thee an house for thine holy Name, is of thine hand, and all is thine.

17 I know also my God, that thou * triest the heart, and hast pleasure in righteousnesse: I haue offered willingly in the vprightnes of mine heart all these things: now also haue I seene thy people which are found here, to offer vnto thee willingly with ioy.

18 O Lord God of Abraham, Izhak, and Israel our fathers, keepe this for euer in the k purpose, and the thoughts of the heart of thy people, and prepare their hearts vnto thee.

19 And giue vnto Salomon my sonne a perfect heart to keepe thy commandements, thy testimonies, and thy statutes, and to do all things, and to build the house which I haue prepared.

20 ¶ And Dauid said to all the congregation, Now blesse the Lord your God. And all the Congregation blessed the Lord God of their fathers, and bowed downe their heads, and worshipped the Lord and the l king.

21 And they offered sacrifices vnto the Lord, and on the morrow after that day, they offered burnt offerings vnto the Lord, euen a thousand yong bullocks, a thousand rams, and a thousand sheepe, with their m drinke offerings, and sacrifices in abundance for all Israel.

22 And they did eate and drinke before the Lord the same day with great ioy, and they made Salomon the sonne of Dauid king the second time, and anoynted him prince before the Lord, and Zadok for the high Priest.

23 So Salomon sate on the n throne of the Lord, as king in steade of Dauid his father, and prospered: and all Israel obeyed him.

24 And all the princes and men of power, and all the sonnes of king Dauid † submitted themselues vnder king Salomon.

25 And the Lord magnified Salomon in dignitie, in the sight of all Israel, and gaue him so glorious a kingdome, as no king had before him in Israel.

26 ¶ * Thus Dauid the sonne of Ishai reigned ouer all Israel.

27 And the space that hee reigned ouer Israel was fortie yeere: seuen yeere reigned hee in Hebron, and three and thirtie yeere reigned he in Ierusalem:

28 And hee died in a good age, full of dayes, riches and honour, and Salomon his sonne reigned in his stead.

29 Concerning the actes of Dauid the king, first & last, behold, they are written in the booke of Samuel the Seer, and in the booke of o Nathan the Prophet, and in the booke of Gad the Seer,

THE SECOND BOOKE OF THE CHRONICLES.

THE ARGVMENT.

THis second booke containeth briefly in effect that, which is conteined in the two bookes of the Kings: that is, from the reigne of Salomon to the destruction of Ierusalem, and the carying away of the people captiue into Babylon. In this storie are certaine things declared and set foorth more copiously then in the bookes of the Kings, and therefore serue greatly to the vnderstanding of the Prophets. But three things are here chiefly to be considered. First, that the godly kings, when they saw the plagues of God prepared against their countrey for sinne, had recourse to the Lord, and by earnest prayer were heard, and the plagues removed. The second, how it is a thing that greatly offendeth God, that such as feare him and professe his religion, should ioyne in amitie with the wicked. And thirdly, how the good rulers euer loued the Prophets of God, and were very zealous to set foorth his religion throughout all their dominions, and contrariwise, the wicked hated his ministers, deposed them, and for the true religion and word of God, set vp idolatrie, and serued God according to the fantasie of men. Thus haue we hitherto the chiefe acts from the beginning of the world to the building againe of Ierusalem, which was the two and thirtieth yeere of Darius, and containe in the whole, three thousand, fiue hundred, threescore and eighteene yeeres, and sixe monethes.

CHAP. I.

2 And Salomon a spake vnto all Israel, to the captaines of thousands, and of hundreds, and to the iudges, and to all the gouernours in all Israel, euen the chiefe fathers.

3 So Salomon and all the Congregation with him went to the high place that was at b Gibeon: for there was the Tabernacle c of the Congregation of God which Moses the seruant of the Lord had made in the wildernesse.

c So called, because that God thereby shewed certaine signes to the congregation of his presence.

4 But the Arke of God had Dauid brought vp from Kiriath-iearim, when Dauid had made preparation for it: for he had pitched a tent for it in Ierusalem.

8 And Salomon said vnto God, Thou hast shewed great mercie vnto Dauid my father, and hast made me to reigne in his stead.

9 Now therefore, O Lord God, let thy promise vnto Dauid my father be [e] true: for thou hast made mee King ouer a great people, like to the dust of the earth.

10 Giue me now wisedome and knowledge, that I may [f] go out and goe in before this people: for who can iudge this thy great people?

11 And God saide to Salomon, Because this was in thine heart, and thou hast not asked riches, treasures nor honour, nor the [g] liues of thine enemies, neither yet hast asked long life, but hast asked for thee wisedome and knowledge, that thou mightest iudge my people, ouer whom I haue made thee King,

12 Wisedome and knowledge is granted vnto thee, and I will giue thee riches and treasures and honour, so that there hath not beene the like among the kings which were before thee, neither after thee shall there be the like.

13 Then Salomon came from the high place that was at Gibeon, to Ierusalem from before the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and reigned ouer Israel.

14 * And Salomon gathered the charets and horsemen: and he had a thousand and foure hundreth charets, and twelue thousand horsemen, whom he placed in the [h] charet cities, and with the King at Ierusalem.

15 And the king gaue gold and siluer at Ierusalem as [i] stones, and gaue cedar trees as the wild figtrees, that are abundantly in the plaine.

16 Also Salomon had horses brought out of Egypt, and * fine linnen: [k] the Kings marchants receiued the fine linnen for a price.

17 They came vp also and brought out of Egypt some charet, worth six hundreth shekels of siluer, that is an horse for an hundreth and fiftie: and thus they brought horses to all the kings of the Hittites, and to the kings of Aram by their † meanes.

a Which is to be vnderstood of all sorts of officers and ouerseers: for els the chiefe officers were but 3300, as 2. King. 5. 16.

3 And Salomon sent to ‖ Huram the king of Tyrus, saying, As thou hast done to Dauid my father, and didst * send him cedar trees to build him an house to dwell in so doe to me,

5 And the house which I build, is great: for great is our God aboue all gods.

6 Who is hee then that can be able to build him an house, when the heauen and the heauen of heauens cannot containe him? who am I then that I should build him an house? but I doe it to burne [b] incense before him.

b That is, to doe the seruice which he hath commanded, signifying that none is able to honour and serue God in that perfection as his mazeby deserueth.

7 Send me now therefore a cunning man that can worke in gold, in siluer, and in brasse, and in yron, and in purple, and in [c] crimosin and blue silke, and that can graue in grauen worke with the cunning men that are with me in Iudah and in Ierusalem, whom Dauid my father hath prepared.

11 Then Huram king of Tirus answered in writting which he sent to Salomon, Because the Lord had loued his people, he hath made thee King ouer them.

12 Huram said moreouer, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, which made the heauen and the earth, and that hath giuen vnto Dauid the King a [e] wise sonne, that hath discretion, prudence and vnderstanding to build an house for the Lord, and a palace for his kingdome.

e The very heathen confessed that it was a singular gift of God, when he gaue to any nation a King that was wise & of vnderstanding, albeit it appeareth that this Hiram had the true knowledge of God. f It is also written that the was of the tribe of Naphtali, 1. King. 7. 14. which may be vnderstood that by reason of the confusion of tribes, which then began to be, they maried in diuers tribes, so that by her father she might be of Dan, and by her mother of Naphtali.

13 Now therefore I haue sent a wise man, and of vnderstanding of my father Hurams, 14 The sonne of a woman, of the [f] daughters of Dan: and his father was a man of Tyrus, and he can skill to worke in gold, in siluer in brasse, in yron, in stone, and in timber, in purple, in blue silke, and in fine linnen, and in crimosin, and can graue in all grauen workes, and broyder in all broydered worke that shalbe giuen him, with thy cunning men, and with the cunning men of my lord Dauid thy father.

15 Now therefore the wheate and the barley, the oyle and the wine, which my lord hath spoken of, let him send vnto his seruants.

16 And we will cut wood in Lebanon as much as thou shalt neede, and will bring it to thee in ‖ rafts by the sea to ‖ Iapho, so thou mayest cary them to Ierusalem.

17 ¶ And Salomon numbred all the strangers that were in the land of Israel, after the numbring that his father Dauid had numbred them: and they were found an hundreth and three and fiftie thousand, and six hundreth.

moneth and the second day, in the fourth yeere of his reigne.

3 And these are the measures wherein Salomon grounded to build the house of God: the length of cubits after the first measure was threescore cubites, and the breadth twenty cubites:

4 And the porch that was before the length in the front [c] of the breadth, was twentie cubites, and the height was an hundreth and twentie, and he overlaid it within with pure gold.

5 And the greater house he sieled with firre tree which he overlaid with good gold, and graued thereon palme trees and chaines.

6 And hee ouerlaide the house with precious stone for beautie: and the gold was gold of [e] Parnaim.

7 The house, I say, the beames, postes, and walles thereof and the doores thereof ouerlaide hee with gold, and graued Cherubims vpon the walles.

8 ¶ He made also the house of the most holy place: the length thereof was in the front of the breadth of the house, twenty cubits, & the breadth thereof twenty cubites: and hee ouerlaid it with the best gold, of sixe hundreth talents.

9 And the weight of the nailes was fiftie shekels of gold, and he ouerlayd the chambers with gold.

10 ¶ And in the house of the most holy place he made two Cherubims wrought like children, and ouerlayd them with gold.

11 * And the wings of the Cherubims were twenty cubites long: the one wing was fiue cubites, reaching to the wall of the house, and the other wing fiue cubites, reaching to the wing of the other Cherub.

12 Likewise the wing of the other Cherub was fiue cubits, reaching to the wall of the house, and the other wing fiue cubites, ioyning to the wing of the other Cherub.

13 The wings of these Cherubims were spread abroad twenty cubites, they stood on their feete, and their faces were toward the house.

14 ¶ He made also the [f] vaile of blue silke and purple, and crimosin, and fine linnen, and wrought Cherubims thereon.

15 ¶ And he made before the house two pillars [g] of fiue and thirty cubits high: and the chapiter that was vpon the top each of them was fiue cubites.

16 Hee made also chaines for the Oracle, and put them on the heads of the pillars, and made an [h] hundreth pomegranates, and put them among the chaines.

17 And hee set vp the pillars before the Temple, one on the right hand, and the other on the left, and called that on the right hand Iachin, and that on the left hand Boaz.

CHAP. IV.

1 The altar of brasse. 2 The molten sea. 6 The caldrons. 7 The candlesticks, &c.

AMd hee made an altar of brasse twentie cubites long, and twentie cubites broad, and ten cubites high.

2 And he made a molten [a] Sea of ten cubites from brim to brim, round in compasse, and fiue cubites high: and a line of thirty cubits did compasse it about.

3 And vnder [b] it was the fashion of oxen, which did compasse it round about, [c] tenne in a cubite compassing the Sea about: two rowes of oxen were cast when it was molten.

4 It stood vpon twelue oxen: three looked toward the North, and three looked toward the West, and three looked toward the South, and three looked toward the East, and the Sea stood aboue vpon them, and all their hinder parts were inward.

5 And the thickenesse thereof was an hand breadth, and the brim thereof was like the worke of the brim of a cup, with floures of ‖ lilies: it conteined [d] three thousand baths.

6 ¶ He made also ten caldrons, and put fiue on the right hand, and fiue on the left, to wash in them, and to cleanse in them that which appertained to the burnt offrings: but the Sea was for the Priests to wash in.

7 ¶ And hee made ten candlesticks of gold (according to [e] their forme) and put them in the Temple, fiue on the right hand, and fiue on the left.

8 ¶ And he made ten tables, and put them in the Temple, fiue on the right hand, and fiue on the left: and he made an hundreth basins of gold.

9 And hee made the court of the Priests, and the great [f] court and doores for the court, and ouerlaid the doores thereof with brasse.

10 And hee set the sea on the right side Eastward toward the South.

11 And Huram made ‖ pots and besoms and basins, and Huram finished the worke that hee should make for King Salomon for the house of God,

13 And foure hundreth pomegranates for the two grates, two rowes of pomegranates for euery grate to couer the two bowles of the chapiters, that were vpon the pillars.

14 Hee made also bases, and made caldrons vpon the bases:

15 And a Sea, and twelue buls vnder it:

16 Pots also and besoms, and fleshhookes; and all these vessels made Huram [g] his father to King Salomon for the house of the Lord of shining brasse.

17 In the plaine of Iorden did the King cast them in clay betweene Succoth and Zeredathah.

18 And Salomon made all these vessels in great abundance: for the weight of brasse could not be reckoned.

19 And Salomon made all the vessels that were for the house of God: the golde altar also and the tables, whereon the [h] shewbread stood.

20 Moreouer, the candlestickes with their lampes, to burne them after the maner before the Oracle, of pure gold.

21 And the floures and the lampes, and the snuffers of gold, which was fine gold.

brought in the things that Dauid his father had dedicated, with the siluer and the gold, and all the vessels, and put them among the treasures of the house of God.

2 Then Salomon assembled the Elders of Israel, and all the heads of the tribes, the chiefe fathers of the children of Israel vnto Ierusalem, to bring vp the Arke of the couenant of the Lord from the [a] citie of Dauid, which is Zion.

3 And all the men of Israel assembled vnto the king at the [b] feast: it was in the seuenth [c] moneth.

5 And they caried vp the Arke, and the Tabernacle of the Congregation: and all the holy vessels that were in the Tabernacle, those did the Priests and Leuites bring vp.

11 And when the Priests were come out of the Sanctuarie (for all the Priests that were present, were [e] sanctified and did not wait by course.

12 And the Leuites the singers of all sorts, as of Asaph, of Heman, of Ieduthun, and of their sonnes and of their brethren, being clad in fine linnen, stood with cymbals, and with violes, and harps at the East end of the Altar, and with them an hundreth and twentie Priestes blowing with trumpets.

13 And they were [f] as one, blowing trumpets, and singing, and made one sound to be heard in praysing and thanking the Lord, and when they lift vp their voyce with trumpets, and with cymbals, and with instruments of musicke, and when they praysed the Lord, singing, [g] For he is good, because his mercy lasteth for euer) then the house, euen the house of the Lord was filled with a cloud, 14 So that the Priests could not stand to minister, because of the cloud: for the glory of the Lord had filled the House of God.

CHAP. VI.

3 Salomon blesseth the people. 4 He praiseth the Lord. 14 Hee prayeth vnto God for those that shall pray in the Temple.

THen * Salomon [a] said, The Lord hath said that he would dwell in the darke cloud:

2 And I haue built thee an house to dwell in, an habitation for thee to dwell in for euer.

3 And the King turned his face, and blessed all the Congregation of Israel (for all the Congregation of Israel stood there.)

4 And he said, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, who spake with his mouth vnto Dauid my father, and hath with his ‖ hand fulfilled it, saying,

5 Since the day that I brought my people out of the land of Egypt, I chose no citie of all the tribes of Israel to build an ‖ house, that my Name might be there, neither chose I any man to be a ruler ouer my people Israel:

6 But I haue chosen Ierusalem, that my Name might be there, and haue chosen Dauid to be ouer my people Israel.

7 * And it was in the heart of Dauid my father to build an house vnto the Name of the Lord God of Israel.

8 But the Lord sayd to Dauid my father, Whereas it was in thine heart to build an house vnto my Name, thou diddest well, that † thou wast so minded.

9 Notwithstanding, thou shalt not build the house, but thy sonne, which shall come out of thy loynes, he shall build an house vnto my Name.

10 And the Lord hath performed his word that hee spake: and I am risen vp in the roume of Dauid my father, and am set on the throne of Israel as the Lord promised, and haue built an house to the Name of the Lord God of Israel.

11 And I haue set the Arke there, wherein is the [b] couenant of the Lord, that he made with the children of Israel.

12 And the [c] king stood before the altar of the Lord, in the presence of all the Congregation of Israel, and stretched out his hands,

13 (For Salomon had made a brasen scaffold and set it in the middes of the court, of fiue cubits long, and fiue cubites broad, and three cubites of height, and vpon it he stood, and kneeled downe vpon his knees before all the Congregation of Israel, and [d] stretched out his handes toward heauen.)

14 And said, O Lord God of Israel, * there is no God like thee in heauen nor in earth, which keepest couenant and mercie vnto thy seruants, that walke before thee with all their heart.

15 Thou that hast kept with thy seruant Dauid my father, that thou hast promised him: for thou spakest with thy mouth, and hast fulfilled it with thine ‖ hand, as appeareth this day.

16 Therefore now, Lord God of Israel, keepe with thy seruant Dauid my father, that thou hast promised him, saying, Thou † shalt not want a man in my sight, that shall sit vpon the throne of Israel, so that thy sonnes take heed to their wayes to walke in my Law, as thou hast walked before mee.

17 And now, O Lord God of Israel, let thy word be verified, which thou spakest vnto thy seruant Dauid.

18 (Is it true in deed, that God will dwell with man on earth? behold, the * heauens, and the heauens of heauens are not able to containe thee: how much more vnable is this house which I haue built?)

19 But haue thou respect to the prayer of thy seruant, and to his supplication, O Lord my God, to heare the cry and prayer which thy seruant prayeth before thee,

20 That thine [e] eyes may be open toward this house day and night, euen toward the place, where of thou hast said, y thou wouldest put thy Name there, that thou mayest hearken vnto the prayer, which thy seruant prayeth in this place.

meate offering, and the fat.

8 And Salomon made b a feast at that time of seuen dayes, and all Israel with him, a very great Congregation, from the entring in of Hamath, vnto the riuer of Egypt.

9 And in the eight day they c made a solemne assembly: for they had made the dedication of the altar seuen dayes, and the feast seuen dayes.

10 And the d three and twentieth day of the seuenth moneth, hee sent the people away into their tents, ioyous and with glad heart, because of the goodnes that the Lord had done for Dauid and for Salomon, and for Israel his people.

11 So Salomon finished the house of the Lord, and the kings house, and all that came into Salomons heart to make in the house of the Lord: and he prospered in his house.

12 ¶ And the Lord * appeared to Salomon by night, and said to him, I haue heard thy prayer, and haue chosen this place for my selfe to be an house of sacrifice.

13 If I shut the heauen that there be no raine, or if I commaund the grashopper to deuoure the land, or if I send pestilence among my people,

14 If my people, among whom my Name is called vpon, doe humble themselues, and pray and seeke my presence, and turne from their wicked wayes, then will I heare in heauen and be mercifull to their sinne, and will e heale their land:

15 Then mine eyes shalbe open and mine eares attent vnto the prayer made in this place.

16 For I haue now chosen and sanctified this house, that my Name may be there for euer: and mine eyes and mine heart shall be there perpetually.

17 And if thou wilt walke before me, as Dauid thy father walked, to doe according vnto all that I haue commanded thee, and shalt obserue my statutes and my iudgements, 18 Then will I stablish the throne of thy kingdome, according as I made the couenant with Dauid thy father, saying, * Thou shalt not want a man to be ruler in Israel.

19 But if yee turne away, and forsake my statutes and my commandements which I haue set before you, and shall goe and serue other gods, and worship them, 20 Then will I plucke them vp out of my land, which I haue giuen them, and this house which I haue f sanctified for my Name, will I cast out of my sight, and will make it to be a prouerbe and a common talke among all people.

21 And this house which is most high, shalbe an astonishment to euery one that passeth by it, so that he shall say, Why hath the Lord done thus to this land, and to this house?

22 And they shall answer, Because they forsooke the Lord God of their fathers, which brought them out of the land of Egypt, and haue taken hold on other gods, and haue worshipped them, and serued them, therefore hath he brought all this euill vpon them.

CHAP. VIII.

2 The cities that Salomon built. 7 People that were made tributarie vnto him. 12 His sacrifice. 17 He goeth to Ophir.

A Nd * after a twenty yeere when Salomon had built the house of the Lord, and his owne house,

2 Then Salomon built the cities that Huram b gaue to Salomon, and caused the children of Israel to dwell there.

3 And Salomon went to Hamath Zobah, and ouercame it.

4 And he built Tadmor in the wildernes, and repaired all c the cities of store which he built in Hamath.

5 And he built d Beth-horon the vpper, and Beth-horon the nether, cities defenced with walles, gates and barres:

6 Also Baalath, and all the cities of store that Salomon had, and all the charet cities, and the cities of the horsemen, and euery pleasant place that Salomon had a minde to build in Ierusalem, and in e Lebanon, and throughout all the land of his dominion.

7 And all the people that were left of the Hittites, and the Amorites, and Perizzites, and the Hiuites, and the Iebusites, which were not of Israel,

8 But of their children which were left after them in the land, whom the children of Israel had not consumed, euen them did Salomon make † tributaries vntill this day.

9 But of the children of Israel did Salomon make no seruants for his worke: for they were men of warre, and his chiefe princes, and the captaines of his charets and of his horsemen.

10 So these were the chiefe of the officers which Salomon had, euen f two hundreth and fiftie that bare rule ouer the people.

11 ¶ Then Salomon brought vp the daughter of Pharaoh out of the citie of Dauid, into the house that hee had built for her: for he said, My wife shall not dwell in the house of Dauid king of Israel: for it is holy, because that the Arke of the Lord came vnto it.

12 ¶ Then Salomon offered burnt offrings vnto the Lord, on the * altar of the Lord, which he had built before the porch, 13 To* offer according to the commandement of Moses ‖ euery day, in the Sabbaths, and in the new moones, and in the solemne feasts, g three times in the yeere, that is, in the feast of the Vnleauened bread, and in the feast of the Weekes, and in the feast of the Tabernacles.

14 And hee set the courses of the Priestes to their offices, according to the order of Dauid his father, and the Leuites in their watches, for to praise and minister before the Priests euery day, and the porters by their * courses at euery gate: for so was the commandement of Dauid the man of God.

15 And they declined not from the commandement of the king, concerning the Priests and the Leuites, touching all things, and touching the treasures.

16 ¶ Now Salomon had made prouision for all the h worke from the day of the foundation of the house of the Lord, vntill it was finished: so the house of the Lord was perfit.

17 Then went Salomon to Ezion-geber, and to Eloth by the i Sea side in the land of Edom.

18 And Huram sent him by the hands of his seruants, ships and seruants that had knowledge of the sea: and they went with the seruants of Salomon to Ophir, and brought thence k foure hundreth and fiftie talents of gold, and brought them to king Salomon.

CHAP. IX.

1. 9 The Queene of Sheba commeth to see Salomon, and bringeth gifts. 13 His yeerely reuenues. 30 The time of his reigne. 31 His death.

A Nd * when the Queene of Sheba heard of the fame of Salomon, she came to [a] prooue Salomon with hard questions at Ierusalem, with a very great traine, and camels that bare sweete odours and much gold, and precious stones: and when she came to Salomon, she communed with him of all that was in her heart.

2 And Salomon declared her all her questions, and there was [b] nothing hid from Salomon, which he declared not vnto her.

3 Then the Queene of Sheba saw the wisedome of Salomon, and the house that hee had built,

4 And the meate of his table, and the sitting of his seruants, and the order of his waiters, & their apparell, and his butlers, and their apparell, and his ‖ burnt offerings which he offered in the house of the Lord, and she was greatly † astonied.

5 And she sayd to the King, It was a true word which I heard in mine owne land of thy ‖ sayings, and of thy wisedome:

6 Howbeit, I beleeued not their report, vntill I came, and mine eyes had seene it: and behold, the one halfe of thy great wisedome was not told me: for thou exceedest the fame that I heard.

7 Happy are thy men, and happy are these thy seruants, which stand before thee alway, and heare thy wisedome.

8 Blessed be the Lord thy God, which loued thee, to set thee on his [c] throne as king, in the stead of the Lord thy God: because thy God loueth Israel, to establish it for euer, therefore hath hee made thee king ouer them, to execute iudgement and iustice.

9 Then she gaue the King sixescore talents of gold, and of sweete odours exceeding much, and precious stones: neither was there such sweete odours since, as the Queene of Sheba gaue vnto King Salomon.

10 And the seruants also of Huram, and the seruants of Salomon which brought golde from Ophir, brought [d] Algummim wood and precious stones.

11 And the King made of the Algummim wood [e] staires in the house of the Lord, and in the kings house, and harpes and violes for singers: and there was no such seene before in the land of Iudah.

12 And King Salomon gaue to the Queene of Sheba euery pleasant thing that shee asked, [f] besides for that which shee had brought vnto the king: so shee returned and went to her owne countrey, both she, and her seruants.

13 ¶ Also the weight of gold that came to Salomon in one yeere, was sixe hundreth threescore and sixe talents of gold, 14 Besides that which chapmen and merchants brought: and all the Kings of Arabia, and the princes of the country brought gold and siluer to Salomon.

15 And King Salomon made two hundreth targets of beaten gold, and [g] sixe hundreth shekels of beaten gold went to one target.

16 And three hundreth shields of beaten gold: three hundreth [h] shekels of gold went to one shield, and the king put them in the house of the wood of Lebanon.

17 And the king made a great throne of yuorie, and ouerlaid it with pure gold.

18 And the throne had sixe steps, with a footstoole of gold [i] fastened to the throne, and stayes on either side on the place of the seate, and two lions standing by the [k] stayes.

19 And twelue lions stood there on the sixe steps on either side: there was not the like made in any kingdome.

20 And all King Salomons drinking vessels were of golde, and all the vessels of the house of the wood of Lebanon were of pure golde: for siluer was nothing esteemed in the dayes of Salomon.

21 For the kings ships went to Tarshish with the seruants of Huram, euery three yeere once came the ships of [l] Tarshish, and brought golde, and siluer, yuorie, and apes, and peacocks.

22 So king Salomon excelled all the kings of the earth in riches and wisedome.

23 And all the Kings of the earth sought the presence of Salomon, to heare his wisedome that God had put in his heart.

24 And they brought euery man his present, vessels of siluer, and vessels of golde, and raiment, armour, and sweet odours, horses, and mules, from yeere to yeere.

25 And Salomon had [m] foure thousand stalles of horses, and chariots, and twelue thousand horsmen, whom he bestowed in the charet cities, and with the king at Ierusalem.

26 And hee reigned ouer all the kings from the ‖ Riuer euen vnto the land of the Philistims, and to the border of Egypt.

27 And the king gaue siluer in Ierusalem, [n] as stones, and gaue cedar trees as the wilde figtrees, that are abundant in the plaine.

28 And they brought vnto Salomon horses out of Egypt, and out of all lands.

29 Concerning the rest of the actes of Salomon first and last, are they not written in the booke of Nathan the Prophet, and in the prophecie of Ahijah the Shilonite, and in the visions of ‖ Ieedo the Seer [o] against Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat?

30 And Salomon reigned in Ierusalem ouer all Israel fourtie yeeres.

3 And they sent and called him: so came Ieroboam and all Israel, and communed with Rehoboam, saying, the olde men that had stood before Salomon his father, while he yet liued, saying, What counsell giue ye that I may answere this people?

7 And they spake vnto him, saying, If thou be kinde to this people, and please them, and speake louing words to them, they will be thy seruants for euer.

8 But hee left the counsell of the ancient men that they had giuen him, and tooke counsell of the young men that were brought vp with him, and c waited on him.

9 And he said vnto them, What counsell giue ye, that we may answere this people, which haue spoken to me, saying, Make the yoke which thy father did put vpon vs, lighter?

10 And the young men that were brought vp with him, spake vnto him, saying, Thus shalt thou answer the people that spake to thee, saying, Thy father made our yoke heauie, but make thou it lighter for vs: thus shalt thou say vnto them, My d least part shalbe bigger then my fathers loynes.

11 Now whereas my father did burden you with a grieuous yoke, I will yet increase your yoke: my father hath chastised you with rods, but I will correct you with ‖ scourges.

12 ¶ Then Ieroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third day, as the king had appointed, saying, Come againe to me § third day.

13 And the king answered them sharply: and king Rehoboam left the counsell of the ancient men, 14 And spake to them after the counsell of the young men, saying, My father made your yoke grieuous, but I will increase it: my father chastised you with rods, but I will correct you with scourges.

15 So the king hearkened not vnto the people: for it was the e ordinance of God, that the Lord might performe his saying, which he had spoken † by Ahiiah the Shilonite to Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat.

16 So when all Israel saw that the king would not heare them, the people answered the king, saying, *What portion haue we in Dauid? for we haue none inheritance in the sonne of Ishai. O Israel, euery man to your tents: now see to thine owne house, Dauid. So all Israel departed to their tents.

17 Howbeit Rehoboam reigned ouer the children of Israel, that dwelt in the cities of Iudah.

18 Then King Rehoboam sent Hadoram that was ‖ ouer the tribute, and the children of Israel stoned him with stones, that he died: then King Rehoboam † made speed to get him vp to his charet, to flee to Ierusalem.

19 And Israel rebelled against the house of Dauid vnto this day.

CHAP. XI.

4 Rehoboam is forbidden to fight against Ieroboam. 5 Cities which he built. 21 He hath eighteene wiues, and threescore concubines, and 23 by them eight and twentie sonnes, and threescore daughters.

A Nd * when Rehoboam was come to Ierusalem, hee gathered of the house of Iudah and a Beniamin nine score thousand chosen men of warre to fight against b Israel, and to bring the kingdome againe to Rehoboam.

2 But the word of the Lord came to Shemaiah the man of God, saying,

3 Speake vnto Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon King of Iudah, and to all Israel that are in Iudah and Beniamin, saying,

4 Thus saith the Lord, Yee shall not goe vp, nor fight against your brethren: returne euerie man to his house: for this thing is done of me. They obeyed therefore the word of the Lord, and returned from going against Ieroboam.

5 And Rehoboam dwelt in Ierusalem, and e built strong cities in Iudah.

6 Hee built also Beth-lehem, and Etam, and Tekoe,

7 And Beth-zur, and Shoco, and Adullam,

8 And Gath, and Maresha, and Ziph,

9 And Adoraim, and Lachish, and Azekah,

10 And Zorah, and Aialon, and Hebron, which were in Iudah and Beniamin, strong cities.

11 And he ‖ repaired the strong holds and put captaines in them, and store of vittaile, and oyle and wine.

12 And in all cities he put shields and speares, and made them exceeding strong: so Iudah and Beniamin were his.

13 ¶ And the Priestes and the Leuites that were in all Israel, † resorted vnto him out of all their coasts.

14 For the Leuites left their suburbs and their possession, and came to Iudah and to Ierusalem: * for Ieroboam and his sonnes had cast them out from ministring in the Priestes office vnto the Lord.

15 * And hee ordeined him Priests for the hie places, and for the d deuils and for the calues which he had made.

16 And after the Leuites there came to Ierusalem of all the tribes of Israel, such as set their e hearts to seeke the Lord God of Israel, to offer vnto the Lord God of their fathers.

17 So they strengthened the kingdome of Iudah, and made Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon mighty, three yeere long: for three yeere they f walked in the way of Dauid and Salomon.

18 ¶ And Rehoboam tooke him Mahalath the daughter of Ierimoth the sonne of Dauid to wife, and Abihail the daughter of Eliab the sonne of Ishai, 19 Which bare him sonnes, Ieush, and Shemariah, and Zaham.

20 And after her hee tooke Maakah the daughter of Absolon which bare him Abiiah, and Athai, and Ziza, and Shelomith.

21 And Rehoboam loued Maakah the daughter of Absolon aboue all his wiues and his concubines: for he tooke eighteene wiues and threescore concubines, and begate eight and twentie sonnes, and threescore daughters.

22 And Rehoboam made g Abiiah the sonne of Maakah the chiefe ruler among his brethren: for he thought to make him King.

23 And he taught him: and dispersed all his sonnes throughout all the countreis of Iudah and Beniamin vnto euery strong citie: and hee gaue them abundance of vittaile, and h desired many wiues.

2 Therefore in the fift yeere of king Rehoboam, Shishak the king of Egypt came vp against Ierusalem (because they had transgressed against the Lord)

3 With twelue hundreth charets, and three-score thousand horsemen, and the people were without number, that came with him from Egypt, euen the Lubims, [b] Sukkiims, and the ‖ Ethiopians.

4 And he tooke the strong cities which were of Iudah, and came vnto Ierusalem.

5 ¶ Then came Shemaiah the Prophet to Rehoboam, and to the princes of Iudah that were gathered together in Ierusalem, because of Shishak, and said vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Ye haue forsaken me, [c] therefore haue I also left you in the hands of Shishak.

6 Then the prinees of Israel, and the King humbled themselues, and said, The Lord is [d] iust.

7 And when the Lord sawe that they humbled themselues, the word of the Lord came to Shemaiah, saying, They haue humbled themselues, therefore I will not destroy them, but I will send them deliuerance shortly, and my wrath shall not ‖ be powred out vpon Ierusalem by the hand of Shishak.

8 Neuertheles they shall be his seruants: so shall they know my [e] seruice, and the seruice of the kingdomes of the earth.

9 ¶ Then Shishak king of Egypt came vp against Ierusalem, and tooke the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the Kings house: he tooke euen all, and he caried away the shields of gold, * which Salomon had made.

10 In stead whereof king Rehoboam made shields of brasse, & committed them to the hands of the chiefe of the guard, that waited at the doore of the kings house.

11 And when the king entred into the house of the Lord, the guard came and bare them and brought them again vnto the guard-chamber.

12 And because hee [f] humbled himselfe, the wrath of the Lord turned from him, that he would not destroy all together. And also in Iudah the things prospered.

13 * So king Rehoboam was strong in Ierusalem and reigned: for Rehoboam was one and fourtie yeere old, when hee began to reigne, and reigned seuenteene yeere in Ierusalem, the citie which the Lord had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel to put his Name there. And his mothers name was Naamah an Ammonitesse.

14 And he did euill: for hee prepared not his heart to seeke the Lord.

15 The actes also of Rehoboam first and last, are they not written in the † booke of Shemaiah the Prophet, and Iddo the Seer, in rehearsing the genealogie? and there was warre alway betweene Rehoboam and Ieroboam.

16 And Rehoboam slept with his fathers, and was buried in the citie of Dauid, and ‖ Abiiah his sonne reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Abiiah maketh warre against Ieroboam. 4 Hee sheweth the occasion. 12 Hee trusteth in the Lord and ouercommeth Ieroboam. 21 Of his wiues and children.

IN the eighteenth yeere of King Ieroboam, began Abiiah to reigne ouer [a] Iudah.

2 Hee reigned three yeere in Ierusalem: (his mothers name also was [b] Michaiah the daughter of [c] Vriel of Gibea) and there was warre betweene Abiiah and Ieroboam.

3 And Abiiah set the battell in aray with the armie of valiant men of warre, euen foure hundreth thousand chosen men. Ieroboam also set the battell in aray against him with eight hundreth thousand chosen men which were strong and valiant.

4 And Abiiah stood vp vpon mount [d] Zemaraim, which is in mount Ephraim, and said, O Ieroboam, and all Israel, heare you me.

5 Ought you not to know that the Lord God of Israel hath giuen the kingdome ouer Israel to [e] Dauid for euer, euen to him and to his sonnes by a couenant † of salt?

6 And Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat the seruant of Salomon the sonne of Dauid is risen vp, and hath * rebelled against his lord:

7 And there are gathered to him [g] vaine men and† wicked, and made themselues strong against Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon: for Rehoboam was [h] but a childe and ‖ * tender hearted, and could not resist them.

8 Now therefore ye thinke that yee be able to resist against the kingdome of the Lord, which is in the hands of the sonnes of Dauid, and ye be a great multitude, and the golden calues are with you which Ieroboam made you for gods.

9 * Haue yee not driuen away the Priestes of the Lord the sonnes of Aaron and the Leuites, and haue made you Priests like the people of other countreyes? whosoeuer commeth to † consecrate with a [i] yong bullocke and seuen rams, the same may be a Priest of them that are no gods.

10 But wee belong vnto the Lord our God, and haue not forsaken him, and the Priests the sonnes of Aaron minister vnto the Lord, and the Leuites in their office.

11 And they burne vnto the Lord euery [k] morning and euery euening burnt offrings and sweete incense, and the bread is set in order vpon the pure table, and the candlestick of gold with the lamps thereof, to burne euery euening: for wee keepe the watch of the Lord our God: but ye haue forsaken him.

12 And behold, this God is [l] with vs a captaine, and his Priests with the sounding trumpets to cry an alarme against you. O ye children of Israel, fight not against the Lord God of your fathers: for ye shall not prosper.

13 ¶ But Ieroboam caused an ambushment [m] to compasse, and come behind them, when they were before Iudah, and the ambushment behinde them.

14 Then Iudah looked, and behold, the battell was before and behinde them, and they cryed vnto the Lord, and the Priestes blew with the trumpets, 15 And the men of Iudah gaue a shoute: and euen as the men of Iudah shouted, God ‖ smote Ieroboam and also Israel before Abiiah and Iudah.

16 And the children of Israel fled before Iudah, and God deliuered them into their hand.

17 And Abijah and his people slew a great slaughter of them, so that there fell downe wounded of Israel fiue hundreth thousand chosen men.

18 So the children of Israel were brought vnder at that time: and the children of Iudah preuailed, [n] because they stayed vpon the Lord God of their fathers.

22 The rest of the actes of Abijah, and his manors and his sayings, are written in the storie of the Prophet Iddo.

CHAP. XIIII.

3 Asa destroyeth idolatry, and commandeth his people to serue the true God. 11 Hee prayed vnto God when hee should goe to fight. 12 Hee obtaineth the victorie.

* 1. King. 15. 8.

SO * Abijah slept with his fathers, and they buried him in ‖ the citie of Dauid, and Asa his sonne reigned in his stead: in whose dayes the land was quiet ten yeere.

2 And Asa did that was good and right in the eyes of the Lord his God.

3 For he tooke away the altars of the strange gods, and the hie places, and brake downe the images, and cut downe the a groues,

4 And commanded Iudah to seeke the Lord God of their fathers, and to doe according to the Law and the Commandement.

5 And hee tooke away out of all the cities of Iudah the high places, and the images: therefore the Kingdome was b quiet before him.

6 Hee built also strong cities in Iudah, because the land was in rest, and hee had no warre in those yeeres: for the Lord had giuen him rest.

7 Therefore hee sayd to Iudah, Let vs build these cities, and make walles about, and towers, gates, and barres, while the land is c before vs: because wee haue sought the Lord our God, wee haue sought him, and hee hath giuen vs rest on euery side: so they built and prospered.

8 And Asa had an armie of Iudah, that bare shields and speares, three hundreth thousand, and of Beniamin that bare shields and drew bowes, two hundreth and fourescore thousand: all these were valiant men.

9 ¶ And there came out against him Zerah d of Ethiopia, with an hoast of ten hundreth thousand, and three hundreth charets, and came vnto e Mareshah.

10 Then Asa went out before him, and they set the battell in aray in the valley of Zephahath, beside Mareshah.

11 And Asa cried vnto the Lord his God, and sayd, Lord, * it is nothing with thee to helpe ‖ with many, or with no power: helpe vs, O Lord our God: for wee rest on thee, and in thy Name are wee come against this multitude: O Lord, thou art our God: ‖ let not man preuaile against thee.

12 ¶ So the Lord smote the Ethiopians before Asa and before Iudah, and the Ethiopians fled.

13 And Asa and the people that was with him, pursued them vnto Gerar. And the Ethiopians hoast was ouerthrowen, so that there was no life in them: for they were destroyed before the Lord and before his host: and they caried away a mightie great spoile.

14 And they smote all the cities round about Gerar: for the ‖ feare of the Lord came vpon them, & they spoiled all the cities, for there was exceeding much spoile in them.

15 Yea, and they smote the tents of cattell, and caried away plenty of sheepe and camels, and returned to Ierusalem.

CHAP. XV.

2 The exhortation of Azariah. 8 Asa purgeth his country of idolatry. 11 Hee sacrificeth with the people. 14 They sweare together to serue the Lord. 16 Hee deposeth his mother for her idolatry.

THen the Spirit of God came vpon a Azariah the sonne of Obed,

2 And he went out to meete Asa, and said vnto him, O Asa, and all Iudah and Beniamin, heare ye me. The Lord is with you, while ye be with him: and if ye seeke him, he will be found of you, but if ye forsake him, he will forsake you.

3 Now for a long season Israel hath beene without the b true God, and without Priest to teach, and without law.

4 But whosoeuer returned in his affliction to the Lord God of Israel, and sought him, he c was found of him.

5 And in that time there was no peace to him that did goe out and goe in: but great troubles were to all the inhabitants of the earth.

6 For nation was destroyed of nation, and citie of citie: for God troubled them with all aduersitie.

7 Be yee strong therefore, and let not your hands bee weake: for your d worke shall haue a reward.

8 ¶ And when Asa heard these words, and the prophecie of Obed ‖ Prophet, he was encouraged, and tooke away the abominations out of all the land of Iudah and Beniamin, and out of the cities which hee had taken of mount Ephraim, and hee renewed the altar of the Lord, that was before the porch of the Lord.

9 And hee gathered all Iudah and Beniamin, and the strangers with them out of Ephraim, and Manasseh, and out of Simeon: for there fell many to him out of Israel, when they saw that the Lord his God was with him.

10 So they assembled to Ierusalem in the e third moneth, in the fifteenth yeere of the reigne of Asa.

11 And they offered vnto the Lord the same time of the ‖ spoile which they had brought, euen seuen hundreth bullockes, and seuen thousand sheepe.

12 And they made a couenant to seeke the Lord God of their fathers, with all their heart, and with all their soule.

13 And g whosoeuer will not seeke the Lord God of Israel, shall be slaine, whether hee were small or great, man or woman.

14 And they sware vnto the Lord with a loud voyce, and with shouting, and with trumpets, & with correts.

15 And all Iudah reioyced at the oathe: for they had sworne vnto the Lord with all their heart, and sought him with a whole desire, and he was h found of them. And the Lord gaue them rest round about.

16 ¶ And King Asa deposed † Maachah his i mother from her regencie, because she had made an idole in a groue: and Asa brake downe her idole, and stamped it, and burnt it at the brooke Kidron.

CHAP. XVI.

2 Asa for feare of Baasha hireth the Syrians to make a couenant with Benhadad king of Syria. 7 Hee is reprooued by the Prophet. 10 Whom hee putteth in prison. 12 He putteth his trust in the Physicians. 13 His death.

IN the sixe and thirtieth yeere of the reigne of Asa, came a * Baasha king of Israel vp against Iudah, and built b Ramah, to let none passe out or goe in to Asa king of Iudah.

2 Then Asa brought out siluer and gold out of the treasures of the house of the Lord, and of the kings house, and sent to Benhadad king of Aram that dwelt at ‖ Damascus, saying,

3 There is a couenant betweene me and thee, and betweene my father and thy father: behold, I haue sent thee siluer and golde: come, c breake thy league with Baasha king of Israel, that hee may depart from me.

4 And Benhadad hearkened vnto king Asa, and sent the captaines of the armies which hee had, against the cities of Israel. And they smote Iion, and Dan, and Abel-maim, and all the store cities of Naphtali.

5 And when Baasha heard it, he left building of Ramah, and let his worke cease.

6 Then Asa the king tooke all Iudah, and caried away the stones of Ramah and the timber thereof, wherewith Baasha did build, and he build therewith Geba and Mizpah.

7 ¶ And at that same time Hanani the ‖ Seer came to Asa king af Iudah, and said vnto him, Because thou hast rested in the Lord thy God, therefore is the host of the king of Aram escaped out of thine hand.

8 *The Ethiopians and the Lubims, were they not a great hoste with charets and horsemen, exceeding many, yet because thou diddest rest vpon the Lord, he deliuered them into thine hand.

9 * For the eyes of the Lord behold all the earth, to shew himselfe strong with them that are of perfit heart toward him: thou hast then done foolishly in this: therefore from henceforth thou shalt haue warres.

10 Then Asa was wroth with the Seer, and put him into a † prison: for he was d displeased with him, because of this thing. And Asa oppressed certaines of the people at the same time.

11 And behold, the actes of Asa first and last, loe, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Iudah and Israel.

12 ¶ And Asa in the nine and thirtieth yeere of his reigne was ‖* diseased in his feete, and his disease was ‖ e extreme: yet hee sought not the Lord in his disease, but to the f Physicians.

13 So Asa slept with his fathers, and died in the one and fourtieth yeere of his reigne.

14 And they buried him in one of his sepulchres, which he had made for himselfe in the city of Dauid, and layed him in the bed, which they had filled with sweete odours and diuers kindes of spices made by the arte of the Apothecary: and they burnt odours for him with an exceeding great fire.

CHAP. XVII.

5 Iehoshaphat trusting in the Lord, prospereth in vitue and honour. 6 Hee abolisheth Idolatrie. 7 and causeth the people to be taught. 11 Hee receiueth tribute of strangers. 12 His munitions, and men of warre.

AND Iehoshaphat his sonne reigned in his stead, and preuailed against Israel.

2 And he put garisons in all the strong cities of Iudah, and set bands in the land of Iudah and in the cities of Ephraim, which Asa his father had taken.

3 And the Lord was with Iehoshaphat, because hee walked in the a first waies of his father Dauid, and sought not b Baalim, 4 But sought the Lord God of his father, and walked in his commandements, and not after the † trade of Israel.

5 Therefore the Lord stablished the kingdome in his hand, and all Iudah brought presents to Iehoshaphat, so that he had of riches and honour in abundance.

6 And hee c lift vp his heart vnto the waies of the Lord, and he tooke away moreouer the high places and the groues out of Iudah.

7 ¶ And in the third yeere of his reigne hee sent his princes, Ben-hail, and Obadiah, and Zechariah, and Nethaneel, and Michaiah, that they should d teach in the cities of Iudah,

8 And with them Leuites, Shemaiah, and Nethaniah, and Zebadiah, and Asahel, and Shemiramoth, and Iehonathan, and Adonijah, and Tobijah, and Tob-adonijah, Leuites, and with them Elishamah and Iehoram Priests.

9 And they taught in Iudah, and had the booke of the Law of the Lord with them, and went about throughout all the cities of Iudah, and taught the people.

10 And the feare of the Lord fell vpon all the kingdomes of the lands that were round about Iudah, and they e fought not against Iehoshaphat.

11 Also some of the Philistims brought Iehoshaphats gifts and tribute siluer, and the Arabians brought him flockes, seuen thousand and seuen hundreth rammes, and seuen thousand and seuen hundreth hee goats.

12 So Iehoshaphat prospered and grew vp on high, and he built in Iudah palaces and cities of store.

13 And hee had great workes in the cities of Iudah, and men of warre, and valiant men in Ierusalem.

14 And these are the numbers of them after the house of their fathers, In Iudah, were captains of thousands, Adnah the captaine, and † with him of valiant men three hundreth thousand.

and with him armed men with bowe and shield, two hundreth thousand.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Iehoshaphat maketh affinitie with Ahab. 10 Foure hundreth Prophets counsell Ahab to goe to warre. 16 Michaiah is against them. 23 Zedekiah smiteth him. 25 The king putteth him in prison. 29 The effect of his prophecie.

AND * Iehoshaphat had riches and honour in abundance, and he was ioyned in a affinitie with Ahab.

2 And after certaine b yeeres hee went downe to Ahab to Samaria: and Ahab slewe sheepe and oxen for him in great number, and for the people that he had with him, and entised him to goe vp vnto c Ramoth Gilead.

3 And Ahab king of Israel said vnto Iehoshaphat king of Iudah, Wilt thou go with me to Ramoth Gilead? And he answered him, I am as thou art, and my people as thy people, and we will ioyne with thee in warre.

4 And Iehoshaphat said vnto the king of Israel, Aske counsell, I pray thee, at the d word of the Lord this day.

5 Therefore the King of Israel gathered of e Prophets foure hundreth men, and said vnto them, Shall we goe to Ramoth Gilead to battell, or shall I cease? And they said, Goe vp: for God shall deliuer it into the kings hand.

6 But Iehoshaphat said, Is there here neuer a Prophet more of the Lord, that we might enquire of him?

7 And the king of Israel said vnto Iehoshaphat, There is yet one man by whom we may aske counsell of the Lord: but I f hate him: for hee doeth not prophecie good vnto mee, but alway euill: it is Michaiah the sonne of Imla. Then Iehoshaphat said, Let not the king say so.

8 And the king of Israel called an eunuch, and said, Call quickly Michaiah the sonne of Imla.

9 ¶ And the king of Israel and Iehoshaphat King of Iudah sate either of them on his throne cloathed in their h apparell: they sate euen in the threshing floore at the entring in of the gate of Samaria: and all the Prophets prophecied before them.

10 And Zidkiah the sonne of Chenaanah made him i hornes of yron, and said, Thus saith the Lord, With these shalt thou push the Aramites vntill thou hast consumed them.

11 And all the Prophets prophecied so, saying, Goe vp in Ramoth Gilead, and prosper: for the Lord shall deliuer it vnto the hand of the king.

12 ¶ And the messenger that went to call Michaiah, spake to him, saying, Behold, the words of the Prophets declare good to the king with one k accord: let thy word therefore, I pray thee, be like one of theirs, and speake thou good.

13 And Michaiah said, As the Lord liueth, whatsoeuer my God saith, that will I speake.

14 ¶ So hee came to the king, and the King said vnto him, Michaiah, shall we goe to Ramoth Gilead to battell, or shall I leaue off? And he said, l Goe ye vp, and prosper, and they shall be deliuered into your hand.

15 And the King said vnto him, How oft shall I charge thee, that thou tell me nothing but the trueth in the Name of the Lord?

16 Then he said, I saw all Israel scattered in the mountaines, as sheepe that haue no shepheard: and the Lord said, m These haue no master: let them returne euery man to his house in peace.

17 And the King of Israel said to Iehoshaphat, Did I not tell thee, that hee would not prophecie good vnto me, but euill?

18 Againe hee said, Therefore heare yee the word of the Lord: I sawe the Lord sit vpon his throne, and all the n hoste of heauen standing at his right hand, and at his left.

19 And the Lord said, Who shall ‖ perswade Ahab King of Israel, that he may goe vp, and fall at Ramoth Gilead? And one spake and said thus, and another said that.

20 Then there came foorth a spirit and stood before the Lord, and said, I will perswade him. And the Lord said vnto him, Wherein?

21 And he said, I will goe out, and be a false spirit in the mouth of all his Prophets. And o hee said, Thou shalt perswade, and shalt also preuaile: goe forth and doe so.

22 Now therefore behold, the Lord hath put a p false spirit in the mouth of these thy Prophets, and the Lord hath determined euill against thee.

23 Then Zedkiah the sonne of Chenaanah came neere & smote Michaiah vpon the q cheeke, and said, By what way went the Spirit of the Lord from me, to speake with thee?

24 And Michaiah said, Behold, thou shalt see that day when thou shalt goe from chamber to chamber to hide thee.

25 And the King of Israel said, Take yee Michaiah, and cary him to Amon the gouernour of the citie, and to Ioash the Kings sonne, 26 And say, Thus saith the king, Put this man in the prison house, and feede him with bread of r affliction and with water of affliction, vntill I returne in peace.

27 And Michaiah sayd, If thou returne in peace, the Lord hath not spoken by me. And ‖ he said, Heare all ye people.

28 So the King of Israel and Iehoshaphat the King of Iudah went vp to Ramoth Gilead.

29 And the King of Israel said vnto Iehoshaphat, I will s change my selfe, and enter into the battell: but put thou on thine apparell. So the king of Israel changed himselfe, and they went into the battel.

30 And the king of Aram had commaunded the captaines of the charets that were with him, saying, Fight you not with small nor great, but against the king of Israel onely.

31 And when the captaines of the charets saw Iehoshaphat, they said, It is the king of Israel: and they compassed about him to fight. But Iehoshaphat t cried, and the Lord helped him and moued them to depart from him.

32 For when the captaines of the charets saw that hee was not the King of Israel, they turned backe from him.

33 Then a certaine man drew a bow † mightily, and smote the King of Israel betweene the ioynts ‖ of his brigandine: therefore he said to his charetman, Turne thine hand, and cary me out of the hoste: for I am hurt.

Heare ye me, O Iudah, and ye inhabitants of Ierusalem: put your trust in the Lord your God, and yo shalbe assured: beleeue his m Prophets, and ye shall prosper.

21 And when he had consulted with the people, and appointed singers vnto the Lord, and them that should praise him that is in the beautifull Sanctuary, in going foorth before the men of armes, and saying, n Praise yee the Lord, for his mercy lasteth for euer.

22 And when they began to shoute, and to praise, the Lord laide ambushments against the children of Ammon, Moab, and o mount Seir, which were come against Iudah, and they slew one another.

23 For the children of Ammon and Moab rose against the inhabitants of mount Seir, to slay and to destroy them: and when they had made an end of the inhabitants of Seir, euery one helped to p destroy one another.

24 And when Iudah came toward Mizpah in the wildernesse, they looked vnto the multitude: and behold, the carkeises were fallen to the earth, and none escaped.

25 And when Iehoshaphat and his people came to take away the spoile of them, they found among them in abundance both of substance and also of bodies laden with precious iewels, which they tooke for themselues, till they could carry no more: they were three dayes in gathering of the spoile: for it was much.

26 And in the fourth day they q assembled themselues in the valley of Berachah: for there they blessed the Lord: therefore they called the name of that place, The valley of Berachah vnto this day.

27 Then euery man of Iudah and Ierusalem returned with Iehoshaphat their head to goe againe to Ierusalem with ioy: for the Lord had made them to reioyce ouer their enemies.

28 And they came to Ierusalem with violes, and with harps, and with trumpets, euen vnto the house of the Lord.

29 And the r feare of God was vpon all the kingdomes of the earth, when they had heard that the Lord had fought against the enemies of Israel.

30 So the kingdome of Iehoshaphat was quiet, and his God gaue him rest on euery side.

31 ¶ And * Iehoshaphat reigned ouer Iudah, and was fiue & thirty yeere old, when he began to reigne: and reigned fiue and twentie yeere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi.

32 And he walked in the way of t Asa his father, & departed not therefrom, doing that which was right in the sight of the Lord.

33 Howbeit the hie places were r not taken away: for the people had not yet prepared their hearts vnto the God of their fathers.

34 Concerning the rest of the actes of Iehoshaphat first and last, behold, they are written in the booke of Iehu the sonne of Hanani, which * is mentioned in the booke of the kings of Israel.

35 ¶ Yet after this did Iehoshaphat king of Iudah ioyne himselfe with Ahaziah king of Israel, who was giuen to doe euill.

36 And hee ioyned with him, to * make ships to goe to Tarshish: and they made the ships in Ezion Gaber.

37 Then Eliezer the sonne of Dodauah of Maresh prophecied against Iehoshaphat, saying, Because thou hast u ioyned thy selfe with Ahaziah, the Lord hath broken thy workes: and the ships were broken, that they were not able to goe to Tarshish.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Iehoshaphat dieth. 3 Iehoram succeedeth him, 4 who killeth his brethren. 6 He was brought to idolatry, 11 and seduceth the people. 16 He is oppressed of the Philistims. 18 His miserable end.

IEhoshaphat then slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of Dauid: and Iehoram his sonne reigned in his stead.

2 And he had brethren the sonnes of Iehoshaphat, Azariah, and Iehiel, and Zechariah, and Azariah, and Michael, and Shephatiah. All these were the sonnes of Iehoshaphat king of a Israel.

3 And their father gaue them great giftes of siluer and of golde, and of precious things, with strong cities in Iudah, but the kingdome gaue he to Iehoram: for he was the eldest.

4 * And Iehoram rose vp vpon the kingdome of his father, and made himselfe strong, and b slew all his brethren with the sword, and also of the princes of c Israel.

5 Iehoram was two and thirty yeere olde, when he began to reigne, and hee reigned eight yeeres in Ierusalem.

6 And he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, as the house of Ahab had done: for he had the daughter of Ahab to d wife, and he wrought euill in the eyes of the Lord.

7 Howbeit the Lord would not destroy the house of Dauid, because of the * couenant that he had made with Dauid, and because he had promised to giue a light to him, and to his sonnes for euer.

8 ¶ In his dayes Edom rebelled from vnder the hand of Iudah, and made a king ouer them.

9 And Iehoram went forth with his princes, and all his charets with him: and hee rose vp by night, and smote Edom, which had compassed him in, and the captaines of the charets.

10 But Edom rebelled from vnder the hand of Iudah vnto this day. Then did e Libnah rebell at the same time from vnder his hand, because he had forsaken the Lord God of his fathers.

11 ¶ Moreouer he made high places in the mountaines of Iudah, and caused the inhabitants of Ierusalem to commit f fornication, and compelled Iudah thereto.

12 And there came a writing to him from g Eliiah the Propher, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Dauid thy father, Because thou hast not walked in the wayes of Iehoshaphat thy father, nor in the wayes of Asa king of Iudah, 13 But hast walked in the way of the kings of Israel, and hast made Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem to goe a whoring, as the house of Ahab went a whoring, and hast also slaine thy brethren of thy fathers house, which were better then thou.

14 Behold, with a great plague will the Lord smite thy people, and thy children, and thy wiues, and all thy substance.

15 And thou shalt be in great diseases in the disease of thy bowels, vntill h thy bowels fall out for the disease, day by day.

16 ¶ So the Lord stirred vp against Iehoram the spirit of the Philistims, and the Arabians that were beside the i Ethiopians, m Giue credit to their words and doctrine.

n This was a Psalme of thankesgiuing which they vsed commonly to sing when they praised the Lord for his benefits, and was made by Dauid, Psal. 136.

o Meaning, the Idumeans which dwelt in mount Seir.

p Thus the Lord according to Iehoshaphats prayer declared his power, when he deliuered his, by causing their enemies to kill one another.

17 And they came vp into Iudah, and brake in to it, & caried away all the substance that was found in the kings house, and his sonnes also, and his wiues, so that there was not a sonne left him, saue i Iehoahaz the yongest of his sonnes.

18 And after all this, the Lord smote him in his bowles with an incurable disease.

19 And in processe of time, euen after the end of two yeeres, his guts fell out with his disease: so he died of sore diseases: & his people made no burning for him like the burning of his fathers.

20 When he began to reigne, he was two and thirtie yeere old, and reigned in Ierusalem eight yeere, and liued without being desired: yet they buried him in the citie of Dauid, but not among the sepulchres of the Kings.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Ahaziah reigneth after. Iehoram. 9 Iehu king of Israell killeth Ahaziah. 10 Athaliah putteth to death all the Kings seede. 11 Ioash is saued.

AND *the inhabitants of Ierusalem made Ahaziah his yongest sonne King in his stead: for the armie that came with a the Arabians to the campe, had slaine all the eldest: therefore Ahaziah the sonne of Iehoram king of Iudah reigned.

2 Two and b fourtie yeere old was Ahaziah when hee began to reigne, and hee reigned c one yeere in Ierusalem. And his mothers name was Athaliah the daughter d of Omri.

3 Hee walked also in the wayes of the house of Ahab: for his mother counselled him to doe wickedly.

4 Wherefore hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, like the house of Ahab: for they were his e counsellers after the death of his father, to his destruction.

5 And hee walked after their counsell, and went with Iehoram the sonne of Ahab king of Israel to fight against Hazael king of Aram at Ramoth Gilead: and the Aramites smote Ioram.

6 ¶ And hee returned to be healed in Izreel, because of the woundes wherewith they had wounded him at Ramah, when hee fought with Hazael king of Aram. Now Azariah the sonne of Iehoram king of Iudah went downe to see Iehoram the sonne of Ahab at Izreel, because he was diseased.

7 And the destruction of Ahaziah f came of God, in that he went to Ioram: for when he was come, hee went foorth with Iehoram against Iehu the sonne of Nimshi, * whom the Lord had anoynted to destroy the house of Ahab.

8 Therefore when Iehu ‖ executed iudgement vpon the house of Ahab, and found the princes of Iudah and the sonnes of the brethren of Ahaziah that waited on Ahaziah, he slew them also.

9 And hee sought Ahaziah, and they caught him where he was hid in Samaria, and brought him to Iehu, and slewe him and buried him, because said they, Hee is the sonne of Iehoshaphat, which sought the Lord with all his heart. So the house of Ahaziah was not able to retaine the kingdome.

10 ¶ * Therefore when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw that her sonne was dead, shee arose and h destroyed all the kings seede of the house of Iudah.

11 But Iehoshabeath the daughter of the king tooke Ioash the sonne of Ahaziah, and stale him from among the kings sonnes, that should be slaine, and put him and his nourse in the bedde chamber: so Iehoshabeath the daughter of king Iehoram the wife of Iehoiada the Priest (for shee was the sister of Ahaziah) hid him from Athaliah: so the slew him not.

12 And hee was with them hid in the i house of God sixe yeeres, whiles Athaliah reigned ouer the k land.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Ioash the sonne of Ahaziah is made king. 15 Athaliah is put to death. 17 The temple of Baal is destroyed. 16 Iehoiada appointeth ministers in the Temple.

AND * in the seuenth yeere Iehoiada waxed bold, and tooke the captaines of hundreths, to wit, Azariah the sonne of Iehoram, and Ishmael the sonne of Iehohanan, and Azariah the sonne of Obed, and Maasiah the sonne of Adajah, and Elishaphat the sonne of Zichri in couenant with him.

2 And they went about in Iudah, and gathered the Leuites out of all the cities of Iudah, and the b chiefe fathers of Israel: and they came to Ierusalem.

3 And all the congregation made a couenant with the King in the house of God: and he said vnto them, Behold, the Kings sonne must reigne, * as the Lord hath said of the sonnes of Dauid.

4 This is it that ye shall do, The third part of you that come on the Sabbath of the Priests, and the Leuites, shalbe porters of the doores.

5 And another third part toward the Kings house, and another third part at the * gate of the c foundation, and all the people shalbe in the courts of the house of the Lord.

6 But let none come into the house of the Lord, saue the Priests, and the Leuites that minister, they shall goe in, for they are holy: but all the people shall keepe the watch of the Lord.

7 And the Leuites shall compasse the King round about, and euery man with his weapon in his hand, and he that entrethainto the house, shall be slaine, and be you with the King, when hee commeth in, and when he goeth out.

8 ¶ So the Leuites and all Iudah did according to all things that Iehoiada the Priest had commanded, and tooke euery man his men that came on the Sabbath, with them that e went out on the Sabbath: for Iehoiada the Priest did not discharge the courses.

9 And Iehoiada the Priest deliuered to the captaines of hundreths speares, and shields, and bucklers which had beene king Dauids, and were in the house of God.

10 And he caused all the people to stand (euery man with his weapon in his hand) from the right side of the house, to the left side of the house by the altar and by the house round about the king.

11 Then they brought out the kings sonne, and put vpon him the crowne, and gaue him the g testimonie, and made him King. And Iehoiada and his sonnes anoynted him, and said, God saue the king.

12 ¶ But when Athaliah heard the noise of the people running and praising the King, she came to the people into the house of the Lord.

13 And when shee ‖ looked, behold, the king stood by his pillar at the entring in, and the princes and the trumpets by the King, & all the people of the land reioyced, and blew the trumpets, & the singers were with instruments of musicke, and and they that could sing praise : then Athaliah rent her cloathes, and said, h Treason, treason.

14 Then Iehoiada the Priest brought out the captaines of hundreths that were gouernours of the host, and said vnto them, Haue her forth of the ranges, and he that i followeth her, let him die by the sword : for the Priest had said, Slay her not in the house of the Lord.

21 Then all the people of the land reioyced, and the citie was quiet o after that they had slaine Athaliah with the sword.

CHAP. XXIIII.

Ioash repaireth the house of the Lord. 17 After the death of Iehoiada he falleth to idolatrie. 21 He putteth to death Zachariah the Prophet. 25 Ioash is killed of his owne seruants. 27 After him reigneth Amaziah.

IOash *was seuen yeere olde when hee beganne to reigne, and hee reigned fortie yeere in Ierusalem : and his mothers name was Zibiah of Beer-sheba.

2 And Ioash did vprightly in the sight of the Lord all the dayes of a Iehoiada the Priest.

3 And Iehoiada ‖ tooke him two wiues, and he begate sonnes and daughters.

4 ¶ And afterward it came into Ioash minde to renew the house of the Lord.

5 And hee assembled the Priests and the Leuites, and said to them, Goe out vnto the cities of Iudah, and gather of all b Israel money to repaire the house of your God, from yeere to yeere, and haste the thing, but the Leuites hasted not.

6 Therefore the king called Iehoiada the c chiefe, and said vnto him, Why hast thou not required of the Leuites to bring in out of Iudah and Ierusalem * the taxe of Moses the seruant of the Lord, and of the Congregation of Israel, for the tabernacle of the testimonie ?

7 For d wicked Athaliah, and her children brake vp the house of God: and all the things that were dedicated for the house of the Lord, did they bestow vpon Baalim.

8 Therefore the king commanded, * and they made a chest, and set it at the gate of the house of the Lord without,

9 And they made proclamation thorow Iudah and Ierusalem, to bring vnto the Lord * the taxe of Moses the seruant of God, layd vpon Israel in the wildernesse.

10 And all the princes and all the people reioyced, and brought in, and cast into the chest, vntill they had finished.

11 And when it was time, e they brought the chest vnto the Kings officer by the hand of the Leuites : and when they saw that there was much siluer, then the Kings Scribe, (and one appointed by the high Priest) came and emptied the chest, and tooke it, and caried it to his place againe : thus they did day by day, and gathered siluer in abundance.

12 And the King and † Iehoiada gaue it to such as did the labour and worke in the house of the Lord, and hired masons and carpenters to repaire the house of the Lord : they gaue it also to workers of yron and brasse, to repaire the house of the Lord.

13 So the workemen wrought, and the worke † amended through their hands: and they restored the house of God to his state, and strengthened it.

14 And when they had finished it, they brought the rest of the siluer before the king and Iehoiada, and hee made thereof g vessels for the house of the Lord, euen vessels to minister, both morters and incense cups, and vessels of gold, and of siluer : and they offered burnt offerings in the house of the Lord continually all the dayes of Iehoiada.

15 ¶ But Iehoiada waxed old and was full of daies, and died. An hundreth and thirtie yeere old was he when he died.

16 And they buried him in the citie of Dauid with the g kings, because he had done good in Israel, and toward God and his house.

17 ¶ And after the death of Iehoiada, came the f princes of Iudah, and did reuerence to the king, and the king hearkened vnto them.

18 And they left the house of the Lord God of their fathers, and serued groues and idoles : and wrath came vpon Iudah and Ierusalem, because of this their trespasse.

19 And God sent Prophets among them, to bring them againe vnto the Lord : and they h made protestation among them, but they would not heare.

20 And the Spirit of God came vpon Zechariah the sonne of Iehoiada the Priest, which stood i aboue the people, and said vnto them, Thus saith God, Why transgresse yee the commandements of the Lord ? surely yee shall not prosper : because yee haue forsaken the Lord, hee also hath forsaken you.

21 Then they conspired against him, & stoned him with stones at the m commandement of the king, in the court of the house of the Lord.

22 Thus Ioash the king remembred not the kindnesse which Iehoiada his father had done to him, but slew his sonne. And when hee died, hee said, The Lord n looke vpon it and require it.

23 ¶ And when the yeere was out, the host of Aram came vp against him, & they came against Iuda and Ierusalem, and destroyed all the princes of the people from among the people, and sent all the spoyle of them vnto the king of Damascus.

a very great armie into their hand, because they had forsaken the Lord God of their fathers: and they o gaue sentence against Ioash.

25 And when they were departed from him, (for they left him in great diseases) his owne seruants conspired against him for the blood of the p children of Iehoiada the Priest, and slew him on his bed, and he died, and they buried him in the citie of Dauid: but they buried him not in the sepulchres of the kings.

26 And these are they that conspired against him, Zabad the sonne of Shimrath an Ammonitesse, and Iehozabad the sonne of Shimrith a Moabitesse.

27 But q his sonnes, and the summe of the taxe gathered by him, and the r foundation of the house of God, behold, they are written in the storie of the booke of the Kings. And Amaziah his sonne reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXV.

3 Amaziah putteth them to death which slew his father. 10 Hee sendeth backe them of Israel. 11 Hee ouercommeth the Edomites. 14 Hee falleth to idolatry. 17 And Ioash king of Israel ouercommeth Amaziah. 27 Hee is slaine by a conspiracie.

AMaziah was fiue and twentie yeere old when he began to reigne, and he reigned nine and twentie yeere in * Ierusalem & his mothers name was Iehoaddan of Ierusalem.

2 And hee did a vprightly in the eyes of the Lord, but not with a perfit heart.

3 And when the kingdome was established vnto him, he slew his seruants, that had slaine the king his father.

4 But he slew not their children, but did as it is written in the Law, and in the booke of Moses, where the Lord commanded, saying, *The fathers shall not die for the b children, neither shall the children die for the fathers, but euery man shall die for his owne sinne.

5 ¶ And Amaziah assembled Iudah, and made them captaines ouer thousands, & captaines ouer hundreds, according to the houses of their fathers, throwout all Iudah and Beniamin: and hee numbred them from c twentie yeere olde and aboue, and found among them three hundred thousand chosen men, to goe forth to the warre, and to handle speare and shield.

6 Hee hired also an hundreth thousand valiant men d out of Israel for an hundred talents of siluer.

7 But a man of God came vnto him, saying, O king, let not the armie of Israel go with thee: for the Lord is not e with Israel, neither with all the house of Ephraim:

8 If f not, goe thou on, doe it, make thy selfe strong to the battell, but God shall make thee fall before the enemie: for God hath power to helpe, and to cast downe.

9 And Amaziah said to the man of GOD, What shal wee doe then for the hundred talents, which I haue giuen to the hoste of Israel? Then the man of God answered, The Lord is able to g giue thee more then this.

10 So Amaziah separated them, to wit, the armie that was come to him out of Ephraim, to returne to their place: wherefore their wrath was kindled greatly against Iudah, and they returned to their places with great anger.

11 Then Amaziah was encouraged, and led forth his people, and went to the salt valley, and smote of the children of h Seir, ten thousand.

12 And other ten thousand did the children of Iudah take aliue, and caried them to the top of a i rocke, and cast them downe from the top of the rocke, and they all burst to pieces.

13 But the men of the k armie, which Amaziah sent away, that they should not goe with his people to battell, fell vpon the cities of Iudah from Samaria vnto Beth-horon, and smote three thousand of them, and tooke much spoyle.

14 Now after that Amaziah was come from the slaughter of the Edomites, hee brought the gods of the children of Seir, and set them vp to be his gods, and l worshipped them, and burned incense vnto them.

15 Wherefore the Lord was wroth with Amaziah, and sent vnto him a Prophet, which said vnto him, Why hast thou sought the gods of the people, which were not able to m deliuer their owne people out of thine hand?

16 And as he talked with him, n he saide vnto him, Haue they made thee the Kings counseller? cease thou: why should they o smite thee? And the Prophet ceased, but sayd, I knowe that God hath determined to destroy thee, because thou hast done this, and hast not obeyed my counsell.

17 ¶ Then Amaziah King of Iudah tooke counsell, and sent to Ioash the sonne of Iehoahaz, the sonne of Iehu king of Israel, saying, Come, p let vs see one another in the face.

18 But Ioash king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Iudah, saying, The thistle that is in Lebanon, sent to the cedar that is in Lebanon, saying, * Giue thy daughter to my sonne to wife: and the wilde beast that was in Lebanon went and trode downe the thistle.

19 Thou thinkest: loe, thou hast smitten Edom, and thine heart lifteth thee vp to bragge: abide now at home: why doest thou prouoke to thine hurt, that thou shouldest fall, and Iudah with thee?

20 But Amaziah would not heare: for q it was of God, that he might deliuered them into his hand, because they had sought the gods of Edom.

21 So Ioash the king of Israel went vp: and he and Amaziah king of Iudah sawe one another in the face at Beth-shemesh, which is in Iudah.

22 And Iudah was put to the worse before Israel, and they fled euery man to his tents.

23 But Ioash the king of Israel tooke Amaziah king of Iudah, the sonne of Ioash, the sonne of Iehoahaz, in Beth-shemesh, and brought him to Ierusalem, and brake downe the wall of Ierusalem, from the gate of Ephraim vnto the corner gate, foure hundreth cubites.

24 And he tooke all the gold and the siluer, and all the vessels that were found in the house of God with s Obed Edom, and in the treasures of the kings house, and the children that were in hostage, and returned to Samaria.

25 ¶ And Amaziah the sonne of Ioash king of Iudah liued after the death of Ioash sonne of Iehoahaz king of Israel, fifteene yeere.

26 Concerning the rest of the acts of Amaziah first and last, are they not written in the booke of the kings of Iudah and Israel?

27 Now after the time that Amaziah did turne away from the Lord, * they wrought treason against him in Ierusalem: and when hee was fled to Lachish, they sent to Lachish after him, and slew

CHAP. XXVI.

2,5 Vzziah obeying the Lord, prospereth in his enterprises. 16 How waxeth proud and vsurpeth the Priestes office. 19 The Lord plageth him. 20 The Priests driue him out of the Temple, and exclude him out of the Lordes house. 23 His buriall, and his successour.

THen all * the people of Iudah tooke a Vzziah, which was sixteene yeere old, and made him king in the stead of his father Amaziah.

2 Hee built b Eloth, and restored it to Iudah, after that the king slept with his fathers.

3 * Sixteene yeere olde was Vzziah, when hee began to reigne, and he reigned two & fiftie yeere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Iecoliah of Ierusalem.

4 And he did vprightly in the sight of the Lord, according to all that his father Amaziah did.

5 And hee sought God in the dayes of c Zechariah (which vnderstood the visions of God) and when as d he sought the Lord, God made him to prosper.

6 For he went foorth and fought against the Philistims, and brake downe the wall of Gath, and the wall of Iabneh, and the wall of Asdod, and built cities in Asdod, and among the Philistims.

7 And God helped him against the Philistims, and against the Arabians that dwelt in Gur-baal, and Hammeunim.

8 And the Ammonites gaue e gifts to Vzziah, and his name spred to the entring in of Egypt: for he did most valiantly.

9 Moreouer Vzziah built towers in Ierusalem at the corner gate, and at the valley gate, and at the * f turning, and made them strong.

10 And he built towers in the wildernesse, and digged many ‖ cisternes: for he had much cattell both in the valleys and plaines, plowmen, and dressers of vines in the mountaines, and in g Carmel: for he loued husbandry.

11 Vzziah also had an hoste of fighting men that went out to warre by bands, according to the count of their number vnder the hand of Ieiel the Scribe, and Maaseiah the ruler, and vnder the hand of Hananiah, one of the Kings captaines.

12 The whole h number of the chiefe of the families of the valiant men were two thousand and sixe hundreth.

13 And vnder their hand was the armie for warre, three hundreth and seuen thousand, and fiue hundreth that fought valiantly to helpe the King against the enemie.

14 And Vzziah prepared them throughout all the hoste, shields, and speares, and helmets, and brigandines, and bowes, and stones to sling.

15 He made also very † artificiall engins in Ierusalem, to be vpon the towers and vpon the corners, to shoote arrowes and great stones: and his name spread farre abroad, because God did helpe him marueilously till he was mighty.

16 † But when he was strong, his heart i was lift vp to his destruction: for hee transgressed against the Lord his God, and went into the Temple of the Lord to burne incense vpon the altar of incense.

17 And Azariah the Priest went in after him: and with him fourescore Priests of the Lord, valiant men.

18 And they withstood Vzziah the King, and 19 Then Vzziah was wroth, and had incense in his hand to burne it: and while he was wroth with the Priests, the leprosie rose vp in his forehead before the Priestes in the house of the Lord beside the incense altar.

20 And when Azariah the chiefe Priests with all the Priests looked vpon him, behold, hee was leprous in his forehead, & they caused him hastily to depart thence: and he was euen compelled to goe out, because the Lord had smitten him.

21 * And Vzziah the King was a leper vnto the day of his death, and dwelt as a leper in an house apart, because he was cut off from the house of the Lord: and Iotham his sonne ruled ouer the Kings house, and iudged the people of the land.

22 Concerning the rest of the actes of Vzziah, first and last, did Isaiah the Prophet the sonne of Amoz write.

23 So Vzziah slept with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the field of the buriall, which perteined to the Kings; for they said, He m is a leper. And Iotham his sonne reigned in his stead.

3 Hee built the hie c gate of the house of the Lord, and hee built very much on the wall of the castle.

4 Moreouer he built cities in the mountaines of Iudah, and in the forrests he built palaces and towers.

5 And he fought with the kings of the children of Ammon, and preuailed against them. And the children of Ammon gaue him the same yeere an hundreth talents of siluer, and ten thousand † measures of wheate, and ten thousand of barley: this did the children of Ammon giue him ‖ both in the second yeere and the third.

6 So Iotham became mightie, d because hee directed his way before the Lord his God.

7 Concerning the rest of the actes of Iotham and all his warres and his wayes, loe, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Israel, and Iudah.

8 He was fiue and twentie yeere old, when hee began to reigne, and reigned sixteene yeere in Ierusalem.

A Haz * was twentie yeere old when he began to reigne, and reigned sixteene yeere in Ierusalem, and did not vprightly in the sight of the Lord, like Dauid his ‖ father.

2 But a he walked in the wayes of the kings of Israel, and made euen molten images for b Baalim.

3 Moreouer hee burnt incense in the valley of Ben-hinnom, and ‖ burnt his sonnes with fire, after the abominations of the heathen whom the Lord hast cast out before the children of Israel.

4 Hee sacrificed also and burnt incense in the high places, and on hils, and vnder euery greene tree.

5 Wherefore the Lord his God deliuered him into the hand of the king of the Aramites, and they smote him, and tooke of his † many prisoners, and brought them to Damascus: and he was also deliuered into the hand of the king of Israel, which smote him with a great slaughter.

6 For c Pekah the sonne of Remaliah slew in Iudah sixescore thousand in one day, all † valiant men, because they had forsaken the Lord God of their fathers.

7 And Zichri a ‖mighty man of Ephraim slew Maaseiah the kings sonne, and Azrikam the gouernour of the house, and Elkanah the second after the King.

8 And the children of Israel tooke prisoners of their brethren,d two hundreth thousand of women, sonnes and daughters, and caried away much spoile of them, and brought the spoile to Samaria.

9 ¶ But there was a Prophet of the Lords, (whose name was Oded) and he went out before the host that came to Samaria, and said vnto them, Behold, because the Lord God of your fathers is wroth with Iudah, hee hath deliuered them into your hand, and ye haue slaine them in a rage, that reacheth vp to heauen.

10 And now yee purpose to keepe vnder the children of Iudah and Ierusalem, as seruants and handmaides vnto you, but are not you such, that f sinnes are with you before the Lord your God?

11 Now therefore heare mee, and deliuer the captiues againe, which yee haue taken prisoners of your brethren: for the fierce wrath of the Lord is toward you.

12 Wherefore certaine of the chiefe of the children of g Ephraim, Azariah the sonne of Iehohanan, Berechiah the sonne of Meshillemoth, and Iehizkiah the sonne of Shallum, and Amasa the sonne of Hadlai, stood vp against them that came from the warre.

13 And said vnto them, Bring not in the captiues hither; for this shalbe h a sinne vpon vs against the Lord: yee intend td adde more to our sinnes and to our trespasse, though our trespasse be great, and the fierce wrath of God is against Israel.

14 So the army left the captiues and the spoile before the princes and all the Congregation.

15 And the men that were i named by name, rose vp and tooke the prisoners, and with the spoile cloathed all that were naked among them, and arayed them, and shod them, and gaue them meate, and gaue them drinke, and k anoynted them, and caried all that were feeble of them vpon asses, and brought them to Iericho the city of Palme trees to their l brethren: so they returned to Samaria.

19 For the Lord had humbled Iudah, because of Ahaz king of n Israel, for he had brought vengeance vpon Iudah, & had grieuously transgressed against the Lord.)

20 And Tilgath Pilneeser king of Assur came vnto him, who troubled him and did not strengthen him.

21 For Ahaz † tooke a portion * out of the house of the Lord and out of the kings house and of the princes, and gaue vnto the king of Assur: yet it helped him not.

22 And in the time of his tribulation did hee yet trespasse more against the Lord, (this is king Ahaz.)

23 For hee sacrificed vnto the gods of Damascus, which o plagued him, and he said, Because the gods of the kings of Aram helped them, I will sacrifice vnto them, and they will p helpe mee: yet they were his ruine, and of all ‖ Israel.

24 And Ahaz gathered the vessels of the house of God, and brake the vessels of the house of God, and shut vp the doores of the house of the Lord, and made him altars in euery corner of Ierusalem.

25 And in euery citie of Iudah he made high places to burne incense vnto other gods, and prouoked to anger the Lord God of his fathers.

26 Concerning the rest of his actes, and all his wayes first and last, behold, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Iudah, and Israel.

on Iudah and Ierusalem: and he hath made them a ‖ scattering, a desolation, and an hissing, as yee see with your eyes.

9 For loe, our fathers are fallen by the sworde, and our sonnes, and our daughters, and our wiues are in captiuitie for the same cause.

10 Now † I purpose to make a couenant with the Lord God of Israel, that he may ᵉ turne away his fierce wrath from vs.

11 Nowe my sonnes, be not deceiued: for the Lord hath * chosen you to stand before him, to serue him, and to be his ministers, and to burne incense.

12 ¶ Then the Leuites arose, Mahath the sonne of Amasai, and Ioel the sonne of Azariah of the sonnes of the Kohathites: and of the sonnes of Merari, Kish the sonne of Abdi, & Azariah the sonne of Iehaleel: and of the Gershonites, Ioah the sonne of Zimmah, and Eden the sonne of Ioah:

13 And of the sonnes of Elizaphan, Shimri, and Iehiel: and of the sonnes of Asaph, Zechariah, and Mattaniah, 14 And of the sonnes of Heman, Iehiel, and Shimei: and of the sonnes of Ieduthun, Shemaiah and Vzziel.

15 And they gathered their brethren, and sanctified themselues, & came according to the commandement of the king, and ‖ by the words of the Lord, for to cleanse the house of the Lord.

16 And the Priests went into the inner partes of the house of the Lord, to ᶠ cleanse it, & brought out all the vncleanesse that they found in the Temple of the Lord, into the court of the house of the Lord: and the Leuites tooke it, to carie it out vnto the brooke Kidron.

17 They began the first day of the ᵍ first moneth to sanctifie it, and the eight day of the moneth came they to the porch of the Lord: so they sanctified the house of the Lord in eight dayes, and in the sixteenth day of the first moneth, they made an end.

18 ¶ Then they went in to Hezekiah the king and said, Wee haue cleansed all the house of the Lord, and the altar of burnt offering, with all the vessels thereof, and the ‖ shewbread table, with all the vessels thereof:

19 And all the vessels which King Ahaz had cast aside when he reigned, and transgressed, haue we prepared and sanctified: and behold, they are before the altar of the Lord.

20 ¶ And Hezekiah the king ʰ rose early, and gathered the princes of the citie, and went vp to the house of the Lord.

21 And they brought seuen bullocks, and seuen rammes, and seuen lambs, and seuen hee goats for a * sinne offering for the kingdome, and for the sanctuary, and for Iudah. And he commanded the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, to offer them on the altar of the Lord.

22 So they slew the bullocks, and the Priestes receiued the blood, and ⁱ sprinkled it vpon the altar: they slew also the rammes, and sprinkled the blood vpon the altar, and they slewe the lambes, and they sprinkled the blood vpon the altar.

23 Then they brought the hee goates for the sinne offering before the king and the Congregation, ᵏ and they layd their hands vpon them.

24 And the Priestes slewe them, and with the blood of them they cleansed the altar to reconcile all Israel: for the king had commanded for all Israel the burnt offering, and the sinne offering,

25 He appointed also the Leuites in the house of the Lord with cymbals, with viols, and with harpes, * according to the commaundement of Dauid, and Gad the Kings Seer, and Nathan the Prophet: for the ˡ commaundement was by the hand of the Lord, and by the hand of his Prophets.

26 And the Leuites stood with the instruments of Dauid, and the priests with the trumpets.

27 And Hezekiah commaunded to offer the burnt offring vpon the altar: and when the burnt offring began, the song of the ᵐ Lord began with the trumpets, and the instruments ⁿ of Dauid king of Israel.

28 And all the congregation worshipped, singing a song, and they blew the trumpets: all this continued vntill the burnt offering was finished.

29 And when they had made an ende of offering, the king and all that were present with him, bowed themselues, and worshipped.

30 ¶ Then Hezekiah the king and the princes commaunded the Leuites to prayse the Lord with the ᵒ words of Dauid, and of Asaph the Seer. So they praised with ioy, and they bowed themselues, and worshipped.

31 And Hezekiah spake, and sayd, Now yee haue † consecrate your selues to the Lord: come neere and bring the sacrifices and offerings of prayse into the house of the Lord. And the Congregation brought sacrifices and offrings of praises, and euery man that was willing in heart, offred burnt offrings.

32 And the number of the burnt offerings, which the Congregation brought, was seuenty bullockes, an hundreth rammes, and two hundreth lambs: all these were for a burnt offering to the Lord:

33 And for ᵖ sanctification sixe hundreth bullockes, and three thousand sheepe.

34 But the Priests were too few, and were not able to slay all the burnt offerings: therefore their brethren the Leuites did helpe them, till they had ended the worke, & vntill other Priestes were sanctified: for the Leuites were ᵠ more vpright in heart to sanctifie themselues then the Priestes.

35 And also the burnt offerings were many, with the * fat of the peace offrings and the drinke offerings for the burnt offering: So the seruice of the house of the Lord was set in order.

36 Then Hezekiah reioyced, and all the people, that God had made the people so ʳ ready: for the thing was done suddenly.

4 And the thing pleased the king, and all the Congregation.

5 And they decreed to make proclamation thorowout all Israel from e Beersheba euen to Dan, that they should come to keepe the Passeouer vnto the Lord God of Israel at Ierusalem: for they had not done it of a great time, d as it was written.

6 ¶ So the postes went with letters by the commission of the King, and his princes, thorowout all Israel and Iudah, and with the commandement of the King, saying, Ye children of Israel, turne againe vnto the Lord God of Abraham, Izhak, and Israel, and e hee will returne to the remnant that are escaped of you, out of the hands of the kings of Asshur.

7 And be not yee like your fathers, and like your brethren, which trespassed against the Lord God of their fathers: and therefore he made them desolate, as yee see.

8 Be not yee now stiffnecked like your fathers, but f giue the hand to the Lord, and come into his Sanctuarie, which he hath sanctified for euer, and serue the Lord your God, and the fiercenesse of his wrath shall turne away from you.

9 For if yee returne vnto the Lord, your brethren and your children shall finde mercie before them that led them captiues, and they shall g returne vnto this land: for the Lord your God is gracious and mercifull, and will not turne away his face from you, if yee conuert vnto him.

10 ¶ So the posts went from citie to citie thorow the land of Ephraim and Manasseh, euen vnto Zebulun: but they h laughed them to scorne and mocked them.

11 Neuertheless, diuers of Asher, and Manasseh, and of Zebulun, submitted themselues, and came to Ierusalem.

12 And the hand of God was in Iudah, so that he gaue them one i heart to doe the commandement of the king, and of the rulers, according to the word of the Lord.

13 And there assembled to Ierusalem much people, to keepe the feast of the vnleauened bread in the second moneth, a very great assembly.

14 ¶ And they arose, and tooke away the k altars that were in Ierusalem, and all those for incense tooke they away, and cast them into the brooke Kidron.

15 Afterward they slewe the Passeouer the fourteenth day of the second moneth: and the Priests and Leuites were l ashamed, and sanctified themselues, and brought the burnt offerings into the house of the Lord.

16 And they stood in their place after their maner, according to the Law of Moses the man of God: and the Priests sprinkled the m blood receiued of the hands of the Leuites.

17 Because there were many in the Congregation that were not sanctified, therefore the Liuites had the charge of the killing of the Passeouer for all that were not cleane, to sanctifie it to the Lord.

18 For a multitude of the people, euen a multitude of Ephraim, and Manasseh, Issachar and Zebulun had not cleansed themselues, yet did eate the Passeouer, but not as it was written: wherefore Hezekiah prayed for them, saying, The good Lord be mercifull toward him, 19 That prepareth his whole heart to seeke the Lord God, the God of his fathers, though hee be not cleansed, according to the purification of the Sanctuarie.

20 And the Lord heard Hezekiah, and o healed the people.

21 And the children of Israel that were present at Ierusalem, kept the feast of the vnleauened bread seuen dayes with great ioy, and the Leuites, and the Priests prayed the Lord day by day, singing with loud instruments vnto the Lord.

22 And Hezekiah † spake comfortably vnto all the Leuites that had good knowledge to sing vnto the Lord: and they did eate in that feast seuen dayes, and offered peace offerings, and praised the Lord God of their fathers.

23 And the whole assembly tooke counsell to keepe it other seuen dayes. So they kept it seuen dayes with ioy.

24 For Hezekiah king of Iudah had giuen to the Congregation a p thousand bullockes, and seuen thousand sheepe. And the princes had giuen to the Congregation a thousand bullockes, and ten thousand sheepe: and many priests were sanctified.

25 And all the Congregation of Iudah reioyced with the Priests and the Leuites, and all the Congregation that came out of Israel, and the strangers that came out of the land of Israel, and that dwelt in Iudah.

26 So there was great ioy in Ierusalem: for since the time of Salomon the sonne of Dauid king of Israel there was not the like thing in Ierusalem.

27 Then the Priests and the Leuites arose, and q blessed the people, and their voyce was heard, and their prayer came vp vnto heauen, to his holy habitation.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 The people destroy idolatrie. 2 Hezekiah appointeth Priests and Leuites, 4 And prouideth for their liuing. 13 He ordaineth ouersiers to distribute to euery one his portion.

NOw when all these things were finished, all Israel, that were found in the cities of Iudah, went out and r brake the images, and cut downe the groues, and brake downe the high places, and the altars thorowout all Iudah and Beniamin, in Ephraim also and Manasseh, vntill they had made an end: afterward all the s children of Israel returned euery man to his possession, into their owne cities.

2 And Hezekiah appointed the courses of the Priests and Leuites by their turnes, euery man according to his office, both Priests and Leuites for the burnt offering and peace offrings, to minister and to giue thankes, and to prayse in the gates of the t tents of the Lord.

hony, and of all the increase of the field, and the tithes of all things brought they abundantly.

6 And the children of Israel and Iudah that dwelt in the cities of Iudah, they also brought the tithes of bullockes and sheepe, and the holy tithes [f] which were consecrate vnto the Lord their God, and layd them on [g] many heapes.

7 In the third moneth they began to lay the foundation of the heapes, and finished them in the seuenth moneth.

8 ¶ And when Hezekiah and the princes came, and saw the heapes, they [h] blessed the Lord and his people Israel.

9 And Hezekiah questioned with the Priests and the Leuites concerning the heapes.

10 And Azariah the chiefe Priest of the house of Zadok answered him, and said, Since the people began to bring the offrings into the house of the Lord, wee haue eaten, and haue beene satisfied, and there is left in abundance: for the Lord hath blessed his people, and this abundance that is left.

11 ¶ And Hezekiah commanded to prepare chambers in the house of the Lord: and they prepared them, 12 And caried in the first fruits, and the tithes, and the dedicate things faithfully: and ouer them was Conaniah the Leuite the chiefe, and Shimei his brother the second.

13 And Iehiel, and Azariah and Nahath, and Asahel, and Ierimoth, and Iozabad, and Eliel, and Ismachiah, and Mahath, and Benaiah were ouerseers † by the appointment of Conaniah, and Shimei his brother, and by the commandement of Hezekiah the King, and of Azariah the chiefe of the house of God.

14 And Kore the sonne of Imnah the Leuite, porter toward the East, was ouer the things that were willingly offred vnto God, to distribute the oblations of the Lord, and the holy things that were consecrate.

15 And at his hand were Eden, and Miniamin, and Iesh ua, and Shemaiah, Amariah, and Shechaniah, in the cities of the Priests, to distribute with fidilitie to their brethren by courses, both to the great and small,

16 Their day'ly portion: beside their generation, being males [k] from three yeere old and aboue, euen to all that entred into the house of the Lord to their office in their charge, according to their courses:

17 Both to the generation of the Priests after the house of their fathers, and to the Leuites from twentie yeere olde and aboue, according to their charge in their courses:

18 And to the generation of all their children, their wiues, and their sonnes, and their daughters throughout all the Congegation: for by their [l] fidelitie are they partakers of the holy things.

19 Also to the sonnes of Aaron, the Priestes, which were in the fields and suburbes of their cities, in euery citie the men that were appointed by names, should giue portions to all the males of the Priests, and to all the generation of the Leuites.

20 And thus did Hezekiah throughout all Iudah, and did well, and vprightly, and truely before the Lord his God.

21 And in all the works that he began for the seruice of the house of God, both in the Law and in the commandements, to seeke his God, hee did it with all his heart, and prospered.

[l] Meaning, that either by the faithfull distributions of the officers, euery one had their part in the things that were offered, or els that their wiues and children were relieued, because the Leuites were faithfull in their office, and so depended on them.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 Saneherib inuadeth Iudah, 3 Hezekiah prepareth for the warre, 7 He exhorteth the people to put their trust in the Lord. 9 Saneherib blasphemeth God. 20 Hezekiah prayeth. 21 The Angel destroyeth the Assyrians and the king is slaine. 25 Hezekiah is not thankfull toward the Lord. 33 His death.

AFter these things faithfully described, * Saneherib king of Asshur came and entred into Iudah, and beseged the strong cities, and thought to † winne them for himselfe.

2 When Hezekiah saw that Saneherib was come, and that his † purpose was to fight against Ierusalem,

3 Then hee tooke counsell with his princes and his nobles, to stoppe the water of the fountaines without the citie, and they did helpe him.

4 So many of the people assembled themselues, and stopt all the fountaines, and the riuer that ranne through the mids of the countrey, saying, Why should the kings of Asshur come, and finde much water?

5 And † he tooke courage, and built all the broken wall, and made vp the towers, and another wall without, and repaired [a] Millo in the [b] city of Dauid, and made many [c] darts & shields.

6 And he set captaines of warre ouer the people, and assembled them to him in the broad place of the gate of the citie, and † spake comfortably vnto them, saying,

7 Be strong and couragious: feare not, neither be afraid for the king of Asshur, neither for all the multitude that is with him: * for there be more with vs, then is with him.

8 With him is an [d] arme of flesh, but with vs is the [e] Lord our God for to helpe vs, and to fight our battels. Then the people were confirmed by the words of Hezekiah king of Iudah.

9 * After this did Saneherib king of Asshur send his seruants to Ierusalem (while he was f against Lachish, and all his dominion with him) vnto Hezekiah king of Iudah, and vnto all Iudah, that were at Ierusalem, saying,

10 Thus saith Saneherib the king of Asshur, Wherein doe yee trust, that ye will remaine in Ierusalem, during the siege?

11 Doeth not Hezekiah entise you to giue ouer your selues vnto death by famine & by thirst, saying, The Lord our God shall deliuer vs out of the hand of the king of Asshur?

12 Hath not the same Hezekiah taken away his hie places, and his [g] altars, and commanded Iudah, and Ierusalem, saying, Ye shall worship before one altar, and burne incense vpon it?

13 Know yee not what I and my fathers haue done vnto all the people of other countreys? were the gods of the nations of other lands able to deliuer their land out of mine hand?

14 Who is hee of all the [h] gods of those nations (that my fathers haue destroyed) that could deliuer his people out of mine hand, that your God should be able to deliuer you out of mine hand?

15 Now therefore let not Hezekiah deceiue you, nor seduce you after this sort, neither beleeue ye him: for none of all the gods of any nation or kingdome was able to deliuer his people out of [i] mine hand, and out of the hand of my fathers: how much lesse shall your gods deliuer you out of mine hand?

16 And his seruants spake yet more against the Lord God, and against his ‖ seruant Hezekiah.

17 Hee wrote also letters, blaspheming the Lord God of Israel, and speaking against him, saying, As the gods of the nations of other countries could not deliuer their people out of mine hand, so shall not the God of Hezekiah deliuer his people out of mine hand.

18 Then they ‖ cryed with a loud voyce in the Iewes speach vnto the people of Ierusalem that were on the wall, to feare them and to astonish them, that they might take the citie.

19 Thus they spake against the God of Ierusalem, as against the gods of the people of the earth, euen the m works of mans hands.

20 But Hezekiah the King, and the Prophet Isaiah the sonne of Amoz [n] prayed against this and cryed to heauen.

21 And the Lord sent an Angel, which destroyed all the valiant men, and the princes and o captaines of the hoste of the king of Asshur: so he returned † with shame to his owne land. And when he was come into the house of his god, they that came forth of his p owne bowels, slew him there with the sword.

22 So the Lord saued Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem from the hand of Sancherib king of Asshur, and from the hand of all other, and ‖ maintained them on euery side.

23 And many brought offrings vnto the Lord to Ierusalem, and presents to Hezekiah king of Iudah, so that hee was q magnified in the sight of all nations from thenceforth.

24 * In those dayes Hezekiah was sicke vnto the death, and prayed vnto the Lord, who spake vnto him, and gaue him r a signe.

25 But Hezekiah did not render according to the reward bestowed vpon him: for his heart t was lift vp, and wrath came vpon him, and vpon Iudah and Ierusalem.

26 Notwithstanding Hezekiah humbled himselfe (after that his heart was lifted vp) he and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and the wrath of the Lord came not vpon them in the dayes of Hezekiah.

28 And of store houses for the increase of wheate and wine and oyle, and stalles for all beasts, and ‖ rowes for the ‖ stables.

29 And he made him cities, and had possession of sheepe and oxen in abundance: for God had giuen him substance exceeding much.

30 The same Hezekiah also stopped the vpper water springs of t Gihon, and led them streight vnderneath toward the city of Dauid Westward: so Hezekiah prospered in all his works.

31 But because of the ambassadours of the princes of Babel, which sent vnto him to enquire of the wonder that was done in the land, God left him to u trie him, and to know all that was in his heart.

32 Concerning the rest of the actes of Hezekiah, and his goodnesse, behold, they are written in the vision of Isaiah the Prophet, the sonne of Amoz, in the booke of the kings of Iudah and Israel.

33 So Hezekiah slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the highest sepulchre of the sonnes of Dauid: and all Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem did him honour at his death, and Manasseh his sonne reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXXIII.

2 Manasseh an idolater. 9 He causeth Iudah to erre. 11 Hee is led away prisoner into Babylon. 12 He prayeth to the Lord, and is deliuered. 14 Hee abolisheth idolatry, 16 and setteth vp true religion. 20 He dieth, and Amon his sonne succeedeth. 24 Whom his owne seruants slay.

MAnasseh was twelue yeere olde, * when hee began to reigne, and he reigned fiue and fiftie yeere in Ierusalem: * 2. King. 21. 1.

2 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, like the abominations of the heathen, * whom the Lord had cast out before the children of Israel. * Deut. 18. 9.

4 Also hee built altars in the house of the Lord, whereof the Lord had sayd, * In Ierusalem shall my Name be for euer. * 2. King. 21. 4.

5 And hee built altars for all the hoste of the heauen in the two courts of the house of the Lord.

6 [a] And he caused his sonnes to passe through the fire in the valley of Ben-hinnom: hee gaue himselfe to witchcraft and to charming, and to sorcerie, and hee vsed them that had familiar spirits, and soothsayers: he did very much euill in the sight of the Lord to anger him. a Reade 2. King. 16. 3.

7 He put also the carued image, which he had made, in the house of God: whereof God had said to Dauid and to Salomon his sonne, * In this house and in Ierusalem, which I haue chosen before all the tribes of Israel, will I put my Name for euer. * 1. King. 8. 29. and 9. 3. 2. King. 21. 7. and 23. 27.

8 Neither will I * make the foote of Israel to remoue any more out of the land which I haue appointed for your fathers, so that they take heede, and doe all that I haue commanded them, according to the Law and statutes and iudgements by the [b] hand of Moses. * 2. Sam. 7. 10.

9 So Manasseh made Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem to erre, and to doe worse then the heathen, whom the Lord had destroyed before the children of Israel. b By the charge giuen to Moses.

10 ¶ And the Lord spake [c] to Manasseh and to his people, but they would not regard.

11 Wherefore the Lord brought vpon them the captaines of the hoste of the king of Asshur, which tooke Manasseh and put him in fetters, and bound him in chaines, and caried him to Babel. c Meaning, by his Prophets, but their hearts were not touched to beleeue and repent, without the which the preaching of the word taketh no place.

12 And when he was in tribulation, he prayed to the Lord his God, and humbled himselfe greatly before the God of his fathers, 13 And prayed vnto him: and God was [d] entreated of him, and heard his prayer, and brought him againe to Ierusalem into his kingdome: then Manasseh knew that the Lord was God. d Thus affliction giueth vnderstanding: for he that hated God in his prosperity, now in his miserie he seeketh vnto him.

14 Now after this hee built a wall without the citie of Dauid, on the West side of [e] Gihon in the valley, euen at the entry of the fish gate, and compassed about [f] Ophel, and raised it very high, and put captaines of warre in all the strong cities of Iudah. e Reade Chap. 32. 30. f Reade Chap. 27. 3.

20 So Manasseh slept with his fathers, and they buried him in his own k house: and Amon his sonne reigned in his stead.

21 ¶ Amon was two and twentie yeere olde, when he began to reigne, and reigned two yeere in Ierusalem.

22 But he did evill in the sight of the Lord, as did Manasseh his father: for Amon sacrificed to all the images, which Manasseh his father had made, and serued them.

23 And hee humbled not himselfe before the Lord, as Manasseh his father had humbled himselfe: but this Amon trespassed more and more.

24 And his seruants * conspired against him, and slew him in his owne house.

25 But the people of the land slewe all them that had conspired against King Amon: and the people of the land made Iosiah his sonne King in his stead.

IOsiah *was eight yeere old when he began to reigne, and hee reigned in Ierusalem one and thirtie yeere.

2 And hee did vprightly in the sight of the Lord, and walked in the wayes of a Dauid his father, and bowed neither to the right hand nor to the left.

3 And in the eight yeere of his reigne (when he was yet a b childe) he began to seeke after the God of Dauid his father: and in the twelft yeere he began to purge Iudah, and Ierusalem from the hie places, and the groues, and the carued images, and molten images.

4 And they brake downe in his sight the altars of Baalim, and he caused to cut downe the images that were on high vpon them: hee brake also the groues, and the carued images and the molten images, and stampt them to powder, and strowed it vpon the graues of them that had sacrificed vnto them.

5 Also hee burnt the c bones of the Priestes vpon their altars, and purged Iudah and Ierusalem.

6 And in the cities of Manasseh, and Ephraim and Simeon, euen vnto Naphtali, with their maules they brake all round about.

7 And when he had c destroyed the altars, and the groues, and had broken and stamped to powder the images, and had cut downe all the idoles throughout all the land of Israel, he returned to Ierusalem.

8 ¶ * Then in the eighteenth yeere of his reigne, when he had purged the land and the temple, he sent Shaphan the sonne of Azaliah & Maaseiah the gouernour of the citie, and Ioah the sonne of Ioahaz the Recorder to repaire the house of the Lord his God.

9 And when they came to Hilkiah the hie Priest, they deliuered the money that was brought into the house of God, which the Leuites that kept the doores, had gathered at the hand of Manasseh, and Ephraim, & of all the residue of Israel, and of all Iudah and Beniamin, and ‖ of the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

10 And they put it in the hands of them that should do the worke, and had the ouersight in the house of the Lord: and they gaue it to the workemen that wrought in the house of the Lord to repaire and amend the house.

11 Euen to the workemen and to the builders gaue they it to buy hewed stone and timber for couples, and for beames of the d houses, which the Kings of Iudah had destroyed.

12 And the men did the worke e faithfully, and the ouerseers of them were Iahath and Obadiah the Leuites, of the children of Merari, and Zechariah, and Meshullam, of the children of the Kohathites to set it forward: and of the Leuites all that could skill of instruments of musicke.

13 And they were ouer the bearers of burdens, and them that set forward all the workemen in euery worke: and of the Leuites were scribes, and officers and porters.

14 ¶ And when they brought out the money that was brought into the house of the Lord, Hilkiah the Priest found the h booke of the Law of the Lord giuen by the hand of Moses.

15 Therefore Hilkiah answered and said to Shaphan the chancellor, I haue found the booke of the Law in the house of the Lord: and Hilkiah gaue the booke to Shaphan.

16 And Shaphan caried the booke to i the King, and brought the King word againe, saying, All that is committed to the hand of thy seruants, that doe they.

17 For they haue gathered the money that was found in the house of the Lord, and haue deliuered it into the hands of the ouerseers, and to the hands of the workemen.

18 Also Shaphan the chancellor declared to the King, saying, Hilkiah the priest had giuen me a booke, and Shaphan read it before the King.

19 And when the King had heard the wordes of the Law, he k tare his cloathes.

20 And the King commanded Hilkiah and Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, and Abdon the sonne of Micah, and Shaphan the chancellor, and Asaiah the kings seruant, saying,

21 Goe and enquire of the Lord for mee, and for the rest in Israel and Iudah, concerning the wordes of this booke that is found: for great is the wrath of the Lord that is fallen vpon vs, because our l fathers haue not kept the word of the Lord, to doe after all that is written in this booke.

l Hasdrah keeper of the m wardrobe (and she dwelt in Ierusalem within the n colledge) and they communed here of with her.

23 And she answered them, Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel, Tell ye o the man that sent you to me,

24 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring euill vpon this place, and vpon the inhabitants thereof, euen all the curses, that are written in the booke which they haue read before the King of Iudah:

25 Because they haue forsake mee, and burnt incense vnto other gods, to anger me with all the works of their p hands, therefore shall my wrath fall vpon this place, and shall not be quenched.

26 But to the King of Iudah, who sent you to enquire of ỹ Lord, so shall ye say vnto him, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, The wordes which thou hast heard, shall come to passe.

27 But because thine heart did q melt, and thou diddest humble thy selfe before God, when thou heardest his words against this place, and against the inhabitants thereof, and humbledst thy selfe before mee, and tarest thy cloathes, and wepteſt before mee, I haue also heard it, saith the Lord,

28 Behold, I will gather thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt be put in thy graue in peace, and thine eyes shall not see all the euill, which I will bring vpon this r place, and vpon the inhabitants of the same. Thus they brought the King word againe.

29 ¶ Then the King sent and gathered all the Elders of Iudah and Ierusalem.

30 And the King went vp into the house of the Lord, and all the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and the Priestes and the Leuites, and all the people from the greateſt to the s smalleſt, and he read in their eares all the words of the booke of the Couenant that was found in the house of the Lord.

31 And the King stood by his pillar, and made a couenant before the Lord, to walke after the Lord, and to keepe his commandements, and his testimonies, and his t statutes with all his heart, and with all his soule, and that he would accomplish the words of the Couenant written in the same booke.

32 And he caused all that were found in Ierusalem, and Beniamin to stand to it: and the inhabitants of Ierusalem did according to the Couenant of God, euen the God of their fathers.

33 So Iosiah tooke away all the abominations out of all the countreys that pertained to the children of Israel, and compelled all u that were found in Israel, to serue the Lord their God: so all his dayes they turned not backe from the Lord God of their fathers.

CHAP. XXXV.

2 Iosiah keepeth the Passeouer. 2 He setteth foorth Gods seruice. 20 He fighteth against the King of Egypt, and dieth. 24 The people bewaile him.

MOreouer, * Iosiah kept a Passeouer vnto the Lord in Ierusalem, and they slew the a Passeouer in the fourteenth day of the first moneth.

2 And he appointed the Priests to their charges, and encouraged them to the seruice of the house of the Lord,

3 And he sayd vnto the Leuites that b taught all Israel and were sanctified vnto the Lord, Put w hich are signified. b So that the Leuites charge was not only to minister in the Temple, but also to instruct the people in the word of God, the holy Arke in the house which Salomon the sonne of Dauid King of Israel did build: it shalbe no more a c burden vpon your shoulders: serue now the Lord your God, and his people Israel,

4 And prepare your selues by the houses of your fathers according to your courses, as * Dauid the king of Israel hath written, and according to the writing of Solomon his sonne,

5 And stand in the Sanctuary according to the diuision of the families of your brethren ‖ the children of the people, and after the deuision of the familie of the Leuites:

6 So kill the Passeouer, and sanctifie your selues, and d prepare your brethren that they may doe according to the word of the Lord by the hand of Moses.

7 Iosiah also gaue to the † people sheepe, lambs and kiddes, all for the Passeouer, euen to all that were present, to the number of thirtie thousand, and three thousand bullockes: these were of the Kings substance.

8 And his princes offred willingly vnto the people, to the Priests and to the Leuites: Hilkiah, and Zechariah, and Iehiel, rulers of the house of God gaue vnto the Priests for the Passeouer, euen two thousand and sixe hundreth sheepe, and three hundreth bullockes.

9 e Conaniah also and Shemaiah and Nethaneel his brethren, and Hashabiah and Ieiel, and Iozabad, chiefe of the Leuites gaue vnto the Leuites for the Passeouer, fiue thousand sheepe, and fiue hundreth bullockes.

10 Thus the seruice was prepared, and the Priests stood in their places, also the Leuites in their orders, according to the kings commaundement:

11 And they slewe the Passeouer, and the Priests f sprinkled the blood with their hands, and the Liuites flayed them.

12 And they tooke away from the g burnt offering to giue it according to the diuisions of the families of the children of the people, to offer vnto the Lord, as it is written in the booke of Moses, and so of the bullocks.

13 And * they rosted the Passeouer with fire, according to the custome, but ỹ sanctified things they sod in pots, pannes, and cauldrons, and distributed them quickly to all the people.

14 Afterward also they prepared for themselues and for the Priests: for the Priestes the sonnes of Aaron were occupied in offring of burnt offerings, and the fat vntill night: therefore the Leuites prepared for themselues, and for the Priests the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the singers the sonnes of Asaph stood in their standing * according to the commandement of Dauid, and Asaph, and Heman, and Ieduthun the kings h Seer: and the porters at euery gate, who might not depart from their seruice: therefore their brethren the Leuites prepared for them.

16 So all the seruice of the Lord was prepared the same day to keepe the Passeouer, and to offer burnt offrings vpon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandement of King Iosiah.

17 And the children of Israel that were present, kept the Passeouer the same time, and the feast of the vnleauened bread seuen dayes.

18 And there was no Passeouer kept like that in Israel, from the dayes of Samuel the Prophet: neither neither did all the kings of Israel keepe such a Passeouer as Iosiah kept, and the Priests and the Leuites, and all Iudah, and Israel that were † present, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

19 This Passeouer was kept in ‡ the eighteenth yeere of the reigne of Iosiah.

20 ¶ * After all this, when Iosiah had prepared the Temple, Necho king of Egypt, came vp to fight against k Carchemish by ‖ Perath, and Iosiah went out against him.

21 But hee sent messengers to him, saying, What haue I to doe with thee, thou king of Iudah? I come not against thee this day, but against the house † of mine enemie, and God commanded me to make haste: leaue off to come against God, which is with me, least he destroy thee.

22 But Iosiah would not turne his face from him, but l changed his apparell to fight with him, and hearkened not vnto the wordes of Necho, which were of the mouth of God, but came to fight in the valley of Megiddo.

23 And the shooters shot at king Iosiah: then the king said to his seruants, Cary me away, for I am very sicke.

24 So his seruants tooke him out of that charet, and put him in the second charet which hee had, and when they had brought him to Ierusalem, he died, and was buried in the sepulchres of his fathers: and all Iudah and Ierusalem m mourned for Iosiah.

25 And Ieremiah lamented Iosiah, and all singing men and singing women mourned for Iosiah in their lamentations to this day, and made the same for an ordinance vnto Israel: and behold, they be written in the n Lamentations.

26 Concerning the rest of the actes of Iosiah, and his goodnesse, doing as it was written in the Law of the Lord, 27 And his deedes first and last, behold, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Israel, and Iudah.

17 In whose time all the people were caried away to Babel for contemning the admonition of the Prophets, 22 and were restored again the seuentieth yeere after by king Cyrus.

THen * the people of the land tooke Iehoahaz the sonne of Iosiah, and made him King in his fathers stead in Ierusalem.

2 Iehoahaz was three and twentie yeere olde when hee began to reigne, and hee reigned three ‖ moneths in Ierusalem.

3 And the king of Egypt tooke him away at Ierusalem, and condemned the land in an b hundreth talents of siluer, and a talent of gold.

4 ¶ And the king of Egypt made Eliakim his brother king ouer Iudah and Ierusalem, and turned his name to Iehoiakim: and Necho tooke Iehoahaz his brother, and caryed him to Egypt.

5 Iehoiakim was fiue and twentie yeere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleuen yeeres in Ierusalem, and did c euill in the sight of the Lord his God.

6 Against him came vp Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and bound him with chaines to carie him to Babel.

7 Nebuchad-nezzar also * caried of the vessels of the house of the Lord to Babel, and put them in his temple at Babel.

8 Concerning the rest of the actes of Iehoiakim, and his abominations which hee did, and d that which was found vpon him, behold, they are written in the booke of the kings of Israel and Iudah, and Iehoiachin his sonne reigned in his stead.

9 ¶ Iehoiachin was e eight yeere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned three moneths and ten dayes in Ierusalem, and did euill in the sight of the Lord.

10 And when the yeere was out, king Nebuchad-nezzar sent and brought him to Babel, with the precious vessels of the house of the Lord, and he made Zedekiah his ‖ brother king ouer Iudah and Ierusalem.

11 Zedekiah was one and twentie yeere olde when hee began to reigne, and reigned eleuen yeere in Ierusalem.

12 * And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord his God, and humbled not himselfe before Ieremiah the Prophet at the commandement of the Lord.

13 But hee rebelled moreouer against Nebuchad-nezzar, which had caused him to sweare by God: and hee hardened his necke and made his heart obstinate, that he might not returne to the Lord God of Israel.

14 All the chiefe of the Priests also and of the people trespassed wonderfully, according to all the abominations of the heathen, and polluted the house of the Lord which hee had sanctified in Ierusalem.

15 Therefore the Lord God of their fathers sent to them † by his messengers, ‡ rising early and sending: for hee had compassion on his people, and on his habitation.

16 But they mocked the messengers of God, and despised his words, and misused his Prophets, vntill the wrath of the Lord arose against his people, and till there was no § remedie.

17 For he brought vpon them the king of the Caldeans, who slew their young men with the sword ‖ in the house of their Sanctuary, and spared neither young man nor virgin, ancient, nor aged, God i gaue all into his hand.

18 And all the vessels of the house of God great and small, and the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the king, and of his princes: all these caried he to Babel.

19 And they burnt the house of God, and brake downe the wall of Ierusalem, and burnt all the palaces thereof with fire: and all the precious vessels thereof, to destroy all.

20 And they that were left by the sword, caried he away to Babel, and they were seruants to him, and to his sonnes, vntill the kingdome of the k Persians had rule,

The prayer of Manasseh King of the Iewes.

This prayer is not in the Hebrew, but is translated out of the Greeke.

O Lord almightie, God of our fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Iacob, and of their righteous seede, which hast made heauen and earth with all their ornament, which hast bound the sea by the word of thy commaundement, which hast shut vp the depth, and sealed it by thy terrible and glorious Name, whom all doe feare, and tremble before thy power: for the Maiestie of thy glory cannot be borne, and thine angry threatning toward sinners is importable, but thy mercifull promise is vnmeasurable and vnsearchable. For thou art the most high Lord, of great compassion, long suffering, and most mercifull, and repentest for mans miseries. Thou, O Lord, according to thy great goodnesse hast promised [a] repentance and forgiuenesse to them that sinne against thee, and so thine infinite mercies hast appointed repentance vnto sinners that they may be saued. Thou therefore, O Lord, that art the God of the iust, hast not appointed repentance to the iust, as to Abraham, and Isaac and Iacob, which haue not [b] sinned against thee, but thou hast appointed repentance vnto me that am a sinner: for I haue sinned aboue the number of the sand of the sea. My transgressions, O Lord, are multiplied: my transgressions are exceeding many: and I am not worthy to behold and see the height of the heauens for the multitude of mine vnrighteousnes. I am bowed downe with many yron bands, that I cannot lift vp mine head, neither haue any release. For I haue prouoked thy wrath, and done euill before thee. I did not thy will, neither kept I thy commandements. I haue set vp abominations, and haue multiplied offences. Now therefore I bow the knee of mine heart, beseeching thee of grace. I haue sinned, O Lord, I haue sinned, and I acknowledge my transgressions: but I humbly beseech thee, forgiue me: O Lord, forgiue me, and destroy me not with my transgressions. Be not angry with me for euer by reseruing euill for me, neither condemne me into the lower partes of the earth. For thou art the God, euen the God of them that repent: and in me thou wilt shew all thy goodnes: for thou wilt saue mee that am vnworthy, according to thy great mercy: therefore I will praise thee for euer all the dayes of my life: for all the power of the heauens prayse thee, and thine is the glory for euer and euer. Amen.

a Thou hast promised that repentance shalbe the way for them to returne to thee.
b Hee speaketh this in comparison of himselfe, and those holy Fathers which haue their commendation in the Scriptures, so that in respect of himself he calleth their sinnes nothing, but attributeth vnto them righteousnesse.

E Z R A.

THE ARGVMENT.

AS the Lord is euer mercifull vnto his Church, and doeth not punish them, but to the intent they should see their owne miseries, and be exercised vnder the crosse, that they might contemne the world, and aspire vnto the heauens: so after that hee had visited the Iewes, and kept them now in bondage seuentie yeeres in a strange country among infidels and idolaters, hee remembred his tender mercies and their infirmities, and therefore for his owne sake raised them vp a deliuerer, and moued both the heart of the chiefe ruler to pitie them, and also by him punished such, which had kept them in seruitude. Notwithstanding, least they should growe into a contempt of Gods great benefites, hee keepeth them still in exercise, and rayseth domesticall enemies which endeuour as much as they can to hinder their most worthy enterprises: yet by the exhortation of the Prophet they went forward by little and little, till their worke was finished. The author of this booke was Ezra, who was Priest and Scribe of the Law, as Chap. 7. 6. Hee returned to Ierusalem the sixt yeere of Darius, who succeeded Cyrus, that is, about fiftie yeeres after the returne of the first vnder Zerubbabel, when the Temple was built. Hee brought with him a great company and much treasures, with letters to the Kings officers for all such things as should be necessary for the Temple: and at his comming hee redressed that which was amisse, and set the things in good order.

AND * when the [a] seuenth moneth was come, and the children of Israel were in their cities, the people assembled themselues as one man vnto Ierusalem.

2 Then stood vp Ieshua the sonne of Iozadak,and his brethren the Priests, and Zerubbabel [b] the sonne of Shealtiel,and his brethren,and builded the Altar of the God of Israel to offer burnt offerings thereon, as it is written in the Law of Moses the man of God.

3 And they set the Altar vpon [c] his bases (for feare was among them, because of the people of those countreys) therefore they offered burnt offerings thereon vnto the Lord, euen burnt offerings in the morning, and at euen.

4 They kept also the feast of the Tabernacles,at it is written,and the burnt offrings * daily, by number according to the custome day by day,

5 And afterward [d] the continuall burnt offering, both in the new moneths and in all the feast dayes that were consecrate vnto the Lord, and in all the oblations willingly offred vnto the Lord.

6 From the first day of the seuenth moneth began they to offer burnt offrings vnto the Lord: but the foundation of the Temple of the Lord was not laid.

7 They gaue money also vnto the masons, and to the workemen, and meate and drinke, and oyle vnto them of Zidon and of Tyrus, to bring them cedar wood from Lebanon to the sea vnto ‖ Iapho, according to the graunt that they had of Cyrus king of Persia.

8 ¶ And in the second yeere of their comming vnto the house of God in Ierusalem, in the [e] second moneth began Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Ieshua the sonne of Iozadak, and the remnant of their brethren the Priests, and the Leuites, and all they that were come out of the captiuitie vnto Ierusalem, and appointed the Leuites from twentie yeere old and aboue,to set forward the worke of the house of the Lord.

9 And Ieshua [f] stood with his sonnes, and his brethren, and Kadmiel with his sonnes, and the sonnes of Iudah together, to set forward the workemen in the house of God,and the sonnes of Henadad with their sonnes, and their brethren the Leuites.

10 And when the builders layed the foundation of the Temple of the Lord, they appointed the Priests in their apparell with trumpets,and the Leuites the sonnes of Asaph with cymbals, to prayse the Lord, * after the ordinance of Dauid king of Israel.

11 Thus they sang when they gaue prayse, and when they gaue thankes vnto the Lord, For hee is good, for his mercy endureth for euer toward Israel. And all the people shouted with a great shoute, when they praysed the Lord, because the foundation of the house of the Lord was layed.

12 Many also of the Priests and the Leuites and the [g] chiefe of the fathers, ancient men which had seene the first house,(when the foundation of this house was layed before their eyes) [g] wept with a loud voyce,and many shouted aloud for ioy, 13 So that the people could not discerne the sound of the shout for ioy, from the noyse of the weeping of the people: for the people shouted with a loude cry, & the noyse was heard farre off.

[f] They gaue them exhortations,and encouraged euery man forward in the worke.

a Meaning, the inhabitants of Samaria, whom the king of Assyria had placed in the stead of the ten tribes. 2 King 17. 24. and 19. 37. These professed God, but worshipped idoles also, and therefore were the greatest enemies to the true semants of God.

b For they perceiued what their pretence was, to wit, to erect idolatrie in stead of true religion.

c Heb. made their hands mooke.

c They bribed the governours vnder the king to hinder their worke: Thus they that halt, cannot abide that God should be purely serued.

d He was also called Artaxerxes, which is a Persian name, some thinke it was Cambises Cyrus sonne, or Darius, as verse 5.

e Called Artaxerxes, which signifieth in the Persian tongue, an excellent warriour.

|| Or, counseller.

f These were certaine people which the Assyrians placed in Samaria in stead of the ten tribes.

g Some thinke it was Sanaberib, but rather Salmanasar.

h To wit, Euphrates: and he meaneth in respect of Babel that they dwelt beyond it.

i Which were a certaine people that caused the Iewes.

k Meaning, the gifts that are wont to be giuen to kings when they passe by any countrey.

† Ebr. in the Chaldie, We haue salt in the foot of the palace.

BVt the aduersaries of Iudah and Beniamin heard, that the children of the captiuitie builded the Temple vnto the Lord God of Israel.

2 And they came to Zerubbabel, and to the chiefe fathers, and said vnto them, We will build with you: for we seeke the Lord your God as yee doe, & we haue sacrificed vnto him since the time of Esar Haddon king of Asshur, which brought vs vp hither.

3 Then Zerubbabel, and Iesh ua, and the rest of the chiefe fathers of Israel said vnto them, It is not for you, but for vs to build the house vnto our God: b for wee our selues together will build it vnto the Lord God of Israel, as king Cyrus the king of Persia hath commanded vs.

4 Wherefore the people of the land † discouraged the people of Iudah, and troubled them in building.

5 And they c hired counsellers against them, to hinder their deuise all the dayes of Cyrus king of Persia, euen vntill the reigne of Darius king of Persia.

6 And in the reigne of d Ahashuerosh (in the beginning of his reigne) wrote they an accusation against the inhabitants of Iudah & Ierusalem.

7 And in the dayes of e Artahshahte, Mithredath, Tabeel, and the rest of their companions wrote when it was peace, vnto Artahshashte king of Persia, and the writing of the letter was the Aramites writing, and the thing declared was in the language of the Aramites.

8 Rehum the || chancellour, and Shimshai the scribe wrote a letter against Ierusalem to Artahshahte the king, in this sort.

9 Then wrote Rehum the chancellour, and Shimshai the scribe, and their companions f Dinaie, and Apharsathcaie, Tarpelaie, Apharsaie, Archeuaie, Bablaie, Shushanchaie, Dehaie, Elmaie,

10 And the rest of the people whom the great and noble g Asnappar brought ouer, and set in the cities of Samaria, and other that are beyond the h Riuer and i Cheeneth.

11 ¶ This is the copie of the letter that they sent vnto King Artahshahte, THY SERVANTS the men beyond the Riuer and Cheeneth, salute thee.

12 Be it knowen vnto the King that the Iewes which came vp from thee to vs, are come vnto Ierusalem (a citie rebellious and wicked) and build, and lay the foundations of the walles, and haue ioyned the foundations.

13 Be it knowen now vnto the king, that if this citie be built, and the foundations of the wals layd, they will not giue tolle, tribute, nor k custome: so shalt thou hinder the kings tribute.

14 Now therefore because † wee haue beene brought vp in the Kings palace, it was not meete for vs to see the Kings dishonour: for this cause haue we sent and certified the King,

15 That one may search in the booke of the Chronicles of thy fathers, and thou shalt finde in the booke of the Chronicles, and perceiue that this citie is rebellious and noysome vnto kings and prouinces, and that they haue mooued sedition of old time, for the which cause this citie was destroyed.

16 Wee certifie the king therefore, that if this citie be builded, and the foundation of the walles laid, by this meanes the portion beyond the Riuer shall not be thine.

17 ¶ The King sent an answere vnto Rehum the chancellour, and Shimshai the scribe, and to the rest of their companions that dwelt in Samaria, and vnto the other beyond the Riuer l Shelam and m Cheeth.

18 ¶ The letter which yee sent vnto vs, hath bene openly read before me, 19 And I haue commaunded and they haue searched, and found, that this citie of olde time hath made insurrection against kings, and hath rebelled, and rebellion hath beene committed therein.

20 There haue beene mightie kings also ouer Ierusalem, which haue ruled ouer all beyond the Riuer, and tolle, tribute and custome was giuen vnto them.

21 Make ye now a decree that those men may cease, and that the citie be not built, till I haue giuen another commandement.

22 Take heede now that yee faile not to doe this: Why should domage grow to hurt the king?

23 When the copy of king Artahshashtes letter was read before Rehum and Shimshai the scribe, and their companions, they went vp in all the haste to Ierusalem vnto the Iewes, and caused them to cease by force and power.

24 Then n ceased the worke of the house of God, which was in Ierusalem, and did stay vnto the second yeere of Darius king of Persia.

l Some reade for Shelam, salutation or greeting.

m Called also Cheeneth, as verse 11.

n Not altogether, for the Prophets exhorted them to continue, but they vsed lesse diligence because of the troubles.

1 Haggai and Zechariah doe prophecie. 3 The worke of the Temple goeth forward contrary to the minde of Tatnai. 6 His letter to Darius.

THen || * Haggai a Propher, and Zechariah the sonne of Iddo a Prophet prophecied vnto the Iewes that were in Iudah, and Ierusalem, in the Name of the God of Israel, euen vnto them.

2 Then Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iesh ua the sonne of Iozadak arose, and began to build the house of God at Ierusalem, and with them were the Prophets of God, which a helped them.

a Which encouraged them to goe forward, and accused them that they were more carefull to build their owne houses, then zealous to build the Temple of God.

3 ¶ At the same time came to them Tatnai which was captaine beyond the Riuer, and Shether-boznai, and their companions, and said thus vnto them, Who hath giuen you commandement to build this house, and to lay the foundations of these walles?

4 b Then said we vnto them after this maner, What are the names of the men that build this building?

b That is, the enemies asked this, as verse. 10.

5 But the c eye of their God was vpon the Elders of the Iewes, that they could not cause them to cease, till the matter came to Darius: and then they answered by letters therevnto.

c His fauour and the spirit of strength.

6 The copie of the letter, that Tatnai captaine beyond the Riuer, and Shether-boznai and his companions, Apharsechaie, (which were beyond the riuer) sent vnto King Darius.

7 They sent a letter vnto him, wherein it was written thus, VNTO DARIVS the king, all peace.

8 Be it knowen vnto the king, that we went into the prouince of Iudea, to the house of the great God, which is builded with || great stones, and beames are laid in the walles, and this worke is wrought speedily, & prospereth in their hands.

9 Then asked we those Elders, and sayd vnto them thus, Who hath giuen you commandement to build this house, and to lay the foundation of these walles?

10 We asked their names also that we might certifie thee, and that we might write the names of the men that were their rulers.

11 But they answered vs thus and said, We are the seruants of the God of heauen and earth, and build the house that was built of old and many yeeres ago, which a great king of Israel * builded, and founded it.

12 But after that our fathers had prouoked the God of heauen vnto wrath, * hee gaue them ouer into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel the Caldean, and he destroyed this house, and caried the people away captiue vnto Babel.

13 But in the c first yeere of Cyrus king of Babel, King Cyrus made a decree to build this house of God:

14 And the vessels of golde and siluer of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar tooke out of the Temple that was in Ierusalem, and brought them into the Temple of Babel, those did Cyrus the king take out of the Temple of Babel, and they gaue them vnto one f Sheshbazzar by his name, whom he had made captaine.

15 And he said vnto him, Take these vessels and go thy way, and put them in the Temple that is in Ierusalem, and let the house of God be built in his place.

16 Then came the same Sheshbazzar and layd the foundation of the house of God, which is in Ierusalem, and since that time euen vntill now, hath it beene in building, yet is it not finished.

17 Now therefore if it please the king, let there be search made in the house of the kings ε treasures, which is there in Babel, whether a decree hath bin made by king Cyrus, to build this house of God in Ierusalem, and let the King send his minde concerning this.

CHAP. VI.

At the commandement of Darius king of Persia, after the Temple was builded and dedicate, the children of Israel kept the feast of vnleauened bread.

THen * king Darius gaue commandement, and they made search in the † library of the treasures, which were there laid vp in Babel.

2 And there was found in a a coffer (in the palace that was in the prouince of the Medes) a volume, and therein was it thus written, as a memoriall.

3 IN THE FIRST yeere of King Cyrus, King Cyrus made a decree for the house of God in Ierusalem, Let the house be built, euen the place where they offered sacrifices, and let the walles thereof be ioyned together: let the height thereof be threescore cubites, and the breadth thereof threescore cubites

4 Three ‖ orders of ‖ great stones, and one order of timber, and let the expences be giuen of the kings house.

5 And also let them render the vessels of the house of God (of golde and siluer, which Nebuchad-nezzar tooke out of the Temple, which was in Ierusalem, and brought vnto Babel) and let b him goe vnto the Temple that is in Ierusalem to his place, and put them in the house of God.

6 Therefore Tatnai captaine beyond the riuer, and Shethar-boznai, (and their companions Apharsecaie, which are beyond the Riuer) be yee farre c from thence.

7 Suffer yee the worke of this house of God, that the captaine of the Iewes and the Elders of the Iewes may builde this house of God in his place.

8 For I haue giuen a commandement what ye shall doe to the Elders of these Iewes, for the building of this house of God, that of the reuenues of the King, which is of the tribute beyond the Riuer, there be incontinently expenses giuen vnto these men that they d cease not.

9 And that which they shall haue needs of, let it be giuen vnto them day by day, whether it be yong bullocks, or rammes, or lambes for the burnt offerings of the God of heauen, wheat, salt, wine and oyle, according to the appointment of the Priests that are in Ierusalem, that there be no fault.

10 That they may haue to offer sweet odours vnto the God of heauen, and pray for the kings life, and for his sonnes.

11 And I haue made a decree, that whosoeuer shall alter this sentence, the wood shall be pulled downe from his house, and shall be set vp, and he shall be hanged thereon, and his house shall be made a dunghill for this.

12 And the God that hath caused his Name e to dwell there, destroy all kings and people that put to their hand to alter and to destroy this house of God, which is in Ierusalem. I Darius haue made a decree, let it be done with speed.

13 ¶ * Then Tatnai the Captaine beyond the Riuer, and Shethar Boznai and their companions, according to that which Darius had sent, so they did speedily.

14 So the elders of the Iewes builded, and they prospered by the prophecying of f Haggai & Prophet, and Zechariah the sonne of Iddo, and they builded and finished it, by the appointment of the God of Israel, and by the commandement of Cyrus and Darius, and Artaxhshste king of Persia.

15 And this house was finished the third day of the moneth g Adar, which was h the sixt yeere of the reigne of King Darius.

16 ¶ And the children of Israel, the Priest, and the Leuites, and the residue of the children of the captiuitie kept the dedication of this house of God with ioy.

17 And offered at the dedication of this house of God an hundreth bullockes, two hundreth rams, foure hundreth lambes, and twelue goats, for the sinne of all Israel, according to the number of the tribes of Israel.

18 And they set the Priests in their order, and the Leuites in their courses ouer the seruice of God in Ierusalem, as it is written in the * booke of Moses.

19 And the children of the captiuitie kept the Passeouer on the fourteenth day of the first moneth.

20 (For the Priests and the Leuites were purified altogether) and they killed the Passeouer for all the children of the captiuitie, and for their brethren the Priests, and for themselues.

21 So the children of Israel which were come i again out of captiuity, and all such as had i separated themselues vnto them, from the filthinesse of the Heathen of the land to seeke the Lord God of Israel, did eate.

22 And they kept the feast of vnleauened bread seuen dayes with ioy: for the Lord had made them glad, and turned the heart of the king of k Asshur vnto them, to † incourage them in the worke of the house of God, euen the God of Israel.

NOw after these things, in the reigne of [a] Artahshashte king of Persia, vvas Ezra the sonne of Seraiah, the sonne of Azariah, the sonne

3 The sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Azariah, the sonne of Meraioth,

4 The sonne of Zeraiah, the sonne of Vzzi, the sonne of Bukki,

5 The sonne of Abishua, the sonne of Phinehas, the sonne of Eleazar, the sonne of [b] Aaron, the chiefe Priest.

6 This Ezra came vp from Babel, and was a [c] Scribe, prompt in the Law of Moses, which the Lord God of Israel had giuen, and the king gaue him all his requeste according to the hand of the Lord his God, vvhich vvas vpon him.

7 And there went vp certaine of the children of Israel, and of the Priests, and the Leuites, and the singers, and the porters, and the Nethinims vnto Ierusalem, in the seuenth yeere of king Artahshashte.

8 And hee came to Ierusalem in the [d] fifth moneth, which was in the seuenth yeere [e] of the king.

9 For vpon the first day of the first moneth began he to goe vp from Babel, and on the first day of the first moneth came he to Ierusalem according to the good hand of his God that vvas vpon him.

10 For Ezra had prepared his heart to seeke the Law of the Lord, and to doe it, and to teach the precepts and iudgements in Israel.

11 ¶ And this is the copie of the letter that king Artahshashte gaue vnto Ezra the Priest and Scribe, euen a writer of the words of the commandements of the Lord, and of his statutes ouer Israel.

12 ARTAHSHASHTE King of kings, to Ezra the Priest and perfite Scribe of the Law of the God of heauen, and to [f] Cheeneth.

13 I haue giuen commandement, that euery one that is willing in my kingdome of the people of Israel, and of the Priests and Leuites, [g] to goe to Ierusalem with thee, shall goe.

14 Therefore art thou sent of the king and his seuen counsellers, to [h] inquire in Iudah and Ierusalem, according to the Law of thy God, which is in [i] thine hand,

15 And to carie the siluer and the gold, which the king and his counsellers willingly offer vnto the God of Israel (whose habitation is in Ierusalem)

16 And all the siluer and gold that thou canst find in all the prouinces of Babel, with the free offering of the people, and that which the Priests offer willingly to the house of their God which is in Ierusalem, 17 That thou mayest buy speedily with this siluer, bullocks, rammes, lambes, with their meat offerings, and their drinke offerings: and thou shalt offer them vpon the Altar of the house of your God, which is in Ierusalem.

18 And whatsoeuer it pleaseth thee & thy brethren to doe with the rest of the siluer and golde, doe ye it according to the will of your [k] God.

19 And the vessels that are giuen thee for the seruice of the house of thy God, those deliuer thou before God in Ierusalem.

20 And the residue that shall be needfull for the house of thy God, which shall be meete for thee to bestow, thou shalt bestow it out of the Kings treasure house.

24 And wee certify you, that vpon any of the Priests, Leuites, singers, porters, Nethinims, or Ministers in this house of God, there shall no gouernour lay vpon them tolle, tribute, nor custome.

25 And thou Ezra (after the wisedome of thy God, that is in thine hand) [o] set iudges and arbiters, which may iudge all the people that is beyond the Riuer, euen all that know the law of thy God, and teach ye them that know it not.

26 And whosoeuer will not doe the Law of thy God, and the kings law, let him haue iudgement without delay, whether it be vnto death, or to banishment, or to confiscation of goods, or to imprisonment.

27 [p] Blessed be the Lord God of our fathers, which so hath put in the kings heart, to beautifie the house of the Lord that is in Ierusalem,

NEHEMIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

God doeth in all ages and at all times set vp worthy persons for the commodity and profit of his Church, at now within the compasse of seuentie yeeres he raised vp diuers excellent men for the preseruation of his people after their returne from Babylon, as Zerubbabel, Ezra and Nehemiah. Vvhereof the first vvas their captaine to bring them home, and prouided that the Temple vvas builded: the second reformed their maners and planted religion: and the third builded vp the vvalles, deliuered the people from oppression, and prouided that the Lavv of God vvas put in execution among them. Hee vvas a godly man, and in great authoritie vvith the King, so that the king fauoured him greatly, and gaue him most ample letters for the accomplishment of all things vvhich he could desire. This Booke is also called of the Latines the second of Ezra, because he vvas the vvriter thereof.

CHAP. I.

4 Nehemiah bewaileth the calamitie of Ierusalem. 5 Hee confesseth the sinnes of the people, and prayeth God for them.

THe vvords of Nehemiah the sonne of Hachaliah. In the moneth [a] Chisleu, in the twentieth yeere, as I was in the palace of Shushan.

a Which conteineth part of November and part of December, and was their nineth moneth.

2 Came Hanani, one of my [b] brethren, hee and the men of Iudah, and I asked them concerning the Iewes that were deliuered, which were of the residue of the captiuitie, and concerning Ierusalem.

b A Iew as I was.

3 And they said vnto me, The residue that are left of the captiuitie there in the [c] prouince, are in great affliction and in reproach, and the wall of Ierusalem is broken downe, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire.

c Meaning, in Iudea.

4 And when I heard these vvords, I sate downe and wept, and mourned certaine dayes, and I fasted and prayed before the God of heauen.

5 And said, * O Lord God of heauen, the great and terrible God, that keepeth couenant and mercie for them that loue him, and obserue his commandements.

* Dan. 9. 4.

6 I pray thee let thine eares be attent, and thine eyes open, to heare the prayer of thy seruant, which I pray before thee daily, day and night for the children of Israel thy seruants, and confesse the sinnes of the children of Israel, which wee haue sinned against thee, both I and my fathers house haue sinned:

† Ebr. corrupted.

7 Wee haue † grieuously sinned against thee, and haue not kept the commandements, nor the statutes, nor the iudgements, which thou commandedst thy seruant Moses.

8 Ibeseech thee, remember the worde that thou commandedst thy seruant Moses, saying, Yee will transgresse, and * I will scatter you abroad among the people.

* Deut. 4. 9. 11. 28.

9 But if yee returne vnto mee, and keepe my commandements, and doe them, * though your scattering were to the vttermost part of the heauen, yet will I gather you from thence, and will bring you vnto the place that I haue chosen to place my Name there.

* Deut. 33. 4.

10 Now these are thy seruants and thy people whom thou hast redeemed by thy great power, and by thy mightie hand.

11 O Lord, I beseech thee, let thine eare now hearken to the prayer of thy seruant, and to the prayer of thy seruants, who desire to [d] feare thy Name, and I pray thee, cause thy seruant to prosper this day, and giue him fauour in the presence of [e] this man: for I was the kings butler.

d That is, to worship thee.

e To wit, the king Artahshashte.

CHAP. II.

1 After Nehemiah had obtained letters of Artaxerxes, 11 hee came to Ierusalem, 17 and builded the walles.

NOw in the moneth [a] Nisan in the twentieth yeere of king [b] Artahshashte, the wine stoode before him, and I tooke vp the wine, and gaue it vnto the king. Now I was not before time sadde in his presence.

a Which was the first moneth of the yeere, and conteineth part of March and part of Aprill.

b Who is also called Darius, read Ezra. 7. 1. and was the sonne of Hystaspis.

2 And the king said vnto mee, Why is thy countenance sad, seeing thou art not sicke? this is nothing, but sorow of heart. Then was I sore afraid.

3 And I said to the King, God saue the king for euer: why should not my countenance be sad, when the citie and house of the sepulchres of my fathers lieth waste, and the gates thereof are deuoured with fire?

4 And the king said vnto me, For what thing doest thou require? Then I prayed [c] to the God of heauen.

c I desired God in mine heart to prosper mine enterprise.

5 And ſaid vnto the king, If it pleaſe the king, and if thy ſeruant haue found fauour in thy ſight, I deſire that thou wouldeſt ſend me to Iudah vnto the citie of the ſepulchres of my fathers, that I may built it.

6 And the King ſaid vnto mee,) the Queene alſo ſitting by him:) How long ſhall thy iourney be? and when wilt thou come againe? So it pleaſed the king, and he ſent me, and I ſet him a time.

7 After, I ſaid vnto the King, If it pleaſed the king, let him giue me letters to the captaines beyond the ‖ Riuer, that they may conuey me ouer, till I come into Iudah.

‖ Or, Euphrates.

8 And letters vnto Aſaph the keeper of the kings ‖ parke, that hee may giue mee timber to build the gates of the palace (which appertained to the houſe) and for the walles of the citie, and for the houſe that I ſhall enter into. And the king gaue mee according to [d] the good hand of my God vpon me.

‖ Or, Paradiſe.

d As God moued me to aske, and as he gaue me good ſucceſſe therein.

9 ¶ Then came I to the captaines beyond the Riuer, and gaue them the kings letters. And the king had ſent captaines of the armie and horſemen with me.

10 But [e] Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah a ſeruant an Ammonite heard it, and it grieued them ſore, that there was come a man which ſought the wealth of the children of Iſrael.

e Theſe were great enemies to the Iewes, and laboured alwayes both by force and ſubtilty to ouercome them, and Tobiah, becauſe his wife was a Iewesſe, had attertilement ouer their affaires, and ſo wrought them great trouble.

11 So I came to Ieruſalem, and was there three dayes.

12 And I roſe in the night, I, and a few men with mee: for I told no man, what God had put in mine heart to doe at Ieruſalem, and there was not a beaſt with mee, ſaue the beaſt whereon I rode.

13 And I went out by night by the gate of the valley, and came before the dragon well, and to the dung port, and viewed the walles of Ieruſalem, how they were broken downe, and the portes thereof deuoured with the fire.

14 Then I went foorth vnto the gate of the ‖ fountaine, and to the kings fiſhpoole, and there was no roume for the beaſt that was vnder me to paſſe.

‖ Or, tendrell.

15 Then went I vp in the night by the brooke, and viewed the wall, and turned backe, and comming back, I entred by the gate of the valley, and returned.

16 And the rulers knew not whither I was gone, nor what I did, neither did I as yet tell it vnto the Iewes, nor to the Prieſts, nor to the noble men, nor to the rulers, nor to the reſt that laboured in the worke.

17 Afterward I ſaid vnto them, Ye ſee the miſerie that wee are in, how Ieruſalem lieth waſte, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire: come, and let vs build the wall of Ieruſalem, that we be no more [f] a reproach.

f That is, contemned of other nations, as though God had forſaken vs.

18 Then I told them of the hand of my God, (which was good ouer me) and alſo of the kings wordes that he had ſpoken vnto mee. And they ſaid, Let vs riſe, and build. So they [g] ſtrengthened their hand to good.

g They were encouraged, and gaue themſelues to doe well, and to trauell in this worthy enterpriſe.

19 But when Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah the ſeruant an Ammonite, and [h] Geſhem the Arabian heard it, they mocked vs, and deſpiſed vs, and ſayd, What a thing is this that yee doe? Will ye rebell againſt the king?

h Theſe were three chiefe gouernours vnder the king of Perſia beyond Euphrates.

20 Then anſwered I them, and ſayd to them, The God of heauen, he will proſper vs, and we his ſeruants will riſe vp and build: but as for you, yee haue no portion, nor right, nor [k] memoriall in Ieruſalem.

i This is thus to be vnderſtood, that they had no part in the ſacrifices, nor in the ſeruice of God, nor in the land of promiſe, nor in the citie of Ieruſalem, nor in the Temple, nor in the ſepulchres of the Kings, nor in the Prieſthood, nor in the Leuiticall miniſterie, nor in the Kingdome, nor in any thing that appertained to the true Church of God, but were vtterly ſeparated from the ſame, and from all the holy things thereof, and from the true worſhippers of God, and from the holy land, and from the holy citie, and from the holy Temple, and from the holy ſepulchres, and from the holy Prieſthood, and from the holy Leuiticall miniſterie, and from the holy Kingdome, and from all the holy things that appertained to the true Church of God

vnto the fiſhpoole of || Shelah by the kings garden, and vnto the ſteps that goe downe from the citie of Dauid.

16 After him repaired Nehemiah the ſonne of Azbuk, the ruler of the halfe part of Beth-Zur vntill the other ſide ouer againſt the ſepulchres of Dauid, and to the fiſhpoole that was repaired, and vnto the houſe of the mightie.

17 After him repaired the Leuites, Rehum the ſonne of Bani, and the next vnto him repaired Hashabiah the ruler of the halfe part of Keilah in his quarter.

18 After him repaired their brethren: Banai, the ſonne of Henadad the ruler of the halfe part of Kailah:

19 And next vnto him repaired Ezer, the ſonne of Ieſhua the ruler of Mizpah, the other portion ouer againſt the going vp to the [d] corner of the armour.

d Where the weapons and armour of the citie lay.

20 After him was earneſt Baruch the ſonne of Zacchai, and repaired another portion from the corner vnto the doore of the houſe of Eliashib the high Prieſt.

21 After him repaired Merimoth the ſonne of Vriiah, the ſonne of Hakkoz, another portion from the doore of the houſe of Eliashib, euen as long as the houſe of Eliashib extended.

22 After him alſo repaired the Prieſts, the men of [e] the plaine.

e Which dwelt in the plaine country by Iordan and Iericho.

23 After them repaired Beniamin, and Hasſhub ouer againſt their houſe: after him repaired Azariah the ſonne of Maaſeiah, the ſonne of Anania, by his houſe.

24 After him repaired Binnui, the ſonne of Henadad another portion, from the houſe of Azariah vnto the turning and vnto the corner.

25 Palal, the ſonne of Vzai, from ouer againſt the corner, and the high tower, that lieth out from the Kings houſe, which is beſide the court of the priſon. After him Pedaiah the ſonne of Parosh.

f Reade Ezra, Chap. 2. 43.

26 And the [f] Nethinims they dwelt in the fortreſſe vnto the place ouer againſt the water-gate Eaſtward, and to the tower that lieth out.

27 After him repaired the Tekoites another portion ouer againſt the great tower that lieth out euen vnto the wall of the fortreſſe.

28 From aboue the horſe-gate ſoorth repaired the Prieſts, euery one ouer againſt his houſe.

29 After them repaired Zadok the ſonne of Immer ouer againſt his houſe: and after him repaired Shemaiah the ſonne of Shechaniah the keeper of the Eaſt gate.

30 After him repaired Hananiah the ſonne of Shelemiah, and Hanun the ſonne of Zalaph, the [g] ſixt, another portion: after him repaired Meſhullam, the ſonne of Berechiah, ouer againſt his chamber.

g Meaning the ſixt of his ſonnes.

31 After him repaired Malachiah the goldſmiths ſonne, vntill the houſe of the Nethinims, and of the Merchants ouer againſt the gate [h] Miphkad, and to the chamber in the corner.

h Which was the place of iudgement or execution.

32 And betweene the chamber of the corner vnto the ſheepe gate, repaired the goldſmiths and the merchants.

CHAP. IV.

7 The building of Ieroſalem is hindred, 15 but God brought their enterpriſe. 17 The Iewes build with one hand, and holde their weapons in the other.

BVt when Sanballat heard that wee builded the wall, then was he wroth and ſore grieued, and mocked the Iewes,

2 And ſaid before his brethren and the armie of Samaria, thus hee ſaid, What doe theſe [b] weake Iewes? will they fortifie themſelues? will they ſacrifice? will they finiſh it in a day? will they make the ſtones whole againe out of the heapes of duſt, ſeeing they are burnt?

b Thus the wicked that conſider not that Gods power is euer in a readineſſe for the defence of his, mocke them as though they were weake and feeble.

3 And Tobiah the Ammonite was beſide him, and ſaid, Although they build, yet if a foxe goe vp, hee ſhall euen breake downe their ſtonie wall.

4 [c] Heare, O our God (for wee are deſpiſed) and turne their ſhame vpon their owne head, and giue them vnto a pray [d] in the land of their captiuitie, c This is the remedie that the children of God haue againſt the deriſion and threatnings of their enemies, to flee to God by prayer.

d Let them be ſpoyled and led away captiue.

5 And couer not their [e] iniquitie, neither let their ſinne be put out in thy preſence: for they haue prouoked vs before the builders.

e Let the plagues declare to the world that they ſee themſelues againſt thee, and againſt thy Church: thus he prayeth onely hauing reſpect to Gods glory, and not for any priuate affection, or grudge.

6 So we built the wall, and all the wall was ioyned vnto the || halfe thereof, and the heart of the people was to worke.

|| Or, halfe high.

7 ¶ But when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and the Arabians, and the Ammonites, and the Aſhodims heard that the walles of Ieruſalem were repaired, (for the breaches began to be ſtopped) then they were very wroth,

8 And conſpired altogether to come and to fight againſt Ieruſalem, and to † hinder them.

† Ebr. make to ſtay, meaning the people.

9 Then wee prayed vnto our God, and ſet watchmen by them, day and night, becauſe of them.

10 And Iudah ſaid, The ſtrength of the bearers is weakened, and there is much earth, ſo that we are not able to build the wall.

11 Alſo our aduerſaries had ſaid, They ſhall not know, neither ſee, till we came into the mids of them, & ſlay them, and cauſe the worke to ceaſe.

12 But when the Iewes (which dwelt beſide them) came, they told vs [f] ten times, [g] From all places, whence yee ſhall returne, they will be vpon vs.

f That is, often times.

g They which brought the tidings, ſayd thus, When you leaue your worke, and goe either to eare or to reſt, your enemies will aſſaile you.

13 Therefore ſet I in the lower places behind the wall vpon the tops of the ſtones, and placed the people by their families, with their ſwordes, their ſpeares, and their bowes.

14 Then I beheld, and roſe vp, and ſaid vnto the princes, and to the rulers, and to the reſt of the people, Be not afraid of them: [h] remember the great Lord, and fearefull, and fight for your brethren, your ſonnes, and your daughters, your wiues, and your houſes.

h Who is euer at hand to deliuer his out of danger: and therefore ſeeing they ſhould fight for the maintenance of Gods glory, and for the preſeruation of their owne liues and of theirs, hee encourageth them to play the valiant men.

15 And when our enemies heard that it was knowen vnto vs, then God brought their counſell to nought, and wee turned all againe to the wall, euery one vnto his worke.

16 And from that day halfe of the yong men did the labour, and the other halfe part of them held the ſpeares, and ſhields, and bowes, and habergions: and the Rulers ſtood [i] behinde all the houſe of Iudah.

i To ouerſee them, and to encourage them to their worke.

17 They that builded on the wall, and they that bare the burdens, and they that laded, did the works with one hand, and with the other helde the ſword,

18 For euery one of the builders had his ſword girded on his loynes, and ſo builded: and he that blew the trumpet, was beſide me.

19 Then ſaid I vnto the Princes, and to the rulers, and to the reſt of the people, The worke is great and large, and wee are ſeparated vpon the wall, one farre from another, a Of his companions that dwelt in Samariah.

b Thus the wicked that conſider not that Gods power is euer in a readineſſe for the defence of his, mocke them as though they were weake and feeble.

c This is the remedie that the children of God haue againſt the deriſion and threatnings of their enemies, to flee to God by prayer.

d Let them be ſpoyled and led away captiue.

20 In what place therefore ye heare the sound of the trumpet, [k] resort yee thither vnto vs: our God shall fight for vs.

21 So wee laboured in the worke, and halfe of them held the speares, from the appearing of the morning, till the starres came foorth.

22 And at the same time said I vnto the people, Let euery one with his seruant lodge within Ierusalem, that they may be a watch for vs in the night, and labour in the day.

23 So neither I, nor my brethren, nor my seruants, nor the men of the ward (which followed me) none of vs did put off our clothes, saue euery one put them off [l] for washing.

CHAP. V.

1 The people are oppressed and in necessity. 6 Nehemiah reproueth it. 14 He tooke not the portion of others that had ruled before, least he should grieue the people.

NOw there was a great crie of the people, and of their wiues [a] against their brethren the Iewes.

2 For there were that said, We, our sonnes and our daughters are many, therefore wee take vp [b] corne, that we may eate and liue.

3 And there were that said, We must gage our lands, and our vineyards, and our houses, and take vp corne for the famine.

4 There were also that said, We haue borowed money for the kings [c] tribute vpon our lands and our vineyards.

5 And nowe our flesh is as [d] the flesh of our brethren, and our sonnes as their sonnes. and loe, wee bring into subiection our sonnes and our daughters, as seruants, and there be of our daughters now in subiection, and there is no power [e] in our hands: for other men haue our lands and our vineyards.

6 Then was I very angry when I heard their crie and these words.

7 And I thought in my minde, and I rebuked the princes, and the rulers, and sayd vnto them, You lay [f] burthens euery one vpon his brethren: and I set a great [g] assembly against them.

8 And I said vnto them, Wee (according to our ability) haue redeemed our brethren the Iewes, which were sold vnto the heathen: and will you sell your brethren againe, or shall they bee [h] sold vnto vs? Then held they their peace, and could not answere.

9 [i] I said also, That which ye do, is not good, Ought yee not to walke in the feare of our God, for the [k] reproach of the heathen our enemies?

10 For euen I, my brethren, and my seruants do lend them money and corne: I pray you, let vs leaue off this [‖] burden.

11 Restore, I pray you, vnto them this day their lands, their vineyards, their oliues, and their houses, and remit the hundreth part of the siluer and of the corne, of the wine, and of the oyle [l] that ye exact of them.

12 Then said they, We will restore it, and will not require it of them: we will doe as thou hast said. Then I called the Priest, and caused them to sweare, that they should doe according to this promise.

13 So I shooke my lappe, and sayd, So let God shake out euery man that will not performe this promise, from his house, and from his labor: euen thus let him be shaken out and emptied. And all the Congregation said, Amen, & praised the Lord: and the people did according to this promise.

14 And from the time that the King gaue me charge to be gouernour in the land of Iudah, from the twentieth yeere, euen vnto the two and thirtieth yeere of King Artahshashte, that is, twelue yeere, I, and my brethren haue not eaten the [m] bread of the gouernour.

15 For the former gouernours that were before mee, had beene chargeable vnto the people, and had taken of them bread and wine, besides forty shekels of siluer: yea, and their seruants bare rule ouer the people: but so did not I, because of the feare of God.

16 But rather I fortified a portion in the worke of this wall, and we bought no land, and all my seruants came thither together vnto the worke.

17 Moreouer there were at my table an hundreth and fifty of the Iewes, and rulers, which came vnto vs from among the heathen that are about vs.

18 And there was prepared dayly an oxe, and sixe chosen sheepe, and birds were prepared for me, and [‖] within ten dayes wine for all [n] in abundance. Yet for all this I required not the bread of the gouernour: for the bondage was grieuous vnto this people.

19 Remember me, O my God, in goodnes, according to all that I haue done for this people.

CHAP. VI.

1 Nehemiah answereth with great wisedome and zeale to his aduersaries, 11 who is not discouraged by the false Prophets.

NAnd when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and Geshem the Arabian, and the rest of our enemies heard that I had build the wall, and that there were no [o] breaches therein (though at that time I had not set vp the doores vpon the gates)

2 Then sent Sanballat and Geshem vnto mee, saying, Come thou that we may meet together in the villages in the plaine of Ono: & they thought to doe me euill.

3 Therefore I sent messengers vnto them, saying, I haue a great worke to do, & I cannot come downe: [p] why should the worke cease, whiles I leaue it and come downe to you?

4 Yet they sent vnto mee foure times after this fort. And I answered them after the same maner.

5 Then sent Sanballat his seruant after this sort vnto me the fift time, with an open letter in his hand,

6 Wherein was written, It is reported among the heathen, and [‖] Gashmu hath said it, that thou and [q] Iewes thinke to rebell, for the which cause thou buildest the wall, and thou wilt be their king according to these [r] words.

7 Thou hast also ordained [s] the Prophets to preach of thee at Ierusalem, saying, There is a King in Iudah: and now according to these wordes it shall come to the Kings eares: come now therefore, and let vs take counsell together.

8 Then I sent vnto him, saying, It is not done according to these wordes that thou sayest: for thou faineste them of thine owne heart.

9 For all they afrayed vs, saying, Their hands shalbe weakened from the worke, and it shall not be done: now therefore [t] encourage thou me.

10 ¶ And I came to the house of Shemaiah the sonne of Delaiah the sonne of Mehetabeel, and hee was [u] shut vp, and hee sayd, Let vs come together into the house of God in the middes of the Temple, and shut the doores of the Temple:

for they will come to slay thee: yea, in the night will they come to kill thee.

11 Then I said, f Should such a man as I, flee? Who is he, being as I am, that would goe into the Temple to liue? I will not goe in.

12 And loe, I perceiued that God had not sent him, but that hee pronounced this prophecie against me: for Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him.

13 Therefore was he hired, that I might be afraid, and doe thus, and sinne, and that they might haue an euill report, that they might reproach me.

14 My God, remember thou Tobiah, and Sanballat according vnto these their works, and Noadiah the g Prophetesse also, and the rest of the Prophets that would haue put me in feare.

15 ¶ Notwithstanding the wall was finished on the fiue and twentieth day of h Elul, in two and i fiftie dayes.

16 And when all our enemies heard thereof, euen all the heathen that were about vs, they were afraid, and their courage failed them: for they knew that this worke was wrought by our God.

17 And in these dayes were there many of the princes of Iudah, whose k letters went vnto Tobiah, and those of Tobiah came vnto them.

18 For there were many in Iudah, that were sworne vnto him: for he was the sonne in lawe of Shechaniah, the sonne of Arah: and his sonne Iehonathan had the daughter of Meshullam, the sonne of Berechiah, 19 Yea, they spake in his praise before me and tolde him my words, and Tobiah sent letters to put me in feare.

f He doubted not but God was able to preserue him, and knew that if he had obeyed this counsell, he should haue discouraged all the people: thus God giueth power to his to resist false prophecies, though they seeme to haue neuer so great probability.

g Very grieuse cansed him to pray against such, which vnder the presence of being the ministers of God, were aduersaries to his glory, and went about to ouerthrow his Church, declaring also hereby that where there is one true minister of God, the deuill hath a great sort of hirelings.

h Which was the sixt moneth and contained part of August, and part of September.

i After that I had sent Sanballat his answere.

k Thus the Church of God hath euermore enemies within it selfe, which are more dangerous then the outward and professed enemie.

25 And they tooke their strong cities and the fat land, and possessed houses full of all goods, cisternes digged out, vineyards and oliues, & trees for foode in abundance, and they did eate, and were filled, and became fat, and liued in pleasure through thy great goodnesse.

26 Yet they were disobedient, and rebelled against thee, and cast thy Law behind their backs, and slew thy Prophets (which [c] protested among them to turne them vnto thee) and committed great blasphemies.

27 Therefore thou deliueredst them into the hand of their enemies that vexed them: yet in the time of their affliction, when they cryed vnto thee, thou heardest them from the heauen, and through thy great mercies thou gauest them saiuours, who saued them out of the hand of their aduersaries, 28 But when they had [f] rest, they returned to doe euill before thee: therefore leftest thou them in the hand of their enemies, so that they had the dominion ouer them, yet when they conuerted and cryed vnto thee, thou heardest them from heauen, and deliueredst them according to thy great mercies many times.

29 And protestedst among them, that thou mightest bring them againe vnto thy Law: but they behaued themselues proudly, and hearkened not vnto thy commandements, but sinned against thy iudgements (* which a man should doe and liue in them) and [g] pulled away the shoulder, and were stiffnecked, and would not [h] heare.

30 Yet thou † diddest forbeare them many yeeres, and protestedst among them by thy Spirit, euen by the hand of thy Prophets, but they would not heare: therefore gauest thou them into the hand of the people of the lands.

31 Yet for thy great mercies thou hast not consumed them, neither forsaken them: for thou art a gracious and mercifull God.

32 Now therefore our God,* thou great God, mightie and terrible, that keepest couenant and * mercy, let not all the affliction that hath come vnto vs, seeme a little before thee, that is, to our Kings, to our Princes, and to our Priests, and to our Prophets, and to our fathers, and to all thy people since the time of the [i] kings of Assyria vnto this day.

33 Surely thou art iust in all that is come vpon vs: for thou hast [k] dealt truely, but we haue done wickedly.

34 And our kings and our princes, our priests and our fathers haue not done thy Law, nor regarded thy commandements, nor thy protestations, wherewith thou hast [l] protested among them.

35 And they haue not serued thee in their kingdome, and in thy great goodnesse that thou shewedst vnto them, and in the large and fat land which thou diddest set before them, and haue not conuerted from their euill works.

36 Behold, wee are seruants this day, and the land that thou gauest vnto our fathers, to eat the [m] fruite thereof, and the goodnesse thereof, behold, we are seruants therein.

37 And it yeeldeth much fruit vnto the kings whom thou hast set ouer vs, because of our sinnes: and they haue dominion ouer our bodies, and ouer our cattell at their pleasure, and wee are in great affliction.

38 Now because of all this wee make [n] a sure couenant, and write it, and our princes, our Leuites, and Priests seale vnto it.

26 These were in the dayes of Ioiakim the sonne of Iehua, the sonne of Iozadak, and in the dayes of Nehemiah the captaine, and of Ezra the Priest and Scribe.
27 And in the dedication of the wall at Ierusalem, they sought the Leuites out of all their places to bring them to Ierusalem to keepe the dedication and gladnesse, both with thankesgiuings and with songs, cymbals, violes, and with harps.
28 Then the [†] singers gathered themselues together both from the plaine countrey about Ierusalem, and from the villages of [h] Netophathi.
29 And from the house of Gilgal, and out of the countreys of Geba, and Azmaueth: for the singers had built them villages round about Ierusalem.

44 Also at the same time were men appointed m ouer the chambers of the store for the offrings, (for the first fruits, and for the tithes) to gather into them out of the fields of the cities, the portions of the Law for the Priests, and the Leuites: for Iudah reioyced for the Priestes and for the Leuites, that serued.

1 The Law is read. 3 They separate from them all strangers. 15 Nehemiah reproueth them that breake the Sabbath. 30 An ordinance to serue God.

AND on that day they did reade in the booke of Moses, in the audience of the people, and it was found written therein, that the Ammonite and the Moabite * should not enter into the Congregation of God,

* Deut. 23, 3.

2 Beeause they met not the children of Israel with bread and with water, * but hired Balaam against them, that he should curse them: and our God turned the curse into a blessing.

3 Now when they had heard the Law, they separated from Israel a all those that were mixed.

a That is, all such which had ioyned in vnlawfull marriage, and also those with whom God had forbidden them to haue societie.

4 ¶ And before b this had the Priest Eliashib the ouersight of the chamber of the house of our God, being c kinsman to Tobiah:

b That the separation was made.

c He was ioyned in affinitie with Tobiah the Ammonite and enemie of the Iewes.

d Called also Darius, Ezra. 7, 1.

5 And he had made him a great chamber, and there had they aforetime laid the offerings, the incense, and the vessels, and the tithes of corne, of wine, and of oyle (appointed for the Leuites, and the singers, and the porters) and the offerings of the Priests.

e Thus we see to what inconueniences the people fall into, when they are destitute of one that hath the feare of God, seeing that their chiefe gouernour was but a while absent, and yet they fell into such great absurdities, as appeareth also, Exod. 32, 1.

6 But in all this time was not I in Ierusalem: for in the two and thirtieth yeere of d Artahshashte King of Babel, came I vnto the King, and ‖ after certaine dayes I obtained of the King.

7 And when I was come to Ierusalem, I vnderstood e the euill that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, in that hee had made him a chamber in the court of the house of God,

8 And it grieued mee sore: therefore I cast foorth all the vessels of the house of Tobiah out of the chamber.

9 And I commanded them to cleanse the chambers: and thither brought I againe the vessels of the house of God with the meate offering and the incense.

10 And I perceiued that the portions of the Leuites had not beene giuen, and that euery one was fled to his land, euen the Leuites and singers that executed the worke, 11 Then reprooued I the rulers and said, Why is the house of God forsaken? And I assembled them, and set them in their place.

12 Then brought all Iudah the tithes of corne and of wine, and of oyle vnto the treasures.

13 And I made treasurers ouer the treasures, Shelemiah the Priest, and Zadok the Scribe, and of the Leuites, Pedaiah, and vnder their hand Hanan the sonne of Zaccur the sonne of Mattaniah: for they were counted faithfull, and their office was to distribute vnto their brethren.

14 Remember mee, O my God, herein, and wipe not out my f kindnesse that I haue shewed on the house of my God, & on the offices thereof.

f He protesteth that he did his dutie with a good conscience, yet he doeth not iustifie himselfe therein, but desireth God to fauour him and to be mercifull vnto him for his owne goodnesse sake, as verse 22 and 31.

15 In those dayes saw I in Iudah them, that trode winepresses on g Sabbath, and that brought in sheaues, and with laded asses also with wine, grapes, and figges, and all burdens, and brought them into Ierusalem vpon the Sabbath day: and I protested to them in the day that they solde vitailes.

g I declared vnto them, that God would not suffer such transgressours of his Law to be vnpunished.

16 There dwelt men of Tyrus also therein, which brought fish and all wares, and solde on the Sabbath vnto the children of Iudah euen in Ierusalem.

17 Then reprooued I the rulers of Iudah, and said vnto them, What euill thing is this that yee doe, and breake the Sabbath day?

18 Did not your fathers h thus, and our God brought all this plague vpon vs, and vpon this city? yet ye increase the wrath vpon Israel, in breaking the Sabbath.

h Was not this a great cause, why God plagued vs in times past: meaning, that if they transgressed now in the same againe, their plague should be greater.

19 And when the gates of Ierusalem began to be i darke before the Sabbath, I commanded to shut the gates, and charged, that they should not be opened till after the Sabbath, and some of my seruants set I at the gates, that there should no burden be brought in on the Sabbath day.

i About the time that the Sunne went downe: for the Sabbath lasted from the Sunne going downe of the one day, to the Sunne setting of the other.

20 So the chapmen and merchants of all merchandise remained once or twise all night without Ierusalem.

21 And I protested among them, and said vnto them, Why tary ye all night about the wall? If ye do it once againe, I will lay hands vpon you. From that time came they no more on the Sabbath.

22 ¶ And I sayd vnto the Leuites, that they should cleanse themselues, and that they should come and k keepe the gates, to sanctifie the Sabbath day. Remember mee, O my God, concerning this, and pardon mee according to thy great mercy.

k Meaning, of the Temple, that none that was vncleane, should enter.

23 In those dayes also I saw Iewes that maried wiues of l Ashdod, of Ammon, and of Moab.

l Which was a city of the Philistims, and they had maried wiues thereof, and so had corrupted their speach and Religion.

24 And their children spake halfe in the speach of Ashdod, and could not speake in the Iewes language, and according to the language of the one people, and of the other people.

25 Then I reprooued them, and m cursed them, and smote certaine of them, and pulled off their haire, and tooke an oathe of them by God, Ye shall not giue your daughters vnto their sonnes, neither shall yee take of their daughters vnto your sonnes, nor for your selues.

m That is, I did excommunicate them, and drive them out of the Congregation.

ESTER.

THE ARGVMENT.

Because of the diuersitie of names, whereby they vsed to name their Kings, and the supputation of yeeres wherein the Ebreeves and the Grecians doe varie, diuers authours write diuersly as touching this Ahasuerosh, but it seemeth, Daniel 6.1. and 9.1. that hee was Darius king of the Medes, and sonne of Astyages, called also Ahasuerosh, which was a name of honour, and signified great and chiefe as chiefe head. Herein is declared the great mercies of God toward his Church: who neuer faileth them in their greatest dangers, but when all hope of worldly helpe faileth, hee euer stirreth vp some, by whom he sendeth comfort and deliuerance. Herein also is described the ambition, pride and cruelty of the wicked, when they come to honour and their sudden fall when they are at highest, and how God preserueth and preferreth them which are zealous of his glory, and haue a care and loue toward their brethren.

CHAP. I.

NOw in the dayes of [a] Ahasuerosh (this is Ahasuerosh that reigned from India euen vnto Ethiopia, ouer an [b] hundreth, and seuen and twenty prouinces.)

2 In those dayes when the king Ahasuerosh [c] sate on his throne, which was in the palace of * Shushan,

3 In the third yeere of his reigne, hee made a feast vnto all his princes and his seruants, euen the power of Persia and Media, and to the captaines and gouernours of the prouinces which were before him,

4 That hee might shew the riches and glory of his kingdome, and the honour of his great maiestie many dayes, euen an hundreth and foure-score dayes.

5 And when these dayes were expired, the King made a feast to all the people that were found in the palace of Shushan, both vnto great and small, seuen dayes, in the court of the garden of the kings palace,

6 Vnder an hanging of white, greene, and blue cloathes, fastened with cords of fine linnen and purple, in siluer rings, and pillars of marble: and purple, in siluer rings, and pillars of marble: the [d] beds were of golde and of siluer vpon a pauement of porphyre, and marble and alabaster, and blue colour.

7 And they gaue them drinke in vessels of gold, and changed vessel after vessell, and royall wine in abundance, according to the [e] power of the King.

8 And the drinking was by an order, none might [f] compell: for so the King had appointed vnto all the officers of his house, that they should doe according to euery mans pleasure.

9 ¶ The Queene Vashti made a feast also for the women in the royall house of King Ahasuerosh.

10 Vpon the [g] seuenth day when the King was merry with wine, hee commanded Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, and Abagtha, Zethar, and Carcas the seuen eunuches, (that serued in the presence of King Ahasuerosh.)

11 To bring Queene Vashti before the King with the crowne royall, that hee might shew the people and the princes her beautie: for shee was faire to looke vpon.

12 But the Queene Vashti refused to come at the Kings word, [†] which hee had giuen in charge to the eunuches: therefore the King was very angry, and his wrath kindled in him.

13 Then the King said to the wise men, [h] that knew the times (for so was the Kings maner towards all that knew the law and the iudgement:

14 And the next vnto him was Carshena, Shetar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena, and Memucan the seuen princes of Persia, and Media, which saw the [i] Kings face, and sate the first in the kingdome.)

15 What shall we doe vnto the Queene Vashti according to the law, because she did not according to the word of the King Ahasuerosh by the commission of the eunuches?

16 Then Memucan answered before the king and the Princes, The Queene Vashti hath not onely done [k] euill against the King, but against all the Princes, and against all the people that are in all the prouinces of King Ahasuerosh.

17 For the [l] acte of the Queene shall come abroad vnto all women, so that they shall despise their husbands in their owne eyes, and shall say, The King Ahasuerosh commanded Vashti the Queene to be brought in before him, but shee came not.

18 So shall the [m] princesses of Persia and Media this day say vnto all the Kings Princes, when they heare of the acte of the Queene: thus shall there be much despitefulnesse and wrath.

19 If it please the King, let a royall decree proceede from him, and let it be written among the statutes of Persia & Media, (and let it not be transgressed) that Vashti come [n] no more before king Ahasuerosh: and let the king giue her royall estate vnto her companion that is better then she.

20 And when the decree of the King which shalbe made, shalbe published throughout all his kingdome (though it be [o] great) all the women shall giue their husbands honour, both great and small.

21 And this saying pleased the King and the Princes, and the King did according to the word of Memucan.

language, that euery man should ᵖ beare rule in his owne house, and that hee should publish it in the language of that same people.

CHAP. II.

2 After the Queene is put away, certaine young maides are brought to the King. 17 Ester pleaseth the King, and is made Queene. 22 Mordecai discloseth vnto the King those that would betray him.

AFter these things, when the wrath of King Ahashuerosh was appeased, he ᵃ remembred Vashti, and what she had done, and what was decreed ᵇ against her.

2 And the Kings seruants that ministred vnto him, said, Let them seeke for the King beautifull yong virgins,

3 And let the King appoint officers through all the prouinces of his Kingdome, and let them gather all the beautifull young virgins vnto the palace of Shushan, into the house of the women vnder the hand of Hege the Kings eunuch ᶜ keeper of the women, to giue them their things ᵈ for purification.

4 And the maid that shall please the King, let her reigne in the stead of Vashti. And this pleased the king, and he did so.

5 ¶ In the citie of Shushan there was a certaine Iew, whose name was Mordecai, the sonne of Iair, the sonne of Shimei, the sonne of Kish a man of Iemini,

6 Which had beene caried away from Ierusalem * with the captiuitie that was caried away with Iechoniah King of Iudah (whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel had caried away.)

7 And he nourished Hadassah, that is, Ester, his vncles daughter: for shee had neither father nor mother, and the maid was faire and beautifull to looke on: and after the death of her father and her mother, Mordecai tooke her for his own daughter.

8 And when the kings commandement, and his decree was published, and many maides were brought together to the palace of Shushan, vnder the hand of Hege, Ester was brought also vnto the Kings house vnder the hand of Hege the keeper of the women.

9 And the maide pleased him, and she found fauour in his sight, therefore he caused her things for purification to be giuen her speedily, and her ᵉ† seate, and seuen comely maides to be giuen her out of the Kings house, and hee gaue change to her and to her maides of the best in the house of the women.

10 But Ester shewed not her people and her kinred: for Mordecai had charged her that shee should not tell it, 11 And Mordecai walked ᶠ euery day before the court of the womens house, to know if Ester did well, and what should be done with her.

12 And when the course of euery maid came, to goe in to King Ahashuerosh, after that she had bene twelue moneths according to the maner of the women (for so were the dayes of their purifications accomplished, sixe moneths with oyle of myrrhe, and sixe moneths with sweet odours and in the purifying of the women:

13 And thus went the maides vnto the King) whatsoeuer she required, was ᵍ giuen her to goe with her out of the womens house vnto the kings house.

14 In the euening she went, and on the morow she returned into the second house of the women vnder the hand of Shaashgaz the Kings eunuch which kept the concubines: shee came in to the King no more, except shee pleased the King, and that she were called by name.

15 Now when the course of Ester the daughter of Abihail the vncle of Mordecai (which had taken her as his owne daughter) came, that shee should go in to the king, she desired nothing, but what ‖ Hege the kings eunuch the keeper of the women ᵍ said: and Ester found fauour in the sight of all them that looked vpon her.

16 ¶ So Ester was taken vnto king Ahashuerosh into his house royall in the tenth moneth, which is the ʰ moneth Tebeth, in the seuenth yeere of his reigne.

17 And the King loued Ester aboue all the women, and shee found grace and fauour in his sight more then all the virgins: so that he set the crowne of the kingdome vpon her head, and made her Queene in stead of Vashti.

18 Then the king made a great feast vnto all his princes, and his seruants, which was the feast ⁱ of Ester; and gaue rest ᵏ vnto the prouinces, and gifts, according to the ˡ power of a king.

19 And when the virgins were gathered the ᵐ second time, then Mordecai sate in the kings gate.

20 Ester had not yet shewed her kinred nor her people, as Mordecai had charged her: for Ester did after the word of Mordecai, as when shee was nourished with him.

21 ¶ In those dayes when Mordecai sate in the kings gate, two of the kings eunuches, Bigthan & Teresh, which kept the doore, were wroth, and sought to lay ⁿ hand on the king Ahashuerosh.

22 And the thing was knowen to Mordecai, and hee told it vnto Queene Ester, and Ester certified the king thereof in Mordecais name: and when inquisition was made, it was found so: therefore they were both hanged on a tree: and it was written in the booke of the ᵒ Chronicles before the king.

CHAP. III.

1 Haman, after he was exalted, obteined of the King, that all the Iewes should be put to death, because Mordecai had not done him reuerence as other did.

AFter these things did king Ahashuerosh promote Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite, and exalted him, and set his seate aboue all the princes that were with him.

2 And all the kings seruants that were at the kings gate, bowed their knees, and reuerenced Haman: for the king had so commanded concerning him: but Mordecai ᵖ bowed not the knee, neither did reuerence.

3 Then the kings seruants which were at the kings gate, said vnto Mordecai, Why transgressest thou the kings commandement?

4 And albeit they spake dayly vnto him, yet he would not heare them: therefore they ᵍ told Haman, that they might see how Mordecais matters would stand: for he had told them, that he was a Iew.

5 And when Haman saw that Mordecai bowed not the knee vnto him, nor did reuerence vnto him, then Haman was full of wrath.

6 Now he ʳ thought it too little to lay hands onely on Mordecai: and because they had shewed him the people of Mordecai, Haman sought to destroy all the Iewes that were throughout the whole kingdome of Ahashuerosh, euen the people of Mordecai.

7 In the first moneth (that is the moneth c Nisan) in the twelft yeere of king Ahasuerosh, they cast Pur (that is a lot:) d before Haman, from day to day, and from moneth to moneth vnto the twelfth moneth, that is the moneth e Adar.

8 Then Haman said vnto king Ahasuerosh, There is a people scattered, and disperſed among the people in all the prouinces of thy kingdome, and their lawes are diuers from all people, and they doe not obserue the f Kings lawes: therefore it is not the kings profit to suffer them.

9 If it please the king, let it be written that they may be destroyed, and I will † pay ten thousand talents of siluer by the handes of them that haue the charge of this businesse to bring it into the kings treasurie.

10 Then the king tooke his ring from his hand, and gaue it vnto Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite the Iewes aduersarie.

11 And the king said vnto Haman, Let the siluer be thine, and the people to doe with them as it pleaseth thee.

12 Then were the kings ‖ Scribes called on the thirteenth day of the first moneth, and there was written (according to all that Haman commanded) vnto the kings officers, and to the captaines that were ouer euery prouince, and to the rulers of euery people, and to euery prouince, according to the writing thereof, and to euery people according to their language: in the name of king Ahasuerosh was it written, and sealed with the kings ring.

13 And the letters were sent † by postes into all the kings prouinces, to roote out, to kill and to destroy all the Iewes, both yong and old, children and women, in one day vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth (which is the moneth Adar) and to spoyle them as a pray.

14 The contents of the writing was, that there should be giuen a commandement in all prouinces, and published vnto all people, that they should be ready against the same day.

15 And the postes compelled by the Kings commandement went forth, and the commandement was giuen in the palace at Shushan: and the king and Haman sate drinking, but the § citie of Shushan was in perplexitie.

CHAP. IIII.

5 Mordecai giueth the Queene knowledge of the cruell decree of the king against the Iewes. 16 Shee willeth that they pray for her.

NOw when Mordecai perceiued all that was done, Mordecai rent his cloathes, and put on sackecloath, and ashes, and went out into the mids of the citie, and cryed with a great crie, and a bitter.

2 And he came euen before the Kings a gate, but he might not enter within the kings gate, being cloathed with sackecloath.

3 And in euery prouince and place, whither the kings charge and his commission came, there was great sorow among the Iewes, and fasting, and weeping, and mourning, and † many lay in sackecloath and in ashes.

4 ¶ Then Esters maids and her Eunuches came and told it her: therefore the queene was very heauie, and shee sent raiment to cloathe Mordecai, and to take away his sackecloath from him, but he receiued it not.

5 Then called Ester Hatach one of the Kings eunuches, whom he † had appointed to serue her, and gaue him a commandement vnto Mordecai, to know what it was, and why it was.

6 So Hatach went foorth to Mordecai vnto the street of the citie, which was before the kings gate.

7 And Mordecai told him of all that which had come vnto him, and of the † summe of the siluer that Haman had promised to pay vnto the Kings treasures, becawse of the Iewes, for to destroy them.

8 Also he gaue him the ‖ copie of the writing and commission that was giuen at Shushan, to destroy them, that he might shew it vnto Ester and declare it vnto her, and to charge her that shee should goe in to the king, and make petition and supplication before him for her people.

9 ¶ So when Hatach came, he told Ester the words of Mordecai.

10 Then Ester said vnto Hatach, and commanded him to say vnto Mordecai, 11 All the kings seruants and the people of the Kings prouinces do know, That whosoeuer, man or woman, that commeth to the king into the inner court, which is not called, there is a law of his, that hee shall die, except him to whom the king holdeth out the golden rod, that hee may liue. Now I haue not beene called to come vnto the king these thirtie dayes.

12 And they certified Mordecai of Esters wordes.

13 And Mordecai said, that they should answere Ester thus, Thinke not with thy selfe that thou shalt escape in the kings house, more then all the Iewes.

14 For if thou holdest thy peace at this time, † comfort and deliuerance b shall appeare to the Iewes out of another place, but thou and thy fathers house shall perish: and who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdome for c such a time?

15 Then Ester commanded to answer Mordecai,

16 Goe, and assemble all the Iewes that are found in Shushan, and fast ye for me, and eate not, nor drinke in three dayes, day nor night. I also and my mayds will fast likewise, and so will I goe in to the King, which is not according to the law: and if I perish, d I perish.

17 So Mordecai went his way, and did according to all that Ester had commanded him.

CHAP. V.

5 And the king said, Cause Haman to make haste, that he may doe as Ester hath sayd. So the king and Haman came to the banket that Ester had prepared.

6 And the king said vnto Ester at the banket of [d] wine, What is thy petition, that it may be giuen thee? and what is thy request? it shall euen be performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

7 Then answered Ester, and said, My petition, and my request is,

8 If I haue found fauour in the sight of the king, and if it please the king to giue me my petition, and to performe my request, let the king and Haman come to the banket that I shall prepare for them, and I will do to morrow according to the kings [e] saying.

9 [f] Then went Haman foorth the same day ioyfull, and with a glad heart. But when Haman saw Mordecai in the kings gate, that he stood not vp, nor mooued for him, then was Haman full of indignation at Mordecai.

10 Neuertheless, Haman refrained himselfe: and when he came home, hee sent, and called for his friends, and Zeresh his wife.

11 And Haman told them of the glory of his riches, and the multitude of his children, and all the things wherein the king had [f] promoted him, and how that hee had set him aboue the princes and seruants of the king.

12 Haman said moreouer, Yea, Ester the queene did let no man come in with the king to the banket that shee had prepared, saue me: and to morrow am I bidden vnto her also with the king.

13 But all this doeth nothing auaile mee, as long as I see Mordecai the Iewe sitting at the kings gate.

14 Then said Zeresh his wife and all his friends vnto him, Let them make a tree of fiftie [g] cubites hie, and to morrowe speake thou vnto the king, that Mordecai may be hanged thereon: then shalt thou goe ioyfully with the king vnto the banket. And the thing pleased Haman, and he caused to make the tree.

CHAP. VI.

1 The king turneth ouer the Chronicles, and findeth the faithfulnesse of Mordecai, 10 and commandeth Haman to cause Mordecai to be had in honour.

THe same night † the king slept not, and hee commanded to bring the booke of the Records, and the Chronicles: and they were read before the king.

2 Then it was found written that Mordecai * had told of Bigtana, and Teresh, two of the kings eunuches keepers of the doore, who sought to lay hands on the king Ahashuerosh.

3 Then the king said, What honour and dignitie hath beene giuen to Mordecai [a] for this? And the kings seruants that ministred vnto him, said, There is nothing done for him.

4 And the king said, Who is in the court? (Now Haman was come into the inner court of the kings house, that hee might speake vnto the king to [b] hang Mordecai on the tree that he had prepared for him.)

5 And the kings seruants said vnto him, Behold, Haman standeth in the court. And the king said, Let him come in.

6 And when Haman came in, the king said vnto him, What shall be done vnto the man whome the king will honour? Then Haman thought in his heart, To whom would the king doe honour more then to me?

7 And Haman answered the king, The man whom the king would honour, 8 Let them bring for him royall apparell, which the king vseth to weare, and the [c] horse that the king rideth vpon, and that the crowne royall may be set vpon his head.

9 And let the raiment and the horse be deliuered by the hand of one of the kings most noble princes, and let them apparell the man (whom the king will honour) and cause him to ride vpon the horse through the street of the citie, and proclaime before him, Thus shall it be done vnto the man whom the king will honour.

10 Then the king said to Haman, Make haste, take the raiment and the horse, as thou hast said, and doe so vnto Mordecai the Iew, that sitteth at the kings gate: let nothing fayle of all that thou hast spoken.

11 So Haman tooke the raiment and the horse, and araied Mordecai, and brought him on horsebacke thorow the street of the city, and proclaimed before him, Thus shall it be done to the man whom the king will honour.

12 And Mordecai came againe to the kings gate, but Haman hasted home mourning and his head couered.

13 And Haman tolde Zeresh his wife, and all his friends all that had befallen him. Then said his wise men, and Zeresh his wife vnto him, If Mordecai be of the seede of the Iewes, before whom thou hast begun to fall, thou shalt not preuaile against him, [d] but shalt surely fall before him.

14 And while they were yet talking with him, came the kings eunuches and hasted to bring Haman vnto the banket that Ester had prepared.

3 The queene bideth the king and Haman againe, and prayeth for her selfe and her people, 6 She accuseth Haman, and he is hanged on the gallowes which he had prepared for Mordecai.

SO the king and Haman came to banket with the queene Ester.

2 And the king said againe vnto Ester on the second day at the banket of [a] wine, What is thy petition, Queene Ester, that it may be giuen thee? and what is thy request? It shall be euen performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

3 And Ester the queene answered, and said, If I haue found fauour in thy sight, O king, and if it please the king, let my life be giuen me at my petition, and my people at my request.

4 For we are sold, I, and my people, to be destroyed, to be slaine, and to perish: but if we were sold for seruants, and for handmaids, I would haue held my tongue, although the aduersarie could not [b] recompence the kings losse.

5 Then king Ahashuerosh answered, and said vnto the queene Ester, Who is hee? and where is he that † presumeth to doe thus?

6 And Ester said, The aduersarie and enemie is this wicked Haman. Then Haman was afraid before the king and the queene.

7 And the king arose from the banket of wine in his wrath, and went into the palace garden: but Haman stood vp, to make request for his life to the queene Ester: for hee saw that there was a [c] mischiefe prepared for him of the king.

whereon Ester sate: therefore the King said, Will he force the Queene also before me in the house? As the word went out of the Kings mouth, they e couered Hamans face.

e This was the maner of the Persians, when one was out of the Kings fauour.

9 And Harbonah one of the eunuches, said in the presence of the King, Behold, there standeth yet the tree in Hamans house fiftie cubites high, which Haman had prepared for Mordecai, that spake f good for the king. Then the King said, Hang him thereon.

f Which discouered the conspiracy against the King, Chap. 2. 21. 22.

10 So they hanged Haman on the tree, that he had prepared for Mordecai: then was the Kings wrath pacified.

CHAP. VIII.

1 After the death of Haman was Mordecai exalted. 7 Comfortable letters are sent vnto the Iewes.

THe same day did King Ahasuerosh giue the house of Haman the aduersarie of the Iewes, vnto the Queene Ester. And Mordecai a came before the King: for Ester told what he was b vnto her.

a That is, was reuoiced into the kings fauour and presence.
b That he was her vncle, and had brought her vp.

2 And the King tooke off his ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gaue it vnto Mordecai: and Ester set Mordecai ouer the house of Haman.

3 And Ester spake yet more before the King, and fell downe at his feet weeping, and besought him that he would put away the c wickednesse of Haman the Agagite, and his deuice that hee had imagined against the Iewes.

c Meaning, that he should abolish the wicked decrees, which hee had made for the destruction of the Iewes.

4 And the King held out the golden d scepter toward Ester. Then arose Ester, and stood before the King, d Reade Chap. 5. 2.

5 And said, If it please the King, and if I haue found fauour in his sight, and the thing be acceptable before the King, and I please him, let it be written, that the letters of the deuice of Haman the sonne of Ammedatha the Agagite may be called againe, which he wrote to destroy the Iewes, that are in all the Kings prouinces.

6 For how can I suffer and see the euill, that shall come vnto my people? Or how can I suffer and see the destruction of my kinred?

7 And the king Ahasuerosh said vnto the Queene Ester, and to Mordecai the Iew, Behold, I haue giuen Ester the house of Haman, whom they haue hanged vpon the tree, because he ‖ layd hand vpon the Iewes.

‖ Or, went about to slay the Iewes.

8 Write ye also for the Iewes, as it liketh you in the Kings name, and seale it with the Kings ring, (for the writings written in the Kings name, and sealed with the kings ring, may e no man reuoke.)

e This was the law of the Medes and Persians, as Dan. 6. 15. notwithstanding the king reuoked the former decree graunted to Haman, for Esters sake.

9 Then were the Kings Scribes called at the same time, euen in the third moneth, that is the moneth f Siuan, on the three and twentieth day thereof: and it was written, according to all as Mordecai commanded, vnto the Iewes and to the princes, and captains and rulers of the prouinces, which were from India euen vnto Ethiopia, an hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces, vnto euery prouince according to the g writing thereof, and to euery people after their speache, and to the Iewes, according to their writing, and according to their language.

f Which containeth part of May and part of June.
g That is, in such letters and language, as was vsuall in euery prouince.

10 And hee wrote in the King Ahasuerosh name, and sealed it with the Kings ring, and hee sent letters by posts on horsebacke and that rode on beasts of price, as dromedaries, and ‖ coltes of mares.

‖ Or, mules.

11 Wherein the King graunted the Iewes (in what cities soeuer they were) to gather themselues together, and to stand for h their life, and to roote out, to slay and to destroy all the power of the people and of the prouince that vexed them, both children and women, and to spoile their goods:

h That is, to defend themselues against all that would assaile them.

12 Vpon one day in all the prouinces of King Ahasuerosh, euen in the thirteenth day of the twelft moneth, which is the moneth i Adar.

i Which hath part of Febuary and part of March.

13 The copie of the writing was, how there should be a commandement giuen in all and euery prouince, published among all the people, and that the Iewes should be ready against that day, to k auenge themselues on their enemies.

k The king gaue them liberte to kill all that did oppresse them.

14 So the posts rode vpon beasts of price, and dromedaries, & went foorth with speed, to execute the Kings commaundement, and the decree was giuen at Shushan the palace.

15 And Mordecai went out from the King in royall apparell of blue, and white, and with a great crowne of gold, and with a garment of fine linnen and purple, and the citie of Shushan reioyced and was glad.

16 And vnto the Iewes was come light and l ioy and gladnesse, and honour.

l He sheweth by these words that follow, what this light was.

17 Also in all and euery prouince, and in all and euery citie and place, where the Kings commandement and his decree came, there was ioy and gladnesse to the Iewes, a feast and good day, and many of the people of the land m became Iewes: for the feare of the Iewes fell vpon them.

m Conformed themselues to the Iewes religion.

CHAP. IX.

1 At the commandement of the King, the Iewes put their aduersaries to death. 14 The ten sonnes of Haman are hanged. 17 The Iewes keepe a feast in remembrance of their deliuerance.

SO in the twelfth moneth, which is the moneth Ader, vpon the thirteenth day of the same, when the Kings commandement and his decree drew neere to be put in execution, in the day that the enemies of the Iewes hoped to haue power ouer them (but it a turned contrary: for the Iewes had rule ouer them that hated them.)

a This was by Gods great prouidence, who turneth the ioy of the wicked into sorow, and the teares of the godly into gladnesse.

2 The Iewes gathered themselues together into their cities thorowout all the prouinces of the King Ahasuerosh, to lay hand on such as sought their hurt, and no man could withstand them: for the feare of them fell vpon all people.

3 And all the rulers of the prouinces, and the princes and the captaines, and the officers of the King b exalted the Iewes: for the feare of Mordecai fell vpon them.

b Did them honour, and shewed them friendship.

4 For Mordecai was great in the Kings house, and the report of him went through all the prouinces: for this man Mordecai waxed greater and greater.

5 Thus the Iewes smote all their c enemies with strokes of the sword, and slaughter, and destruction, and did what they would vnto those that hated them.

c Which had conspired their death by the permission of the wicked Haman.

6 And at Shushan the palace slew the Iewes and destroyed d fiue hundreth men, d Besides those three hundreth, that they slew the second day, as verse 15.

7 And Parshandatha, and Dalphon, and Aspatha,

8 And Poratha, and Adalia, and Aridatha,

9 And Parmashta, and Arisai, and Aridai, and Vaiezatha,

10 The ten sonnes of Haman, the sonne of Ammedatha, the aduersarie of the Iewes slew they: but they laid not their hands e on the spoyle.

e Whereby they declared that this was Gods iust iudgement vpon the enemies of his Church, forasmuch as they sought not their owne gaine, but to execute his vengeance.

that were slaine, vnto the palace of Shushan before the King.

12 And the King said vnto the Queene Ester, The Iewes haue slaine in Shushan the palace, and destroyed fiue hundreth men, and the ten sonnes of Haman: what haue they done in the rest of the Kings prouinces? and what is thy petition, that it may be giuen thee? or what is thy requeſt moreouer, that it may be performed?

13 Then said Ester, If it pleaſe the King, let it be granted also to morow to the Iewes that are in Shushan, to doe according f vnto this dayes decree, that they may hang vpon the tree Hamans ten sonnes.

14 And the King charged to doe so, and the decree was giuen at Shushan, and they hanged Hamans ten sonnes.

15 ¶ So the Iewes that were in Shushan assembled themselues vpon the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, & slew three hundreth men in Shushan, but on the spoile they laid not their hand.

16 And the reſt of the Iewes that were in the Kings prouinces, assembled themselues, and stood for g their liues, and had reſt from their enemies, and slew of them that h hated them, seuentie and fiue thousand: but they laid not their hand on the spoile.

17 This they did on the i thirteenth day of the moneth Adar, and reſted the fourteenth day thereof, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

18 But the Iewes that were in Shushan assembled themselues on the thirteenth day, and on the fourteenth thereof, & they reſted on the fifteenth of the same, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

19 Therefore the Iewes of the villages that dwelt in the vnwalled townes, k kept the foureteenth day of the moneth Adar with ioy and feasting, euen a ioyfull day, and euery one sent presents vnto his neighbour.

20 ¶ And Mordecai wrote l these words, and sent letters vnto all the Iewes that were through all the prouinces of the King Ahashuerosh, both neere and farre, 21 Inioyning them that they should keepe the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, and the fifteenth day of the same, euery yeere.

22 According to the dayes wherein the Iewes reſted from their enemies, and the moneth which was turned vnto them from sorowe to ioy, and from mourning into a ioyfull day, to keepe them the dayes of feasting and ioy, and to m send presents euery man to his neighbour, and gifts to the poore.

23 And the Iewes promiſed to do as they had begun, and as Mordecay had written vnto them, 24 Becauſe Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite all the Iewes aduerſary had imagined against the Iewes to destroy them, and had n caſt Pur (that is a lot) to consume and destroy them.

25 And when o she came before the king, hee commanded by letters, Let his wicked P deuice (which he imagined against the Iewes) turne vpon his owne head, and let them hang him and his sonnes on the tree.

26 Therefore they called these dayes Purim, by the name of Pur, and becauſe of all the words of this letter, & of that which they had seene besides this, and of that which had come vnto them,

27 The Iewes also ordeined, and promiſed for them and for their ſeede, and for all that ioyned vnto them, that they would not ‖ faile to obſerue those two q dayes euery yeere, according to their writing, and according vnto their season.

28 And that these dayes should be remembred, and kept throughout euery generation and euery family, and euery prouince, and euery cities euen these dayes of Purim should not faile among the Iewes, and the memoriall of them should not perish from their seed.

29 And the Queene Ester the daughter of Abihail and Mordecai the Iew wrote with all ‖ authoritie (to confirme this letter of Purim the second time.)

30 And he sent letters vnto all the Iewes to the hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces of the kingdome of Ahashuerosh, with r words of peace and trueth, 31 To confirme these dayes of Purim according to their seasons, as Mordecai the Iew and Ester the Queene had appoynted them, and as they had promiſed for them † ſelues and for their ſeede with t fasting and prayer.

32 And the decree of Ester confirmed these words of Purim, and was written in the booke.

2 And all the actes of his power, and of his might, & the declaration of the dignitie of Mordecai, wherewith the King magnified him, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Media and Perſia?

3 For Mordecai the Iew was the second vnto king Ahashuerosh, & great among the Iewes, and a accepted among the multitude of his brethren, who procured the wealth of his people, and spake peaceably to all his ſeed.

THE ARGVMENT.

IN this hiſtorie is ſet before our eyes the example of a ſingular patience. For this holy man Iob was not onely extremely afflicted in outward things and in his body, but alſo in his mind and conſcience, by the ſharpe tentations of his wife, and chiefe friends: which by their vehement wordes, and ſubtill diſputations brought him almoſt to deſpaire: for they ſet forth God as a ſeuere Iudge, and mortall enemie vnto him, which had caſt him off, therefore in vaine he ſhould ſeeke vnto him for ſuccour. Theſe friends came vnto him vnder pretence of conſolation, & yet they tormented him more then did all his affliction. Notwithſtanding he did conſtantly reſiſt them, and at length had good ſucceſſe. In this ſtory we haue to marke that Iob maintaineth a good cauſe, but handleth it euill: againe his aduerſaries haue an euill matter, but they defend it craftily. For Iob held that God did not alwaye puniſh men according to their ſinnes, but that he had ſecret iudgments, whereof man knewe not the cauſe, & therefore man could not reaſon againſt God therein, but he ſhould be conuicted. Moreouer, he was aſſured that God had not reiected him, yet yet through his great torments and affliction hee brasteth forth into many inconsiderate speaches both of wordes and sentences, and sheweth himselfe as a desperate man in many things, and as one that would resist God: and this is his good cause which hee doth not handle well. Against the aduersaries maintaine with many goodly arguments, that God punisheth continually according to the trespasse, grounding vpon Gods prouidence, his iustice, and mans sinnes, yet their intention is euill: for they labour to bring Iob into despaire, and so they maintaine an euill cause. Ezekiel commendeth Iob as a iust man, Ezek. 14. 14. and Iames setteth out his patience for an example. Iam. 5. 11.

CHAP. I.

1 The holinesse, riches, and care of Iob for his children. 10 Satan hath permission to tempt him. 13 He tempteth him by taking away his substance, and his children. 20 His faith and patience.

THere was a man in the lande of [a] Vz called Iob, and this man [b] was an vpright and iust man, [c] one that feared God, and eschewed euill.

2 And he had seuen sonnes, and three daughters.

3 His [d] substance also was seuen thousand sheepe, and three thousand camels, and fiue hundreth yoke of oxen, and fiue hundreth shee asses, and his familie was very great, so that this man was the greatest of all the [†] men of [e] the East.

4 And his sonnes went and banketted in their houses, euery one his day, and sent, and called their three sisters to eate and drinke with them.

5 And when the dayes of their banketting were gone about, Iob sent, and [f] sanctified them, and rose vp early in the morning, and [g] offered burnt offrings according to the number of them all. For Iob thought, It may be that my sonnes haue sinned, and [h] blasphemed God in their hearts, thus did Iob [i] euery day.

6 ¶ Now on a day when the [k] children of God came and stoode [l] before the Lord, Satan [m] came also among them.

7 Then the Lord sayde vnto Satan, Whence [n] commest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, saying, [o] From compassing the earth to and fro, and from walking in it.

8 And the Lord said vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my seruant Iob, how none is like him in the earth? an vpright and iust man, one that feareth God, and escheweth euill?

9 Then Satan answered the Lord, and sayd, Doeth Iob feare God for [p] nought?

10 Hast thou not made [q] an hedge about him and about his house, and about all that he hath on euery side? thou hast blessed the worke of his hands, and his substance is increased in the land.

11 But stretch out now thine hand and [r] touch all that he hath, to see if he will not blaspheme thee to [s] thy face.

12 Then the Lord sayd vnto Satan, Loe, all that he hath is in thine hand, onely vpon himselfe shalt thou not stretch out thine hand. So Satan departed from the [u] presence of the Lord.

13 ¶ And on a day, when his sonnes and his daughters were eating and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house,

14 There came a messenger vnto Iob, and said, The oxen were plowing, and the asses feeding in their places,

15 And the [x] Shabeans came violently, and tooke them: yea, they haue slaine the seruants with the edge of the sword: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

16 And whiles he was yet speaking, another came, and sayd, The [y] fire of God is fallen from the heauen, and hath burnt vp the sheepe and the seruants, and deuoured them: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

17 And whiles he was yet speaking, another came, and sayd, The Caldeans set out three bands, and fell vpon the camels, and haue taken them, and haue slaine the seruants with the edge of the sworde: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

18 And whiles he was yet speaking, came another, and sayd, Thy [z] sonnes, and thy daughters were eating, and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house, 19 And behold, there came a great wind from beyond the wildernesse, and smote the foure corners of the house, which fell vpon the children, and they are dead, and I onely am escaped alone, to tell thee.

20 Then Iob arose, and [a] rent his garment, and shaued his head, and fell downe vpon the ground, and worshipped.

21 And said, * Naked came I out of my mothers wombe, and naked shall I returne [b] thither: the Lord hath giuen, and the Lord hath taken it: [c] blessed be the Name of the Lord.

22 In all this did not Iob sinne, nor charge God [d] foolishly.

CHAP. II.

1 Satan hath permission to afflict Iob. 9 His wife tempteth him to forsake God. 11 His three friends visit him.

AND on a day the [a] children of God came and stood before the Lord, and [b] Satan came also among them, and stood before the Lord.

2 Then the Lord sayd vnto Satan, Whence commest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, and sayd, From compassing the earth to and fro, and from walking in it.

3 And the Lord sayd vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my seruant Iob, how none is like him in the earth; * an vpright and iust man, one that feareth God, and escheweth euill? for yet he continueth in his vprightnesse, [c] although thou mouedst me against him, to destroy [d] him without cause.

a That is, of the countrey of Idumea, as Lament. 4. 21. or bordering thereupon: for the land was called by the name of Vz the sonne of Dishan the sonne of Seir, Gen. 36. 28.

b Notwithstanding as he was a Gentile, and not a Iewe, and yet is pronounced vpright, and without hypocrisie, it declareth that among the heathen God hath his.

c Hereby is declared, what is meant by an vpright and iust man.

d His children and riches are declared, to commend his vertue in his prosperitie and his patience, and constancie, when God had taken them from him.

e Meaning, the Arabians, Chaldeans, Idumeans, &c.

f That is, commanded them to be sanctified: meaning, that they should consider the cause why they had committed, and reconcile themselues for the same.

l Because our infirmitie cannot comprehend God in his maiestie, hee is fer foorth vnto vs as a King, that our capacitie may be able to vnderstand that which is spoken of him.

m This declareth, that although Satan be aduersarie to God, yet hee is compelled to obey him, and doe him all homage, without whose permission and appointment he can doe nothing.

n This question is asked for our infirmitie: for God knew whence he came.

o Herein is described the name of Satan, which is euer ranging for his pray, 1. Pet. 5. 8.

p Hee feareth thee not for thine owne sake, but for the commoditie that hee receiued by thee.

q Meaning, the grace of God, which serued Iob as a rampart against all tentations.

r This signifieth, that Satan is not able to touch vs, but it is God that must doe it.

s Satan noteth the vice whereunto men are commonly subiect: that is, to hide their rebellion, and to be content with God in the time of prosperitie, which vice is disclosed in the time of their aduersitie.

t God giueth not Satan power ouer man to gratifie him, but to declare that he hath no power ouer man, but that which God giueth him.

u That is, went to execute that which God had permitted him to doe: for else hee can neuer goe out of Gods presence.

x That is, the Arabians.

y Which thing was also done by the craft of Satan, to tempt Iob the more grieuously, for although he might see, that not onely men were his enemies, but that God made warre against him.

z This last plague declareth, that when one plague is part which teemeth hard to be borne, God can send vs another farre more grieuous, to trie his, and reach them obedience.

a Which came not of impatience, but declareth that the children of God are not insensible like blocks, but that in their patience they feele affliction and griefe of minde: yet they keepe a meane herein, and rebell not against God, into the bellie of the earth, which is the mother of all.

b That is, to the graue.

c Hereby he confesseth that God is iust, and good, although his hande be sore vpon him.

d But declared that God did all things according to iustice and equitie.

a That is, the Angels, as Chap. 1. 6.

b Reade Chap. 1. 6 Ezek. 14. 14.

c Heb. moueth Iob integritie by this that he ceased not to serue God when his plagues were grieuously vpon him.

4 And Satan answered the Lord, and said, e Skin for skin, and all that euer a man hath, will he giue for his life.

5 But stretch now out thine hand, and touch his f bones and his flesh, to see if he will not blaspheme thee to thy face.

6 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Loe he is in thine hand, but saue g his life.

7 ¶ So Satan departed from the presence of the Lord, and smote Iob with sore h boyles, from the sole of his foote vnto his crowne.

8 And hee tooke a i potshard to scrape him, and he sate downe among the athes.

9 Then said his k wife vnto him, Doest thou l continue yet in thine vprightnesse? m Blaspheme God, and die.

10 But he said vnto her, Thou speakest like a foolish woman: what? shall we receiue good at the hand of God, and not n receiue euill? In all this did not Iob sinne with his o lips.

11 Now when Iobs three p friends heard of all this euill that was come vpon him, they came euery one from his owne place, to wit, Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite: for they were agreed together to come to lament with him, and to comfort him.

12 So when they lift vp their eyes afarre off, they knew him not: therefore they lift vp their voyces and wept, and euery one of them rent his garment and sprinkled q dust vpon their heads toward the heauen.

13 So they sate by him vpon the ground seuen dayes, and seuen nights, and none spake a word vnto him: for they saw that the griefe was very r great.

e Hereby hee meant, that a mans owne skin is dearer vnto him then another mans.
f Meaning, his owne person.
g Thus Satan can goe no further in punishing, then God hath limited him.
h This sore was most vehement, wherewith alsO God plagued the Egyptians, Exod. 9. 9. and threateth to punish the rebellious people. Deut. 28. 27. In that this tentation was most grieuous: for if Iob had meaninged Gods fauour by the vehemencie of his disease, he might haue thought that God had cast him off.
i As destitute of all other helpe and meanes, and wonderfully afflicted with the sorow of his disease.
k Satan vseth the same instrument against Iob, as he did against Adam.
l Meaning, what gainest thou to leaue God, seeing he thus plageth thee, as though he were thine enemie? This is the most grieuous tentation of the faithfull, when their faith is assailed, & when Satan goeth about to perswade them that they must in God in vaine.
m For death was appointed to the blaspheмer, and so he meant that he should soone be rid out of his paine.
n That is, to be patient in aduersitie, as we reioyce when he sendeth prosperitie, & so to acknowledge him to be both mercifull and iust.
o He so bridled his affections, that his tongue though impatiencie did not murmure against God.
p Which were men of authoritie, wise and learned, and as the Septuagint write, Kings, and came to comfort him, but when they saw how he was visited, they conceiued an euill opinion of him, as though he had beene but an hypocrite, and so iustly plagued of God for his sinnes.
q This was also a ceremonie, which they vsed in those countreys, as the renting of their cloathes in signe of sorow, &c.
r And therefore thought that he would not haue hearkened vnto their counsell.

CHAP. III.

1 Iob complaineth, and curseth the day of his birth. 11 Hee desireth to die, as though death were the end of all mans miseries.

a Afterward Iob opened his mouth, and b cursed his day,

2 And Iob cryed out, and said,

3 Let the day c perish wherein I was borne, and the night when it was said, There is a man child conceiued.

4 Let that day be darkenesse, let not God d regard it from aboue, neither let the light shine vpon it.

5 But let darkenesse and the e shadow of death staine it: let the cloude remaine vpon it, and let them make it fearefull as a bitter day.

6 Let darkenesse possesse that night, let it not be ioyned vnto the dayes of the yeere, nor let it come into the count of the moneths.

a Two seuen dayes ended, Chap. 2. 13.
b Here Iob beginneth to feele his great impatiencie in this battell betweene the spirit and the flesh, Rom. 7. 18. & after a maner yeeldeth, yet in the end he getteth victorie, though he was in the meane time greatly wounded.
c Men ought not to be wearie of their life, and curse it, because of the infirmities that is this subiect vnto, but because they are giuen to sinne and rebellion against God.
d Let it be put out of the number of dayes, and let it not haue the light of the Sunne to separate it from the night.
e That is, most obscure darkenesse, which maketh them afraid of death that are in it.

7 Yea, desolate be that night, and let no ioy be in it.

8 Let them that curse the day, (being f ready to renew their mourning) curse it.

9 Let the starres of that twilight be dimme through darkenesse of it: let it looke for light, but haue none: neither let it g see † the dawning of the day.

10 Because it shut not vp the doores of my mothers wombe, nor hid sorow from mine eyes.

11 h Why died I not in the birth? or why died I not, when I came out of the wombe?

12 Why did the knees preuent me? and why did I sucke the breasts?

13 For so should I now haue i lien and beene quiet, I should haue slept then, and beene at rest.

14 With the kings and counsellers of the earth, which haue builded themselues k desolate places:

15 Or with the princes that had golde, and haue filled their houses with siluer.

16 Or why was I not hid, as an vntimely birth either as infants, which haue not seene the light?

17 The wickedl haue there ceased from their tyrannie, and there they that laboured valiantly, are at rest.

18 The m prisoners rest together, and heare not the voyce of the oppressour.

19 There are small and great, and the seruant is free from his master.

20 Wherefore is the light giuen to him that is in miserie? and n life vnto them that haue heauy hearts?

21 Which long for death, and if it come not, they would euen search it more then treasures:

22 Which ioy for gladnesse, and reioyce, when they can finde the graue.

23 Why is the light giuen to the man whose way is o hid, and whom God hath hedged in?

24 For my sighing commeth before I eat, and my roarings are powred out like the water.

25 For the thing p I feared, is come vpon me, & the thing that I was afraid of, is come vnto me.

26 I had no peace, neither had I quietnesse, neither had I rest, q yet trouble is come.

f Which curse the day of their birth, let them lay that curse vpon this night.
g Let it be alwayes night, and neuer see day.
† Ebr. The eye lids of the morning.
h This, and that which followeth, declareth, that when man gineth place to his passions, he is not able to stay nor keepe measure, but running headlong into all euill, except God call him back.
i The vehemencie of his afflictions made him to vtter these words, as though death were the end of all miseries, and as if there were no life after this, which he speaketh not as though it were so, but the infirmities of his flesh caused him to braid out into this errour of the wicked.
k It noteth the ambition of them, which for their pleasure, as it were, change the order of nature, and build in most barren places, because they would hereby make their names immortall.
l That is, by death the cruelties of the tyrans hath ceased.
m All they that sustaine any kinde of calamitie and miserie in this world: which he speaketh after the iudgement of the flesh.
n Hee sheweth that the benefits of God are not comfortable, except the heart be ioyfull, and the conscience quieted.
o That seeth not how to come out of his miseries, because he dependeth not on Gods providence.
p In my prosperitie I looked euer for a fall, as is come now to passe.
q The feare of troubles that should ensue, caused my prosperitie to seeme to mee as nothing, and yet I am not exempted from trouble.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Iob is reprehended of impatiencie, 7. and iniustice, 17 and of the presumption of his owne righteousnesse.

Then Eliphaz the Temanite, answered and sayd,

2 If wee assay to commune with thee, wilt thou be grieued, but a who can withhold himselfe from speaking?

3 Behold, thou hast taught many, and b hast strengthened the weary hands.

4 Thy wordes haue confirmed him that was falling, and thou hast strengthened the weake knees.

5 But now it is come vpon thee, and thou art grieued: it toucheth thee, and thou art troubled.

6 Is not this thy c feare, thy confidence, thy patience, and vprightnesse of thy wayes?

7 Remember, I pray thee: who euer perished, being a Seeing this thine impatiency.

b Thou hast comforted others in their afflictions, and canst not now comfort thy selfe.
c This he concludeth that Iob was but an hypocrite, and had no true feare nor trust in God.

d He concludeth that Iob was reproued, seeing that God handled him so extremely which is the argument that the carnall men make against the children of God.
e They that doe euill, cannot but receiue euill.
f He sheweth that God needeth no great preparation to destroy his enemies: for he can doe it with the blast of his mouth.
g Though men according to their office doe not punish tyrants (whom for their cruelty hee compareth to lions, and their children to their whelps) yet God both is able, and his iustice will punish them.
h A thing that I knew not before, was declared vnto me by vision, that is, that whosoeuer thinketh himselfe iust, shall be found a sinner, when he commeth before God.
i In these visions which God sheweth to his creatures, there is euer a certain feare ioyned, that the authority thereof might be had in greater reuerence.
k When all things were quiet, or when the feare was somewhat asswaged, as God appeased to Eliah, 1. King. 19.12.
l He prooueth that if God did punish the innocent, the creature should be more iust then the Creator, which were a blasphemie.
m If God find imperfection in his Angels, when they are not maintained by his power, how much more shall he lay folly to mans charge, when hee would iustifie himselfe against God?
n That is, in this mortall body, subiect to corruption, as 2. Cor. 5.1.
o They see death continually before their eyes, and dayly approaching toward them.
p No man for all this doeth consider it.
q That is, before that any of them were so wise as to thinke on death.

being an [d] innocent; or where were the vpright destroyed?
8 As I haue seene, they that [e] plow iniquity: and sowe wickednesse, reape the same.
9 With the [f] blast of God they perish, and with the breath of his nostrels are they consumed.
10 The roaring of the [g] Lion, and the voyce of the Lioneſſe, and the teeth of the Lions whelps are broken.
11 The Lion perisheth for lacke of praye, and the Lions whelps are scattered abroad.
12 But a thing was brought to me [h] secretly, and mine eare hath receiued a little thereof.
13 In the thoughts of the visions of the night, when sleepe falleth on men, 14 Feare came vpon me, and dread which made all my bones [i] to tremble.
15 And the winde passed before me, and made the haires of my flesh to stand vp.
16 Then stood one, and I knew not his face: an image was before mine eyes, and in [k] silence heard I a voyce, saying,
17 Shall man be more [l] iust then God? or shall a man be more pure then his Maker?
18 Beholde, hee found no stedfastnesse in his seruants, and laid follie vpon his [m] Angels.
19 How much more in them that dwell in houses of [n] clay, whose foundation is in the dust, which shall be destroyed before the moth?
20 They be destroyed from the [o] morning vnto the euening: they perish for euer, [p] without regard.
21 Doth not their dignity go away with them? doe they not die, and that without [q] wisedome?

CHAP. V.

2 Eliphaz sheweth the difference betweene the children of God and the wicked. 3 The fall of the wicked. 9 Gods power who destroyeth the wicked, and deliuereth his:

CAll now, if any will [a] answere thee, and to which of the Saints wilt thou turne?
2 Doubtlesse [b] anger killeth the foolish, and enuie slayeth the idiot.
3 I haue seene the [c] foolish well rooted, and suddenly I [d] cursed his habitation, saying,
4 His [e] children shalbe farre from saluation, and they shalbe destroyed in the [f] gate, and none shall deliuer them.
5 The hungry shall eate vp his harueſt: yea, they shall take it from among the [g] thornes, and the thirstie shall drinke vp their substance.
6 For miserie commeth not foorth of the dust, [h] neither doeth affliction spring out of the earth.
7 But man is borne vnto [i] trauell, as the sparks flie vpward.

a He vrgeth Iob to consider the example of all them that haue liued or doe liue godly, whether any of them be like vnto him in raging against God as he doeth.
b Murmuring against God in afflictions increaseth the paine, and vexeth mans folly.
c That is, the sinner that hath not the feare of God.
d I was not moued with his prosperitie, but knew that God had cursed him and his.
e Though God sometime suffer the fathers to passe in this world, yet his iudgements will light vpon their wicked children.
f By publike iudgement they shalbe condemned, and none shall pity them.
g Though there be but two or three eares left in the hedges, yet these shall be taken from him.
h That is, the earth is not the cause of barrennesse and mans misery, but his owne sinne.
i Which declareth that sinne is euer in our corrupt nature: for before sinne it was not subiect to paine and affliction.

8 But I would enqire at [k] God, and turne my sute vnto God:
9 Which [l] doeth great things, and vnsearchable, and marueilous things without number.
10 He [m] giueth raine vpon the earth, and powreth water vpon the streetes.
11 And setteth vp on hie them that be lowe, that the sorowfull may be exalted to saluation.
12 He scattereth the deuises of the craftie: so that their hands cannot accomplish that which they doe enterprise.
13 *He taketh the wise in their craftinesse, and the counsell of the wicked is made foolish.
14 They meete with [n] darkenesse in the day time, and [o] grope at noone day, as in the night.
15 But he saueth the [p] poore from the sword, from their [q] mouth, and from the hand of the violent man, 16 So that the poore hath his hope, but iniquity shall [r] stop her mouth.
17 Behold, blessed is the man whom God correcteth: therefore refuse not thou the chastising of the Almighty.
18 For he maketh the wound, and bindeth it vp: he smiteth, and his hands make whole.
19 He shall deliuer thee in [s] sixe troubles, and in the seuenth the euill shall not touch thee.
20 In famine he shall deliuer thee from death: and in battell from the power of the sword.
21 Thou shalt be hid from the scourge of the tongue, and thou shalt not be afraid of destruction when it commeth.
22 But thou shalt [t] laugh at destruction and dearth, and shalt not be afraid of the beast of the earth.
23 For the stones of the field [u] shall be in league with thee, and the beasts of the field shall be at peace with thee.
24 And thou shalt know, that peace shall be in thy tabernacle, and thou shalt visit thine habitation, and shalt not [x] sinne.
25 Thou shalt perceiue also that thy seede shalbe great, and thy posteritie as the grasse of the earth.
26 Thou shalt goe to thy graue in [y] a full age, as a ricke of corne commeth in due season into the barne.
27 Loe, [z] thus haue we enquired of it, and so it is: heare this and know it for thy selfe.

k If I suffered as thou doest, I would seeke vnto God.
l He counselleth Iob to humble himselfe vnto God to whom all creatures are subiect, and whose works declare that man is inexcusable, except he glorifie God in all his workes.
m He sheweth by particular examples, what the workes of God are.
* 1. Cor. 3.19.
n In things plaine and euident they shew themselues fooles in stead of wisemen.
o This declareth that God punisheth the worldly wise, as he threatned, Deut. 28.29.
p That is, he that humbleth himselfe before God.
q He compareth the slander of the wicked to sharpe swords.
r If the wicked be compelled at Gods workes to stoppe their mouthes, much more they that professe God.
s He will send trouble after trouble, that his children may not for one time, but continually trust in him: but they shall haue a comfortable issue, euen in the greatest and the last, which is here called the seuenth.
t Wheresoeuer the wicked lament in their troubles, thou shalt haue occasion to reioyce.
u When we are in Gods fauour, all creatures shall serue vs.
x God shall so blesse thee, that thou shalt haue occasion to reioyce in all things, and not to be offended.
y Though the children of God haue not alwayes this promise performed, yet he recompenseth it otherwise to their aduantage.
z We haue learned these points in iustice with him, that the hypocrites shall not long prosper, and that the affliction which man suffereth, commeth for his owne sinne.

CHAP. VI.

1 Iob answereth, that his paine is more grieuous then his sinne. 8 He wisheth death. 14 He complaineth of his friends.

BVt Iob answered and said,
2 Oh that my griefe were well weighed, and my miseries were layed together in the [a] balance!
3 For it would be now heauier then the sand of the sea: therefore my wordes are [b] swallowed vp.
4 For the arrowes of the Almighty are in me, the venim whereof doeth drinke vp my spirit, and the terrours of God [c] fight against me, a To know whether I complaine without iust cause, b My griefes so great, that I lacke wordes to expresse it.

c Which declareth that he was not onely afflicted in body, but wounded in conscience, which is the greatest battell that the faithfull can haue.

5 Doeth

a Thinke you that I cry without cause, seeing the brute beasts doe not complaine when they haue what they would?
b Can a mans taste delight in that, that hath no sauour? meaning, that none take pleasure in affliction, seeing they cannot away with things that are vnsauoury to the mouth.
c Herein he sinneth double, both in wishing through impatiency to die, and also in desiring of God a thing which was not agreeable to his will.
d That is, let me die at once, before I come to distrust in Gods promise through my impatience.
e He feareth least he should be brought to inconueniences, if his sorowes should continue.
f Haue I not sought to helpe my selfe as much as was possible? g Or, wisdome, or law.
h He compareth those friendes which comfort vs not in misery, to a brooke, which in Summer, when we neede waters, is drie, in winter is hard frozen, and in the time of raine, when we haue no need, ouerfloweth with water.
i They that passe thereby to go into the hot countreys of Arabia, thinke to find water there to quench their thirst, but they are deceiued.
k That is, like to this brooke, which deceiueth them that thinke to haue water there in their need, as I looked for consolation at your hands.
l He toucheth the vnadui and much more there me wherein I haue cred, and I will confesse my sinne, knowledge doeth not sufficient the sharpe words or reasonings of others, except they be able to perswade him by reason.
m That is, like to this brooke, which deceiueth them that thinke to haue water there in their need, as I looked for consolation at your hands.
n Hath not an hired seruant some rest and ease? then in this my continuall torment I am worse then an hireling.

5 Doeth the a wilde asse bray when hee hath grasse? or loweth the oxe when he hath fodder?
6 That which is b vnsauery, shall it be eaten without salt? or is there any taste in the white of an egge?
7 Such things as my soule refused to touch as were sorowes, are my meate.
8 Oh that I might haue my c desire, and that God would graunt me the thing that I long for!
9 That is, that God would destroy mee: that he would let his hand goe, and cut me off.
10 Then should I yet haue comfort, (though I burne with sorow, let him not spare) g because I haue not denied the words of the Holy one.
11 What power haue I that I should endure? or what is mine h ende, if I should prolong my life?
12 Is my strength the strength of stones? or is my flesh of brasse?
13 Is it not so, that there is in me no i helpe? and that I strength is taken from me?
14 He that is in misery, ought to be comforted of his neighbour: but men haue forsaken the feare of the Almighty.
15 My brethren haue deceiued me as a k brooke, and as the rising of the riuers they passe away.
16 Which are blackish with yce, and wherein the snow is hid.
17 But in time they are dried vp with heate and are consumed: and when it is hot they faile out of their places, 18 Or they depart from their way and course, yea, they vanish and perish.
19 They that goe to Tema, l considered them, and they that goe to Sheba, waited for them.
20 But they were confounded: when they hoped, they came thither, and were ashamed.
21 Surely now are ye like m vnto it: yee haue seene my fearefull plague, and are afraid.
22 Was it because I sayd, Bring vnto me? or giue a reward to me of your n substance?
23 And deliuer me from the enemies haud, or ransome me out of the hand of tyrants?
24 Teach me, and I will o hold my tongue: and cause me to vnderstand, wherein I haue erred.
25 How p stedfast are the words of righteousnesse? and what can any of you iustly reproue?
26 Doe ye imagine to reproue q words, that the talke of the afflicted should be as the winde?
27 Yee make your wrath to fall vpon the fatherlesse, and digge a pit for your friend.
28 Now therefore be content to r looke vpon me: for I will not lie before your face.
29 Turne, I pray you, let there be none iniquitie: returne, I say, and ye shall see yet my righteousnesse in this behalfe. Is there iniquity in my tongue? doeth not my mouth feele sorowes?

b My sorow hath continued from moneth to moneth and I haue looked for hope in vaine.
c This signifieth that his disease was rare and most horrible.
d Thus he speaketh in respect of the b. entise of mans life, which passeth without hope of returning: in consideration whereof he desireth God to haue compassion on him.
e If thou behold me in thine anger, I shall not be able to stand in thy presence.
f Shall no more enioy this mortall life.
g Seeing I can by none other meanes comfort my selfe, I will declare my griefe by words, and thus he speaketh as one ouercome with griefe of minde.
h Am not I a poore wretche what needest thou then to lay so much paine on me?
i So that I can haue no rest, night nor day.
k He speaketh as one ouercome with sorow, and not of iudgement, of the examination of his faith, l Seeing my terme of life is so short, let me haue some rest and ease.
m Seeing that man of himselfe is so vile, why doest thou giue him that honour to contend against him? Iob weth all kinds of perswasion with God, that he might stay his hand.
n After all temptations saith brasseth forth and leadeth Iob to repentance: yet it was not in such perfection that he could bridle himselfe from reasoning with God, because that he still tried his faith.
o That is, I shall be dead.

CHAP. VII.

a Iob sheweth the shortnesse and misrie of mans life.

IS there not an appointed time to man vpon earth? and are not his dayes as the dayes of an a hireling?

2 As a seruant longeth for the shadow, and as an hireling looketh for the end of his worke,
3 So haue I had as an inheritance the b moneths of vanity, and painefull nights haue beene appointed vnto me.
4 If I layed me downe, I sayd, When shall I arise? and measuring the euening, I am euen full with tossing to and fro vnto the dawning of the day.
5 My flesh is c cloathed with wormes and filthinesse of the dust: my skin is rent, and become horrible.
6 My dayes are swifter then d a weauers shittle, and they are spent without hope.
7 Remember that my life is but a winde, and that mine eye shall not returne to see pleasure.
8 The eye that hath seene me, shall see me no more: thine eyes are vpon me, and I shall be no longer.
9 e As the cloude vanisheth and goeth away, so he that goeth downe to the graue, shall f come vp no more.
10 He shall returne no more to his house, neither shall his place know him any more.
11 Therefore I will not g spare my mouth, but will speake in the trouble of my spirit, and muse in the bitternesse of my minde.
12 Am I a sea h or a whalefish, that thou keepest me in ward?
13 When I say, My couch shall relieue me, and my bed shall bring comfort in my meditation.
14 Then feareest thou me i with dreames, and astonishest me with visions.
15 Therefore my soule k chuseth rather to be strangled and to die, then to be in my bones.
16 I abhorre it: I shall not liue alway: l spare me then, for my dayes are but vanity.
17 What is man, that thou m doest magnifie him, and that thou settest thine heart vpon him?
18 And doest visit him euery morning, and triest him euery moment?
19 How long will it be yer thou depart from mee? thou wilt not let mee alone whiles I may swallow my spettle.
20 I haue n sinned, what shall I doe vnto thee? O thou preseruer of men, why hast thou set me as a marke against thee, so that I am a burden vnto my selfe?
21 And why doest thou not pardon my trespasse? and take away mine iniquity? for now shall I sleepe in the dust, and if thou seeke mee in the morning, I shall o not be found.

b He declareth that their words which would diminish any thing from the iustice of God, is but as a puffe of wind that vanisheth away.
b That is, hath ought to be wa-rewarded them according to their iniquitie: meaning, that Iob ned by the example of his children, that he offend not God.

c That is, if thou meane betime whiles God calleth thee to repentance.
d Though the beginnings be not so pleasant as thou wouldest desire, yet in the ende thou shalt have sufficient occasion to content thy selfe.
e Hee willeth Iob to examine all antiquity, and he shall find it true which he here saith.
f Meaning, that it is not enough to haue the experience of our selues, but to be confirmed by the examples of them that were before vs.
g As a rush cannot grow without moisture, so cannot the hypocrite, became hee hath not faith, which is moistened with Gods Spirit.
h Which is to day, and to morrow is cast away.
i He compareth the rush to a tree, which although it be remooued out of one place into another, yet flourisheth: so the affliction of the godly turneth to their profit.
k That is, so that there remaine nothing there to proove whether the tree had growen there or no.
l To be planted in another place, where it may grow at pleasure.
m If thou be godly, he will giue thee occasion to reioyce, and if not, thine affliction shall increase.

5 Yet if thou c wilt early seeke vnto God, and pray to the Almighty, 6 If thou be pure and vpright, then surely he will awake vp vnto thee, and he will make the habitation of thy righteousnes prosperous.
7 And though thy beginning d be small, yet thy latter end shall greatly increase.
8 e Enquire therefore, I pray thee, of the former age, and prepare thy selfe to search of their fathers.
9 (For we are but f of yesterday, and are ignorant: for our dayes vpon earth are but a shadow.)
10 Shall not they teach thee and tell thee, and vtter the words of their heart?
11 Can a rush g grow without myre? or can the grasse grow without water?
12 Though it were in greene and not cut downe, yet shall it wither before any other herbe.
13 So are the paths of all that forget God, and the hypocrites hope shall perish.
14 His confidence also shalbe cut off, and his trust shalbe as the house of a h spider.
15 Hee shall leane vpon his house, but it shall not stand: he shall hold him fast by it, yet shall it not endure.
16 The i tree is greene before the Sunne, and the branches spread ouer the garden thereof.
17 The roots thereof are wrapped about the fountaine, and are folden about the house of stones.
18 If any plucke it from his place, and it k denie, saying, I haue not seene thee, 19 Behold, it will reioyce i by this meanes, that it may grow in another mould.
20 Behold, God will not cast away an vpright man, neither will he take the wicked by the hand, 21 Till he haue filled thy mouth with m laughter, and thy lips with ioy.
22 They that hate thee, shall be cloathed with shame, and the dwelling of the wicked shall not remaine.

CHAP. IX.

1 Iob doubteth the mightie power of God, and that mans righteousnesse is nothing.

THen Iob answered, and said,
2 I knowe verily that it is so: for how should man compared to God be a iustified?
3 If he would dispute with him, he could not answere him one thing of a b thousand.
4 He is wise in heart, & mighty in strength: who hath bene fierce against him, and hath prospered?
5 He remooueth the mountaines, and they feele not when hee ouerthroweth them in his wrath.
6 He c remooueth the earth out of her place, that the pillers thereof doe shake.
7 He commandeth the Sunne, and it riseth not: he closeth vp the starres as vnder a signet.
8 Hee himselfe alone spreadeth out the heauens, and walketh vpon the height of the Sea.
9 He maketh the starres d Arcturus, Orion, and Pleiades, and the climates of the South.
10 Hee doeth great things, and vnsearchable: yea, marueilous things without number.
11 Loe, when he goeth e by me, I see him not: and when he passeth by, I perceiue him not:
12 Behold, when he taketh a pray, f who can make him to restore it? who shall say vnto him, What doest thou?
13 God g will not withdraw his anger, and the most mighty helpes h doe stoupe vnder him.
14 How much lesse shall I answere him? or how should I find out i my wordes with him?
15 For though I were iust, yet could I k not answere, but I would make supplication to my Iudge.
16 If I l cry, and he answere mee, yet would I not beleeue, that he heard my voyce.
17 For he destroyeth me with a tempest, and woundeth me m without cause.
18 He will not suffer me to take my breath, but filleth me with bitternesse.
19 If we speake of strength, beholde, hee is n strong: If we speake of iudgement, who shall bring me in to pleade?
20 If I should iustifie my selfe, mine owne mouth shall condemne me: o if I would be perfit he shall iudge me wicked.
21 Though I were perfit, yet I know not my soule: therefore abhorre I my life.
22 This is one point: therefore I said, He destroyeth the p perfect and the wicked.
23 If the scourge should suddenly q slay, should God e laugh at the punishment of the innocent?
24 The earth is giuen into the hand of the wicked: he coureth the faces of y iudges thereof: if not, where e is he? or who is he?
25 My dayes haue bin more swift then a post: they haue fled, and haue seene no good thing.
26 They are passed as with the most swift ships, and as the Eagle that flieth to the pray.
27 If r I say, I will forget my complaint, I will cease from my wrath, and comfort me, 28 Then I am afraid of all my sorowes, knowing that thou wilt not iudge me innocent.
29 If I be wicked, why s labour I thus in vaine?
30 If I wash y my selfe with snow water, and purge mine hands most cleane, 31 Yet shalt thou plunge mee in the pit, and mine owne t cloathes shall make me filthy.
32 For he is not a man as I am, that I should answere him, if we come together to iudgement.
33 Neither is there any vmpire a that might lay his hand vpon vs both.
34 Let him take his rod away from me, and let not his feare affonith me:
35 Then will I speake, and feare him not, b but because I am not so, I hold me still.

a Iob here answereth to that point of Eliphaz and Bildads oration, touching the iustice of God, and his innocencie, confessing God to be infinite in iustice, and man to be nothing in respect.
b Of a thousand things, which God could lay to his charge, man cannot answere him one.
c He declareth what is the infinitenesse of man, by the mighty and incomprehensible power that is in God, shewing what he could doe if he would serue with his power.
d These are the names of certaine starres, whereby he meaneth that all starres both known & vnknown are at his appointment.
e I am not able to comprehend his workes, which are common and dayly before mine eyes, much lesse in those things, which are hid and secret.

f We are but yesterday, when God doeth measure his power he doeth it iustly, for almuch as none can controll him.
g God will not be appeased for ought that man can say for himselfe for his iustification.
h That is, all the reason that men can lay to oppoose their cause.
i How should I be able to answere him by eloquence? whereby he noseth his friends, that all their they were eloquent in talke, yet they see not in heart, that wh ch they spake.
k Meaning, in his owne opinion, signifying, that man will sometime flatter himselfe to be righteous, which before God is abomination.
l Whiles I am in my pangs, I cannot but breake forth into many inconveniences, although I know still that God is iust.
m I am not able to feele my sinnes so great, or I feele the weight of his plagues: and this hee speaketh to condemne his dulnesse, and to iustifie God.
n After he hath accused his owne weaknesse, hee continueth to iustifie God and his power.
o If I would stand in mine owne defence, yet God hath still cause to condemne me, if he examine mans heart and conscience.
p If God punish according to his iustice, he will destroy alwell them that be wicked.
q This is spoken according to the infirmitie of the flesh.
r That am I the more sorowfull, because I know God to be so long tormented by them?
s What they cannot see to doe iustice.
t That can shew the contrary: in I thinke not to fall into these affections, but my sorowes bring me to these manifold infirmities, and my conscience condemneth me.
u Why doeth not God destroy me at once? thus hee speaketh according to the infirmitie of the flesh.
x Why doeth not God destroy me at once? thus hee speaketh according to the infirmitie of the flesh.
y Though I seeme neuer so pure in mine owne eyes, yet all is but corruption before God.
z Whersoeuer I would seeke to couer my selfe, disclose me so much more.
a which might make an accord betweene God and me, speaking of impatience, and yet confessing God to be iust in punishing him.
b signifying that Gods iudgements keepe him in awe.

CHAP. X.

1 Iob is wearie of his life, and desireth out his complaint before God. 20 Hee desireth him to spare his hand. 22 A description of death.

MY soule is cut off a though I liue: I will leaue my b complaint vpon my selfe, and will speake in the bitternesse of my soule.

2 I will say vnto God, [c] Condemne mee not: shew me, wherefore thou contendest with me.

3 Thinkest thou it [d] good to oppresse me, and to cast off the [e] labour of thine hands, and to fauour the [f] counsell of the wicked?

4 Hast thou [g] carnall eyes? or doest thou see as man seeth?

5 Are thy dayes as mans [h] dayes? or thy yeeres as the time of man,

6 That thou enquirest of mine iniquitie, and searchst out my sinne?

7 Thou knowest that I cannot doe [i] wickedly: for none can deliuer me out of thine hand.

8 Thine [k] hands haue made me, and fashioned mee wholly round about, and wilt thou destroy mee?

9 Remember, I pray thee, that thou hast mad me as [l] the clay, and wilt thou bring me into dust againe?

10 Hast thou not powred me out as milke, and turned me to cruds like cheese?

11 Thou hast cloathed me with skin and flesh, and ioyned me together with bones and sinewes.

12 Thou hast giuen me life, and [m] grace: and the [n] visitation hath preserued my spirit.

13 Though thou hast hid these things in thine heart, yet I know [o] that it is so with thee.

14 If I haue sinned, then thou wilt streightly looke vnto me, and wilt not hold me guiltlesse of mine iniquitie.

15 If I haue done wickedly, woe vnto me: If I haue done righteously, I will not [p] lift vp mine head, being full of confusion, because I see mine affliction.

16 But let it increase: hunt thou me as a lyon: returne and shew thy selfe [q] marueilous vpon mee.

17 Thou renuest thy plagues against me, and thou increasest thy wrath against me: [r] changes and armies of sorrowes are against me.

18 Wherefore then hast thou brought me out of the wombe? Oh that I had perished, and that none eye had seene me!

19 And that I were as I had not beene, but brought from the wombe to the graue!

20 Are not my dayes few? let him cease, [s] & leaue off from me, that I may take a little comfort.

21 Before I goe and shall not [t] returne, euen to the land of darkenesse and shadow of death:

22 Into a land, I say, darke as darkenesse it selfe, and into the shadow of death, where is none [u] order, but the light is there as darkenesse.

4 For thou hast said, [b] My doctrine is pure, and I am cleane in thine eyes.

5 But, oh that God would speake and open his lips against thee!

6 That hee might shew thee the [c] secrets of wisedome how thou hast deserued double, according to right: know therefore that God hath forgotten thee for thine iniquitie.

7 Canst thou by searching find out God? canst thou find out the Almightie to his perfection?

8 The heauens are hie, what canst thou do? it is deeper then the hell, how canst thou know it?

9 The measure thereof is longer then the earth, and it is broader then the Sea.

10 If he cut off and [d] shut vp, or gather together, who can turne him backe?

11 For he knoweth vaine men, and seeth iniquitie, and him that vnderstandeth nothing.

12 Yet vaine man would be wise, though man newe borne is like a wilde [e] asse colt.

13 If thou [f] prepare thine heart, and stretch out thine hands toward him:

14 If iniquitie be in thine [g] hand, put it farre away, and let no wickednesse dwell in thy Tabernacle.

15 Then truely shalt thou lift vp thy [h] face without spot, and shalt be stable, and shalt not feare.

16 But thou shalt forget thy miserie, and remember it as waters that are past.

17 Thine age also shall appeare more cleare then the noone day: thou shalt shine and be as the morning.

18 And thou shalt be bolde, because there is hope: and thou shalt digge pittes, and shalt lye downe safely.

19 * For when thou takest thy rest, none shall make thee afraid: yea, many shall make sure vnto thee.

20 But the eyes [k] of the wicked shall faile, and their refuge shall perish, and their hope shalbe sorrow of minde.

[c] He would not that God should proceed against him by his secret iustice, but by the ordinary meanes that hee punisheth others.
[d] Is it agreeable to thy iustice to doe me wrong?
[e] Wilt thou be without compassion?
[f] Wilt thou gratifie the wicked and condemne me?
[g] Doest thou this of ignorance?
[h] As those inconstant and changeable, as the times, to day a friend, to morrow an enemy?
[i] By affliction thou keepest me as in a prison, and restrainest me from doing euill, neither can any see me at liberty.
[k] In these eight verses following he describeth the mercy of God, in the wonderfull creation of man: and therein groundeth that God should not shew himselfe rigorous against him.
[l] As brittle as a pot of clay.
[m] That is, reason and vnderstanding, and many other gifts, whereby man excelleth all earthly creatures.
[n] That is, thy fatherly care and prouidence whereby thou preserued me, and without the which I should perish straightway.
[o] Though I be not fully able to comprehend these things, yet I must needes confesse that it is so.
[p] I will alway walke in feare and sore assaulted in this battel betweene the flesh & the spirit, brasteth out into these affections, wishing rather short dayes then long paine.
[q] Iob being humilitie, knowing that none is iust before thee.
[r] That is, diuersitie of diseases & in great abundance: shewing that God hath infinite meanes to punish man.
[s] He wisheth that God would leaue off his affliction, considering his great miserie and the breuitie of his life.
[t] Hee speaketh thus in the person of a sinner, that is ouercome with passions & with the feeling of Gods iudgements, & therefore cannot apprehend in that state the mercies of God, and comfort of the resurrection, [u] No distinction between light & darkenesse, but where all is very darkenesse it selfe.

[b] He chargeth Iob with this, that he should say, that the thing which he spake was true, and that he was without sinne in the sight of God.
[c] Which is not to stand in iustifying of thy selfe, he signifieth that man will neuer be ouercome, whiles he reasoneth with another, and therefore God must breake off the controuersie, and stop mans mouth.
[d] That is, this perfection of God, and if man be not able to comprehend the height of the heauen, the depth of hell, the length of the earth, the breadth of the Sea, which are but creatures: how can he attaine to the perfection of the Creator?
[e] If God should turne the state of things, and establish a new order in nature, who could controlle him?
[f] That is, without vnderstanding: to that whatsoeuer gifts he hath afterward, come of God, and not of nature.
[g] If thou repent, pray vnto him.
[h] Renounce thine owne euill workes.

CHAP. XI.

1 Iob is vniustly reprehended of Zophar. 7 God is incomprehensible. 14 He is mercifull to the repentant. 18 Their assurance that liue godly.

Then answered Zophar [a] Naamathite, & said,

2 Should not the multitude of words be answered? or should a great [a] talker be iustified?

3 Should men hold their peace at thy lies? and when thou mockest others, shall none make thee ashamed?

[a] Should he perswade by his great talke, that he is iust?

CHAP. XII.

1 Iob accuseth his friendes of ignorance. 7 Hee declareth the might, and power of God. 17 And how hee changeth the course of things.

Then Iob answered, and said,

2 Indeede because that ye are the people onely, [a] wisedome must die with you.

3 But I haue vnderstanding as well as you, and am not inferiour vnto you: yea, who knoweth not such things?

4 * I am [b] as one mocked of his neighbour, who calleth vpon God, and he [c] heareth him: the iust and the vpright is laughed to scorne.

5 [d] Hee that is ready to fall, it is a lampe despised in the opinion of the rich.

6 The tabernacles of robbers doe prosper, and they are in safetie that prouoke God, † whom God hath enriched with his hand.

7 Aske now the beasts, [e] and they shall teach

* Prou. 14. 2.
[b] He reprooueth these his friends of two faults: the one that they thought they had better knowledge
[c] The which neighbour being a mocker and a wicked man, thinketh that no man is in Gods fauour but hee, because hee hath all things that he desireth.
[d] As the rich esteeme not a light, or torch that goeth out, so is hee despised that falleth from prosperity to aduersitie.
† Ebr. to whom God hath brought in with his hand.
[e] He declareth to them that did dispute against him, that their wisedome is common to all, and such as the very brute beasts doe dayly teach.

§ Or. ff.ff.

§ He exhorteth them to be wise in iudging, and shewed to know the right wie why God hath giuen them eares, as he hath done a mouth.

g Though men by age, and continuance of time attaine to wisedome, yet it is not comparable to Gods wisedome, nor able to comprehend his iudgements, wherein he answereth to that which was alleged, Chap. 8. 8.

h He sheweth that there is nothing done in this world without Gods will and ordinance, for else he should not be Almighty.

i He taketh wisedome from them.

k He abateth the honour of princes, and bringeth them into the lubiection of others.

l He causeth that their words haue no credite, which is when he will punish sinne.

m In this discourse of Gods wonderfull workes, Iob sheweth that whatsoeuer is done in this world both in the order and change of things is by Gods will and appointment: wherein he declareth that hee thinketh well of God, and is as able to see fourth his power in wordes as they that reasoned against him, were.

thee, and the soules of the heauen, and they shall tell thee.

8 Or speake to the earth, and it shall shew thee: or the fishes of the sea, and they shall declare vnto thee.

9 Who is ignorant of all these, but that the hand of the Lord hath made these?

10 In whose hand is the soule of euery liuing thing, and the breath of all g mankinde.

11 Doeth not the eares i discerne the words, and the mouth taste meate for it to sease?

12 Among the g ancient is wisdome, and in the length of dayes is vnderstanding.

13 With him is wisedome and strength: hee hath counsell and vnderstanding.

14 Behold, he will breake downe, and it cannot be built: he shutteth a man vp, and he cannot be loosed.

15 Behold, hee withholdeth the waters, and they drie vp: but when he sendeth them out, they destroy the earth.

16 With him is strength and wisdome: he that is deceiued, and that h deceiueth, are his.

17 Hee causeth the counsellors to goe as spoiled, and maketh the iudges fooles.

18 i He looseth k the collar of kings, and girdeth their loynes with a girdle.

19 Hee leadeth away the princes as a pray, and ouerthroweth the mighty.

20 He taketh away the speach from the l faithfull counsellers, and taketh away the iudgement of the ancient.

21 Hee powreth contempt vpon princes, and maketh the strength of the mighty weake.

22 He discouereth the deepe places from their darkenesse, and bringeth foorth the shadow of death to light.

23 He m increaseth the people, and destroyeth them: hee enlargeth the nations, and bringeth them in againe.

24 Hee taketh away the hearts of them that are the chiefe ouer the people of the earth, and maketh them to wander in the wildernesse out of the way.

25 They grope in the darke without light: and he maketh them to stagger like a drunken man.

CHAP. XIII.

Iob compareth his knowledge with the experience of his friends. 16 The pertinent shall be saued, and the hypocrite condemned. 20 He prayeth vnto God, that he would not handle him rigorously.

LOe, mine eye hath seene all this: mine eare hath heard, and vnderstood it.

2 I know also as much as you know: I am not inferior vnto you.

3 But I will speake to the Almighty, and I desire a to dispute with God.

4 For in deede yee forge lies, and all you are b physicians of no value.

5 Oh, that you would hold your tongue, that it might be imputed to you for wisedome!

6 Now heare my disputation, and giue eare to the arguments of my lips.

7 Will ye speake c wickedly for Gods defence, and talke deceitfully for his cause?

8 Will ye accept his person? or will ye contend for God?

9 Is it well that hee should seeke of you? will you make a lye for him, as one lyeth for a man?

10 He will surely reproue you, if ye doe secretly accept any person.

11 Shall not his excellencie make you afraid; and his feare fall vpon you?

12 Your d memories may be compared vnto ashes, and your bodies vnto bodies of clay.

13 Hold your tongues in my presence, that I may speake, and let come vpon me what will.

14 Wherefore doe I e take my flesh in my teeth, and put my soule in my hand?

15 Loe, though hee slay me, yet will I trust in him, and I will reproue my wayes in his sight.

16 Hee shall be my saluation also: for the hypocrite shall not come before him.

17 Heare diligently my words, and marke my talke.

18 Behold now: if I prepare me to iudgement, I know that I shalbe f iustified.

19 Who is he that will pleade h with me? for if I now hold my tongue, I i die.

20 But do not these two things vnto me: then will I not hide my selfe from thee.

21 k Withdraw thine hand from me, and let not thy feare make me afraid.

22 Then call thou, and I will answere: or let me speake, and answere thou me.

23 How many are l mine iniquities and sinnes: shew me my rebellion and my sinne.

24 Wherefore hidest thou thy face, and takest me for thine enemie?

25 Wilt thou breake a leafe driuen to and fro? and wilt thou pursue the drie stubble?

26 For thou writest bitter things against me, and makest me to possesse m the iniquities of my youth.

27 Thou puttest my feete also in the n stocks, and lookest narrowly vnto all my paths, and makest the print thereof in the † heeles of my feete.

28 Such a one consumeth like a rotten thing, and as a garment that is mothaten.

2 For although he knew that God had a iustice, which was manifest in his ordinary working and another in his secret counsell, yet he would vrge his affection to God, because he was not able to vnderstand the cause why he did thus punish him.

b You doe not well apply your medicine to the disease.

c He condemneth their zeale, which had not knowledge, neither regarded they to comfort him, but alway gazed on Gods iustice: as though it was not euidently found in Iob, except they had vndertaken the probation thereof.

d Your fame shall come to nothing.

e It is not but a manifest figure of misesatisfaction, and that I do not complaine without cause, seeing that I am thus tormented as though I should reare mine owne teeth, and put my life in danger?

f Whereby hee declareth that he is not an hypocrite as they charged him.

g That it is cleared and not cast off for my sinnes, as you reason.

h To procure that God doeth thus punish me for my sinnes.

i If I defend not my cause, euery man will condemne me.

k He sheweth what these two things are.

l His paragrafus moue him to reason with God, not denying but that he had sinned: but he desired to vnderstand what were his great sinnes that had deserued such rigour, wherein he offended that he would know a cause of God why he did punish him.

m Thou punishest me now for the faults that I committed in my youth. n Thou makest me thy prisoner, and doest so precisely obserue my steps.

CHAP. XIV.

1 Iob describeth the shortnesse and miserie of the life of man. 14 Hope sustaineth the godly. 22 The condition of mans life.

MAn a is borne of woman, is of short continuance and full of trouble.

2 Hee shooteth foorth as a floure, and is cut downe: he vanisheth also as a * shadow, and continueth not.

3 And yet thou openest thine eyes vpon such a one, and causest me to enter into iudgement with thee.

4 * Who can bring a cleane thing out of filthinesse? there is not one.

5 Are not his dayes determined? the number of his moneths are with thee: thou hast appointed his bounds which he cannot passe.

6 Turne from him that hee may cease, vntill his desired day, as an hireling.

7 For there is hope of a tree, if it be cut downe, that it will yet sprout, and the branches thereof will not ceale.

8 Though the roote of it waxe old in the earth, & the stocke thereof be dead in the ground,

9 Yet by the sent of water it will budde, and bring

* Chap. 8. 9.

Psal. 144. 4.

b His meaning is, that seeing that man is so fraile a creature, God should not handle him so extremely: wherein Iob sheweth the wickednesse of the Iewish, when it is not subiect to the Spirit.

bring forth boughes like a plant.

10 d But man is sicke, and dieth, and man perisheth, and where is he?

11 As the waters passe from the sea, and as the flood decayeth and drieth vp,

12 So man sleepeth and riseth not: for he shall not wake againe, nor be raised from his sleepe till the heauen be no more.

13 Oh that thou wouldest hide me in the graue, and keepe me secret, vntil thy e wrath were past, and wouldest giue mee terme, and f remember me!

14 If a man die, shall he liue againe? All the dayes of mine appointed time will I wait, till g my changing shall come.

15 Thou shalt call mee, and I will h answere thee: thou louest the worke of thine owne hands.

16 But now thou k numbrest my steppes, and doest not delay my sinnes.

17 Mine iniquity is sealed vp, as in a i bagge, and thou addest vnto my wickednesse.

18 And surely as the mountaine that falleth, commeth to nought, and the k rocke that is remooued from his place:

19 As the water breaketh the stones, when thou ouerflowest the things which grow in the dust of the earth: so thou destroyest the hope of man.

20 Thou preuailest alway against him, so that he passeth away: he changeth his face when thou castest him away, 21 And he knoweth not if his sonnes shall be honourable, neither shall he vnderstand concerning them, whether they shall be of low degree.

22 But while his l flesh is vpon him, hee shall be sorowfull, and while his soule is in him, it shall mourne.

d Hee speaketh not here as though he had not hope of the immortalitie, but as a man in extreme paine, when reason is ouercome by affections and torments.

e Hereby he declareth that the feare of Gods iudgement was the cause why he desired to die.

f That is, release my paines and take me to mercy.

g Meaning, vnto the day of the resurrection when he should be changed, and renewed.

h Though I be afflicted in this life, yet in the resurrection I shall feele thy mercies and answere when thou calleste me.

k Prou. 5. 21.

i Thou layest them altogether, and sufferest none of my sinnes vnpunished.

k He murmureth through the impatience of the flesh against God, as though he vsed as great seuerite against him as against the hard rocks, or waters that ouerflow, so that hereby all the occasion of his hope is taken away.

l Yet whiles he liueth, he shalbe in paine, and miserie.

CHAP. XV.

1 Eliphaz reprehendeth Iob, because he aduanceth his wisedome and pureness to himselfe. 16 He describeth the curse that falleth on the wicked, reckoning Iob to be one of the number.

THen answered Eliphaz the Temanite, and sayd,

2 Shall a wise man speake words of the a wind? and fill his bellie b with the East winde?

3 Shall hee dispute with words not comely? or with talke that is not profitable?

4 Surely thou hast cast off c feare, and restrainest prayer before God:

5 For thy mouth declareth thine iniquity, seeing thou hast chosen the d tongue of the craftie.

6 Thine owne mouth condemneth thee, and not I, and thy lips testifie against thee.

7 Art thou the e first man that was borne? and wast thou made before the hils?

8 Hast thou heard the secret counsell of God, and doest thou restraine wisedome f to thee?

9 What knowest thou that we know not? and vnderstandest that is not in vs?

10 With vs are both ancient and very aged men, farre older then thy father.

11 Seeme the consolations of God g small vnto thee? is this thing strange vnto thee?

12 Why doeth thine heart h take thee away, and what doe thine eyes meane, 13 That thou answerest to God i at thy pleasure, and bringest such words out of thy mouth?

a That is, vaine words, and without consolation?

b Meaning, with matters that are of none importance, which are forgotten assoone as they are vttered, as the East winde drieth vp the moisture assoone as it falleth.

c He chargeth Iob as though his talke caused men to cast off the feare of God, and prayer.

d Thou speakest as doe the mockers and contemners of God.

e That is, the most ancient, and so by reason the most wise?

f Art thou onely wise?

g He accuseth Iobs pride, & ingratitude, that will not be comforted by God, nor by their counsell.

h Why doest thou stand in thine owne conceit?

i Or, in thy spirit.

14 What is man, that hee should be cleane? and hee that is borne of woman, that hee should i be iust?

15 Behold, hee found no stedfastnesse in his Saints: yea, the heauens are not cleane in his sight.

16 How much more is man abominable, and filthy, which k drinketh iniquity like water?

17 I will tell thee, heare mee, and I will declare that which I haue seene:

18 Which wise men haue told, as they haue heard of their fathers, and haue not kept it secret:

19 To whom alone the land was l giuen, and no stranger passed through them.

20 The wicked man is continually as one that trauaileth of child, and the number m of yeeres is hid from the tyrant.

21 A sound of feare is in his eares, and in his prosperity the destroyer shall come vpon him.

22 He beleeueth not to returne out of n darkenesse: for he seeth the sword before him.

23 Hee wandreth o to and fro for bread where he may: he knoweth that the day of darkenesse is prepared at hand.

24 Affliction and p anguish shall make him afraid: they shall preuaile against him as a king ready to the battell.

25 For he hath stretched out his hand against God, and made himselfe strong against the Almighty.

26 Therefore God shall runne vpon him, euen vpon his necke, and against the most thicke part of his shield.

27 Because he hath couered his face with q his fatnesse, and hath collops in his flancke.

28 Though he dwell r in desolate cities, and in houses which no man inhabiteth, but are become heapes.

29 Hee shall not be rich, neither shall his substance continue, neither shall hee prolong the s perfection thereof in the earth.

30 He shall neuer depart out of darkenesse: the flame shall drie vp his branches, and hee shall goe away with the breath of his mouth.

31 He t beleeueth not that he erreth in vanity: therefore vanity shall be his change.

32 His branch shall not be greene, but shall be cut off before his day.

33 God shall destroy him as the vine her sowre u grape, and shall cast him off, as the oliue doeth her flowre.

34 For the congregation of the hypocrite shall be desolate, and fire shall deuoure the houses of x bribes.

35 For they y conceiue mischiefe and bring forth vanity, and their belly hath prepared deceit.

i His purpose is to prooue that Iob as an vniust man, and an hypocrite is punished for his sinnes, like as he did before, chap. 4. 18.

k Which hath a desire to sinne, as he that is thirstie to drinke.

l Who by their wisedome so gouerned, that no stranger inuaded them, and so the land seemed to be giuen to them alone.

m The euell man is euer in danger of death, and is neuer quiet in conscience.

n Out of that miserie whereinto he once falleth.

o God doeth not onely impouerish the wicked oftentimes, but euen in their prosperity he punisheth them with a greedinesse enermore to gather: which is as a beggery.

p He thereth what weapons God vseth against the wicked, which list vp themselues against him, to wit, terrour of conscience, and outward afflictions.

q That is, he was so puft vp with great prosperity and abundance of all things, that he forgate God: noting, that Iob in his felicity had not the true feare of God.

r Though he build and repaire ruinous places to get him fame, yet God shall bring all to nought, and turne his great prosperity into extreme misery.

s Meaning, that his sumptuous buildings should neuer come to perfection.

t He standeth so in his owne conceit, that hee will giue no place to good counsell, therefore his owne pride shall bring him to destruction.

u As one that gathereth grapes before they be ripe.

x Which were built or maintained by powling and briberie.

y And therefore all their vaine deuises shall turne to their owne destruction.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Iob mooueth the importunatice of his friends. 7 Complaineth in most extremitie both. 19 And taketh God to witnesse of his innocencie.

BVt Iob answered and sayd,

2 I haue oftentimes heard such things: miserable comforters are ye all.

3 Shall there be none ende of the wordes of a winde?

a winde? or what maketh thee bold so to b answere?

4 I could also speake as ye doe: (but would God your soule were in my soules stead) I could keep you company in speaking, and could d shake mine head at you.

5 But I would strengthen you e with my mouth, and the comfort of my lips should asswage your sorow.

6 Though I speake, my sorow f cannot be asswaged: though I cease, what release haue I?

7 But now g he maketh mee wearie: O God, thou hast made all my h congregation desolate.

8 And hast made me full of i wrinckels which is a witnesse thereof, and my leannesse riseth vp in me, testifying the same in my face.

9 k His wrath hath torne mee, and he hateth me: and gnasheth vpon me with his teeth: mine enemie hath sharpened his eyes against me.

10 They haue opened their mouthes vpon me, and smitten mee on the l cheeke in reproch: they gathered themselues together against me.

11 God hath deliuered me to the vniust, and hath made mee to turne out of the way by the m hands of the wicked.

13 His n archers compasse me round about: he cutteth my reines, and doeth not spare, and powreth my gall o vpon the ground.

14 He hath broken me with one breaking vpon another, and runneth vpon me like a giant.

15 I haue sowed a sacke cloath vpon my skinne, and haue abased mine p horne vnto the dust.

16 My face is withered with weeping, and the shadow of death is vpon mine eyes.

17 Though there be no wickednesse in q mine hands, and my prayer be pure.

18 O earth, couer not thou my r blood, and let my crying find no place.

19 For loe, now my s witnesse is in the heauen, and my record is on high.

20 My friends t speake eloquently against me: but mine eye powreth out teares vnto God.

21 Oh that a man might x pleade with God, as man with his neighbour!

22 For the yeeres accounted come, and I shall goe the way, whence I shall not returne.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Iob saith that he cannot chuse away, and yet doth patiently abide. 10 He exhorteth his friends to repentance. 13 Shewing that he looketh but for death.

MY breath is corrupt: my dayes are cut off, and the graue is ready for me.

2 There are none but a mockers with me, and mine eye continueth in b their bitternesse.

3 c Lay downe now, and put me in suretie for thee: who is he, that d will touch mine hand?

4 For thou hast hid their heart from e vnderstanding? therefore shalt thou not set them vpon high.

5 f For the eyes of his children shall faile, that speaketh flatterie to his friends.

6 Hee hath also made mee, a g byword of the people, and I am as a tabret h before them.

7 Mine eye therefore is dim for griefe, and all my strength is like a shadow.

8 The righteous shalbe astonied at i this, and the innocent shalbe moued against the hypocrite.

9 But the righteous will hold his k way, and he whose hands are pure, shall increase his strength.

10 All I you therefore turne you, and come now, and I shall not finde one wise among you.

11 My dayes are past, mine enterprises are broken, and the thoughts of mine heart

12 Haue changed the m night for the day, and the light that approached, for darkenesse.

13 Though I hope, n yet the graue shalbe mine house, and I shall make my bed in the darke.

14 I shall say to corruption, Thou art my o father, and to the worme, Thou art my mother and my sister.

15 Where is then now mine hope? or who shall consider the thing that I hoped for?

16 P They shall goe downe into the bottome of the pit: surely it shall lie together in the dust.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Bildad reboketh the gaines of the vnfaithfull and wicked,

THen answered Bildad the Shuhite, and sayd,

2 When will a yee make an ende of your words? b cause vs to vnderstand, and then we will speake.

3 Wherefore are wee counted as beastes, and are vile in your sight?

4 Thou art c as one that teareth his soule in his anger. Shall the d earth be forsaken for thy sake? or the rocke remooued out of his place?

5 Yea, the light of the wicked shall he e quenched, and the sparke of his fire shall not shine.

6 The light shall be darke in his dwelling, and his candle shall be put out with him.

7 The steps of his strength shalbe restrained, and his owne counsell shall cast him downe.

8 For hee is taken in the net by his feete, and he f walketh vpon the snares.

9 The g grenne shall take him by the heele, and the thiefe shall come vpon him.

10 A snare is laid for him in the ground, and a trap for him in the way.

11 Fearefulnesse shall make him afraid on euery side, and shall driue him to his feete.

12 His strength shalbe g famine: and destruction shalbe ready at his side.

13 It shall deuoure the inner partes of his skinne, and the h firstborne of death shall deuoure his strength.

14 His hope shalbe rooted out of his dwelling, and shall cause him to goe to the i king of feare.

15 Feare shall dwell in his house (because it is not k his) and brimstone shall be scattered vpon his habitation.

16 His rootes shall be dryed vp beneath, and aboue shall his branch be cut downe.

17 His remembrance shall perish from the earth, and he shall haue no name in the streete.

18 They

b Which seme for vaine ostentation and for no true comfort.

b For Eliphaz did replie against Iobs answere.

c I would you felt that which I doe.

d That is, mocke at your misery, as you do at mine.

e If this were in my power, yet would I comfort you, and not doe as ye doe to me.

f If they would say, Why doest thou not then comfort thy selfe? he answereth, that the iudgements of God are more heauy then he is able to asswage either by words or silence.

g Meaning, God.

h That is, destroyed most of my familie.

i In rooken of sorow and griefe.

k That is, God by his wrath: and in this diuersitie of words and high stile, he expresseth how grieuous the hand of God was vpon him.

l That is, hath handled me most contemptuously: for so smiting on the cheeke signified, 2 king. 22, 24. mat. 14, 65.

m They haue led me whither they would.

n His manifold afflictions.

o I am wounded to the heart.

p Meaning, his glory was brought lowe.

q Signifying, that he is not able to comprehend the cause of this his grieuous punishment.

r That is, vnfained such a sinner as mine aduersaries accuse me, man condemne me, yet God is witnesse of my cause.

s To be assured of true consolation.

t Vse painted wordes in braueth out into passions, and speaketh vnadvisedly, as though God should intreat man more gently, seeing hee hath but a short time here to liue.

u Vse painted wordes in stead of comfort, seeing now at deaths doore, he had but them that mocked at him, and discouraged him.

x Pleade with God, as man with his neighbour.

f Hee that flattereth a man, and onely studyeth him happy in his prosperitie, shall not himself e onely hurt in his posteritie be punished.

g God hath made all the world to speake of me, because of mine afflictions.

h That is, as a continuall sound in their eares.

i To wit, when they see the godly punished: but in the end they shall come to vnderstanding, and know what shall be the reward of the hypocrite.

k That is, will not be discouraged, considering that the godly are punished as well as the wicked.

l Iob speaketh to them three that came to comfort him.

a Which come from selues iust, as Chap. 13, 4.

b Whom you take to be but beasts, as Chap. 12, 7

c That is, like a mad man.

d Shall God change the order of nature for thy sake, by dealing with thee otherwise then he doeth with all men?

e When the wicked is in his prosperity, then God changeth his state: and that is his ordinary working for their sinnes.

f Meaning, that the wicked see his continuall danger.

g That which should nourish him, shalbe consumed by famine.

h That is, some strong and violent death shall consume his strength.

i Or as the Hebrew word signifieth, his members or parts.

k That is, with most great feare.

l Meaning, not finely come by.

m Though all the world would assure him, yet God would destroy him and his.

m He shall fall from prosperity to aduersity.

n When they shall see what came vnto him.

o That is, many times, as Neh. 4. 12. b That is, I my selfe shalbe punished for it, or you haue not yet confuted it.

c He brasseth out against into his passions, and declareth still that his afflictions commeth of God, though he be not able to feele the cause in himselfe.

d Meaning, out of his afflictions.

e Meaning, his children, and whatsoeuer was deare vnto him in this world.

f Which is plucke vp, and hath no more hope to grow.

g His manifold afflictions.

h Mine household seruants: by all these losses Iob the weth that touching the flesh he had great occasion to be moued.

i Which were beas and mine.

k Besides these great losses and most cruell vnkindnesse, he was touched in his owne person, as followeth.

l All my flesh was consumed.

m Seeing I haue these iust causes to complaine, condemne not as an hypocrite, specially ye which should comfort me.

n Is it not enough that God doth punish me, except you by reproaches increase my sorowe

o To see my body punished, except yee trouble my minde?

p He protesteth that notwithstanding his sore pasisions his religion is perfit: and that he is not a blasphemer as they iudged him.

q I doe not so iustifie my selfe before the world, but I know that I shall come before the great Iudge, who shall be my deliuerer and Sauiour.

18 They shall driue him out of the m light vnto darkenesse, and chase him out of the world.

19 Hee shall neither haue sonne nor nephewe among his people, nor any posterity in his dwellings.

20 The posteritie shalbe astonied at his n day, and feare shall come vpon the ancient.

21 Surely such are the habitations of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

CHAP. XIX.

a Iob reproueth his friends, 5 and recitith his miseries and grieuous paines. 25 He assureth himselfe of the generall resurrection.

BVt Iob answered, and said,

2 How long will yee vexe my soule, and torment me with words?

3 Ye haue now o ten times reproached me, and are not ashamed: ye are impudent toward me.

4 And though I had indeed erred, mine error b remaineth with me.

5 But indeed if ye will aduance your selues against me, and rebuke me for my reproach,

6 Know now, that God hath c ouerthrowen me, and hath compassed me with his net.

7 Behold, I crie out of violence, but I haue none answere: I crie, but there is no iudgement.

8 Hee hath hedged vp my way that I cannot d passe, and he hath set darkenesse in my paths.

9 Hee hath spoiled mee of mine honour, and taken the e crowne away from mine head.

10 He hath destroyed mee on euery side, and I am gone: and he hath remooued mine hope like f a tree.

11 And he hath kindled his wrath against me, and counteth me as one of his enemies.

12 His g armies came together, and made their way vpon me, and camped about my tabernacle.

13 He hath remooued my brethren farre from mee, and also mine acquaintance were strangers vnto me.

14 My neighbours haue forsaken me, and my familiars haue forgotten me.

15 h They that dwell in mine house, and my maids tooke me for a stranger: for I was a stranger in their sight.

16 I called my seruant, but he would not answere, though I prayed him with my mouth.

17 My breath was strange vnto my wife, though I prayed her for the childrens sake of mine i owne body.

18 The wicked also despised mee, and when I rose, they spake against me.

19 All my secret friends abhorred me, and they whom I loued, are turned against me.

20 My bone k cleaueth to my skinne and to my flesh, and I haue escaped with the l skinne of my teeth.

21 Haue pitie vpon me: haue m pitie vpon me, (O ye my friends) for the hand of God hath touched me.

22 Why doe ye persecute mee, as n God? and are not satisfied with my o flesh?

23 Oh that my wordes were now written! oh that they were written euen in a booke, 24 And grauen with p an yron pen in lead, or in stone for euer!

25 For I am sure that my q Redeemer liueth, and hee shall stand the last on the earth

26 And though after my skin vvormes destroy this body, yet shall I see God r in my flesh.

27 Whom I my selfe shall see, and mine eyes shall behold, and none other for me, though my reynes are consumed within me.

28 But ye sayd, Why is he persecuted? And there was a s deepe matter in me

29 Be yee afraid of the sword: for the sword will be t auenged of wickednesse, that yee may know that there is a iudgement.

r Hereby Iob declareth plainly that he had a full hope, that both the soule and body should enioy the presence of God in the last resurrection.

s Though his friends thought that he was but persecuted of God for his sinnes, yet he declareth that there was a deeper consideration, to wit, the trial of his faith & patience, and so to be an example for others.

t God will be reuenged of this hastie iudgement, whereby you condemned me.

CHAP. XX

1 Zophar sheweth, that the wicked and the ioure use shall haue a short end, 22 though for a time they flourish.

THen answered Zophar the Naamathite, and said,

2 Doubtlesse my thoughts cause mee to answere, and therefore I make haste.

3 I haue heard a the correction of my reproach: therefore the spirit of mine vnderstanding causeth me to answere.

4 Knowest thou not this of old? and since God placed man vpon the earth,

5 That the reioycing of the wicked is short, and that the ioy of the hypocrites is but a moment?

6 Though b his excellencie mount vp to the heauen, and his head reach vnto the cloudes,

7 Yet shal he perish for euer like his dung, & they which haue seene him, shall say, Where is hee?

8 He shall flee away as a dreame, and they shall not finde him, and shall passe away as a vision of the night.

9 So that the eye which had seene him, shall do so no more, and his place shall see him no more.

10 His children shall c flatter the poore, and his hands shall d restore his substance.

11 His bones are full of the sinne of his youth, and e it shall lie downe with him in the dust.

12 When wickednes was f sweet in his mouth, and he hid it vnder his tongue,

13 And fauoured it, and would not forsake it, but kept it close in his mouth, 14 Then his meate in his bowels was turned: the gall of Aspes was in the middes of him.

15 He hath deuoured substance, and hee shall vomit it: for God shall draw it out of his belly.

16 Hee shall sucke the g gall of Aspes, and the vipers tongue shall slay him.

17 Hee shall not see the h riuers, nor the floods and streames of hony and butter.

18 Hee shall restore the labour, and shall deuoure no more: euen according to the substance shall be his exchange, i and hee shall enioy it no more.

19 For hee hath vndone many: he hath forsaken the poore, and hath spoyled houses which he builded not 20 Surely he shal feele no quietnes in his body, neither shall he reserue of that which he desired.

21 There shall none of his k meate be left: therefore none shall hope for his goods.

22 When he shalbe filled with his abundance, he shall be in paine, and the hand l of all the wicked shall assaile him.

a He declareth that two things moued him to speake: to wit, because Iob seemed so touch him, and because he thought he had knowledge sufficient to confute him.

b His purpose is to proue Iob to be a wicked man, and an hypocrite, because God punished him, and changed his prosperity into aduersitie.

c Whereas the father through ambition and tyrannny oppressed the poore, the child, en through ponentie and miserie, shall seeke fauour at the poore.

d So that the thing which he hath taken away by violence, shall be restored againe by force.

e Meaning, that he shall carry nothing away with him but his sinne.

f As poyson that is sweete in the mouth, bringeth destruction when it commeth into the body: so all vice at the first is pleasant, but afterward God turneth it to destruction.

g He compareth euill gotten goods to the venom of Aspes, which serpent is most dangerous: noting that Iobs great riches were not truely come by, Though God gaue to all other abundance of his blessings, yet he shall haue no part thereof.

h That is, these rauenous and spoylers of the poore shall enioy their theft but for a time: for after, God will take it from them, and cause them to make restitution, so that it is but an exchange.

i Iob.

k Hee shall leaue nothing to his posterity.

l The wicked shall neuer be in rest: for one wicked man shall seeke to destroy another.

23 He

23 He shallbe about to fill his bellie, but God shall send vpon him his fierce wrath, [m] and shall cause to raine vpon him, euen vpon his meat.

24 He shall flee from the yron weapons, and the bow of steele shall strike him through.

25 The arrow [n] is drawen out, and commeth foorth of the [o] bodie, and shineth of his gall, so feare commeth vpon him.

26 ○ All darkenesse shall be hid in the secret places: the fire that is not [p] blowen shall deuoure him, and that which remaineth in his tabernacle, shallbe destroyed.

27 The heauen shall declare his wickednesse, and the earth shall rise vp against him.

28 The [q] increase of his house shall goe away: it shall flow away in the day of his wrath.

29 This is the portion of the wicked man from [r] God, and the heritage that he shall haue of God, for his [s] words.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Iob declareth how the prosperitie of the wicked maketh them proud. 15 In so much that they blaspheme God. 26 Their destruction is at hand. 23 None ought to be iudged wicked for affliction, neither good for prosperity.

BVt Iob answered, and said,

2 Heare diligently my wordes, and this [a] shallbe in stead of your consolations.

3 Suffer mee that I may speake, and when I haue spoken, mocke on.

4 Doe I direct my talke to man? If it [b] were so, how should not my spirit be troubled?

5 Marke mee, and be abashed, and lay your hand vpon your [c] mouth.

6 Euen when I remember, I am afraide, and feare taketh hold on my flesh.

7 Wherefore doe the wicked [d] liue, and waxe old, and grow in wealth?

8 Their seed is established in their sight with them, and their generation before their eyes.

9 Their houses are peaceable without feare, and the rod of God is not vpon them.

10 Their bullocke gendreth, and faileth not: their kow calueth, and casteth not her calfe.

11 They send forth their children [e] like sheep, and their sonnes dance.

12 They take the tabret and harpe, and reioyce in the sound of the organs.

13 They spend their dayes in wealth, and suddenly [f] they goe downe to the graue.

14 They say also vnto God, Depart from vs: for we desire not the [g] knowledge of thy wayes.

15 Who is the Almighty, that we should serue him? and what profit should we haue, if we should pray vnto him?

16 Loe, their wealth is not in their [h] hand: therefore let the counsell of the wicked [i] be farre from mee,

17 How oft shall the candle of the wicked be put out, and their destruction come vpon them? he will diuide their liues in his wrath,

18 They shall be as stubble before the wind, and as chaffe that the storme carieth away.

19 God will lay vp the sorow of the father for his children: when hee rewardeth him, hee shall know it.

20 [k] His eyes shall see his destruction, and hee shall drinke of the wrath of the Almighty.

21 For what pleasure hath he in his house after him, when the number of his moneths is cut off?

22 Shall any teach [l] God knowledge, who iudgeth the highest things?

23 One [m] dieth in his full strength, being in all ease and prosperitie.

24 His breasts are full of milke, and his bones run full of marow.

25 And another [n] dieth in the bitternesse of his soule, and neuer eateth with pleasure.

26 They shall sleepe both in [o] the dust, and the wormes shall couer them.

27 Behold, I know your thoughts, and the enterprises wherewith ye doe me wrong.

28 For ye say, Where is the princes [p] house? and where is the tabernacle of the wickeds dwelling?

29 May ye [q] not aske them that goe by the way? and ye cannot denie their signes.

30 But the wicked is kept vnto the day of [r] destruction, and they shall be brought foorth to the day of wrath.

31 Who shall declare his way [s] to his face? and who shall reward him for that he hath done?

32 Yet shall he be brought to the graue, and remaine in the heape.

33 The [t] slimie valley shallbe sweet vnto him, and euery man shall draw after him, as before him there were innumerable.

34 How then comfort [u] ye me in vaine, seeing in your answere there remaine but lies?

[a] Your diligent marking of my words shallbe to mee a great consolation.
[b] As though he would say, I doe not talk with man but with God, who will not answere me, and therefore my minde must needes be troubled.
[c] He chargeth them as though they were not able to comprehend this his feeling of Gods iudgement, and exhorteth them therefore to silence.
[d] Iob prooueth against his aduersaries that God punisheth not straightwayes the wicked, but oftimes giueth them long life, and prosperitie: so that we must not iudge God iust or vniust by the things that appeare to our eye.
[e] They haue store of children, lustie and healthfull, & in these points he answereth to that which Zophar alleaged before.
[f] Not being tormented with long sickenesse.
[g] They desire nothing more then to be exempt from all subiection that they should beare to God: thus Iob sheweth his aduersaries, that if they reason onely by that which is seene by common experience, the wicked that hate God, are better dealt withall, then they that loue him.
[h] It is not their owne, but God onely lendeth it vnto them.
[i] God keepe me from their prosperity.
[k] When God recompenseth his wickednes, he shall know that his prosperity was but vanitie.
[l] Who sendeth to the wicked prosperitie, and punisheth the godly.
[m] Meaning, the wicked.
[n] To wit, the godly.
[o] As concerning their bodies: and this he speaketh according to the common iudgement.
[p] That they called Iobs house in derision, concluding that it was destroyed, because he was wicked.
[q] Which through long trauailing haue experience and tokens thereof, to wit, that the wicked doe prosper, and the godly liue in affliction.
[r] Though the wicked flourish here, yet God will punish him in the last day.
[s] Though men doe flatter him, and none dare reproue him in this world, yet death is a token that he will bring him to an account.
[t] Hee shall be glad to lie in a slimie pit, which before could not be content with a royall palace.
[u] Saying, that the iust in this world haue prosperity, and the wicked aduersitie.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Eliphaz affirmeth that Iob is punished for his sinnes. 6 He accuseth him of vnmercifulnesse. 23 And that hee denied Gods providence. 21 He exhorteth to repentance.

THen Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and said,

2 May a man be [a] profitable vnto God, as he that is wise may be profitable to himselfe?

3 Is it any thing vnto the Almighty, that thou art righteous? or is it profitable to him, that thou makest thy wayes vpright?

4 Is it for feare [b] of thee that hee will accuse thee? or goe with thee into iudgement?

5 Is not thy wickednesse great, and thine iniquities innumerable?

6 For thou hast taken the [c] pledge from thy brother for nought, and spoiled the cloathes of the naked.

7 To such as were weary thou hast not giuen water to drinke, and hast withdrawen bread from the hungry.

8 But the mighty man [d] had the earth, and hee that was in authoritie, dwelt in it.

9 Thou hast cast out widowes emptie, and the armes of the [e] fatherlesse were broken.

10 Therefore snares are round about thee, and feare shall suddenly trouble thee.

11 Or darkenesse that thou shouldest not see, and abundance of waters shall couer thee.

12 Is not God on [g] hie in the heauen? and behold the height of the [h] starres how hie they are.

13 But thou sayest, How should God [i] know? can he iudge through the darke cloud?

[a] Though man were iust, yet God could haue no profit of this his iustice: and therefore when he punisheth him, he hath no regard to his iustice, but to his sinne. * Chap. 35.7.
[b] Least thou shouldest reproue or hurt him?
[c] Thou hast beene cruell and without charitie, and wouldest doe nothing for the poore, but thine owne aduantage.
[d] When thou wast in power & authoritie, thou didst not iustice but wrong.
[e] Thou hast not onely not shewed pitie, but oppressed them.
[f] That is, manifold afflictions.
[g] He accuseth Iob of impietie and contempt of God, as though he would say, If thou passe not for men, yet consider the height of Gods maiestie.
[h] That so much the more by that excellent worke thou mayest feare God, and reuerence him.
[i] He reproueth Iob, as though he denied Gods prouidence, and that he could not see the things that were done in this world.

14 The cloudes hide him that he cannot see, and he walketh in the circle of heauen.

15 Hast thou marked the way of the world, k wherein wicked men haue walked?

16 Which were l cut downe before the time, whose foundation was as a riuer that ouerflowed.

17 Which said vnto God, Depart from vs, and asked what the Almighty could doe for them.

18 Yet hee m filled their houses with good things: but let the counsell of the wicked be farre from me.

19 The righteous shall see them, and shall reioyce, n and the innocent shall laugh them to scorne.

20 Surely, o our substance is hid: but the fire hath deuoured the remnant of p them.

21 Therefore acquaint thy selfe, I pray thee, q with him, and make peace: thereby thou shalt haue prosperity.

22 Receiue, I pray thee, the law of his mouth, and lay vp his words in thine heart.

23 If thou returne to the Almighty, thou shalt r be built vp, and thou shalt put iniquitie farre from thy tabernacle.

24 Thou shalt lay vp gold for t dust, and the gold of Ophir, as the stuffe of the riuers.

25 Yea, the Almighty shall be thy defence, and thou shalt haue plentie of siluer.

26 And thou shalt then delight in the Almighty, and lift vp thy face vnto God.

27 Thou shalt make thy prayer vnto him, and he shall heare thee, & thou shalt render thy vowes.

28 Thou shalt also decree a thing, and he shall establish it vnto thee, and the x light shall shine vpon thy wayes.

29 u When others are cast downe, then shalt thou say, I am lifted vp: and God shall saue the humble person.

30 The innocent shall deliuer the y yland, & it shall be preserued by the pureneſſe of thine hands.

k How God hath punished them from the beginning?
l He prooueth Gods prouidence by the punishment of the wicked, whom he taketh away before they can bring their wicked purposes to passe.
m He answereth to that which Iob had said, Chap. 21. 7 that the wicked haue prosperity in this world: declaring that he might not be partaker of the like.
n The iust reioyce at the destruction of the wicked for two causes first, because God therein setteth himselfe a iudge of the world, and by his meanes maintaineth his honour and glory. Secondly, because God therein doth that he hath care ouer his in that he punisheth their enemies.
o That is, the state and preseruation of the godly, is hid vnder Gods wings.
p Meaning, of the wicked.
q He exhorteth Iob to repentance, and to returne to God.
r God will restore vnto thee all thy substance, which shalbe in abundance like dust. s That is, the fauour of God in God will deliuer his when the wicked are destroyed round about them, as in the flood and in Sodom. x God will deliuer a whole country from perill, euen for the iust mans sake.

CHAP. XXIII.

a Iob affirmeth that he hath knowen the, and feareth the power and sentence of the Iudge, 10 And that hee is not punished onely for his sinnes.

BVt Iob answered, and said,

2 Though my talke be this day in a bitternesse, and my plague greater then my groning.

3 Would God yet I knew how to finde him, I would enter vnto his place.

4 I would plead the cause before him, and fill my mouth with arguments.

5 I would knowe the words, that hee would answere me, and would vnderstand what he would say vnto me.

6 Would he b plead against me with his great power? No, but he would c put strength in me.

7 d There the righteous might reason with him, so I should be deliuered for euer from my Iudge.

8 e Behold, if I go to the East, he is not there: if to the West, yet I cannot perceiue him:

9 If to the North where hee worketh, yet I cannot see him: he will hide himselfe in the South and I cannot behold him.

a He sheweth the iust cause of his complaining, and astonishing that Eliphaz had exhorted him to returne to God, Chap. 22. 21. he declareth that he desireth nothing more, but it seemed that God would not be found of him.
b Vsing his absolute power, and sayings, because I am God, I may do what I will.
c Of his mercie he would giue me power to answere him.
d When hee of his mercy hath giuen strength to maintaine their cause. e Meaning, that if he consider Gods iustice, he is not able to comprehend his iudgements on what side or what part soeuer he turneth himselfe.

10 But he knoweth my f way, and tryeth mee, and I shall come forth like gold.

11 My foote hath followed his steps: his way haue I kept, and haue not declined:

12 Neither haue I departed from the commandement of his lippes, and I haue g esteemed the wordes of his mouth more then mine appointed food.

13 Yet he is in one minde, and who can h turne him? yea, he doeth what his mind desireth.

14 For he will performe that which is decreed of me, and i many such things are with him.

15 Therefore I am troubled at his presence, and in considering it, I am afraid of him.

16 For k God hath softened mine heart, and the Almighty hath troubled me.

17 For I am not cut off in l darkenesse, but he hath hid the darkenesse from my face.

f God hath this preeminence aboue me, that he knoweth my way: to wit, that I am innocent, & I am not able to iudge of his works: he sheweth also his confidence that God doeth vse him for his profit.
g His word is more precious vnto me, then the meate wherewith the body is sustained.
h Iob confesseth that at this present he seeke not Gods fauour, and yet was assured that he had appointed him to a good end.
i Or many matters. k That I should not be without feare. l He sheweth the cause of his feare, which is, that he being in trouble seeth none end, neither yet knoweth the cause.

CHAP. XXIV.

a Iob describeth the wickednesse of men, and sheweth what curse belongeth to the wicked. 22 How all things are gouerned of Gods prouidence. 17 And the destruction of the wicked.

HOw should not the times a be hid from the Almightie, seeing that they which knowe him, see not his b dayes?

2 Some remoone the land markes, that rob the flocks and feed thereof.

3 They leade away the asse of the fatherlesse, and take away the widowes oxe to pledge.

4 They make the poore to turne out of the way, so that the poore of the earth hide themselues c together.

5 Behold, others as wilde asses in the wildernesse, goe forth to their businesse, and d rise early for a pray: the wildernesse giueth him and his children food.

6 They reape e his prouision in the field, but they gather the late g vintage of the wicked.

7 They cause the naked to lodge without garment, and without couering in the cold.

8 They are wet with the showres of the mountaines, h and they embrace the rocke for want of a couering.

9 They plucke the fatherles i from the breast, and take the pledge of k the poore.

10 They cause him to goe naked without clothing, and take the gleaning from the hungry.

11 They that make oyle l betweene their walles, and tread their winepresses, suffer thirst.

12 Men m crie out of the city, and the soules of the slaine n crie out: yet God o doeth not charge them with folly.

13 These are they that abhorre the p light: they know not the wayes thereof, nor continue in the paths thereof.

14 The murtherer riseth early, and killeth the poore and the needy: and in the night he is as a thiefe.

15 The eye also of the q adulterer waiteth for the twilight, and saith, None eye shall see me, and disguiseth his face.

16 They digge through houses in the darke, which they marked for themselues in the day:

a That Iob speaketh in his passions, and after the iudgement of the flesh: that is, that hee seeth not the things that are done at times, neither yet hath a peculiar care ouer all, because he punisheth not the wicked, nor reuengeth the godly.
b When he punisheth the wicked, and rewardeth the good c And for cruelties and oppressions dare not shew their faces d That is, feareth no diligence
e He and his liue by robbing and murthering f Meaning, the poore mans.
g Signifying, that one wicked man will not spoile an other, but for necessitie.
h The poore are driuen by the wicked into the rocks and holes where they cannot lie dry for the raine.
i That is, they so powle and pill the poore widowe, that she cannot haue to sustaine her selfe that she may be able to giue her childe sucke.
k That is, his garment wherewith he should be couered or clad.
l In such places which are appointed for that purpose: meaning, that those that labour for the wicked, are pined for hunger in For the great oppression and extortion in Cry out and call for vengeance. o God doeth not condemne the wicked but feeneth to passe ouer it by his long silence. p That is, Gods word, because they are reproued thereby. q By these particular vices and the licence thereunto, he would proue that God punisheth not the wicked, and rewardeth the iust.

they know not the light.

17 But the morning is euen to them as the shadow of death: if one know them, they are in the terrours of the shadow of death.

18 He is swift vpon the [r] waters: their [s] portion shallbe cursed in the earth: he will not behold the way of the vineyards.

19 As the drie ground and heate consume the snow waters, so shall the graue [t] the sinners.

20 [u] The pitifull man shall forget him: the worme shall feede his sweetnesse: hee shallbe no more remembred, and the wicked shallbe broken like a tree.

21 He [x] doth euill intreat the barren that doth not beare, neither doth he good to the widow.

22 He draweth also the [y] mighty by his power, and when he riseth vp, none is sure of life.

23 Though men giue him assurance to be in safety, yet his eyes are vpon their wayes.

24 They are exalted for a little, but they are gone, and are brought low as all others: they are destroyed, and cut off as the toppe of an eare of corne.

25 But if it be not [z] so, where is he? or who will proue me a liar, and make my words of no value?

r Hee fleeth to the waters for his succour.
s They thinke that all the world is bent against them, and dare not goe by the high way.
t As the dry ground is neuer full with waters, so will they neuer cease sinning till they come to the graue.
u Though God suffer the wicked for a time, yet their end shallbe most vile destruction, and in this point Iob commeth to himselfe, and sheweth his confidence.
x He sheweth why the wicked shall not be lamented, because he did not pitie others.
y Hee declareth that after that the wicked haue destroyed the weakest, they will doe like to the stronger, and therefore are iustly punished by Gods iudgements.
z That is, that contrarie to your reasoning no man can giue perfit reason of Gods iudgements, let me be reproued.

CHAP. XXV.

Bildad prooueth that no man is cleane nor without sinne before God.

THen answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said,

2 [a] Power and feare is with him, that maketh peace in his high places.

3 Is there any number in his armies? and vpon whom shall not his light arise?

4 And how may a man [c] be iustified with God? or how can he be cleane that is borne of woman?

5 Behold, he will giue no light to the Moone, [d] and the Starres are vncleane in his sight.

6 How much more man, a worme, euen the sonne of man, which is but a worme?

a His purpose is to proue that albeit God rule and afflict the iust, yet soone after he sendeth prosperitie, and because he did not so to Iob, he concludeth that he is wicked.
b Who can hide him from his presence?
c That is, be iust in respect of God?
d If God shew his power, the Moone and Starres cannot haue that light which is giuen them, much lesse can men haue any excellencie but of God.

CHAP. XXVI.

Iob sheweth that man cannot helpe God, and proueth it by his miracles.

BVt Iob answered, and said,

2 [a] Whom helpest thou? him that hath no power? sauest thou [b] arme that hath no strength?

3 Whom counsellest thou? him that hath no wisedome? thou sheweft right well as the thing is.

4 To whom doest thou declare these words? or whose spirit [c] commeth out of thee?

5 The [d] dead things are formed vnder the waters, and neere vnto them.

6 The graue is [e] naked before him, and there is no couering for [f] destruction.

7 He stretcheth out the [g] North ouer the empty place, and hangeth the earth vpon nothing.

8 He bindeth the waters in his clouds, & the cloud is not broken vnder them.

9 Hee holdeth backe the face of his throne, and spreadeth his cloud vpon it.

10 He hath set bounds about the waters, vntill the [h] day and night come to an end.

11 The [k] pillars of heauen tremble and quake at his reproofe.

12 The sea is calme by his power, and by his vnderstanding he smiteth the pride thereof.

13 His Spirit hath garnished the heauens, and his hand hath formed the crooked [l] serpent.

14 Lo, these are part of his wayes: But [m] how little a portion heare wee of him? and who can vnderstand his fearefull power?

a Thou concludest nothing for neither thou helpest me, which am destitute of all helpe, neither yet speakest sufficiently on Gods behalfe, who hath no neede of thy defence.
b But thou doest not applie it to the purpose.
c That is, mooueth thee to speake this?
d Iob beginneth to declare the force of Gods power and prouidence in the mines and mettals in the deepe places of the earth.
e There is nothing hid in the bottome of the earth but he seeth it.
f Meaning, the graue wherein things putrifie.
g He causeth the whole heauen to turne about the North pole, of stars fashioned like a serpent, because of the crookednesse, things, which we see dayly with our eyes, declare his great power and prouidence, how much more would they appeare, if we were to comprehend all his works?
h That is, he hideth the heauens which are called his throne.
i So long as this world endureth.
k Not that heauen hath pillars to vphold it, but he speaketh by a similitude, as though he would say. The heauen it selfe is not able to abide his reproach.

CHAP. XXVII.

3 The constancie and perpituitie of Iob. 31 The reward of the wicked and of the tyrants.

MOreouer Iob proceeded and continued his parable, saying,

2 The liuing God hath taken away my [a] iudgement: for the Almighitie hath put my soule in bitternesse.

3 Yet so long as my breath is in mee, and the Spirit of God in my nostrels, 4 My lips surely shall speake no wickednesse, and my tongue shall vtter no deceit.

5 God forbid, that I should [c] iustifie you: vntill I die, I will neuer take away mine [d] innocencie from my selfe.

6 I will keepe my righteousnesse, and will not forsake it: mine heart shall not reproue mee of my [e] dayes.

7 Mine enemie shallbe as the wicked, and he that riseth against me, as the vnrighteous.

8 For what [f] hope hath the hypocrite when hee hath heaped vp riches, if God take away his soule?

9 Will God heare his crie, when trouble commeth vpon him?

10 Will hee set his delight on the Almightie? will he call vpon God at all times?

11 I will teach you what is in the hand of [g] God, and I will not conceale that which is with the Almightie.

12 Behold, all yee your selues [h] haue seene it: why then doe you thus vanish [i] in vanitie?

13 This is the [k] portion of a wicked man with God, and the heritage of tyrants, which they shall receiue of the Almightie.

14 If his children be in great number, the sword shall deuoure them, and his posteritie shall not be satisfied with bread.

15 [l] His remnant shall be buried in death, and his widowes [m] shall not weepe.

16 Though hee should heape vp siluer as the dust, and prepare raiment as the clay.

17 He may prepare it, but the iust shall put it on, and the innocent shall diuide the siluer.

18 Hee buildeth his house as the [n] moth, and as a lodge that the watchman maketh.

19 When the rich man sleepeth, [o] he shall not be gathered to his fathers: they opened their eyes, and he was gone.

20 Terrors shall take him as waters, and a tempest shall carie him away by night.

21 The East wind shall take him away, and he shall depart: & it shall hurle him out of his place.

22 And God shall cast vpon him and not spare, though he would faine flee out of his hand.

a He hath so sore afflicted me, that mea cannot iudge of mine vprightnesse: for they iudge onely by outward signes.
b How soeuer men iudge of mee, yet will I not speake contrary to that which I haue said, and so do wickedly in betraying the truth.
c Which condemne me as a wicked man, because the hand of God is vpon me.
d I will not confesse that God doth thus punish me for my sinnes.
e Of my life past.
f What aduantage hath the dissembler to gaine neuer so much, seeing hee shall lose his owne soule?
g That is, what God referreth to himself and where of he giueth not the knowledge to all.
h That is, these secret iudgements of God, and yet doe not vnderstand them.
i Why maintaine you then this error?
k Thus will God order the wicked, and punish him euen vnto his posteritie.
l None shall lament him.
m Which breedeth in another mans possession or garment, but is soone shaken out.
n Hee meaneth, that the wicked tyrants shall not haue a quiet death, nor be buried honourably.

23 Every man shall clap their hands at him, and hisse at him out of their place.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Iob sheweth that the wisedome of God is unsearchable.

THe siluer surely hath his veine, [a] and the gold his place, where they take it.

2 Yron is taken out of the dust, and brasse is molten out of the stone.

3 God putteth an ende to darkenesse, [b] and hee trieth the perfection of all things: hee setteth a bond of darkenesse, and of the shadow of death.

4 The flood breaketh out against the [c] inhabitant, and the waters [d] forgotten of the foote, being higher then man, are gone away.

5 Out of the same earth commeth [e] bread, and vnder it, as it were fire is turned vp.

6 The stones thereof are a place [f] of Saphirs, and the dust of it is gold.

7 There is a path which no fowle hath known, neither hath the kites eye seene it.

8 The Lions whelps haue not walked it, nor the Lion passed thereby.

9 He putteth his hand vpon the [g] rockes, and ouerthroweth the mountaines by the rootes.

10 He breaketh riuers in the rockes, and his eye seeth euery precious thing.

11 Hee bindeth the floods, that they doe not ouerflow, and the thing that is hid, bringeth hee to light.

12 But where is wisedome found? [h] and where is the place of vnderstanding?

13 Man knoweth not [i] the price thereof: for it is not found in the land of the liuing.

14 The depth saith, It is not in mee: the Sea also saith, It is not with mee.

15 [k] Gold shall not be giuen for it, neither shall siluer be weighed for the price thereof.

16 It shall not be valued with the wedge of gold of Ophir, nor with the precious onix, nor the saphir.

17 The gold nor the cristall shallbe equall vnto it, nor the exchange shallbe for plate of fine golde.

18 No mention shallbe made of coral, nor of the [l] gablish: for wisedome is more precious then pearles.

19 The Topaz of Ethiopia shall not be equall vnto it, neither shall it be valued with the wedge of pure gold.

20 Whence then commeth wisedome, and where is the place of vnderstanding?

21 Seeing it is hid from the eyes of all the liuing, and is hid from the [m] fowles of the heauen?

22 Destruction and death say, We haue heard the fame thereof with our eares.

23 But God vnderstandeth the [n] way thereof, and he knoweth the place thereof.

24 For hee beholdeth the ends of the world, and seeth all that is vnder heauen.

25 To make the weight of the windes, and to weigh the waters by measure.

26 When he made a decree for the raine, and a way for the lightning of the thunders, 27 Then did hee see it, and counted it: he prepared it, and also considered it.

28 And vnto man he said, Behold * the [o] feare of the Lord is wisedome, and to depart from euill is vnderstanding.

a His purpose is to declare that man may attaine in this world to diuers secrets of nature, but man is neuer able to comprehend the wisedome of God.

b There is nothing but it is compassed within certaine limits, and hath an end, but Gods wisedome.

c Meaning him that dwelleth there-in.

d Which a man cannot wade thorow.

e That is, corne, and vnderneath is brimstone or coale, which easily conceiueth fire.

f He alludeth to the mines and secrets of nature, which are vnder the earth, wherein no neither foules nor beasts can enter.

g After that he hath declared the wisedome of God in the secrets of nature, he describeth his power.

h Though Gods power and wisedome may be vnderstood in earthly things, yet his heauenly wisdome cannot be attained vnto.

i It is too high a thing for man to attaine vnto in this world.

k It can neither be bought for gold nor precious stones, but is onely the gift of God.

l Which is thought to be a kind of precious stone.

m Meaning, that there is no naturall meanes whereby man might attaine to the heauenly wisdome, which he meaneth by the foules that fly hie.

n He meaneth God onely, the author of this wisedome, and the giuer thereof.

* Prou. 1. 7.

o He declareth that man hath so much of this heauenly wisedome, as he sheweth by fearing God, and departing from euill.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Iob complaineth of the prosperitie of the time past. 7, 21 His authoritie. 22 Iustice and equitie.

SO Iob proceeded, and continued his parable, saying,

2 Oh that I were as † in times past, when God preserued me!

3 When his [a] light shined vpon mine head: and when by his light I walked thorowe the darkenesse.

4 As I was in the dayes of my youth: when [c] Gods prouidence was vpon my tabernacle:

5 When the Almighty was yet with me, and my children round about me:

6 When I washed my pathes [d] with butter, and when the rocke powred mee out riuers of oyle:

7 When I went out to the gate, euen to the iudgement seate, and when I caused them to prepare my seat in the streete.

8 The yong men saue mee, and * hid themselues, and the aged arose, and stood vp.

9 The princes stayed talke, and layd their hand on their [f] mouth.

10 The voyce of princes was hidde, and their tongue cleaued to the roofe of their mouth.

11 And when the [g] eare heard mee, it blessed mee, † and when the eye saw me, it gaue witnesse to [h] mee.

12 For I deliuered the [i] poore that cried, and the fatherlesse, and him that had none to helpe him.

13 [k] The blessing of him that was readie to perish, came vpon me, and I caused the widowes heart to reioyce.

14 I put [l] on iustice, and it couered mee: my iudgement was as a robe, and a crowne.

15 I was the eyes to the blinde, and I was the feete to the lame.

16 I was a father vnto the poore, and when I knew not the cause, I sought it out diligently.

17 I brake also the iawes of the vnrighteous man, and pluckt the pray out of his teeth.

18 Then I sayd, I shall die in my [m] nest, and I shall multiply my dayes as the sand.

19 For my roote is [n] spred out by the water, and the dew shall lie vpon my branch.

20 My glory shall renew toward me, and my bowe shallbe restored in mine hand.

21 Vnto me men gaue eare, and waited, and held their tongue at my counsell.

22 After my wordes they replied not, and my talke [o] dropped vpon them.

23 And they waited for mee, as for the raine, and they opened their mouth [p] as for the latter raine.

24 If I [q] laughed on them, they beleeued it not: neither did they cause the light of my countenance [r] to fall.

25 I appointed out [s] their way, and did sit as chiefe, and dwelt as a King in the armie, and like him that comforteth the mourners.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Iob complaineth that he is contemned of the most contemptible, 11, 21 because of his aduersitie and affliction. 23 Death is the house of all flesh.

BVt now they that are yonger then I, [a] mocke me: yea, they whose fathers I haue refused to set with the [b] dogges of my flockes.

b I was free from affliction.

c That is, seemed by euident tokens to be more present with me.

d By these similitudes he declareth the great prosperity that hee was in, so that he had none occasion to be such a flatterer as they accused him.

e Being ashamed of their impudencie and affraid of my grauitie.

f Acknowledging my wisedome.

g All that heard me, praised me.

h Testifying, that I did good iustice.

i Because his aduersaries did so much charge him with wickednes, he is compelled to render account of his life.

k That is, I did succour him that was in distresse, so to be had cause to praise me.

e That is, their fathers died for famine before they came to age.
‖ Or, mad ones.
d Iob sheweth that these that mocked him in his affliction, were like to their fathers, wicked, and lewd fellows, such as he here describeth.

e They make songs of me, and mocke at my misery.
f God hath taken from me the force, credit, and authority wherewith I kept them in subiection.
g He said that the yong men when they saw him, hid themselues, as chap. 29. 8. and now in his misery they were impudent and licentious.
h That is, they sought by all meanes how they might destroy me.
i They need come to helpe them.
k By my calamity they tooke an occasion against me.
l My life faileth me, and I am as halfe dead.
m Meaning, sorrow.
n That is, God hath brought me into contempt.
o He speaketh not thus to accuse God, but to declare the vehemencie of his affliction, whereby he was caried beside himselfe.
p He compareth his afflictions to a tempest or whirlewind.
‖ Or, wisedome, or law.
q None can deliuer me thence, though they lament at my death.
r Instead of comforting they mocked at me.
s Not delighting in any worldly thing, no not so much as in the vse of the Sunne.
t Lamenting them that were in affliction, and mocking others to pity them.
u I am like the wild beasts that desire most solitary places.
x With the heat of affliction,

2 For whereto should the strength of their hande haue serued mee, seeing age e perisheth in them?
3 For pouerty and famine they were solitary, fleeing into the wildernes, which is darke, desolate and waste.
4 They cut vp ‖ nettles by the bushes, and the iuniper roots was their meat.
5 They were d chased forth from among men: they shouted at them, as at a thiefe.
6 Therefore they dwelt in the clefts of riuers, in the holes of the earth and rocks.
7 They roared among the bushes, and vnder the thistles they gathered themselues.
8 They were the children of fooles, and the children of villaines, which were more vile then the earth.
9 And now am I their e song, and I am their talke.
10 They abhorre me, and flee farre from mee, and spare not to spit in my face.
11 Because that God hath loosed my f coard and humbled mee, g they haue loosed the bridle before me.
12 The youth rise vp at my right hand: they haue pusht my feete, and haue troode on mee as on the h paths of their destruction.
13 They haue destroyed my paths: they tooke pleasure at my calamity, they had no i helpe.
14 They came as a great breach of waters, and k vnder this calamity they come on heaps.
15 Feare is turned vpon me: and they pursue my soule as the wind, and mine health passeth away as a cloud.
16 Therefore my soule is now l powred out vpon me, and the dayes of affliction haue taken hold on me.
17 m It pearceth my bones in the night, and my sinewes take no rest.
18 For the great vehemencie is my garments changed, which compasseth me about, as the collar of my coat.
19 n Hee hath cast me into the mire, and I am become like ashes and dust.
20 When I cry vnto thee, thou dost not heare me, neither regardest me, when I stand vp.
21 Thou turnest thy selfe o cruelly against me, and art enemy vnto me with the strength of thine hand.
22 Thou takest me vp and causest mee to ride vpon the p winde, and makest my ‖ strength to faile.
23 Surely I know that thou wilt bring mee to death, and to the house appointed for all the liuing.
24 Doubtles none can stretch his hand q vnto the graue, though they crie in his destruction.
25 Did not I weepe with him that was in trouble? was not my soule in heauinesse for the poore?
26 Yet when I looked for good, r euill came vnto me: and when I waited for light, there came darkenesse.
27 My bowels did boyle without rest: for the dayes of affliction are come vpon me.
28 I went mourning s without sunne; I stood vp in the Congregation t and cried.
29 I am a brother to the u Dragons, and a companion to the Ostriches.
30 My skin is blacke vpon me, and my bones are burnt with x heat.

31 Therefore mine harpe is turned to mourning, and mine organs into the voyce of them that weepe.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Iob reciteth the innocency of his liuing and number of his vertues, which declareth what ought to be the life of the faithfull.

I Made a couenant with mine a eyes: why then should I thinke on b a maid?
2 For what portion should I haue of God from aboue? and what inheritance of the almighty from on high?
3 Is not destruction to the wicked, and strange punishment to c the workers of iniquitie?
4 Doeth not he behold my wayes, and tell all my steps?
5 If I haue walked in vanitie, or if my foote hath made haste to deceit?
6 Let God weigh me in the iust balance, and he shall know my d vprightnesse.
7 If my step hath turned out of the way, or mine heart hath e walked after mine eye, or if any blot hath cleaued to mine hands,
8 Let me sow, and let another f eate: yea, let my plants be rooted out.
9 If mine heart hath beene deceived by a woman, or if I haue laide wayte at the doore of my neighbour, 10 Let my wife g grind vnto another man, and let other men bow downe vpon her.
11 For this is a wickednes, and iniquity to be condemned.
12 Yea, this is a fire that shall denoure h to destruction, & which shall root out all my increase.
13 If I did contemne the iudgement of my seruant, and of my maide, when they i did contend with me, 14 What then shall I do when k God standeth vp? and when he shall visit me, what shall I answer?
15 He that hath made me in the wombe, hath he not made l him? hath not he alone fashioned vs in the wombe?
16 If I restrained the poore of their desire, or haue caused the eyes of the widow m to faile, 17 Or haue eaten my morsels alone, & the fatherlesse hath not eaten thereof.
18 (For from my youth hath hee growen vp with me n as with a father, and from my mothers wombe haue I beene a guide vnto her.)
19 If I haue seene any perish for want of cloathing, or any poore without couering.
20 If his loynes haue not blessed me, because he was warmed with the fleece of my sheepe, 21 If I haue lift o vp my hand against the fatherles, when I saw that I might helpe him in the gate, 22 Let mine p arme fall from my shoulder, and mine arme be broken from the bone.
23 For Gods punishment was q fearefull vnto me, and I could not be deliuered from his Highnesse.
24 If I made golde mine hope, or haue said to the wedge of gold, Thou art my confidence, 25 If I reioyced because my substance was great, or because mine hand had gotten much,
26 If I did behold the r sunne, when it shined, or the moone walking in her brightnes, 27 If mine heart did flatter me in secret, or if my mouth did kisse s mine f hand.
28 (This also had beene an iniquity to be condemned: for I had denied the God t aboue.)
29 If I reioyced at his destruction that hated a I kept mine eyes from all wanton looks.

b Would not God then haue punished me?

c Iob declareth that the feare of God was a bridle to stay him from all wickednes.
d He sheweth wherein his vprightnes standeth, that is, in as much as he was blameles before men, and shined not against the second Table.
e That is, hath accomplished the lust of mine eye.
f According to the curse of the law, Deut. 28. 33.
g Let her be made a slaue.
h He sheweth that albeit man neglect the punishment of adultery, yet the wrath of God will neuer cease till such be destroyed.
i When they thought themselues euill intreated by me.
k If I had oppressed others, how should I haue escaped God's iudgement?
l He was moued to shew pity vnto seruants, because they were Gods creatures as hee was.
m By long waiting for her requeft.
n Hee nourished the fatherles, and maintained the widowes cause.

o To oppresse him and to doe him iniury.
p Let me rot in pieces.
q I refrained not from sinning for feare of men, but because I feared God.
r If I was proud of my worldly prosperity and felicitie, which is meant by the shining of the sunne, and brightnes of the moone.
s If mine owne doings delighted me. t By putting confidence in any thing but in him alone.

[1] My seruants mooued me to be reuenged of mine enemie, yet did I neuer with him hurt.
[k] And not confessed it freely: whereby it is euident that he iustified himselfe before men, and not before God.
[y] That is, Treuerenced the most weake and contemned, and was afraid to offend them.
[z] I suffered them to speake euill of me, and went not out of my house to reuenge it.
[a] This is a sufficient token of my righteousnesse, that God is my witnesse and will iustifie my cause.
[b] Should not this booke of his accusations be a praise and consolation to me?
[c] I will make him account of all my life, without feare.
[d] As though I had withholden their wages that laboured in it.
[e] Meaning, that he was no hirer nor extortioner.
[f] That is, the talke which he had with his three friends.

[g] Ebr. was iust in his owne eyes.

[a] Which came of Buz the sonne of Nahor, Abrahams brother.
[b] Or, as the Chalde paraphrast readeth, Abram.
[c] By making himselfe innocent, and by charging God of rigour.
[d] That is, the three mentioned before.

[e] Meaning, the ancient, which haue experience.
[f] It is a speciall gift of God that man hath vnderstanding, and commeth neither of nature nor by age.

[g] To proue that Iobs affliction came for his sinne.

me, or was mooued to ioy when euill came vpon him.

30 Neither haue I suffered my mouth to sinne, by wishing a curse vnto his soule.

31 Did not the men of my [u] Tabernacle say, Who shall giue vs of his flesh? wee cannot be satisfied.

32 The stranger did not lodge in the streete, but I opened my doores vnto him, that went by the way.

33 If I haue hid [x] my sinnes, as Adam, concealing mine iniquitie in my bosome, 34 Though I could haue made afraid a great multitude, yet the most contemptible of the families did [y] feare me: so I kept [z] silence, and went not out of the doore.

35 Oh that I had some to heare me! behold the my [a] signe that the Almightie will witnesse for me: thongh mine aduersarie shoul write a booke against me, 36 Would not I take it vpon my shoulder, and binde it as a [b] crowne vnto me?

37 I will tell him the number of my goings, and goe vnto him as to a [c] prince.

38 If my land [d] cry against mee, or the furrowes thereof complaine together.

39 If I haue eaten the fruits thereof without siluer: or if I haue grieued [e] the soules of the masters thereof, 40 Let thistles grow in stead of wheate, and cockle in the stead of barley.

THE [f] WORDS OF IOB ARE ENDED.

CHAP. XXXII.

2 Elihu reproueth them of folly. 8 Age maketh not a man wise, but the spirit of God.

SO these three men ceased to answere Iob, because he [g] esteemed himselfe iust.

2 Then the wrath of Elihu the sonne of Barachel the [a] Buzite, of the family of [b] Ram, was kindled: his wrath, I say, was kindled against Iob, because he iustified himselfe [c] more then God.

3 Also his anger was kindled against his three friends, because they could not finde an answere, and yet condemned Iob.

4 (Now Elihu had waited till Iob had spoken: for [d] they were more ancient in yeeres then hee.)

5 So when Elihu saw, that there was none answere in the mouth of the three men, his wrath was kindled.

6 Therefore Elihu the sonne of Barachel, the Buzite answered and saide, I am yong in yeeres, and ye are ancient: therefore I doubted, and was afraid to shew you mine opinion.

7 For I said, The dayes [e] shall speake, and the multitude of yeeres shall teach wisedome.

8 Surely there is a spirit in man, [f] but the inspiration of the Almightie giueth vnderstanding.

9 Great men are not alway wise, neither doe the aged alway vnderstand iudgement.

10 Therefore I say, Heare me and I will shewe also mine opinion.

11 Behold, I did waite vpon your words, and hearkened vnto your knowledge, whiles you sought out [g] reasons.

12 Yea, when I had considered you, loe, there was none of you that reprooued Iob, nor answered his words:

13 Least ye should say, We haue [h] found wisedome: for God hath cast him downe, and no man.

14 Yet hath [i] he not directed his words to me, neither will I answere [k] him by your words.

15 Then they fearing, answered no more, but left off their talke.

16 When I had waited (for they spake not, but stood still and answered no more)

17 Then answered I in my turne, and I shewed mine opinion.

18 For I am full of [l] matter, and the spirit within me compelleth me.

19 Behold, my belly is as the wine, which hath no vent, and like the new bottels that brast.

20 Therefore will I speake, that I may take breath: I will open my lips, and will answere.

21 I will not now accept the person of man, [m] neither will I giue titles to man.

22 For I may not giue [n] titles, least my Maker should take me away suddenly.

CHAP. XXXIII.

5 Elihu accuseth Iob of ignorance. 14 He sheweth that God hath diuers meanes to instruct man and to draw him from sinne. 19. 20 Hee afflicteth man and suddenly deliuereth him. 26 Man being deliuered giueth thanks to God.

WHerefore, Iob, I pray thee, heare my talke, and hearken vnto all my words.

2 Behold now, I haue opened my mouth: my tongue hath spoken in my mouth.

3 My wordes are in the vprightnesse of mine heart, and my lips shall speake pure knowledge.

4 The [a] Spirit of God hath made me, and the breath of the Almightie hath giuen me life.

5 If thou canst giue me answere, prepare thy selfe and stand before me.

6 Behold, I am according to thy wish in [b] Gods stead: I am also formed of the clay.

7 Beholde, my terrour shall not feare thee, neither shall mine hand [c] be heauy vpon thee.

8 Doubtlesse thou hast spoken in mine eares, and I haue heard the voyce of thy words.

9 I am [d] cleane, without sinne: I am innocent, and there is none iniquitie in me.

10 Loe, he hath found occasions against mee, and counted me for his enemie.

11 Hee hath put my feete in the stockes, and looketh narrowly vnto all my paths.

12 Behold, in this hast thou not done right: I will answere thee, that God is greater then man.

13 Why doest thou striue against him? for he doeth not [e] giue account of all his matters.

14 For God speaketh [f] once or twise, and one seeth it not.

15 In dreames and [g] visions of the night, when sleepe falleth vpon men, and they sleepe vpon their beds,

16 Then he openeth the eares of men, euen by their corrections, which he [h] had sealed,

17 That he might cause man to turne away from his enterprise, and that hee might hide the [i] pride of man,

18 And keepe back his soule from the pit, and that his life should not passe by the sword.

19 He is also stricken with sorow vpon his bed,

[h] And flatter your selues, as though you had ouercome him.
[i] To wit, Iob.
[k] He vseth almost the like arguments, but without taunting and reproaches.
[l] I haue conceiued in my mind great store of reasons.
[m] I will neither haue regard to riches, credit, nor authoritie, but will speake the very trueth.
[n] The Ebrew word signifieth, to change the name, as to call a foole a wise man: meaning, that he would not cloake the trueth to flatter men.

[a] I confesse the power of God, and am one of his, therefore thou oughtest to heare me.
[b] Because Iob had willed to dispute his cause with God, Chap. 16, 21. so that he might doe it without feare, Elihu saith, he will reason in Gods stead, vnlesse he needeth not to feare, because he is a man made of the same matter that he is.
[c] I will not handle thee so roughly as these others haue done.
[d] He repeateth Iobs words, whereby he protested his innocencie in diuers places, but specially in the 13, 16. and 30. Chapters.
[e] The cause of his iudgements is not alwayes declared to man.
[f] Though God by sundry examples of his iudgements speake vnto man, yet the reason thereof is not knowen: yea and though God should speake, yet is hee not vnderstood.
[g] God, saith hee, speaketh commonly, either by afflictions, or by his visions to teach vs the cause of his iudgements, or els by messengers.
[i] Hee sheweth for what end God sendeth afflictions: to beate downe mans pride, and to turne from euill.

[h] That is, determined to send vpon them.

and the griefe of his bones is sore.

20 So that his [k] life causeth him to abhorre bread, and his soule daintie meat.

21 His flesh falleth that it cannot be seene, and his bones which were not seene, clatter.

22 So his soule draweth to the graue, and his life [l] to the buriers.

23 If there be a [m] messenger with him, or an interpreter, one of a thousand [n] to declare vnto man his righteousnesse.

24 Then will he haue [o] mercy vpon him, and will say, [p] Deliuer him, that he go not downe into the pit: for I haue receiued a reconciliation.

25 Then shall his flesh be [q] as fresh as a childs, and shall returne as in the dayes of his youth.

26 Hee shall pray vnto God, and he will be fauourable vnto him, and hee shall see his face with ioy: for he will render vnto man his [r] righteousnesse.

27 Hee looketh vpon men, and if one say, I haue sinned, and [s] peruerted righteousnes, and it did not profit [t] me.

28 [u] He will deliuer his soule from going into the pit, and his life shall see the light.

29 Lo, all these things will God worke [x] twise or thrise with a man, 30 That hee may turne backe his soule from the pit, to be illuminate in the light of the liuing.

31 Marke well, O Iob, and heare mee: keepe silence and I will speake.

32 If there be [y] matter, answere me, and speake: for I desire to [z] iustifie thee.

33 If thou hast not, heare mee: holde thy tongue, and I will teach thee wisedome.

CHAP. XXXIII.

5 Elihu chargeth Iob, that hee called himselfe righteous. 12 Hee sheweth that God is iust in his iudgements. 24 God deliuereth the mightie. 30 By him the hypocrite reigneth.

MOreouer Elihu answered and said,

2 Heare my words, yee [a] wisemen, and hearken vnto me ye that haue knowledge,

3 For the eare trieth the words, as the mouth tasteth meate.

4 Let vs seeke [b] iudgement among vs, and let vs know among our selues what is good.

5 For Iob hath said, I am righteous, and God hath taken [c] away my iudgement.

6 Should I lie in my [d] right? my [e] wound of the arrow is [e] grieuous without my [f] sinne.

7 What man is like Iob, that drinketh [f] scornfulnesse like water?

8 Which goeth in the [g] company of them that worke iniquitie, and walketh with wicked men?

9 For hee hath [h] sayd, It profiteth a man nothing that he should [i] walke with God.

10 Therefore hearken vnto mee, yee men of wisedome, God forbid that wickednes should be in God, and iniquitie in the Almightie.

11 For he will render vnto man according to his worke, and cause euery one to finde according to his way

12 And certainely God will not do wickedly, neither will the Almightie peruert iudgement.

13 Whom * hath he appointed ouer the earth? beside him selfe? or who hath placed the whole [k] world?

14 If [k] he set his heart vpon man, and gather vnto himselfe his spirit [l] and his breath, 15 All flesh shall perish together, and man shall returne vnto dust.

16 And if thou hast vnderstanding, heare this, and hearken to the voyce of my words,

17 Shall he that hateth iudgement, [m] gouerne? and wilt thou iudge him wicked that is most iust?

18 Wilt thou say vnto a king, Thou art [n] wicked? or to princes, Ye are vngodly?

19 How much lesse to him that accepteth not the persons of princes, and regardeth not the rich, more then the poore? for they be all the worke of his hands,

20 They shall die suddenly, [o] and the people shalbe troubled at midnight, [p] and they shall passe forth and take away the mightie without hand.

21 For his eyes are vpon the wayes of man, and hee seeth all his goings.

22 There is no darkenesse nor shadowe of death, that the workers of iniquitie might be hid therein.

23 For hee will not lay on man so much, that he should [q] enter into iudgement with God.

24 Hee shall breake the mightie without [r] seeking, and shall set vp other in their stead.

25 Therefore shall he declare their [s] works: he shall turne the [t] night, and they shalbe destroyd.

26 He striketh them as wicked men in the places of the [u] seers,

27 Because they haue turned backe from him, and would not consider all his wayes:

28 So that they haue caused the voyce of the poore to [x] come vnto him, and he hath heard the cry of the afflicted.

29 And when he giueth quietnesse, who can make trouble? and when he hideth his face, who can behold him, whether it be vpon nations, or vpon a man onely?

30 Because the [y] hypocrite doeth reigne, and because the people are snared.

31 Surely it apperteineth vnto God [z] to say, I haue pardoned, I will not destroy.

32 [a] But if I see not, teach thou mee: if I haue done wickedly, I will doe no more.

33 Will he performe the thing through [b] thee? for thou hast reproued [c] it, because that thou hast chosen, and not I: now speake what thou knowest.

34 Let men of vnderstanding tell mee, and let a wise man hearken vnto me.

35 Iob hath not spoken of knowledge, neither were his words according to wisedome.

36 I desire that Iob may be [d] tried, vnto the end, touching the answeres for wicked men.

37 For hee [e] addeth rebellion vnto his sinne, he clappeth his hands among vs, and multiplieth his words against God.

CHAP. XXXV.

6 Neither doeth godlinesse profit, or vngodlinesse hurt God, but man. 13 The wicked cry vnto God and are not heard.

ELihu spake moreouer, and sayd,

2 Thinkest thou this right, that thou hast sayd, I am [a] more righteous then God?

3 For thou hast sayd, What profiteth it thee, and what auaileth [b] mee, to purge mee from my sinne?

[s] That is, his grieuous and miserable life.
[t] To them that shall burie him.
[m] A man sent of God to declare his will.
[n] A singular man, and as one chosen out of a thousand, which is able to declare the great mercies of God vnto sinners: and wherein mans righteousnes standeth, which is through the iustice of Iesus Christ and faith therein.
[o] Hee sheweth that it is a sure token of Gods mercy toward sinners, when hee causeth his word to be preached vnto them.
[p] That is, the minister shall by the preaching of the word pronounce vnto him the forgiuenesse of his sinnes.
[q] He shall feele Gods fauour and reioyce: declaring hereby wherein standeth the true ioy of the faithfull, and that God will restore him to health of body, which is a token of his blessing.
[r] God will forgiue his sinnes, and accept him as iust.
[s] That is, done wickedly.
[t] But my sinnes hath beene the cause of Gods wrath toward me.
[u] God will forgiue the penitent sinner.
[x] Meaning, oftentimes, euen as oft as a sinner doeth repent.
[y] If thou doubt of any thing, or see occasion to speake against it.
[z] That is, to shew thee, wherein mans iustification consisteth.

[a] Which are esteemed wise of the world.
[b] Let vs examine the matter vprightly.
[c] That is, hath afflicted me without measure.
[d] Should I say, I am wicked, being an innocent?
[e] I am sorer punished, then my sinne deserueth.
[f] Which is compelled to receiue the reproach and scornes of many for his foolish words.
[g] Meaning, that Iob was like to the wicked, because he seemed not to glorifie God and submit himselfe to his iudgements.
[h] He wresteth Iobs words who said that Gods children are oft times punished in this world, and the wicked go free.
[i] That is, liue godly, as Gen. 5.22. & Chap. 10, 24.

[k] To destroy him.
[l] The breath of life which he gaue man.
[m] If God were not iust, how could he gouerne the world.
[n] If man of nature feare to speake euill of such as haue power, then much more ought they to be afrayd to speake euill of God.
[o] When they looke not for it.
[p] The messengers of visitation that God shall send.
[q] God doeth not afflict man about measure, so that he should haue occasion to contend with him.
[r] For all his creatures are at hand to serue him. So that hee needeth not to seeke for any other army.
[s] Make them manifest that they are wicked.
[x] Declare the things that were hid.
[u] Meaning, openly in the sight of all men.
[x] By their cruelty and extortion.
[y] When tyrants sit in the throne of iustice which maketh pretence of executing iustice are but hypocrites and oppresse the people, it is a signe that God hath drawen backe his countenance and fauour from that place.
[z] Onely it belongeth to God to moderate his corrections, and not vnto man.
[a] Thus Elihu speaketh in the person of God, as it were mocking Iob, because hee would be wiser then God.
[b] Will God vse thy counsell in doing his workes?
[c] Thus he speaketh in the person of God, as though Iob should chuse and [illegible] much as he can, that arguments.
[d] That he may speake as we may answere him and all the wicked that shall vse such stubbornly in the maintenance of his cause.

[a] Iob neuer spake these words: but because he maintained his innocencie, it seemed as though hee would say, that God tormented him without iust cause.

b Such as are in the like error.

c If thou canst not controule the clouds, wilt thou presume to instruct God?
d Neither doeth thy sinne hurt God nor thy iustice profit him: for he will be glorified without thee.
e The wicked may hurt man and cause him to cry, who if he sought to God which sendeth comfort should be deliuered.
f Because they pray not in faith, as feeling Gods mercies.
g God is iust, howsoeuer thou iudgest of him.
h For if he did punish thee as thou deseruest, thou shouldest not be able to open thy mouth.

4 Therefore will I answere thee, and thy b companions with thee.
5 Looke vnto the heauen, and see and behold, the c clouds which are higher then thou.
6 If thou sinnest, what doest thou d against him, yea, when thy sinnes be many, what doest thou vnto him?
7 If thou be righteous, what giuest thou vnto him? or what receiueth he at thine hand?
8 Thy wickednes may hurt a man as thou art: and thy righteousnes may profit the sonne of man.
9 They cause many that are oppressed, e to cry, which cry out for the violence of the mighty.
10 But none sayeth, Where is God that made me, which giueth songs in the night?
11 Which teacheth vs more then the beasts of the earth, and giueth vs more wisedome then the foules of the heauen.
12 Then they crie because of the violence of the wicked, f but he answereth not.
13 Surely God will not heare vanitie, neither will the Almighty regard it.
14 Although thou sayest to God, Thou wilt not regard it, g yet iudgement is before him: trust thou in him.
15 But now because his anger hath not visited, nor called to count the euil with great extremity.
16 Therefore Iob h openeth his mouth in vaine, and multiplieth words without knowledge.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Elihu sheweth the power of God. 6 And his iustice. 9 And wherefore he punisheth. 23 The properties of the wicked.

E Lihu also proceeded and sayd,
2 Suffer me a little and I will instruct thee: for I haue yet to speake on Gods behalfe.
3 I will fetch a my knowledge afarre off, and will attribute righteousnes vnto my maker.
4 For truely my words shall not be false, and he that is b perfect in knowledge, speaketh with thee.
5 Behold, the mighty God casteth away none that is c mighty, and valiant of courage.
6 He d maintaineth not the wicked, but hee giueth iudgement to the afflicted.
7 He withdraweth not his eyes from the righteous, but they are with e kings in ſ throne, where he placeth them for euer: thus they are exalted.
8 And if they be bound in fetters and tyed with the cords of affliction, 9 Then will he shew them their f worke and their sinnes, because they haue beene proud.
10 He openeth also their eare to discipline, and cõmandeth them that they returne from iniquity.
11 * If they obey and serue him, they shall end their daies in prosperity, & their yeres in pleasures:
12 But if they will not obey, they shall passe by the sword and perish g without knowledge.
13 But the hypocrites h of heart increase the wrath: for they i call not when he bindeth them.
14 Their soule dieth in k youth, and their life among the whoremongers.
15 Hee deliuereth the poore in his afflictions, and openeth their eare in trouble.
16 Euen so would he haue taken thee out of the straite place into a broad place, and not shut vp beneath: and l that which resteth vpon thy table had beene full of fat.
17 But thou art full of the m iudgement of the wicked, though iudgement and equitie maintaine all things.
18 n For Gods wrath is, least hee should take thee away in thine abundance: for no multitude of gifts can deliuer thee.
19 Will he regard thy riches? he regardeth not gold, nor all them that excell in strength.
20 o Be not carefull in the night, how hee deſtroyeth the people out of their place.
21 Take thou heede: looke not to p iniquitie: for thou hast chosen it rather then affliction.
22 Behold, God exalteth by his power: what teacher is like him?
23 Who hath appointed to him his way? or who can say, Thou hast done wickedly?
24 Remember that thou magnifie his worke, which men behold.
25 All men see it, and men behold it q afarre off.
26 Behold, God is excellent, r and wee know him not, neither can the number of his yeeres be searched out.
27 When he restraineth the drops of water, the raine ſ powreth downe by the vapour thereof.
28 Which raine the clouds doe drop and let fall abundantly vpon man.
29 Who can know the diuisions of the clouds, and the thunders of his t Tabernacle?
30 Behold, hee spreadeth his light vpon u it, and couereth the x bottome of the sea.
31 For thereby he iudgeth y the people, and giueth meat abundantly.
32 He coūereth the light with the clouds, and commanded them to goe z against it.
33 a His companion sheweth him thereof, and there is anger in rising vp.

a He sheweth that when we speake of God, we must lift vp our spirits more hie, then our naturall sense is able to reach.
b Thou shalt perceiue that I am a faithfull instructor, and that I speake to thee in the name of God.
c Strong and constant, and of vnderstanding: for these are the gifts of God, and he loueth them in man: but forasmuch as God punished now Iob, it is a signe that these are not in him.
d Therefore he will not preserue the wicked: but to the humble and afflicted heart hee will shew grace.
e He preferreth the godly to honour.
f He will moue their hearts to feele their sins that they may come to him by repentance as he did Manasseh.
* Isa. 1. 19

m Thou are altogether after the maner of the wicked: for thou doest murmure against the iustice of God.
n God doeth punish thee, least thou shouldest forget God in thy wealth and so perish.
o Be not thou curious in seeking the cause of Gods iudgements, when he destroyeth any.
p And so murmure against God through impatiencie.
q The workes of God are so manifest, that a man may see them afarre off, and know God by the same.
r Our infirmitie hindereth vs so, that wee cannot attaine to the perfite knowledge of God.
ſ That is, the raine cõmeth of those drops of water, which he keepeth in the clouds.
t Meaning, of the clouds, which he calleth the Tabernacle of God.
u Vpon the cloud,
x That men can not come to the knowledge of the springs thereof.
y He sheweth that the raine hath double vse: the one that it declareth Gods iudgements, when it doeth ouerflow any places, and the other that it maketh the land fruitfull. z That is, one cloud to dash against another. a The cold vapour sheweth him: that is, the cloud of the hot exhalation, which being taken in the cold cloude mounteth vp toward the place where the fire is, and so anger is ingendred: that is, noyse, and thunderclaps.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 Elihu prooueth that the vnsearchable wisdome of God is manifest by his workes. 4 As by the thunders. 6 The snow. 9 The whirlewinde. 11 And the raine.

A T this also mine heart is a astonied, and is moued out of his place.
2 Heare the b sound of his voyce, and the noise that goeth out of his mouth.
3 He directeth it vnder the whole heauen, and his light vnto the ends of the world.
4 After it a noyse soundeth: hee thundereth with the voyce of his maiestie, and he will not stay c them when his voyce is heard.
5 God thundreth marueilously with his voyce: he worketh great things which we know not.
6 For he saith to the snow, Be thou vpon the earth d likewise to the small raine and to the great raine of his power.
7 With the force thereof he e shutteth vp euery man, that all men may know his worke.
8 Then the beastes goe into the denne, and remaine in their places.
9 The whirlewind commeth out of the South, and the cold from the f Northwind.

a At the marueiling of the thunder and lightnings: whereby he declareth that the faithfull are liuely touched with the maiestie of God, when they behold his works.
b That is, the thunder, whereby he speaketh to men to waken their dulneſſe, and to bring them to the consideration of his workes.
c Meaning, the raines and thunders.
d So that neither small raine nor great, know nor any things els commeth without Gods appointment.
e By raine and thunders God causeth men to keepe themselues within their houses. f In Ebrew it is called the scattering winde, because it drieth away the clouds and purgeth the ayre.

10 At the breath of God the froſt is giuen, and the breadth of the waters g is made narrow.

11 He maketh alſo the cloudes to h labour, to water the earth, and ſcattereth the cloude of i his light.

12 And it is turned about by his gouernement, that they may doe whatſoeuer he commaundeth them vpon the whole world:

13 Whether it be for k puniſhment, or for his land, or of mercy, he cauſeth it to come.

14 Hearken vnto this, O Iob; ſtand and conſider the wonderous workes of God.

15 Diddeſt thou know when God diſpoſed them? and cauſed the l light of his cloud to ſhine?

16 Haſt thou knowen the m varietie of the cloud, and the wonderous workes of him that is perfit in knowledge?

17 Or how thy cloathes are n warme, when hee maketh the earth quiet through the South-winde?

18 Haſt thou ſtretched out the heauens, which are ſtrong, and as a molten o glaſſe?

19 Tell vs what we ſhall ſay vnto him: for we cannot diſpoſe our matter becauſe of darkeneſſe.

20 Shall it be q told him when I ſpeake? or ſhall man ſpeake when he ſhall be r deſtroyed?

21 And now men ſee not the light, s which ſhineth in the cloudes, but the winde paſſeth and cleanſeth them.

22 The t brightnes commeth out of the North: the praiſe thereof is to God, which is terrible.

23 It is the Almighty: we cannot finde him out: he is excellent in power and iudgement, and abundant in iuſtice: he u afflicteth not.

24 Let men therefore feare him: for hee will not regard any that are wiſe in their owne conceit.

9 When I made the cloudes as a couering thereof, and darkeneſſe as the g ſwadling bandes thereof:

10 When I ſtabliſhed my commandement vpon it, and ſet barres and doores, 11 And ſayd, Hitherto ſhalt thou come, but no further, and heere ſhalt it h ſtay thy proude waues.

12 Haſt thou commanded the i morning ſince thy dayes? haſt thou cauſed the morning to know his place?

13 That it might take holde of the corners of the earth, and that the wicked might be k ſhaken out of it?

14 It is turned as clay to faſhion, l and all ſtand vp as a garment.

15 And from the wicked their light ſhalbe taken away, and the high arme ſhalbe broken.

16 Haſt thou entred into the bottomes of the ſea? or haſt thou walked to ſeeke out the m depth?

17 Haue the gates of death bene opened vnto thee? or haſt thou ſeene the gates of the ſhadow of death?

18 Haſt thou perceiued the breadth of the earth? tell if thou knoweſt all this.

19 Where is the way where light dwelleth? and where is the place of darkeneſſe, 20 That thou n ſhouldeſt receiue it in the bounds thereof, and that thou ſhouldeſt know the paths to the houſe thereof?

21 Knoweſt thou it, becauſe thou waſt then borne? and becauſe the number of thy dayes is great?

22 Haſt thou entred into the treaſures of the ſnowe? or haſt thou ſeene the treaſures of the haile, 23 Which I haue hid o againſt the time of trouble, againſt the day of warre and battell?

24 By what way is the light parted, which ſcattereth the Eaſt winde vpon the earth?

25 Who hath diuided the ſpouts for the raine? or the way for the lightning of the thunders, 26 To cauſe it to raine on the earth where no man is, and in the wilderneſſe where there is no man?

27 To fulfill the wilde and waſte place, and to cauſe the bud of the herbe to ſpring forth?

28 Who is the father of the raine? or who hath begotten the drops of the dew?

29 Out of whoſe wombe came the yce? who hath ingendred the froſt of the heauen?

30 The waters are hid p as with a ſtone: and the face of the depth is frozen.

31 Canſt thou reſtraine the ſweete influences of q the Pleiades, or looſe the bands of r Orion?

32 Canſt thou bring foorth s Mazzaroth in their time? canſt thou alſo guide t Arcturus with his ſonnes?

33 Knoweſt thou the courſe of heauen, or canſt thou ſet the u rule thereof in the earth?

34 Canſt thou lift vp thy voyce to the cloudes, that the abundance of water may couer thee?

35 Canſt thou ſend the lightnings that they may walke, and ſay vnto thee, Loe, heere wee are?

36 Who hath put wiſedome in the x reines? or who hath giuen the heart vnderſtanding?

37 Who can number cloudes by wiſdome? or who can cauſe to ceaſe the y bottels of heauen, 38 When the earth groweth into hardneſſe, z and the clots are faſt together?

CHAP.

g That is, froſen vp and dried.

i That is, the cloud that hath lightning in it.
k Raine, colde, heate, tempeſts and ſuch like are ſent of God, either to puniſh man, or to profit the earth, or to declare his fauour toward man, as Chap. 39. 31.
l That is, the lightning to breake forth in the cloudes?
m Which is ſometime changed into raine, or ſnowe, haile, or ſuch like.
n Why thy cloathes ſhould keepe thee warme when the South wind bloweth, rather then when any other winde bloweth?
o For their clearneſſe.
p That is, our ignorance: ſignifying that Iob was ſo preſumptuous, that he would controll the works of God.
q Hath God need that any ſhould tell him when man murmureth againſt him?
r If God would deſtroy a man, ſhould he repine?
s The cloude ſtopperh the ſhining of the ſunne, that man cannot ſee it till the winde haue chaſed away the cloud: and if man be not able to attaine to the knowledge of theſe things, how much leſſe of Gods iudgements?
t In Ebrew, golde, meaning, faire weather and cleare as golde.
u Meaning, without cauſe.

h That is, Gods decree and commandement, as verſe 10.
i To wit, to riſe, ſince thou waſt borne.
k Who hauing in the night bene giuen to wickednes, cannot abide the light, but hide themſelues.
l The earth which ſeemed in the night to haue no forme, by the riſing of the ſunne, is reſtored anew, and all things therein clad with new beauty.
m If thou are not able to ſeeke out the depth of the ſea, how much leſſe art thou able to comprehend the counſell of God?
n That thou might teſt appoint it his way and limits.

u Canſt thou cauſe the heauenly bodies to haue any power ouer the earthly bodies?
x In the ſecret parts of man. y That is, the cloudes wherein the water is contained as in bottels.
z For when God doeth not open theſe bottels, the earth conceiueth no fruit, conuenience.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

God ſpeaketh to Iob, and declareth the weakeneſſe of man in the conſideration of his creatures, by whoſe excellencie the power, iuſtice, and prouidence of the Creator is knowen.

THen anſwered the Lord vnto Iob out of the a whirlewinde, and ſayd,

2 Who is this that b darkeneth the counſell by words without knowledge?

3 Gird vp now thy loynes like a man: I c will demaund of thee, and declare thou vnto me.

4 Where waſt thou when I d layed the foundations of the earth? declare, if thou haſt vnderſtanding.

5 Who hath layed the meaſures thereof, if thou knoweſt, or who hath ſtretched the line ouer it:

6 Whereupon are the foundations thereof ſet: or who layd the corner ſtone thereof:

7 When the ſtarres of the morning e prayſed me together: and all the f children of God reioyced:

8 Or who hath ſhut vp the Sea with doores, when it iſſued and came foorth as out of the wombe:

a That his words might haue greater maieſty, and that Iob might know with whom he had to doe.
b Which by ſeeking out the ſecret counſell of God by mans reaſon, maketh it more obſcure, and ſheweth his owne follie.
c Becauſe he had wiſhed to diſpute with God, Caap. 23. 3. God reaſoneth with him, to declare his raſhneſſe.
d Seeing he could not iudge of thoſe things which were done ſo long before he was borne, hee was not able to comprehend all Gods workes: much leſſe the ſecret cauſes of his iudgements.
e The ſtarres and dumbe creatures are ſayde to prayſe God, becauſe his power, wiſedome and goodneſſe is manifeſt and knowen therein, f Meaning, the Angels.

CHAP. XXXIX.

The bountie & prouidence of God, which extendeth euen to the young rauens, giueth man full occasion to put his confidence in God. 37 Iob confesseth and humbleth himselfe.

a After he had declared Gods workes in the heauens, he sheweth his marueilous prouidence in earth, euen toward the brute beasts. b Reade Psal. 147,9.

WIlt [a] thou hunt the pray for the lion? or fill the appetite of the lions whelpes, 2 When they couch in their places, and remaine in the couert to lie in waite?
3 Who prepareth for the rauen his meate, when his birds [b] crie vnto God, wandering for lacke of meate?
4 Knowest thou the time when the wild goats bring foorth young? or doest thou marke when the [c] hindes doe calue?
5 Canst thou number the moneths that they [d] fulfill? or knowest thou the time when they bring forth?
6 They bow themselues: they [e] bruise their young and cast out their sorowes.
7 Let their young waxe fatte, and grow vp with corne; they goe forth and returne not vnto them.
8 Who hath set the wilde asse at libertie? or who hath loosed the bonds of the wilde asse?
9 It is I which haue made the wildernesse his house, and the [f] salt places his dwellings.
10 He derideth the multitude of the citie: he heareth not the crie of the driuer.
11 Hee seeketh out the mountaine for his pasture, and searcheth after euery greene thing.
12 Will the vnicorne [g] serue thee? or will he tary by thy crib?
13 Canst thou binde the vnicorne with his band to labour in the furrow? or will he plow the valleys after thee?
14 Wilt thou trust in him, because his strength is great, and cast off thy labour vnto him?
15 Wilt thou beleeue him, that he will bring home thy seede, and gather it vnto thy barne?
16 Hast thou giuen the pleasant wings vnto the peacockes? or wings and feathers vnto the ostrich?
17 Which leaueth his egges in the earth, and maketh them [h] hot in the dust, 18 And forgetteth that the foot might scatter them, or that the wilde beast might breake them.
19 He sheweth himselfe cruell vnto his yong ones, as they were not his, and is without feare as if he trauelled [i] in vaine.
20 For God hath depriued him of [k] wisdome, and hath ginen him no part of vnderstanding, 21 When [l] time is, hee mounteth on high: hee mocketh the horse and his rider.
22 Hast thou giuen the horse strength, or couered his necke with [m] neying?
23 Hast thou made him afraid as the grashopper? his strong neying is fearefull.
24 He [n] diggeth in the valley, and reioyceth in his strength: he goeth foorth to meete the harnessed man.
25 He mocketh at feare, and is not afraid, and turneth not backe from the sword.
26 Though the quiuer rattle against him, the glittering speare and the shield.
27 He [o] swalloweth the ground for fiercenesse and rage, and he beleeueth not that it is the noise of the trumpet.
28 He saith among the trumpets, Ha, ha: he smelleth the battell afarre off, and the noise of the captaines, and the shouting.

b They write that the ostrich couereth her egges in the land, and because the countrey is hot and the sunne still keepeth them warme, they are hatched.
i If he should take care for them.
k That is, to haue a care and naturall affection toward his yong.
l When the yong ostrich is growen vp, he ouertaketh the horse.
m That is, giueth him courage, which is meant by neying and shaking his maue: for with his breath he consumeth his neche.
n He deaueth with his hoofe.
o He so rideth the ground that it seemeth nothing vnder him.

29 Shall the hauke flie by thy wisedome, stretching out his wings euen toward the [p] South?
30 Doth the eagle mount vp at thy commandement, or make his nest on high?
31 Shee abideth and remained in the rocke, euen vpon the top of the rocke, and the tower.
32 From thence she spieth for meate, and her eyes behold afarre off.
33 His young ones also sucke vp blood: and where the slaine are, there is he.
34 Moreouer the Lord spake vnto Iob, and sayd, 35 Is this [q] to learne, to striue with the Almighty? he that reproueth God, let him answere to it.
36 ¶ Then Iob answered the Lord, saying,
37 Behold, I am [r] vile: what shall I answere thee? I will lay mine hand vpon my mouth, 38 Once haue I spoken, but I will answere no more, yea twise, but I will proceede no further.

p That is, when colde commeth, to flie into the warme countreys.
q Is this the way for a man that will learne, to striue with God? which thing he reproueth in Iob.
r Whereby hee sheweth that he repented, and desired pardon for his faulte.

CHAP. XL.

2 How weake mans power is, being compared to the worke of God: 10 Whose power appeareth in the creation, and gouerning of the great beasts.

* Chap 38.1.

AGaine the Lord answered Iob out of * the whirlewinde, and sayd,
2 Gird vp now thy loynes like a man: I will demaund of thee, and declare thou vnto me.
3 Wilt thou disanull [a] my iudgement? or wilt thou condemne me, that thou maiest be iustified?
4 Or hast thou an arme like God? or doest thou thunder with a voyce like him?
5 Decke thy selfe now with [b] maiestie and excellencie, and aray thy selfe with beautie and glory.
6 Cast abroad the indignation of thy wrath, and behold euery one that is proud, & abase him.
7 Looke on euery one that is arrogant, and bring him low: and destroy the wicked in their place.
8 Hide them in the dust together, and binde [c] their faces in a secret place.
9 Then will I confesse vnto thee also, that thy right hand can [d] saue thee.
10 ¶ Behold now [e] Behemoth (whom I made [f] with thee) which eateth [g] grasse as an oxe.
11 Behold now, his strength is in his loynes, and his force is in the nauell of his belly.
12 Wo en hee taketh pleasure, his taile is like a cedar: the sinews of his stones are wrapt together.
13 His bones are like stanes of brasse, and his small bones like staues of yron.
14 [h] He is the chiefe of the wayes of God: [i] he that made him, will make his sword to approach vnto him.
15 Surely the mountaines bring him foorth grasse, where all the beasts of the field play.
16 Lieth he vnder the trees in the couert of the reede and fennes?
17 Can the trees couer him with their shadow? or can the willowes of the riuer compasse him about?
18 Behold, he spoileth the riuer, [k] and hasteth not: he trusteth that he can draw vp Iorden into his mouth.
19 Hee taketh it with his eyes, and thrusteth his nose through whatsoeuer meeteth him.
20 ¶ Canst thou draw out [l] Liuiathan with a hooke, and with a line which thou shalt cast downe vnto his tongue?
21 Canst thou cast an hooke into his nose? canst a Signifying that they that iustifie themselues, condemne God as vniust.

b Meaning, that these were proper vnto God, and belonged to no man.
c Cause them to die if thou canst.
d Prouing hereby that whosoeuer attributeth to himselfe power and abilitie to saue himselfe, maketh himselfe God.
e This beast is thought to be the elephant, or some other, which is vnknowen.
f Whom I made afwell as thee.
g This commendeth the prouidence of God toward man: for if he were giuen to deuoure as a lion, nothing were able to resist him, or content him.
h He is one of the chiefest works of God among the beasts.
i Though man dare not come neere him, yet God can kill him.
k He drinketh at leisure, and feareth no body.
l Meaning, the whale.

canst thou pierce his iawes with an angle?

22 Will he make many prayers vnto thee? and speake thee faire?

23 Will he make a couenant with thee? and wilt thou take him as a seruant for euer?

24 Wilt thou play with him as with a bird? or wilt thou bind him for thy maides?

25 Shall the companions banquet with him? shall they diuide him among the merchants?

26 Canst thou fill the basketh with his skinne? or the fish panyer with his head?

27 Lay thine hand vpon him: remember the battell, and doe no more so.

28 Behold, the hope is in vaine: for shall not one perish euen at the sight of him?

CHAP. XLI.

By the greatnesse of this monster Liuiathan, God sheweth his greatnesse and his power, which nothing can resist.

NOne is so fierce that dare stirre him vp. Who is he then that can stand before me?

2 Who hath preuented mee, that I should make an end? All vnder heauen is mine.

3 I will not keepe silence concerning his parts, nor his power, nor his comely proportion.

4 Who can discouer the face of his garment? or who shall come to him with a double bridle?

5 Who shall open the doores of his face? his teeth are fearefull round about.

6 The maiesty of his scales is like strong shields, and are sure sealed.

7 One is set to another, that no winde can come betweene them.

8 One is ioyned to another: they sticke together, that they cannot be sundred.

9 His neesings make the light to shinne, and his eyes are like the eye lids of the morning.

10 Out of his mouth goe lamps, and sparkes of fire leape out.

11 Out of his nostrels commeth out smoke, as out of a boyling pot or caldron.

12 His breath maketh the coales burne: for a flame goeth out of his mouth.

13 In his necke remaineth strength, and labour is reiected before his face.

14 The members of his body are ioyned: they are strong in themselues, and cannot be mooued.

15 His heart is as strong as a stone, and as hard as the nether millstone.

16 The mightie are afraid of his maiestie, and for feare they faint in themselues.

17 When the sword doeth touch him, he will not rise vp, nor for the speare, dart nor habergion.

18 Hee esteemeth yron as straw, and brasse as rotten wood.

19 The archer cannot make him flee: the stones of the sling are turned into stubble vnto him.

20 The dartes are counted as strawe: and hee laugheth at the shaking of the speare.

21 Sharpe stones are vnder him, and he spreadeth sharpe things vpon the myre.

22 He maketh the depth to boile like a pot, and maketh the Sea like a pot of ointment.

23 He maketh a path to shine after him, one would thinke the depth as an hoare head.

24 In the earth there is none like him: hee is made without feare.

25 He beholdeth all hie things: he is a King ouer all the children of pride.

CHAP. XLII.

The repentance of Iob. 9 Hee prayeth for his friends. 12 His goods are restored double vnto him. 13 His children, age and death.

THen Iob answered the Lord, and sayd,

2 I know that thou canst doe all things, and that there is no thought hid from thee.

3 Who is hee that hideth counsell without knowledge? therefore haue I spoken that I vnderstood not, euen things to wonderfull for me, and which I knew not.

4 Heare, I beseech thee, and I will speake: I will demand of thee, and declare thou vnto me.

5 I haue heard of thee by the hearing of the eare, but now mine eye seeth thee.

6 Therefore I abhorre my selfe, and repent in dust and ashes.

7 Now after that the Lord had spoken these words vnto Iob, the Lord also sayd vnto Eliphaz the Temanite, My wrath is kindled against thee and against thy two friends: for ye haue not spoken of me the thing that is right, like my seruant Iob.

8 Therefore take vnto you now seuen bullockes, and seuen rammes, and goe to my seruant Iob, and offer vp for your selues a burnt offering, and my seruant Iob shall pray for you: for I will accept him, least I should put you to shame, because yee haue not spoken of me the thing which is right, like my seruant Iob.

9 So Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite, went, and did according as the Lord had sayd vnto them, and the Lord accepted Iob.

10 ¶ Then the Lord turned the captiuitie of Iob, when he prayed for his friends: also the Lord gaue Iob twise so much as he had before.

11 Then came vnto him all his brethren, and all his sisters, and all they that had beene of his acquaintance before, and did eat bread with him in his house, and had compassion on him, and comforted him for all the euill that the Lord had brought vpon him, and euery man gaue him a lpiece of money, & eueury one an eiering of gold.

12 So the Lord blessed the last dayes of Iob, more then the first: for hee had fourteene thousand sheepe, and sixe thousand camels, and a thousand yoke of oxen, and a thousand mee asses.

13 He had also seuen sonnes, and three daughters.

14 And he called the name of one Iemimah, and the name of the second Keziah, & the name of the third Keren-happuch.

15 In all the land were no women found so faire as the daughters of Iob, and their father gaue them inheritance among their brethren.

16 And after this liued Iob an hundreth and fourtie yeeres, and saw his sonnes, and his sonnes sonnes, euen foure generations.

17 So Iob died, being olde, and full of

THE *PSALMES OF DAVID.

*Or, praises according to the Ebrewes; and were chiefly inſtituted to praiſe and giue thankes to God for his benefits. They are called the Pſalmes or Songs of David, becauſe the moſt part were made by him.

THE ARGVMENT.

THis booke of Pſalmes is ſet forth vnto vs by the holy Ghoſt, to be eſteemed as a moſt precious treaſure, wherein all things are conteined that apperteine to true felicity, aſwell in this life preſent as in the life to come. For the riches of true knowledge and heauenly wiſdome, are here ſet open for vs to take thereof moſt abundantly. If we would know the great & high maieſty of God, here we may ſee the brightneſs thereof ſhine moſt clearely. If wee would ſeeke his incomprehenſible wiſedome, heere is the ſchoole of the ſame profeſſion. If wee would comprehend his inеſtimable bounty, & approach neere thereunto, and fill our handes with that treaſure, heere we may haue a moſt lively and comfortable taſte thereof. If we would know wherein ſtandeth our ſaluation, and how to attaine to life euerlaſting, here is Chriſt our onely redeemer, and mediatour moſt euidently deſcribed. The rich man may learne the true vſe of his riches. The poore man may find full contentation. He that will reioyce, ſhall know the true ioy, and how to keepe meaſure therein. They that are afflicted and oppreſſed, ſhall ſee wherein ſtandeth their comfort, and how they ought to praiſe God when he ſendeth them deliuerance. The wicked and the perſecutors of the children of God ſhall ſee how the hand of God is euer againſt them: and though he ſuffer them to proſper for a while, yet he bridleth them, in ſo much as they cannot touch an haire of ones head except he permit them, and how in the end their deſtruction is moſt miſerable. Briefly, here we may haue moſt preſent remedies againſt all tentations & troubles of mind & conſcience, ſo that being well practiſed herein, we may be aſſured againſt all dangers in this life, liue in the true feare and loue of God, and at length attaine to that incorrupt.ble crowne of glory, which is laid vp for all them that loue the comming of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

PSAL. I.

Whether it was Eſdras, or any other that gathered the Pſalmes into a booke, it ſeemeth he did this Pſalme firſt in maner of a preface, to exhort all godly men to ſtudy and meditate the heauenly wiſdome. For the effect hereof is, 1 That they be bleſſed which giue themſelues wholy all their life to the holy Scriptures: 4, and that the wicked contemners of God, though they ſeeme for a while happy, yet at length ſhall come to miſerable deſtruction.

BLeſſed is the man that doeth not walke in the a counſell of the wicked, nor ſtand in the way of ſinners, nor ſit in the ſeate of the ſcornefull.

2 But his delight is in the *law of the Lord, and in his b law doth he meditate day and night.

3 For he ſhallbe like a* tree planted by the riuers of waters, that will bring forth her fruits in due ſeaſon; whoſe leafe ſhall not fade: ſo whatſoeuer he ſhall doe, ſhall proſper.

4 d The wicked are not ſo, but as the chaffe, which the wind driueth away.

5 Therefore the wicked ſhall not ſtand in the e iudgement, nor ſinners in the aſſembly of the righteous.

6 For the Lord f knoweth the way of the righteous, and the way of the wicked ſhall periſh.

a When a man hath giuen ouer place to euill counſell, or to his owne concupiſcence, he beginneth to forget himſelfe in his ſinne, and ſo falleth into contempt of God, which contempt is called the ſeat of the ſcorners.
* Deut.6,6 ioſh.1.8. Prou.6.20.
b In the holy Scriptures.
* Iere.17.8.
c Gods children are ſo moyſtened euer with his grace, that whatſoeuer commeth vnto them, tendeth vnto their ſaluation.
d Though the wicked ſeeme to beare the ſwinge in this world, yet the Lord driueth them downe that they ſhall not riſe nor ſtand in the company of the righteous. e But trouble when they feele Gods wrath. f Doth approoue and proſper, like as not to know, is to reproue and reiect.

PSAL. II.

1 The Prophet Dauid reioyceth, that notwithſtanding his enemies rage, yet God will continue his kingdome for euer, and aduance it euen to the end of the world. 10 And therefore exhorteth kings and rulers, that they would humbly ſubmit themſelues vnder Gods yoke, becauſe it is in vaine to reſiſt God. Herein is figured Chriſts kingdome.

WHy doe the a heathen *rage, and the people murmure in vaine.

2 The kings of the earth band themſelues, and the Princes are aſſembled together againſt the Lord, and againſt his ‖ Chriſt.

3 b Let vs breake their bandes, and caſt their cords from vs.

4 * But hee that dwelleth in the heauen ſhall laugh: the Lord ſhall haue them in derision.

5 c Then ſhall hee ſpeake vnto them in his wrath, and vexe them in his ſore diſpleaſure, ſaying,

6 Euen I haue ſet my King vpon Zion mine holy mountaine.

7 I will declare the d decree: that is, the Lord hath ſaid e vnto mee, * Thou art my ſonne; this e day haue I begotten thee.

8 Aske of mee, and I ſhall giue thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the f endes of the earth for thy poſſeſſion.

9 * Thou ſhalt cruſh them with a ſcepter of yron, and breake them in pieces like a potters veſſell.

10 g Be wiſe now therefore, ye kings: be learned ye iudges of the earth.

11 Serue the Lord in feare, and reioyce in trembling.

12 h Kiſſe the Sonne, leaſt he be angry, and ye i periſh in the way, when his wrath ſhall ſuddenly burne. Bleſſed are all that truſt in him.

a The conſpiracy of the Gentiles, the murmuring of the Ieweş, and power of kings cannot preuaile againſt Chriſt. * Act.4,25.

‖ Or, Anointed
b Thus ſay, that caſt off, God, and Chriſt.
* Prou.1. c Gods pleaſure will declare in reſiſting Chriſt, they againſt him.
d To ſhew the vocation to the kingdome is of God
* Act.13,33 hebr.1,5.
e That is to ſay, as touching mans knowledge, becauſe it was the firſt time that Dauid appeared to be elected of God. So is it applied to Chriſt in his firſt comming and manifeſtation to the world.
f Not onely the Iewes but the Gentiles alſo.
* Reuel.2,27.
g He exhorteth all rulers to repent in time. h In ſigne of homage. i When the wicked ſhall ſay, Peace and reſt, ſeeming yet to be but in the midway of their purpoſes, then ſhall deſtruction ſuddenly come, 1. Theſſ. 5, 3.

PSAL. III.

1 Dauid driuen forth of his kingdome, was greatly tormented in mind for his ſinnes againſt God: 4 And therefore calleth vpon God, and waxeth bold through his promiſes, againſt the great vauntings and terrors of his enemies, yea againſt death it ſelfe, which he ſaw preſent before his eyes. 7 Finally, he reioyceth for the good ſucceſſe that God gaue him and all the Church.

a This was a token of his stable faith, that for all his troubles hee had his recourse to God. b Selah here signifieth a lifting vp of the voyce, to cause vs to consider the sentence, as a thing of great importance.
c When he considered the truth of Gods promise, and tried the same, his faith increased marueilously.
d Be the dangers neuer so great or many, yet God hath euer meanes to deliuer his.

Among the sundrie that were appointed to sing the Psalmes, and to play on the instruments, one was appointed chiefe to set the tune, and to begin who had ready charge, because he was most excellent, and he began this Psalm on the instrument called Neginoth, or a tune so called.
b Thou that art the defender of my iust cause.
c Both of minde and body.
d Ye that thinke your selues noble in this world.
e Though your enterprises please you neuer so much, yet God will bring them to nought.
f A king that trusteth in his vocation.
g For feare of Gods iudgement.
h Cease your rage.
i Serue God purely, and not with outward ceremonies.
k The multitude seeke worldly wealth, but David seeketh his felicitie in Gods fauour.
l This word in Ebrew may be referred to God, as it is here translated, or to David, signifying that he should dwell as safely alone, as if he had many about him, because the Lord is with him.

LOrd, how are mine aduersaries a increased? how many rise against me?
2 Many say to my soule, There is no helpe for him in God. b Selah.
3 But thou Lord art a buckler for me, my glory, and the lifter vp of mine head.
4 I did call vnto the Lord with my voyce, and he heard me out of his holy mountaine. Selah.
5 I laid mee downe and slept, and rose vp againe: for the Lord sustained me.
6 I will not be afraid for ten thousand of the people, that should beset me round about.
7 O Lord, arise helpe me, my God: for thou hast smitten all mine enemies vpon c cheek bone: thou hast broken the teeth of the wicked.
8 d Saluation belongeth vnto the Lord, and thy blessing is vpon thy people. Selah.

PSAL. IIII.

1 When Saul persecuted him he called vpon God, trusting most assuredly in his promise, and therefore boldly reproueth his enemies, who wilfully resisted his dominion, & finally preferreth the fauour of God before all worldly treasures.

¶ a To him that excelleth on Neginoth.
A Psalme of Dauid.

HEare me when I call, b O God of my righteousnes: thou hast set me at liberty, when I was in c distresse: haue mercy vpon me, and hearken vnto my prayer.
2 O ye d sonnes of men, how long will ye turne my glory into shame, e louing vanity, and seeking lyes? Selah.
3 For be ye sure that the Lord hath chosen to himselfe f a godly man, the Lord will heare when I call vnto him.
4 g Tremble and sinne not: examine your owne heart vpon your bed, and be h still. Selah.
5 i Offer the sacrifices of righteousnesse, and trust in the Lord.
6 Many say, Who will shew vs any k good? but Lord, lift vp the light of thy countenance vpon vs.
7 Thou hast giuen me more ioy of heart, then they haue had, when their wheate and their wine did abound.
8 I will lay me downe, and also sleep in peace: for thou, Lord, l onely makest me dwell in safety.

PSAL. V.

1 Dauid oppressed with the enuenie of his enemies, and fearing greater dangers, calleth to God for succour, shewing how requisit it is that God should punish the malice of his aduersaries. 7 After, being assured of prosperous successe, hee conceiueth comfort. 12 concluding, that when God shall deliuer him, others also shall be partakers of the same mercies.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon ‖ Nehiloth.
¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

HEare my words, O Lord: vnderstand my a meditation.
2 Hearken vnto the voyce of my cry, my king, and my God: for vnto thee doe I pray.
3 Heare my voyce in the morning, O Lord: for in the morning will I direct mee vnto thee, and I will b wait.
4 For thou art not a God that loueth c wickednes, neither shall euill dwell with thee.
5 d The foolish shall not stand in thy sight: for thou hatest all them that worke iniquity.
6 Thou shalt destroy them that speake lyes: the Lord will abhorre the bloody man and deceitfull.
7 But I e will come into thine house in the multitude of thy mercy: and in thy feare will I worship toward thine holy Temple.
8 Lead me, O Lord, in thy righteousnes, f because of mine enemies: make thy way plaine before my face.
9 For no constancie is in their mouth: within they are very corruption: their * throat is an open sepulchre, and they flatter with their tongue.
10 Destroy them, O God, ‖ let them g fall from their counsels: cast them out for the multitude of their iniquities, because they haue rebelled against thee.
11 And h let all them that trust in thee, reioyce and triumph for euer, and couer thou them: and let them that loue thy Name, reioyce in thee.
12 For thou Lord, wilt i blesse the righteous, and with fauour i wilt compasse him, as with a shield.

PSAL. VI.

1 When Dauid by his sinnes had prouoked Gods wrath, and now felt not onely his hand against him, but also conceiued the horrors of death euerlasting, he desireth forgiuenesse. 6 Bewailing that if God tooke him away in his indignation, he should lack occasion to praise him as he was wont to do while he was among men. 9 Then suddenly feeling Gods mercies, her sharply rebuketh his enemies which reuiued in his affliction.

¶ To him that excelleth on Neginoth, vpon the eight tune. A Psalme of Dauid.

O Lord, * a rebuke mee not in thine anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath.
2 Haue mercie vpon mee, O Lord, for I am weake: O Lord heale me, for my bones are vexed,
3 b My soule is also sore troubled: but Lord, how long wilt thou delay?
4 Returne, O Lord: deliuer my soule: saue me for thy mercies sake.
5 For in c death there is no remembrance of thee: in the graue who shall praise thee?
6 I fainted in my mourning: I cause my bed euery night to swimme, and water my couch with my teares.
7 ‖ Mine eye is dimmed for despight, and sunke in because of all mine enemies.
8 d Away from me all ye workers of iniquitie: for the Lord hath heard the voice of my weeping.
9 The Lord hath heard my petition: the Lord will receiue my prayer.
10 All mine enemies shall be confounded and sore vexed: they shall be turned backe, and put to shame e suddenly.

PSAL. VII.

1 Being falsly accused by Chush one of Sauls kinsmen, hee calleth God to be his defender, 3 to whom he commendeth his innocency, 9 first sowing that his conscience did not accuse him of any euill toward Saul, 10 Next that it touched Gods glory to award sentence against the wicked. 12 And so entring into the consideration of Gods mercies and promise, he mocketh bold, and derideth the vaine enterprises of his enemies, 15 threatning that that shall fall on their owne necke which they haue purposed for others.

¶ ‖ Shigaion of Dauid, which he sang vnto the Lord, concerning the ‖ words of * Chush the sonne of Iemini.

b Wherewith Christ chargeth me.
c If I resteined not Saul for affinities sake and preferued his life, 1. Sam. 26. 8. 9.
d Let me not only die, but be dishonoured for euer.

e In promising me the kingdome.

f Not onely for mine, but for thy Church sake, declare thy power.
g As touching my behauiour toward Saul and mine enemies.
h Though they pretend a iust cause against me: yet God shall iudge their hypocrisie.
i Hee doth continually call the wicked to repentance by some tokens of his iudgements.
k Except Saul turne his minde, I die: for he hath both men and weapons to destroy me. Thus considering his great danger, he magnifieth Gods grace.
Isa. 59. 4. Iob 15. 35.
l In keeping faithfully his promise with me.

a That is, shall be cast forth z Church.
‖ Or, kena of stiffe mens, or tune.
‖ Or, noble, or marueilous.
a Though the wicked would hide Gods praises, yet the very babes are sufficient witnesses of the same.
‖ Or, established.
‖ Or, confound.
b It had beene sufficient for him to haue set forth his glory by the heauens, though he had not come to loue as to man, which is but dust.
c Touching his first creation.
d By the temporall gifts of mans creation, he is led to consider the benefits which he hath by his regeneration through Christ.

3 O Lord my God, if I haue done b this thing, if there be any wickednes in mine hands.
4 c If I haue rewarded euill vnto him that had peace with me, (yea I haue deliuered him that vexed me without cause.)
5 Then let the enemie persecute my soule, and take it; yea, let him tread my life downe vpon the earth, and lay mine d honour in the dust. Selah.
6 Arise, O Lord, in thy wrath, and lift vp thy selfe against the rage of mine enemies, and awake for mee according to the e iudgement that thou hast appointed.
7 So shall the congregation of the people compasse thee about: for their sakes therefore returne on high.
8 The Lord shall iudge the people: iudge thou me, O Lord, according to my g righteousnes, and according to mine innocencie that is in me.
9 Oh let the malice of the wicked come to an end: but guide thou the iust: for the righteous God trieth the h hearts and reines.
10 My defence is in God, who preserueth the vpright in heart.
11 God iudgeth the righteous, and him that contemneth God, i euery day.
12 Except k he turne, he hath whet his sword: he hath bent his bow, and made it ready.
13 He hath also prepared him deadly weapons: he will ordeine his arrowes for them that persecute me.
14 * Behold, he shall trauaile with wickednes: for hee hath conceiued mischiefe, but hee shall bring foorth a lie.
15 He hath made a pit, and digged it, and is fallen into the pit that he made.
16 His mischiefe shall returne vpon his owne head, and his cruelty shall fall vpon his owne pate.
17 I will praise the Lord according to his l righteousnesse, and will sing praise to the Name of the Lord most high.

PSAL. VIII.

1 The Prophet considering the excellent liberalitie and Fatherly providence of God toward man, whom he made as it were a god ouer all his works, doth not only giue great thanks, but is astonished with the admiration of the same, as one nothing able to compasse such great mercies.

¶ To him that excelleth on ‖ Gittith. A Psalme of Dauid.

O Lord our Lord, how ‖ excellent is thy Name in all the world! which hast set thy glory aboue the heauens.
2 Out of the mouth a of babes and sucklings hast thou ‖ ordeined strength, because of thine enemies, that thou mightest ‖ still the enemy and the auenger.
3 When I beholde thine heauens, euen the workes of thy fingers, the moone and the starres, which thou hast ordained.
4 What is b man, say I, that thou art mindfull of him? and the sonne of man that thou visitest him?
5 For thou hast made him a little lower then c God, and crowned him with glory and worship.
6 Thou hast made him to haue dominion in the works of thine hands, thou hast put all things vnder his feet:
7 All d sheepe and oxen: yea, and the beasts of the field:
8 The fowles of the ayre, and the fish of the sea, and that which passeth thorow the paths of the seas.
9 O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy Name in all the world?

PSAL. IX.

1 After he had giuen thanks to God for the sundry visitations that he had sent him against his enemies, and also proued by manifold experience, how ready God was at hand in all his troubles, 14 Hee being now likewise in danger of new enemies, desireth God to helpe him according to his wont, 17 and to destroy the malicious arrogancie of his aduersaries.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon ‖ Muth Labben. A Psalme of Dauid.

I Will praise the Lord with my a whole heart: I will speake of all thy marueillous works.
2 I will be glad, and reioyce in thee: I will sing praise to thy Name, O most High.
3 For that mine enemies are turned backe: they shall fall and perish at thy presence.
4 For b thou hast maintained my right and my cause: thou art set in the throne, and iudgest right.
5 Thou hast rebuked the heathen: thou hast destroyed the wicked: thou hast put out their name for euer and euer.
6 c O enemie, destructions are come to a perpetuall end, and thou hast destroyed the cities: their memoriall is perished with them.
7 But the Lord * shall sit for euer: hee hath prepared his throne for iudgement.
8 For hee shall iudge the world in righteousnesse, and shall iudge the people with equitie.
9 The Lord also will be a refuge for the d poore, a refuge in due time, euen in affliction.
10 And they that know thy Name, will trust in thee: for thou, Lord, hast not failed them that seeke thee.
11 Sing praises to the Lord, which dwelleth in Zion: shew the people his works.
12 For e when hee maketh inquisition for blood, hee remembreth it, and forgetteth not the complaint of the poore.
13 Haue mercy vpon mee, O Lord: consider my trouble which I suffer of them that hate mee, thou that liftest mee vp from the gates of death, 14 aue, I may shew all thy praises within the f gates of the daughter of Zion, and reioyce in thy saluation.
15 The heathen are g sunken downe in the pit that they made: in the net that they hid, is their foot taken.
16 h The Lord is knowen by executing iudgement: the wicked is snared in the worke of his owne hands. * Higgaion. Selah.
17 The wicked shall turne into hell, and all nations that forget God.
18 For the poore shall not be alway forgotten: the hope i of the afflicted shall not perish for euer.
19 Vp Lord, let not man preuaile; let the heathen be iudged in thy sight.
20 Put them in feare, O Lord, that the heathen may know that they are but k men. Selah.

PSAL. X.

1 Hee complaineth of the fraud, rapine, tyrannie, and all kindes of wrong, which worldly men vse, assuming the cause thereof, that wicked men, being as it were drunken with worldly prosperitie, & therefore setting apart all feare and reuerence toward God, thinke they may doe all things without controlling. 15 Therefore hee calleth vpon God to send some remedie against these desperate euils, 16 and as length comforteth himselfe with hope of deliuerance.

‖ Or, kind of instrument, or tune: or for the death of Labben or Goliath.
a God is not praised, except the whole glory be giuen to him alone.

b Howsoeuer the enemie seeme for a time to preuaile, yet God preserueth the iust.

c A derision of the enemy, that mindeth nothing but destruction: but the Lord will deliuer his, and bring him into iudgement.
* Or, reigne as Iudge.
d Our miseries are meanes to cause vs to feele Gods present care ouer vs.

e Though God reuengeth not suddenly the wrong done to his, yet hee suffereth not the wicked vnpunished.
f In the open assembly of the Church.
g For God ouerthroweth the wicked in their enterprises.
h The mercie of God toward his Saints must be declared, and the fall of the wicked must alwayes be considered.
* Or, that is worthy to be noted.
i God promiseth not to helpe vs before we haue felt the crosse.

k Which they cannot learne without the feare of thy iudgement.

a So soone as we enter into affliction, we thinke God should help vs. but that is not alway his due time.
b The wicked man reioyceth in his owne lust, he boasteth when he hath what he would: he braggeth of his wit and wealth, and bleseth himselfe, and thus blaspheme th the Lord.
‖ Or, suffereth at.
‖ Or not be moued, because he was neuer in euill.
c The euill shall not touch me.
Hab. 1. 13 Or else he speaketh thus because he neuer felt euill.
d He liueth that the wicked haue many meanes to hide their cruelnesse, and therefore ought more to be feared.
e By the hypocrisie of them that haue authority, the poore are deuoured.
f Recalleth to God for helpe, because wickednes is so farre ouergrowen, that God must now helpe or neuer.
g Therefore thou shalt needs punish this their blasphemie.
h To iudge betweene the right and the wrong.
i For thou hast vtterly destroyed him.
k The hypocrites or such as liue not after Gods Law, shalbe destroyed.
‖ God helpeth when mans helpe ceaseth.
‖ Or, destroy no more man vpon the earth.

WHy standest thou farre off, O Lord, and hidest thee in a due time, euen in affliction?
2 The wicked with pride doth persecute the poore: let them be taken in the crafts that they haue imagined.
3 For the wicked hath b made boast of his owne hearts desire, and the couetous blesseth himselfe, he contemneth the Lord.
4 The wicked is so proude, that hee seeketh not for God: hee thinketh alwayes, There is no God.
5 His wayes alway prosper: thy iudgements are high aboue his sight, therefore ‖ defieth he all his enemies.
6 He saith in his heart, I shall ‖ neuer be moouen, c nor be in danger.
7 His mouth is full of cursing, and deceite, and fraud: vnder his tongue is mischiefe and iniquitie.
8 d He lieth in wait in the villages: in the secret places doth he murder the innocent, his eyes are bent against the poore.
9 He lieth in waite secretly, euen as a lion in his denne; he lieth in wait to spoyle the poore; he doth spoile the poore, when he draweth him into his net.
10 He croucheth and boweth, therefore heaps of the e poore doe fall by his might.
11 He hath said in his heart, God hath forgotten, he hideth away his face, and will neuer see.
12 f Arise, O Lord God, lift vp thine hand, forget not the poore.
13 Wherefore doeth the wicked contemne God? hee saith in his heart, Thou wilt not g regard.
14 Yet thou hast seene it; for thou beholdest mischiefe and wrong; that thou mayest h take it into thine hands: the poore committeth himselfe vnto thee; for thou art the helper of the fatherlesse.
15 Breake thou the arme of the wicked and malicious, search his wickednesse, and thou shalt find i none.
16 The Lord is King for euer and euer; the k heathen are destroyed forth of his land.
17 Lord, thou hast heard the desire of the poore; thou preparest their heart; thou ‖ endest thine eare to them.
18 To iudge the fatherlesse and poore, that earthly man ‖ cause to feare no more.

PSAL. XI.

1 This Psalme contayneth two parts. In the first Dauid sheweth how hard assaults of tentations he sustained, and in how great anguish of mind he was, when Saul did persecute him. 4 Then next he reioyceth that God sent him succour in his necessity, declaring his iustice aswell in gouerning the good, and the wicked men, as the whole world.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

IN the Lord put I my trust: how say yee then to my soule, a Flee to your mountaine as a bird?
2 For loe, the wicked bend their bow, and make ready their arrowes vpon the string, that they may secretly shoot at them which are vpright in heart.
3 For the b foundations are cast downe; what hath the c righteous done?
4 The Lord is in his holy palace; the Lords throne is in the heauen; his eyes d will consider: his eye lids will try the children of men.
5 The Lord will trie the righteous; but the wicked, and him that loueth iniquitie, doeth his soule hate.
6 Vpon the wicked he shall raine snares, e fire, and brimstone, and stormie tempest; this is the f portion of their cup.
7 For the righteous Lord loueth righteousnesse: his countenance doeth behold the iust.

PSAL. XII.

1 The Prophet lamenting the miserable estate of the people, and the decay of all good order, desireth God speedily to send succour to his children. 7 Then comforting himselfe and others with the assurance of Gods help, he commendeth the constant verity that God obserueth in keeping his promises.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon the eight tune.

A Psalme of Dauid.

HElp Lord, for there is not a a godly man left: for the faithfull are failed from among the children of men.
2 They speake deceitfully euery one with his neighbour, b flattering with their lips, and speake with a double heart.
3 The Lord cut off all flattering lips, and the tongue that speaketh proud things:
4 Which haue said, c With our tongue will we preuaile; our lips are our owne; who is Lord ouer vs?
5 d Now for the oppression of the needy, and for the sighs of the poore, I will vp, saith the Lord, and will e set at libertie him, whom the wicked hath snared.
6 The words of the Lord are pure words, as the siluer, tried in a fornace of earth, fined seuen fold.
7 Thou wilt keepe f them, O Lord; thou wilt preserue him from this generation for euer.
8 The wicked walke on euery side, when they are exalted, g it is a shame for the sonnes of men.

wicked generation. f That is, thine though he were but a man. g For they suppresse the godly and maintaine the wicked.

PSAL. XIII.

1 Dauid at it were ouercome with sundry and new afflictions, flieth to God as his only refuge, 3 and so at the length being encouraged through Gods promise, he conteineth most sure confidence against the extreme horrors of death.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

HOw long wilt thou forget me, O Lord, a for euer? how long wilt thou hide thy face from me?
2 How long shall I take b counsell within my selfe hauing wearinesse dayly in mine heart? how long shall mine enemie be exalted aboue me?
3 Behold, and heare mee, O Lord my God: lighten mine eyes, that I sleepe not in death.
4 Least mine enemie say, I haue c preuailed against him: and they that afflict me, reioyce, when I slide.
5 But I trust in thy d mercy: mine heart shall reioyce in thy saluation; I will sing to the Lord, because he hath e dealt louingly with me.

PSAL. XIV.

1 He describeth the peruerse nature of men, which were so growen to licentiousnesse, that God was brought to vtter contempt. 7 For the which thing, although he was greatly grieued, yet being perswaded that God would send some present remedy, he comforteth himselfe and others.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid:

THe * foole hath said in his heart, c There is no God: they haue b corrupted, and done an abominable worke: there is none that doeth good.

to forget God. b There is nothing, but disorder and wia This is the wicked counsell of his enemies to him and his companions to driue him from the hope of Gods promise.

b All hope of succor is taken away.
c Yet am I innocent and my cause good.
d Though all things in earth be out of order, yet God will execute iudgement from heauen.

e As in the destruction of Sodom and Gomorah.
f Which they shall drinke euen to the dregges, Ezech. c. 23. 34.

a Which dare defend the truth & shew mercy to the oppressed.
b He meaneth the flatterers of the court which hunt him more with their tongues, then with their weapons.
c They thinke themselues able to perswade whatsoeuer they take in hand.
d The Lord is moued with the complaints of his, and deliuereth in the end from all dangers.
e Because the Lords word and promise is true and vnchangeable, he will performe it and preserue the poore from this a Begation.

b Changing my purposes as the sicke man doeth his place.
c Which might turne to Gods dishonour: if he did not defend his.
d The mercy of God is the cause of our saluation.
e Both by the benefits past, and by others to come.

* Psal 53.
a He sheweth that the cause of all wicke lues is blindnesse among them.

c Dauid here maketh compariſon betweene the faithfull and the reprobate, but S. Paul ſpeaketh the ſame of all men naturally, Rom. 3. 10.
d Where they thinke themſelues moſt ſure.
e You mocke them that put their truſt in God.
f He prayeth for the whole Church whom he is aſſured God will deliuer: for none but he onely can doe it.

2 The Lord looked downe from heauen vpon the children of men, to ſee if there were any that would vnderſtand, and ſeeke God.

3 c All are gone out of the way: they are all corrupt: there is none that doeth good, no not one.

4 Doe not all the workers of iniquitie know that they eate vp my people, as they eate bread? they call not vpon the Lord.

5 d There they ſhall be taken with feare, becauſe God is in the generation of the iuſt.

6 You haue made e a mocke at the counſell of the poore, becauſe the Lord is his truſt.

7 Oh giue ſaluation vnto f Iſrael out of Zion: when the Lord turneth the captiuitie of his people, then Iaakob ſhall reioyce, and Iſrael ſhall be glad.

¶ Note that of this 14 Pſalme, the 5, 6 and 7 verſes which are put into the common tranſlation, & may ſeeme vnto ſome to be left out in this, are not in the ſame Pſalme in the Hebrew text, but rather are put in more fully to expreſſe the maners of the wicked, and are gathered out of the 5. 140. and 10. Pſalmes, the 59. of the Prophet Iſaiah, and the 36. Pſalme, and are alleadged by S. Paul, and placed together in the 3. to the Romanes.

PSAL. XV.

1 This Pſalme teacheth on what condition God did chuſe the Iewes for his peculiar people; and wherefore he placed his Temple among them, which was to the intent that they hydruing vprightly and godly, might witneſſe that they were his ſpeciall and holy people.

¶ A Pſalme of Dauid.

LOrd, who ſhall dwell in thy Tabernacle? who ſhall reſt in thine holy Mountaine?

2 He that a walketh vprightly and worketh righteouſneſſe, and ſpeaketh the trueth in his heart.

3 He that ſlandereth not with his tongue, nor doeth euill to his neighbour, nor receiueth a faſe report againſt his neighbour.

4 b In whoſe eyes a vile perſon is contemned, but he honoureth them that feare the Lord: hee that ſweareth to his owne hinderance and changeth not.

5 He that c giueth not his money vnto vſury, nor taketh reward againſt the innocent: he that doeth theſe things, d ſhall neuer be mooued.

a Firſt God requireth vprightneſſe of life, next doing well to others, and thirdly, trueth and ſimplicitie in our words.
b He that flattereth not the vngodly in their wickednes.
c To the hinderance of his neighbour.
d That is, ſhall not be caſt forth of the Church as hypocrites.

PSAL. XVI.

1 Dauid prayeth to God for ſuccour not for his workes, but for his faiths ſake, 4 Proteſting that he hateth all idolatry, taking God onely for his comfort and felicitie, 8 Who ſuffereth his to lacke nothing.

¶ ‖ Michtam of Dauid.

PReſerue mee, O GOD: for in thee doe I truſt.

2 O my ſoule, thou haſt ſaide vnto the Lord. Thou art my Lord: my b well doing extendeth not to thee,

3 But to the Saints that are in the earth, and to the excellent: all my delight is in them.

4 The c ſorowes of them, that offer to an other god, ſhallbe multiplied: d their offerings of blood will I not offer, neither make * mention of their names with my lips.

5 The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup: thou ſhalt maintaine my lot.

6 The e lines are fallen vnto me in pleaſant places: yea, I haue a faire heritage.

7 I will praiſe the Lord, who hath giuen me counſell: my f reines alſo teach me in the nights.

‖ Or, a certaine tune.
a He ſheweth that we cannot call vpon God, except we truſt in him.
b Though we can not enrich God, yet we muſt beſtow Gods gifts to the vſe of his children.
c An griefe of conſcience and miſerable deſtruction.
d He would neither by outward profeſſion nor in heart, nor in mouth conſent to their idolatries.
* Exod. 23. 13.
e Wherewith my portion is meaſured.
f God teacheth me continually by ſecret inſpiration.

8 I haue ſet the Lord alwayes before mee: for he is at my right hand: therefore I g ſhall not ſlide.

9 Wherefore h mine heart is glad, and my tongue reioyceth: my fleſh alſo doeth reſt in hope.

10 For thou i wilt not leaue my ſoule in the graue: neither wilt thou ſuffer thine holy One to ſee corruption.

11 Thou wilt ſhew me the path of life: in thy k preſence is the fulneſſe of ioy: and at thy right hand there are pleaſures for euermore.

g The faithfull are ſure to perſeuere to the end.
h That is, I reioyce both in body and in ſoule.
i This is chiefly meant of Chriſt, by whoſe reſurrection all his members haue immortalitie.
k Where God ſaueth there is perfect felicitie.

PSAL. XVII.

1 Here he complaineth to God of the cruell pride and arrogancie of Saul, and the reſt of his enemies, who thus rayed without any cauſe giuen on his part. 6 Therefore he deſireth God to reuenge his innocence and deliuer him.

¶ The prayer of Dauid.

HEare a the right, O Lord, conſider my crie; hearken vnto my prayer of lips vnfained.

2 Let my b ſentence come foorth from thy preſence, and let thine eyes behold equitie.

3 Thou haſt c prooued and viſited mine heart in the night: thou haſt tried me, and founde ſt nothing: for I was purpoſed that my d mouth ſhould not offend.

4 Concerning the workes of men, by the e words of thy lips I kept me from the paths of the cruell man.

5 Stay my ſteps in thy paths, that my feet do not ſlide.

6 I haue called vpon thee: f ſurely thou wilt heare me, O God: encline thine eare to me, and hearken vnto my words.

7 Shew thy marueilous mercies: thou that art the Sauiour of them that truſt in thee, from ſuch as g reſiſt thy right hand.

8 Keepe mee as the apple of the eye, hide mee vnder the ſhadow of thy wings.

9 From the wicked that oppreſſe mee, from mine enemies, which compaſſe mee round about for h my ſoule.

10 They are incloſed in their owne i fat, and they haue ſpoken proudly with their mouth.

11 They haue compaſſed vs now in our ſteps; they haue ſet their eyes to bring downe to the ground;

12 Like as a lion that is greedy of pray, and as it were a Lions whelpe lurking in ſecret places.

13 Vp Lord, k diſappoint him: caſt him downe; deliuer my ſoule from the wicked ‖ with thy ſword.

14 From men by thine l hand, O Lord, from men ‖ of the world, who haue their m portion in this life, whoſe bellies thou filleſt with thine hid treaſure; their children haue enough, and leaue the reſt of their ſubſtance for their children.

15 - But I will behold thy face n in righteouſneſſe, and when I o wake, I ſhallbe ſatisfied with thine image.

a My righteouſneſſe cauſe.
b The vengeance that thou ſhalt ſhew againſt mine enemies.
c When thy Spirit examined my conſcience.
d I was innocent toward mine enemie both in deed and thought.
e Though the wicked prouoked me to doe euill for euill, yet thy word kept me backe.
f He was aſſiſted that God would not refuſe his requeſt.
g For all rebell againſt thee, which trouble thy Church.
h For their crueltie cannot be ſatisfied but with my death.
i They are puft vp with pride, as the ſtomacke that is choked with fat.
k Stop his rage.
‖ Or, with is thy ſword.
l By thine heauenly power.
‖ Or, whoſe tyrannie hath too long endured.
m And feele not the ſmart that Gods children oft times doe.
n This is the full felicitie, conſiſting againſt all aſſaults, to haue the face of God and fauourable countenance opened vnto vs.
o And am deliuered out of my great troubles.

PSAL. XVIII.

1 This Pſalme is the firſt beginning of his gratulation, and thankeſgiuing in the entring into his kingdome, wherein hee extolleth and prayſeth moſt highly the marueilous mercies and grace of God, who hath thus preſerued and defended him. 32 Alſo hee ſetteth forth the image of Chriſtes kingdome, that the faithfull may be aſſured that Chriſt ſhall alwayes conquere and ouercome by the vnſpeakeable power of his Father, though all the whole world ſhould ſtriue there againſt.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid the seruant of the Lord, which spake vnto the Lord the words of this song, in the day that the Lord deliuered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul) and said,

I Will loue thee dearly, O Lord my strength.
2 *a The Lord is my rocke, and my fortresse, and he that deliuereth me, my God and my strength: in him will I trust. my shield, the horne also of my saluation, and my refuge.
3 I will call vpon the Lord, which is worthy to be b praised: so shall I be safe from mine enemies.
4 c The sorowes of death compassed me, and the floods of wickednesse made me afraid,
5 The ‖ sorowes of the graue haue compassed me about: the snares of death ouertooke me.
6 But in my trouble did I call vpon the Lord, and cryed vnto my God: he heard my voyce out of his Temple, and my cry did come before him, euen into his eares.
7 d Then the earth trembled and quaked: the foundations also of the mountaines mooued and shooke, because he was angry.
8 Smoke went out at his nostrils, and a e consuming fire out of his mouth: coales were kindled thereat.
9 Hee bowed the heauens also and came downe, and f darkenes was vnder his feete.
10 And hee rode vpon a Cherub, and did flie, and hee came flying vpon the wings of the winde.
11 He made darkenesse his h secret place, and his pauilion round about him, euen darkenesse of waters, and clouds of the aire.
12 At the brightnes of his presence his clouds passed, hailestones and coales of fire.
13 The Lord also thundred in the heauen, and the Highest gaue i his voyce, hailestones and coales of fire.
14 Then he sent out k his arrowes and scattered them, and he increased lightnings and destroyed them.
15 And the channels of waters were seene, and the l fondations of the world were discouered at thy rebuking, O Lord, at the blasting of the breath of thy nostrils.
16 He hath sent downe from aboue and taken me: he hath drawen me out of many m waters.
17 Hee hath deliuered me from my n strong enemie, and from them which hate mee: for they were o too strong for me.
18 They preuented me in the day of my calamity: but the Lord was my stay.
19 Hee brought me foorth also into a large place: p he deliuered me because he fauoured me.
20 The Lord rewarded me according to my q righteousnesse: according to the pureneſſe of mine hande he recompenſed me:
21 Because I kept the wayes of the Lord, and did not wickedly against my God.
22 For all his lawes were before mee, and I did not cast away his r commandements from me.
23 I was vpright also with him, and haue kept me from my s wickednesse, 24 Therefore the Lord rewarded me according to my righteousnesse, and according to the pureneſſe of mine hands in his sight.
25 With the t godly thou wilt shew thy selfe godly: with the vpright man thou wilt shew thy selfe vpright.
26 With the pure thou wilt shew thy selfe pure, and with the froward thou wilt shew thy selfe froward.
27 Thus thou wilt saue the poore people, and wilt u cast downe the proud looks.
28 Surely thou wilt light my candle: the Lord my God will lighten my darkeneſſe.
29 For by thee I haue x broken through an hoaſte, and by my God I haue leaped ouer a wall.
30 The way of God is vncorrupt: the y word of the Lord is tried in the fire, he is a shield to all that trust in him.
31 For who is God beſides the Lord? and who is mighty saue our God?
32 God girdeth me with strength, and maketh my z way vpright.
33 Hee maketh my feete like hindes feete, and setteth me vpon mine a high places.
34 He teacheth mine hands to fight; ſo that a bowe of ‖ braſſe is broken with mine armes.
35 Thou haſt also giuen mee the b shield of thy saluation, and thy right hand hath stayed me, and thy c louing kindneſſe hath causeſd mee to increaſe.
36 Thou haſt enlarged my steps vnder me, and my heeles haue not ſlid.
37 d I haue purſued mine enemies, and taken them, and haue not turned againe till I had conſumed them.
38 I haue wounded them, that they were not able to riſe, they are fallen vnder my feet.
39 For thou haſt girded mee with strength to battel; them that roſe againſt me, thou haſt ſubdued vnder me.
40 And thou haſt e giuen mee the neckes of mine enemies, that I might deſtroy them that hate me.
41 They f cried, but there was none to saue them, euen vnto the Lord, but hee anſwered them not.
42 Then I did beate them ſmall as the duſt before the wind: I did tread them flat as the clay in the ſtreetes.
43 Thou haſt deliuered mee from the contentions of the people: thou haſt made me the head of the g heathen, a people, whom I haue not h knowen, ſhall ſerue me.
44 Aſſoone as they heare, they ſhall obey me: the ſtrangers ſhallbe in ſubiection to me.
45 Strangers ſhall k ſhrinke away, and feare in their priuie chambers.
46 Let the Lord liue, and bleſſed be my strength, and the God of my ſaluation be exalted.
47 It is God that giueth me power to auenge me, and ſubdueth the people vnder me.
48 O my deliuerer from mine enemies, euen thou haſt ſet me vp from thoſe that roſe againſt mee; thou haſt deliuered mee from the l cruell man.
49 Therefore m I will praiſe thee, O Lord, among the nations, and will ſing vnto thy Name.

c He attributeth the beginning, continuance and increaſe in well doing onely to Gods fauour.
d Dauid declareth that hee did nothing beſides his vocation, but was ſtirred vp by Gods Spirit to execute his iudgements.
e Thou haſt giuen them into mine handes to be ſlaine.
f They that reiect the crie of the afflicted, God will alſo reiect them, when they cry for helpe: for either paine or feare cauſe thoſe hypocrites to cry.

n This did not properly appertaine to Salomon, but to Ieſus Chriſt.

PSAL. XIX.

a To the intent hee might moove the faithfull to deeper consideration of Gods glory, he setteth before their eyes the most exquisite workemanship of the heavens, with their proportion, and ornaments, 8. And afterward calleth them to the Law, wherein God hath revealed himselfe more familiarly to his chosen people. The which peculiar grace by commending the Law, hee setteth forth more at large.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David.

THe * a heavens declare the glory of God, and the firmament sheweth the worke of his hands.
2 b Day vnto day vttereth the same, and night vnto night teacheth knowledge.
3 There is no speach nor c language, where their voyce is not heard.
4 Their d line is gone foorth through all the earth, & their words into the ends of the world: in them hath he set a tabernacle for the Sunne.
5 Which commeth forth as a bridegroome out of his e chamber, and reioyceth like a mighty man to run his race.
6 His going out is from the ende of the heauen, & his compasse is vnto the endes of the same, and none is hid from the heate thereof.
7 The f Law of the Lord is perfit, conuerting the soule: the testimony of the Lord is sure, and giueth wisedome vnto the simple.
8 The statutes of the Lord are right, and reioyce the heart: the commandement of the Lord is pure, and giueth light vnto the eyes.
9 The g feare of the Lord is cleane, and endureth for euer: the iudgements of the Lord are g trueth: they are righteous h altogether.
10 And more to be i desired then golde, yea, then much fine gold; sweeter also then hony, and the hony combe.
11 Moreouer by them is thy seruant made circumspect, and in keeping of them there is great k reward.
12 Who can vnderstand his l faults? cleanse me from secret faults.
13 Keepe thy seruant also from m presumptuous sinnes: let them not reigne ouer me: n so shall I be vpright, and made cleane from much wickednesse.
14 Let the words of my mouth, and the o meditation of mine heart be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord my strength, and my redeemer.

* Rom. 1, 20.
a He reproacheth vnto man his ingratitude, seeing the heauens, which are dumbe creatures, set foorth Gods glory.
b The continuall succesſe of the day and the night is sufficient to declare Gods power and goodnesse.
c The heauens are a Schoolemaster to all nations, be they neuer so barbarous.
d The heauens are as a line of great capitall letters to shew vnto vs Gods glory.
e Or vaile. The maner was that the bride and bridegrom should stand vnder a vaile together, and after come foorth with great solemnity, and reioycing of the assembly.
f Though the creatures cannot serue, yet this ought to be sufficient to leade vs vnto him.
g So that all mans inuentions and inuentions are lies.
h Euery one without exception.
i Except Gods word be esteemed aboue all worldly things, it is contemned.
k For God acceepteth our indeuour, though it be farre vnperfit.
l Then there is no reward of duetie, but of grace: for where sinne is, there death is the reward. m In which are done purposely and of malice. n If thou suppresse my wicked affections by thine holy spirit. o That I may obey thee in thought, word and deede.

PSAL. XX.

A prayer of the people vnto God, that it would please him to heare their kinge and receyue his sacrifice, which hee offered before hee went to battel against the Ammonites.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David.

THe a Lord heare thee in the day of trouble: the b Name of ¶ God of Iaakob defend thee:
2 Send thee helpe from the Sanctuary, and strengthen thee out of Zion.
3 Let him remember all thine offerings, and c turne thy burnt offerings into ashes. Selah.
4 And graunt thee according to thine heart, and fulfill all thy purpose:
5 That we may reioyce in thy d saluation, and set vp the banner in the Name of our God, when the Lord shall performe all thy petitions.
6 Now e know I that the Lord will helpe his anoynted, and will heare him from his f Sanctuarie, by the mighty helpe of his right hand.
7 Some trust in chariots, and some in horses; but we will remember the Name of the Lord our God.
8 g They are brought downe and fallen, but we are risen, and stand vpright.
9 Saue Lord; h Let the King heare vs in the day that we call.

a Hereby kings are also admonished to call to God in their affaires.
b The vertue, power and grace of God
c In token that they are acceptable vnto him
d Granted to the King in whose wealth our felicitie standeth.
e The Church feeleth that God had heard their petition.
f As by the visible Sanctuary Gods familiarity appeared toward his people, so by the heauenly is meant his power and maiestie.
g The worldlings think they are not ouerthrowne, but we are risen, and stand vpright.
h Let the king be able to deliuer vs by thy strength, when wee seeke vnto him for succour.

PSAL. XXI.

a David in the person of the people praiseth God for the victory, attributing it to God, and not to the strength of man. Wherein the holy Ghost directeth the faithfull to Christ, who is the perfection of this kingdome.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David.

THe King shall a reioyce in thy strength, O Lord; yea how greatly shall he reioyce in thy saluation?
2 Thou hast giuen him his hearts desire, and hast not denied him the requeſt of his lips. Selah.
3 For thou b diddest preuent him with liberall blessings, and diddest set a crowne of pure golde vpon his head.
4 c He asked life of thee, and thou gauest him a long life for euer and euer.
5 His glory is great in thy saluation: dignity and honour hast thou laid vpon him.
6 For thou hast set him as a blessings for euer: thou hast made him glad with the ioy of thy countenance.
7 Because the king trusteth in the Lord, and in the mercy of the most high, he shall not slide.
8 d Thine hand shall find out all thine enemies, & thy right hand shall find out them ſ hate thee.
9 Thou shalt make them like a fierie ouen in time of thine anger; the Lord shall destroy them in his f wrath, and the fire shall deuoure them.
10 Their fruite shalt thou destroy from the earth, and their seede from the children of men.
11 For they g intended euill against thee, and imagined mischiefe, but they shall not prouaile.
12 Therefore shalt thou put them h apart, and the strings of thy bow shalt thou make ready against their faces.
13 i Be thou exalted, O Lord, in thy strength: so will we sing and praise thy power.

a When he shall ouercome his enemies. & so be assured of his vocation.
b Thou declaredst thy liberall fauour toward him before he prayed.
c David did not only obteine life, but also assurance that his posterity should reigne for euer.
d Thou hast made him thy blessings to others, and a perpetuall example of thy fauour for euer.
e Here he describeth the power of Christs kingdome against the enemies thereof.
f This teacheth vs patiently to endure the crosse till God destroy the aduersary.
g They laid as it were their nets to make Gods power to giue place to their wicked enterprises.
h As a marke to shoote at.
i Maintaine thy Church against thine aduersaries, that wee may haue ample occasion to praise thy Name.

PSAL. XXII.

1 David complained because hee was brought into such extremities that he was past all hope, but after he had wearyed the sorrowes and griefes, wherewith he was vexed, 30 He recouereth himselfe from the bottomlesse pit of tentations, and groweth in hope. And here vnder his owne person he setteth forth the figure of Christ, whom he did foresee by the spirit of prophecie, that he should marueilously, and strangely be deiected and aduanced, before his Father should raise and exalt him againe.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon ‖ Aijeleth Hasshahar. A Psalme of David.

MY a God, my God, why hast thou forsaken mee, and art so farre from mine health, and from the words of my b roaring?
2 O my God, I cry by day, but thou hearest not: and by night, but ‖ haue no audience.
3 But thou art holy, and dwellest inhabite the c prayses of Israel.
4 Our fathers trusted in thee; they trusted, and thou diddest deliuer them.
5 They called vpon thee, and were deliuered; they trusted in thee, and were not confounded.
6 But I am a d worme & not a man; a shame of men, and the contempt of the people.

PSAL. XXIIII.

1 Albeit the Lord God hath made, and gouerneth all the world, yet toward his chosen people, his gracious goodnesse doeth most abundantly appeare, in that among them he will haue his dwelling place. Which though it was appointed among the children of Abraham, yet onely they doe enter aright into this Sanctuary, which are the true worshippers of God, purged from the filthie filth of this world. 7 Finally he magnifieth Gods grace for the building of the Temple, to the ende hee might stirre vp all the faithfull to the true seruice of God.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

THe earth * is the Lords, and all that therein is; the world and they that dwell therein.

b Though circumcision separate the carnall seed of Iaakob, from the Gentiles, yet he that seeketh God, is the true Iaakob and the very Israelite.
c Dauid desireth the building vp of the Temple, where in the glory of God should appeare, and vnder the figure of this Temple, he also prayeth for the spirituall Temple, which is eternall, because of the promise which was made to the Temple, as it is written, Psal. 132, 14.

PSAP. XXV.

1 The Prophet touched with the consideration of his sinnes, and also greeued with the cruell malice of his enemies, 6 Prayeth to God most fernently to haue his sinnes forgiuen. 7 Especially such as he had committed in his youth. He beginneth euery verse according to the Ebrew letters, two or three except.

c Reteine me in the faith of thy promise, that I swarue not out any side.

d Constantly, and against all temptations.

e He confesseth that his manifold sinnes were the cause that his enemies did thus persecute him, desiring that the cause of the euill may be taken away, to the intent that the effect may cease.
f That is, call them to repentance.
g He will gouerne and comfort them that are truely humbled for their sinnes.
h And for none other respect.
i Meaning, the number is very small.
k He will direct such with his spirit to follow the right way.
l He shall prosper both in spirituall and corporall things.
m His counsell contained in his word, whereby he declareth that he is the protector of the faithfull.
n My griefe is increased because of mine enemies cruelty.
o The greater that his afflictions were and the more that his enemies increased, the more neere felt he Gods helpe.
p Forasmuch as I haue behaued my selfe vprightly toward mine enemies, let them know that thou art the defender of my iust cause.

a Hee seeth to God to bee the Iudge of his iust cause; seeing there is no equitie among men.
b My very affections and inward motions of the heart.
c Hee sheweth what stayed him, that hee did not recompence euill for euill.
d Hee declareth that they cannot walke in simplicitie before God, that delight in the company of the vngodly.

4 c Shew mee thy wayes, O Lord, and teach me thy paths.

5 Leade mee foorth in thy trueth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my saluation: in thee doe I trust d all the day.

6 Remember, O Lord, thy tender mercies, and thy louing kindnesse: for they haue beene for euer.

7 Remember not the e sinnes of my youth, nor my rebellions, but according to thy kindnes remember thou me, euen for thy goodnesse sake, O Lord.

8 Gracious and righteous is the Lord: therefore will he f teach sinners in the way.

9 Them that be meeke, will hee g guide in iudgement, and teach the humble his way.

10 All the pathes of the Lord are mercy and trueth vnto such as keepe his couenant and his testimonies:

11 For thy h Names sake, O Lord, be mercifull vnto mine iniquitie, for it is great.

12 What i man is hee that feareth the Lord? him will he teach the way that he shall k chuse.

13 His soule shall dwell at l ease, and his seed shall inherit the land.

14 The m secret of the Lord is revealed to them that feare him: and his Couenant to giue them vnderstanding.

15 Mine eyes are euer toward the Lord: for he will bring my feet out of the net.

16 Turne thy face vnto mee, and haue mercy vpon me: for I am desolate and poore.

17 The sorowes of mine heart n are enlarged: draw me out of my troubles.

18 Looke vpon mine affliction and my trauel, and forgiue all my sinnes.

19 Behold mine o enemies, for they are many, and they hate me with cruell hatred.

20 Keepe my soule and deliuer me: let me not be confounded: for I trust in thee.

21 Let p mine vprightnesse and equitie preserue me; for mine hope is in thee.

22 Deliuer Israel, O God, out of all his troubles.

PSAL. XXVI.

a Dauid oppressed with many iniuries, finding no helpe in the world, calleth for ayde from God: and assured of his integritie towards Saul, desireth God to be his iudge, and to defend his innocencie. 6 Finally he maketh mention of his sacrifice, which he will offer for his deliuerance, and desireth to be in the company of the faithful in the Congregation of God, whence hee was banished by Saul, promising integritie of life, and open praises and thanksgiuing.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

IVdge me, a O Lord, for I haue walked in mine innocency: my trust hath beene also in the Lord; therefore shall I not slide.

2 Prooue me, O Lord, and trie me; examine my b reines, and mine heart.

3 For thy c louing kindnesse is before mine eyes; therefore haue I walked in thy trueth.

4 I haue not d haunted with vaine persons, neither kept company with the dissemblers.

5 I haue hated the e assembly of the euill, and haue not companied with the wicked.

6 I will f wash mine hands in innocencie, O Lord, and compasse thine altar.

7 That I may declare with the voyce of thankesgiuing, and set forth all thy wonderous workes.

8 O Lord, I haue loued the habitation of thine house, and the place where thine honour dwelleth.

9 g Gather not my soule with the sinners, nor my life with the bloody men;

10 In whose hand is h wickednesse, and their right hand is full of bribes.

11 But I will walke in mine innocencie; redeame me therefore, and be mercifull vnto me.

12 My foot standeth in i vprightnesse; I will praise thee, O Lord, in the Congregations.

PSAL. XXVII.

a Dauid maketh this Psalme being deliuered from great perils, as appeareth by the prayses and thanksgiuing annexed: 6 Wherein wee may see the constant faith of Dauid against the assaults of all his enemies. 7 And also the ende wherefore hee desireth to liue and to be deliuered, onely to worship God in his Congregation.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

THe Lord is my a light and my saluation, whom shall I feare? the Lord is the strength of my life of whom shall I be afraid?

2 When the wicked, euen mine enemies and my foes came vpon me to eate vp my flesh, they stumbled and fell.

3 Though an hoaste pitched against me, mine heart should not be afraid; though warre be raised against me, I will trust in b this.

4 c One thing haue I desired of the Lord, that I will require, euen that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the dayes of my life, to beholde the beauty of the Lord, and to visite his Temple.

5 For in the time of trouble hee shall hide mee in his Tabernacle; in the secret place of his pauilion shall he hide me, and set mee vp vpon a rocke.

6 d And now shall he lift vp mine head aboue mine enemies round about mee; therefore will I offer in his Tabernacle sacrifices of ioy; I will sing and praise the Lord.

7 Heatken vnto my voyce, O Lord, when I cry; haue mercie also vpon mee and heare mee.

8 When thou saydest, e Seeke ye my face, mine heart answered vnto thee, O Lord, I will seeke thy face.

9 Hide not therefore thy face from mee, nor cast thy seruant away in displeasure; thou hast beene my succour, leaue me not, neither forsake me, O God of my saluation.

10 f Though my father and my mother should forsake mee, yet the Lord will gather me vp.

11 Teach me thy way, O Lord, and leade me in a right path, because of mine enemies.

12 Giue me not vnto the g lust of mine aduersaries; for there are false witnesses risen vp against me, and such as speake cruelty.

13 I should haue fainted, except I had beleeued to see the goodnesse of the Lord h in the land of the liuing.

14 i Hope in the Lord: be strong, and he shall comfort thine heart, and trust in the Lord.

PSAL.

e I will serue thee with a pure affection, and with thy godly thanksgiuing vnto thee.

f Destroy me not in the ouerthrow of the wicked.
g Whose cruell hands doe execute the malicious deuises of their hearts.
h I am preserued from mine enemies by the power of God, and therefore will prayse him openly.

a Because he was assured of good successe in all his danger, and that his saluation was surely layd vp in God, he feared not the tyrannie of his enemies.
b That God will deliuer me and giue my faith the victory.
c The loue of countrey, wife, and all worldly commodities giueth me not in respect of this one thing, that I may not prayse thy Name in the midst of the congregation.
d Dauid assured himselfe by the Spirit of prophecie that he should ouercome his enemies, & serue God in his Tabernacle.

e He groundeth vpon Gods promise, and sheweth that hee is not willing to obey his commandement.

f He magnifieth Gods loue toward his, which farre passeth the most tender loue of parents towards their children.
g But either pacifie their wrath, or bridle their rage.
h In this present life before I die, as Isa. 38. 11.
i Hee exhorteth himself to depend on the Lord, seeing he neuer failed in his promises.

PSAL. XXVIII.

1 Being in great feare and heauinesse of heart to see God dishonoured by the wicked, he desireth to be rid of them. 4 And crieth for vengeance against them: and at length assureth himselfe, that God hath heard his prayer. 9 Vnto whose tuition he commendeth all the faithfull.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

VNto thee, O Lord, doe I cry: O my strength, be not deafe toward me, least if thou answere mee not, I be like a them that goe downe into the pit.

2 Heare the voyce of my petitions, when I cry vnto thee, when I hold vp my hands toward thine [b] holy Oracle.

3 [c] Draw me not away with the wicked, and with the workers of iniquitie: which speake friendly to their neighbours, when malice is in their hearts.

4 [d] Reward them according to their deedes, and according to the wickednesse of their inuentions: recompense them after the worke of their hands: render them their reward.

5 For they regard not the works of the Lord, nor the operation of his hands: therefore [e] breake them downe, and build them not vp.

6 [f] Praysed be the Lord, for he hath heard the voyce of my petitions.

7 The Lord is my strength and my shield: mine heart trusted in him, and I was helped: therefore mine heart shall reioyce, and with my song will I prayse him.

8 The Lord is [g] their strength, and he is the strength of the deliuerances of his anoynted.

9 Saue thy people, and blesse thine inheritance: feed them also, and exalt them for euer.

PSAL. XXIX.

1 The Prophet exhorteth the princes and rulers of the world (which for the most part thinke there is no God) 3 At the least to feare him for the thunders and tempests, for feare whereof all creatures tremble. 11 And though thereby God threateneth sinners, yet he is alwayes mercifull to his, and mooueth them thereby to prayse his Name.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

GIue vnto the Lord, ye [a] sonnes of the mighty, giue vnto the Lord glory and strength.

2 Giue vnto the Lord glory due vnto his Name: worship the Lord in the glorious Sanctuary.

3 The [b] voyce of the Lord is vpon the waters: the God of glory maketh it to thunder: the Lord is vpon the great waters.

4 The voyce of the Lord is mighty: the voyce of the Lord is glorious.

5 The [c] voyce of the Lord breaketh the cedars: yea, the Lord breaketh the cedars of Lebanon.

6 He maketh them also to leape like a calfe: Lebanon also and [d] Shirion like a young vnicorne.

7 The voyce of the Lord diuideth the [e] flames of fire,

8 The voyce of the Lord maketh the wildernesse to tremble: the Lord maketh the wildernes of [f] Kadesh to tremble.

9 The voyce of the Lord maketh the hindes to [g] calue, and [h] discouereth the forests: therefore in his [i] Temple doeth euery man speake of his glory.

10 The Lord sitteth vpon the [k] floods, and the Lord doeth remaine King for euer.

11 The Lord shall giue strength vnto his people; the Lord shall blesse his people with peace.

PSAL. XXX.

1 When Dauid was deliuered, from great danger, he rendreth thankes to God, exhorting other to doe the like, and to learne by his example, that God is rather mercifull then seuere and vigorous towards his children. 7 And also that the fast from prosperitie to aduersitie is sudden. 8 This done, he returneth to prayer, promising to prayse God for euer.

¶ * A Psalme or song of the * dedication of the [a] house of Dauid.

I Will magnifie thee, O Lord: [b] thou hast exalted me, and hast not made my foes to reioyce ouer me.

2 O Lord my God, I cryed vnto thee, and thou hast [c] restored me.

3 O Lord, thou hast brought vp my [d] soule out of the graue: thou hast reuiued me from them that goe downe into the pit.

4 Sing prayses vnto the Lord, yee [e] his Saints, and giue thankes [f] before the remembrance of his Holinesse.

5 *For hee endureth but a while in his anger; but in his fauour is life; weeping may abide at euening, but ioy commeth in the morning.

6 And in my [g] prosperity I sayd, I shall neuer be mooued.

7 For thou Lord of thy goodnesse haddest made my [h] mountaine to stand strong; but thou didest hide thy face, and I [i] was troubled.

8 Then cryed I vnto thee, O Lord, and prayed to my Lord.

9 What profit is there in my blood, when I goe downe to the pit? shall the [k] dust giue thanks vnto thee? or shall it declare thy trueth?

10 Heare, O Lord, and haue mercy vpon me; Lord, be thou mine helper.

11 Thou hast turned my mourning into ioy: thou hast loosed my sacke, and girded mee with gladnesse.

12 Therefore shall my [l] tongue prayse thee and not cease; O Lord my God, I will giue thankes vnto thee for euer.

PSAL. XXXI.

1 Dauid deliuered from some great danger, first rehearseth what meditation he had by the power of faith, when death was before his eyes, his enemie being ready to take him. 15 Then hee affirmeth that the fauour of God is alwayes ready to those that feare him. 20 Finally hee exhorteth all the faithfull to trust in God and to loue him, because hee preserueth and strengtheneth them, as they may see by his example.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

IN * thee, O Lord, haue I put my trust; let mee neuer be confounded; deliuer me in thy [a] righteousnesse.

2 Bow downe thine eare to mee; make haste to deliuer me; be vnto me a strong rocke, and an house of defence to saue me.

3 For thou art my rocke and my fortresse; therefore for thy Names sake direct me and guide mee.

4 Draw mee out of the [b] nette, that they haue layed priuily for mee; for thou art my strength.

5 Into thine e hand I commend my spirit: for thou hast redeemed me, O Lord God of trueth.

6 I haue hated them that giue themselues to deceitfull vanities: for I d trust in the Lord,

8 And thou hast not shut mee vp in the hand of the enemie, but hast set my feete at f large.

9 Haue mercie vpon me, O Lord: for I am in trouble: mine g eye, my soule & my belly are consumed with griefe.

10 For my life is wasted with heauinesse, and my yeeres with mourning: my strength faileth for my paine, and my bones are consumed.

11 I was a h reproach among all mine enemies, but specially among my neighbours: and a feare to mine acquaintance, i who seeing mee in the streete, fled from me.

12 I am forgotten as a dead man out of mind: I am like a broken vessell.

13 For I haue heard the railing of k great men: feare was on euery side, while they conspired together against mee, and consulted to take my life.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid, the seruant of the Lord.

WIckednes saith to the wicked man, a euen in mine heart, that there is no feare of God before his eyes.

2 For he b flattereth himselfe in his own eyes, while his iniquity is found worthy to be hated.

3 The wordes of his mouth are iniquity and c deceit: he hath left off to vnderstand and to doe good.

4 He d imagineth mischiefe vpon his bed: he setteth himselfe vpon a way, that is not good, and doeth not abhorre euill.

5 Thy e mercy, O Lord, reacheth vnto the heauens, and thy faithfulnesse vnto the cloudes.

6 Thy righteousnesse is like the f mightie mountaines: thy iudgements are like a great g deepe: thou Lord, doest saue man and beast.

7 How excellent is thy mercy, O God! therefore the children of men trust vnder the shadow of thy wings.

8 They shalbe h satisfied with the fatnesse of thine house, and thou shalt giue them drinke out of the riuer of thy pleasures.

9 For with thee is the well of life, and in thy light shall we see light.

10 Extend thy louing kindnesse vnto them that k know thee, and thy righteousnesse vnto them that are vpright in heart.

11 Let not the i foote of pride come against mee, and let not the hand of the wicked men moone me.

12 k There they are fallen that worke iniquity: they are cast downe, and shall not be able to rise.

a I see euidently by his deeds, that sinne pusheth forward the reprobate from wickednesse to wickednesse, albeit he goe about to couer his impietie.

b Through all other deceit his wile sinne, yet he himselfe seeth it not.

c The reprobate mocke at wholesome doctrine, and put not difference betweene good and euill.

d By describing at large the nature of the reprobate, he admonisheth the godly to beware of these vices.

e Though wickednesse seemeth to ouerflow all the world, yet by thine heauenly prouidence thou gouernest heauen and earth.

f Ebr. the mountaines of God: for whatsoeuer is excellent, is thus called.

g The depth of thy prouidence gouerneth all things, and disposeth them, albeit the wicked seems to ouerwhelme the World.

g Onely Gods children haue enough of all things both concerning this life and the life to come.

h He admonisheth vs neither to vexe our selues for the prosperous estate of the wicked, neither to desire to be like them to make our state the better.

b For Gods iudgment cometh downe their state in a moment.

c To trust in God, and liue according to his will, are sure tokens that his prouidence will neuer fasse vs.

d Be not led by thine owne wisedome, but obey God, and he will finish his worke in thee.

e As the hope of the daylight causeth vs not to be offended with the darkenesse of the night: so ought we patiently to trust that God will cleare our cause and restore vs to our right.

and needy, and to slay such as be of vpright conuersation.

15 But their sword shall enter into their owne heart, and their bowes shalbe broken.

16 k A small thing vnto the iust man is better then great riches to the wicked and mightie.

17 For the armes of the wicked shall be broken: but the Lord vpholdeth the iust men.

18 The Lord l knoweth the dayes of vpright men, and their inheritance shalbe perpetuall.

19 They shall not be confounded in the perilous time, and in the dayes of famine they shall haue m ynough.

20 But the wicked shall perish, and the enemies of the Lord shall be consumed as the n fatte of lambes: euen with the smoke shall they consume away.

21 The wicked borroweth and payeth not againe: but the righteous is mercifull and o giueth.

22 For such as be blessed of God shall inherite the land, and they that be cursed of him, shall be cut off.

23 p The pathes of man are directed by the Lord: for he loueth his way.

24 Though he q fall, hee shall not be cast off, for the Lord putteth vnder his hand.

25 I haue bene yong, and am olde, yet I saw neuer the righteous forsaken, nor his r seede begging bread.

26 But he is euer mercifull and lendeth: and his seede enioyeth the blessing.

27 Flee from euill and doe good, and dwell for euer.

28 For the Lord loueth iudgement, and forsaketh not his Saints: they shall be preserued for euermore: but the seede of the wicked shall be cut off.

29 The righteous men shall inherite the land, and dwell therein s for euer.

30 The t mouth of the righteous will speake of wisedome, and his tongue will talke of iudgement.

31 For the Law of his God is in his heart, and his steps shall not slide.

32 The wicked watcheth the righteous, and seeketh to slay him.

33 But the Lord will not leaue him in his hand, nor condemne him, when he is u iudged.

34 Waite thou on the Lord, and keepe his way, and he shall exalt thee, that thou shalt inherite the land: when the wicked men shall perish, thou shalt see.

35 I haue seene the wicked strong, and spreading himselfe like a greene bay tree.

36 Yet he x passed away, and loe, he was gone, and I sought him, but he could not be found.

37 y Marke the vpright man, and behold the iust: for the end of that man is peace.

38 But the transgressours shall be destroyed together, and the ende of the wicked shall be cut off.

39 But the z saluation of the righteous men shalbe of the Lord: hee shalbe their strength in the time of trouble.

40 For the Lord shall helpe them, and deliuer them: hee shall deliuer them from the wicked, and shall saue them, because they trust in him.

k For they are duely fed as with Manna from heauen, and haue sufficient, when the wicked haue neuer ynough, but euer hunger.

l God knoweth what dangers hang ouer his, and by what meanes to deliuer them.

m For God will giue them contented mindes: and that which shall be necessary.

n They shall vanish away suddenly, for they are fed for the day of slaughter.

o God so furnisheth him with his blessings, that hee is able to helpe others.

p God prospereth the faithfull, because they walke in his wayes with an vpright conscience.

q When God doeth exercise his faith with diuers tentations.

r Though the iust man die, yet Gods blessings are extended to his posteritie, and though God suffer some with men to lacke temporall benefits, yet hee recompenseth him with spirituall treasures.

s They shall continually be preserued vnder Gods wings, and haue at least inward rest.

t These three poynts are required of the faithfull, that their talke be godly, that Gods law be in their heart, and that their life be vpright.

u For though it be sometime so expedient both for Gods glory and their saluation, yet he will approoue their cause, and reuenge their wrong.

x So that the prosperitie of the wicked is but as a cloud, which vanisheth away in a moment.

y He exhorteth the faithfull to marke diligeotly the examples both of Gods mercies, and also of his iudgements.

z He sheweth that the patient hope of the godly is neuer in vaine, but in the end hath good successe, though for a time God proue them by sundry tentations.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid for a remembrance.

O Lord rebuke me not in thine a anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath, 3 There is nothing sound in my flesh, because of thine anger: neither is there rest in my bones, because of my c sinne.

mind wonderfully troubled, that is may plainely appeare how he did striue mightily against death & desperation.

¶ To the excellent Musician [a] Iedithun.

A Psalme of Dauid.

I Thought, [b] I will take heed to my wayes, that I sin not with my tongue: I will keepe my mouth bridled, while the wicked is in my sight.

2 I was dumb and spake nothing: I kept silence euen from good, [c] and my sorow was more stirred.

3 Mine heart was hote within me, and while I was musing, the fire kindled, and I [d] spake with my tongue, saying,

4 Lord, let me know mine ende, and the measure of my dayes, what it is: let mee know how long I haue to line.

5 Beholde, thou hast made my dayes as an hand breadth, and mine age as nothing in respect of thee: surely euery man in his best state is altogether [e] vanity. Selah.

6 Doubtlesse man walketh in a shadow, and disquieteth himselfe in vaine: he heapeth vp riches, and cannot tell who shall gather them.

7 And now Lord, what wait I for? mine hope is euen in thee.

8 Deliuer me from all my transgressions, and make me not a rebuke vnto the [f] foolish.

9 I should haue beene dumbe, and not haue opened my mouth, because [g] thou didst it.

10 Take thy plague away from me: for I am consumed by the stroke of thine hand.

11 When thou with rebukes dost chastise man for iniquity, thou as a moth [h] makest his beauty to consume: surely euery man is vanity. Selah.

12 Heare my prayer, O Lord, and hearken vnto my cry: keepe not silence at my teares, for I am a stranger with thee, and a sojourner as all my fathers.

13 Stay thine anger from me, that I may recouer my strength, [k] before I go hence and be not.

PSAL. XL.

1 Dauid deliuered from great danger, doth magnifie and praise the grace of God for his deliuerance, and commendeth his prouidence towards all mankind. 5 Then doeth he promise to giue himselfe wholly to Gods seruice, and so declareth how God is truely worshipped. 14 Afterwards he giueth thanks and praiseth God, and hauing complained of his enemies, with good courage hee calleth for ayde and succour.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

I Waited [a] patiently for the Lord, & he enclined vnto me, and heard my cry.

2 He brought mee also out of the [b] horrible pit, out of the myrie clay, and set my feet vpon the rocke, and ordered my goings.

3 And he hath put in my mouth [c] a new song of praise vnto our God: many shall see it & feare, and shall trust in the Lord.

4 Blessed is the man that maketh the Lord his trust, and regardeth [d] not the proud, nor such as turne aside to lies.

5 [e] O Lord my God, thou hast made thy wonderfull workes so many, that none can count in order to thee thy thoughts towards vs: I would declare, and speake of them, but they are moe then I am able to expresse.

6 Sacrifice and offering thou diddest not desire: (for [f] mine eares hast thou prepared) burnt offring and sinne offring hast thou not required.

7 [g] Then said I, Loe, I come: for in the rolle of the booke it is written of me,

8 I desired to doe thy good will, O my God: yea, thy Law is within mine heart.

9 I haue declared thy righteousnes in [h] great Congregation: loe, I will not refraine my lips: O Lord, thou knowest.

10 I haue not hid thy righteousnesse within mine heart, but I haue declared thy [i] trueth and thy saluation: I haue not concealed thy mercy and thy trueth from the great Congregation.

11 Withdrawe not thou thy tender mercie from me, O Lord, let thy mercy and thy trueth alway preserue me.

12 For innumerable troubles haue compassed me: my sinnes haue taken such holde vpon mee, that I am not able to looke vp: yea, they are moe in number then the haires of mine head: therefore mine heart hath [k] failed me.

13 Let it please thee, O Lord, to deliuer mee: make haste, O Lord, to helpe me.

14 Let them be [l] confounded and put to shame together, that seeke my soule to destroy it: let them be driuen backward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt.

15 Let them be [m] destroyed for a reward of their shame, which say vnto me, Aha, aha.

16 Let all them that seeke thee, reioyce and be glad in thee, and let them that loue thy saluation, say alway, [n] The Lord be praised.

17 Though I be poore and needy, the Lord thinketh on me: thou art mine helper and my deliuerer: my God, make no tarying.

PSAL. XLI.

1 Dauid being grieuously afflicted, blesseth them that pity his case, 9 and complaineth of the treason of his owne friends and familiars, as came to passe in Iudas, Ioh. 13 18. After he feeleth the great mercies of God gently chastising him, and not suffring his enemies to triumph against him, 13 giueth most hearty thanks to God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

BLessed is he that [a] iudgeth wisely of the poore: the Lord shall deliuer him in the time of trouble.

2 The Lord will keepe him, and preserue him aliue, he shalbe blessed vpon the earth: and thou wilt not deliuer him vnto the will of his enemies.

3 The Lord will strengthen him vpon the [b] bed of sorow: thou hast turned all his [c] bed in his sicknesse.

4 Therefore I said, Lord haue mercy vpon me: heale my soule, for I haue sinned against thee.

5 Mine enemies [d] speake euill of mee, saying, When shall he die, and his name perish?

6 And if he come to see me, he speaketh [e] lies, but his heart heapeth iniquitie within him, and when he commeth forth, he telleth it.

7 All they that hate me, whisper together against me: euen against me do they imagine mine hurt.

8 [f] A mischiefe is light vpon him, and he that lyeth, shall no more rise.

9 Yea, my [g] familiar friend, whom I trusted, which did eat of my bread, [h] hath lifted vp the heele against me.

a This was one of the chiefe singers, 1. Chron. 16, 41.
b Albeit he had appointed with himselfe patiently to haue tarried Gods leasure, yet the vehemency of his paine caused him to breake his purpose.
c Though when the wicked ruled, he thought to haue kept silence, yet his zeale caused him to change his mind.
d He confesseth that hee grudged against God, considering the greatnesse of his sorrows, and the shortnesse of his life.
e Yet Dauid offended in that that he reasoned with God as though that he were too seuere toward his weake creature.
f Make me not a mocking stocke to the wicked, or wrap mee not vp with the wicked, when they are put to shame.
g Seeing my troubles came of thy prouidence, I ought to haue endured them patiently.
h Though thine open plagues light not euermore vpon them, yet thy secret curse continually fretteth them.
i The word signifieth all that he desireth, as health, force, strength, beauty, & in whatsoeuer hee hath delight: so that the rod of God taketh away all that is desired in this world.
k For his sorow caused him think that God would destroy him vtterly: whereby we see how hard it is for the very Saints to keepe a measure in their words, when death and despaire assaile them.

a Though God deferred his help, yet he patiently abode till he was heard.
b He hath deliuered me from most great danger.
c That is, a speciall occasion to praise him: for Gods benefits are so many occasions for vs to praise his Name. d To follow their example, which he must needs do that, trusteth not onely in the Lord.
e Dauid goeth from one kind of Gods fauour to the contemplation of his prouidence ouer all, & confesseth that his counsels towards vs are far aboue our capacities: we cannot so much as tell them in order.

f Thou hast opened mine eares to vnderstand the spirituall meaning of the sacrifices: and here Dauid ettemeth the ceremonies of the law nothing in respect of the spirituall seruice.
g When thou haddest opened mine eares and heart, I was ready to obey thee, being assured that I was written in the booke of thine elect for his end.
h In the Church assembled in the Sanctuary.
i Dauid here numbreth 3 degrees of our saluation: Gods mercy, whereby he pitieth vs: his righteousnes, which signifieth his continuall protection: and his trueth, whereby appeareth his constant fauour to that hereof proceedeth our saluation.
k As touching the iudgement of the flesh. I was vtterly destitute of all counsell, yet faith inwardly mooued mine heart to pray.
l He desireth that Gods mercy may content for him against the rage of his enemies.
m Let the same shame and confusion light vpon them, which they intended to haue brought vpon me. n As the faithfull alwayes praise God for his benefites: so the wicked mocke Gods children in their afflictions.

a Not condemning him as accused, whom God doth visit, knowing that there are diuers causes why God layeth his hand vpon vs, yea and afterward he restoreth vs.
b When he sorow and griefe of minde he calleth himselfe vpon his bed.
c Thou hast restored him in his sicke bed and sent him comfort.
d That is, curse me and cannot haue their cruell hate quenched, but with my shamefull death.
e For pretending to comfort me, he conspireth my death in his heart, and braggeth thereof.
f The enemies thought by his sharpe punishments that God was become his mortall enemy. † Ebr. the man of my peace. g As Dauid felt this faithlooke, and as it was chiefly accomplished in Christ, Iohn. 13. 18. so shall his members continually procure the same.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme to giue instruction, a committed to the sonnes of Korah.

AS the Hart brayeth for the riuers of water, so b panteth my soule after thee, O God.
2 My soule thirsteth for God, euen for the liuing God: when shall I come and appeare before the presence of God?
3 c My teares haue beene my meate day and night, while they dayly say vnto me, Where is thy God?
4 When I remembred d these things, I powred out my very heart, because I had gone with the multitude, and ledde them into the house of God with the voyce of singing, and praise, as a multitude that keepeth a feast.
5 Why art thou cast downe, my soule, and vnquiet within me? e wait on God: for I will yet giue him thanks for the helpe of his presence.
6 My God, my soule is cast downe within me, f because I remembred thee, from the land of Iorden, and Hermonim, and from the mount Mizar.
7 One g deepe calleth another deepe by the noise of thy water spouts: all thy waues and thy floods are gone ouer me.
8 The Lord h will grant his louing kindnes in the day, and in the night shall I sing of him, euen a prayer vnto the God of my life.
9 I will say vnto God, which is my rocke, Why hast thou forgotten mee? why goe I mourning, when the enemy oppresseth me?
10 My i bones are cut asunder, while mine enemies reproach me, saying dayly vnto me, Where is thy God?
11 k Why art thou cast downe, my soule? and why art thou disquieted within me? wait on God: for I will yet giue him thanks: hee is my present helpe, and my God.

a As a treasure to be kept of them, which were of the number of the Leuites.
b By these similitudes of thirst and panting, he sheweth his feruent desire to serue God in his Temple.
c As others take pleasure in eating and drinking, so he was altogether giuen to weeping.
d That is, how I fed the people to serue thee in thy Tabernacle, and now seeing my contrary estate, I die for sorow.
e Though he sustained grieuous assaults of the flesh to cast him into despaire, yet his faith grounded on Gods accustomed mercies getteth the victory.
f That is, when I remember thee in this land of my banishment among the mountaines.
g Afflictions come so thick vpon me, that I feele my selfe as ouerwhelmed: whereby he sheweth there is no end of our misery till God be pacified and send remedy.
h He assureth himselfe of Gods help in time to come. i That is, I am most grieuously tormented. k This repetition doth declare that Dauid did not ouercome at once, to teach vs to be constant, for as much as God will certainely deliuer his.

PSAL. XLIII.

1 He prayeth to be deliuered from them that conspire against him, that he might ioyfully praise God in his holy congregation.

IVdge a me, O God, and defend my cause against the vnmercifull b people: deliuer me from the deceitfull and wicked man.
2 For thou art the God of my strength: why hast thou put me away? why goe I so mourning, when the enemy oppresseth me?
3 Send thy c light and thy trueth: let them lead mee: let them bring me vnto thine holy Mountaine, and to thy Tabernacles.
4 Then d will I goe vnto the altar of God, euen vnto the God of my ioy and gladnes: and vpon the harpe will I giue thanks vnto thee, O God my God.

a He desireth God to vndertake his cause against the enemies, but chiefly that he would restore him to the Tabernacle.
b That is, the cruell company of mine enemies.
c To wit, thy fauour, which appeareth by the performance of thy promises.
d He promiseth to offer a solemne sacrifice of thanksgiuing in token of his great deliuerance.

5 Why art thou cast downe, my soule? and why art thou disquieted within me? e wayte on God: for I will yet giue him thanks, he is my present helpe and my God.

PSAL. XLIV.

1 The faithfull remember the great mercy of God toward his people. 9 After they complaine, because they feele it no more. 17 Also they alledge the couenant made with Abraham, for the keeping whereof they shew what grieuous things they suffred. 23 Finally, they pray vnto God not to contemne their affliction, seeing the same redoundeth to the contempt of his honour.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah.

WE haue heard with our a eares, O God: our fathers haue told vs the workes that thou hast done in their dayes, in the old time:
2 How thou hast driuen out the b heathen with thine hand, and planted c them: how thou hast destroyed the d people, and caused e them to grow.
3 For they inherited not the lande by their owne sword, neither did their owne arme saue them: but thy right hand, and thine arme, and the light of thy countenance, because thou didst f fauour them.
4 Thou art my king, O God: send helpe vnto Iaakob.
5 b Through thee haue wee thrust backe our aduersaries: by thy Name haue we troden downe them that rose vp against vs.
6 For I doe not trust in my bow, neither can my sword saue me.
7 But thou hast saued vs from our aduersaries, and hast put them to confusion that hate vs.
8 Therefore will wee prayse God continually, and will confesse thy Name for euer. Selah.
9 But now thou art farre off, and puttest vs to i confusion, and goest not forth with our armies.
10 Thou makest vs to turn back from ỹ aduersary, and they, which hate vs, spoile ỹ for themselues.
11 * Thou giuest vs k as sheepe to be eaten, and doest scatter vs among the nations.
12 Thou sellest thy people l without gaine, and doest not increase their price.
13 Thou makest vs a reproach to our neighbours, a iest and a laughing stocke to them that are round about vs.
14 Thou makest vs a prouerb among the nations, and a nodding of the head among the people.
15 My m confusion is dayly before me, and the shame of my face hath couered me, 16 For the voyce of the slanderer and rebuker, for the enemy and n auenger.
17 All this is come vpon vs, yet doe wee not o forget thee, neither deale wee falsly concerning thy couenant.
18 Our heart is not turned backe: neither our steps gone out of thy paths, 19 Albeit thou hast smitten vs downe into the place of ‖ dragons, and couered vs with the shadow of death.
20 If we haue forgotten the Name of our God, and holden vp our hands to a p strange god, 21 q Shall not God search this out? for hee knoweth the secrets of the heart.

e Whereby he admonisheth the faithfull not to relent, but constantly to wayte on the Lord, though their troubles be long and great.

a This Psalme seemeth to haue beene made by some excellent Prophet for the vse of the people, when the Church was in extreme misery, either at their returne from Babylon, or vnder Antiochus, or in such like affliction.
b That is, the Canaanites.
c To wit, our fathers.
d Of Canaan.
e That is, our fathers.
f Gods free mercy and loue is the only fountaine and beginning of the Church, Deut. 4, 37.
g Because thou art our king, therefore deliuer thy people from their misery.
h Because they and their forefathers made both one Church, they apply that to themselues which before they did attribute to their fathers.
i As they confessed before that their strength came of God, so now they acknowledge that this affliction came by his iust iudgement.
‖ Or, at their pleasure.
* Rom. 8. 36.
k Knowing God to be author of this calamity, they murmure not, but seeke remedy at his hands, who wounded them.
l As slaues which are solde for a low price, neither looked thou for him that offered it most, but takest the first chapman.
m I date not lift vp my head for shame.
n Meaning, the proud and cruell tyrant.
o They boast not of their vertues, but declare that they rest vpon God in the midst of their afflictions: who pursued not now their sinnes, but by hard afflictions called them to ỹ consideration of the heauenly loue.
‖ Or, whales: meaning, the bottomlesse seas of temptations: heere we see the power of faith, which can be ouercome by no perils.
p They shew that they honoured God aright, because they trusted in him alone.
q They take God to witnesse that they were vpright to him ward.

e The faithfull make this their comfort, that the wicked punish them not for their sinnes, but for Gods cause, Mat. 5.10. 1. Pet. 4. 14.
f There is no hope of recouery, except thou put to thine hand and raise vs vp.
g Which is the one y sufficient ransome to deliuer both body and soule from all kinde of slauery and misery.

22 Surely for thy sake e are we slaine continually, and are counted as sheepe for the slaughter.
23 Vp, why sleepest thou, O Lord? awake, be not farre off for euer.
24 Wherefore hidest thou thy face? and forgettest our misery and our affliction?
25 For our soule is f beaten downe vnto the dust: our belly cleaueth to the ground.
26 Rise vp for our succour, and redeeme vs for thy t mercies sake.

PSAL. XLV.

1 The maiestie of Salomon, his honour, strength, beauty, riches, and power are praised, and also his marriage with the Egyptian being an heathen woman, is blessed. 10 If that shee can renounce her people and the loue of her countrey, and giue her selfe wholly to her husband. Vnder the which figure, the wonderfull maiestie and increase of the kingdome of Christ and his Church his spouse, now taken of the Gentiles, is described.

¶ To him that excelleth on 2 Shoshannim, a song of b loue to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah.

MIne heart will vtter foorth a good matter: I will intreat in my works of the King: my tongue is as the pen of a swift writer.
2 Thou art c fairer then the children of men: grace is powred in thy lips, because God hath blessed thee for euer.
3 Gird thy sworde vpon thy thigh, O most mighty, to wit, thy worship and thy glory,
4 And prosper with thy glory: d ride vpon the word of trueth and of meekenes and of righteousnesse: so thy right hand shall teach thee terrible things.
5 Thine arrowes are sharpe to pearce the heart of the Kings enemies: therefore the people shall fall vnder thee.
6 Thy e throne, O God, is for euer and euer: the scepter of thy kingdome, is a scepter of righteousnesse.
7 Thou louest righteousnesse, and hatest wickednesse, because God, euen thy God, hath f anoynted thee with the oyle of gladnesse aboue thy fellowes.
8 All thy garments smell of myrrhe and aloes, and cassia, when thou commest out of the yuory palaces, g where they haue made thee glad.
9 Kings daughters were among thine honourable wiues: vpon thy right hand did stand the h Queene in a vesture of gold of Ophir.
10 i Hearken, O daughter, and consider, and encline thine eare: forget also thine owne people and thy fathers house.
11 So shall the King haue pleasure in thy beautie: for he is thy Lord, and reuerence thou him.
12 And the k daughter of ‖ Tyrus with the rich of the people, shall doe homage before thy face with presents.
13 The Kings daughter is all glorious l within: her cloathing is of broidred gold.
14 She shall be brought vnto the King in raiment of needle worke: the virgins that follow after her, and her companions shallbe brought vnto thee.
15 With ioy and gladnes shall they be brought, and shall enter into the Kings palace.
16 In stead of thy fathers shall thy m children be: thou shalt make them princes n through all y earth.
17 I will make thy o Name to be remembred through all generations: therefore shall the people giue thankes vnto thee world without end.

PSAL. XLVI.

1 A song of triumph or thanksgiuing for the deliuerance of Ierusalem, after Sennacherib with his armie was driuen away, or some other like sudden and marueilous deliuerance by the mighty hand of God. 2 Whereby the Prophet commending this great benefit, doeth exhort the faithfull to giue themselues wholly into the hand of God, doubting nothing but that vnder his protection they shall be safe against all the assaults of their enemies, because this is his ordinary to auenge the rage of the wicked, when they almost buse against the iust.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon a Alamoth, a song committed to the sonnes of Korah.

2 Therefore will not wee c feare, though the earth be mooued, and though the mountaines fall into the middes of the sea.
3 Though the waters thereof d rage and be troubled, and the mountaines shake at the surges of the same. Selah.
4 Yet there is a e Riuer, whose streame shall make glad the Citie of God: euen the Sanctuarie of the Tabernacles of the most High.
5 God is in the middes of it: therefore shall it not be mooued: God shall helpe it f very early.
6 When the nations raged, and the kingdoms were mooued, God † thundered, and the earth melted.
7 The Lord of hoastes is g with vs: the God of Iaakob is our refuge. Selah.
8 Come and behold the workes of the Lord, h what desolations he hath made in the earth.
9 He maketh warres to cease vnto the ends of the world: he breaketh the bow, and cutteth the speare, and burneth the chariots with fire.
10 Be i still and know that I am God, I will be exalted among the heathen, and I will be exalted in the earth.
11 The Lord of hoastes is with vs: the God of Iaakob is our refuge. Selah.

a Which was either a musicall instrument or a solemne tune, vnto the which this Psalme was sung.

b In all maner of troubles God sheweth his speedie mercie and power in defending his.
c That is, we will not be ouercome with feare.
d Though the afflictions rage neuer so much, yet the riuers of Gods mercies bring sufficient comfort to his.

3 He hath b subdued the people vnder vs, and the nations vnder our feete.
4 He hath chosen c our inheritance for vs: euen the glory of Iaakob whom he loued. Selah.

d He doeth alludevnto the trumpets, that were blowen at solemne feasts: but he doeth further signifie the triumph of Christ and his glorious ascension into the heauens.

e He requireth that vnderstanding be ioyned with singing, least the Name of God be prophaned with vaine crying. f He prayseth Gods highnes, for that he ioyneth the great princes of the world (whom he calleth shields) to the fellowship of his Church.

5 God is gone vp with triumph, euen the Lord, with the d sound of the trumpet.

6 Sing prayses to God, sing prayses: sing prayses vnto our King, sing prayses.

7 For God is the king of all the earth: sing prayses euery one that hath e vnderstanding.

8 God raigneth ouer the heathen: God sitteth vpon his holy Throne.

9 The princes of the people are gathered vnto the people of the God of Abraham: for the shields of the world belong to God: he f is greatly to be exalted.

PSAL. XLVIII.

1 A notable deliuerance of Ierusalem from the hands of ten Kings is mentioned, for the which thankes are giuen to God, and the state of that citie is praised, that hath God so presently at all times ready to defend them. This Psalme seemeth to be made in the time of Ahaz, Iehoshaphat, Asa or Ezechiah: for in their times chiefly was the citie by forren princes assaulted.

a Some put this difference betweene a song and Psalme, saying that it is called a Song, when there is no instrument, but the voyce: and the Psalme, the contrary. The song of the Psalm is when the instruments begin, and the voyce followeth. The Psalme of the song the contrary.

GReat is the Lord, and greatly to be prayfed in the b Citie of our God, euen vpon his holy Mountaine.

b Albeit God shew his wonders through all the world, yet he will be chiefly prayfed in his Church.

2 Mount Zion, lying Northward, is faire in situation: it is the c ioy of the whole earth, and the Citie of the great king.

c Because the word of saluation came thence to all them that should beleeue.

3 In the palaces thereof God is knowne for a d refuge.

d Except God were the defence thereof, neither situation nor munition could preuaile.

4 For lo, the kings were e gathered, and went together.

e They conspired and went against Gods people.

5 When they saw f it, they marueiled: they were astonied, and suddenly driuen backe.

f The enemies were afraid at the sight of the Citie.

6 Feare came there vpon them, and sorow, as vpon a woman in trauaile.

7 As with an East winde thou breakest the ships g of Tarshish, so were they destroyed.

g That is, of Cilicia, or of the sea called Mediterraneum.

8 As we haue h heard, so haue we seene in the Citie of the Lord of hosts, in the citie of our God: God will establish it for euer. Selah.

h To wit, of our fathers: so haue we proued: for God hath performed his promise.

9 We waite for thy louing kindnesse, O God, in the middes of thy Temple.

10 O God, according to thy Name, so is thy prayse vnto the i worlds ende: thy right hand is full of righteousnesse.

i In all places where thy Name shall be heard of, men shall prayse thee, when they heare of thy marueilous works.

11 Let k mount Zion reioyce, and daughters of Iudah be glad, because of thy iudgements.

k Let Ierusalem and the cities of Iudea reioyce, for thy iust iudgements against thine enemies.

12 l Compasse about Zion, and goe round about it, and tell the towers thereof.

l For in this outward defence and strength Gods blessings did also appeare: but the chiefe is to be referred to Gods fauour and secret defence, who neuer leaueth his.

13 Marke well the wall thereof: behold her towers, that ye may tell your posteritie.

14 For this God is our God for euer and euer, he shall be our guide vnto the death.

PSAL. XLIX.

1 The holy Ghost calleth all men to the consideration of mans life. 7 Shewing them not to be most blessed that are most wealthy, and therefore not to be feared: but contrariwise he lifteth vp our minds to consider how all things are ruled by God prouidence: 14 Who as he vnderstandeth those worldly misers to euerlasting torments. 21 So doeth he preserue his and will reward them in the day of the resurrection. i. Thessal.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah.

HEare a this, all ye people: giue eare, all ye that dwell in the world, a He will intreate how God gouerneth the world by his prouidence, which cannot be perceiued by the iudgement of the flesh.

2 As well low as high, both rich and poore.

3 My mouth shall speake of wisdome, and the meditation of mine heart is of knowledge.

4 I will encline mine eare to a parable, and vtter my graue matter vpon the harpe.

5 Wherefore should I b feare in the euill dayes, when iniquitie shal compasse me about, as at mine heeles?

b Though wickednes reigne, and enemies rage, seeing God will execute his iudgements against the wicked in time conuenient.

6 They trust in their c goods, and boast themselues in the multitude of their riches.

c To trust in riches is meere madnesse, seeing they can neither renewe life, nor prolong it.

7 Yet a man can by no means redeeme his brother: he cannot giue his ransome to God,

8 (So d precious is the redemption of their soules,) e and the continuance for euer.)

d That is, so rare or not to be found, as prophecy was precious in the dayes of Eli, 1. Sam. 3. 1.

e Meaning, it is impossible to liue for euer: also that life and death are onely in Gods hands.

9 That hee may liue still for euer, and not see the graue.

10 For hee seeth that wise men f die, and also that the ignorant and foolish perish, and leaue their riches for g others.

f In that that death maketh no difference betweene the persons.

g That is, not to their children but to strangers. Yet the wicked profit not by these examples, but still dreame an immortalitie in earth.

11 Yet they thinke their houses and their habitations shall continue for euer, euen from generation to generation, and ‖ call their lands by their names.

‖ Or, labour that their name may be famous in earth.

12 But man shall not continue in honour; he is like the h beasts that die.

h As touching the death of the body.

13 This their way vttereth their foolishnesse: yet their posteritie i delight in their talke. Selah.

i They speake and doe the same thing that their fathers did.

14 k Like sheepe they lie in graue: l death deuoureth them, and the righteous shall haue dominion ouer them in the m morning: for their beauty shall consume, when they shall go from their house to graue.

k As sheepe are gathered into the folde, so shall l Or, Let death feede them.

m When the resurrection shall come.

15 But God shall deliuer my soule from the power of the graue: ‖ for he will receiue mee. Selah.

‖ Or, when I shall die.

16 Be not thou afraid when one is made rich, and when the glory of his house is increased.

17 * For he shall take nothing away, when he dieth, neither shall his pompe descend after him.

18 For while he liued, n he reioyced himselfe, and o men will prayse thee, when thou makest much of thy selfe.

they be brought to the graue. l Because they haue no part of life euerlasting. m Christes comming is as the morning, when the elect shall reigne with Christ their head ouer the wicked. n Or, because hee hath receiued me. * Iob 27. 19. 1. Tim. 6. 7. † Ebr. hee blessed his soule. n The flatterers prayse them that liue in delights and pleasures. ‖ Or, his soule. o And not passe the terme appointed for life. p Both they and their fathers shall liue here but a while, and at length die for euer. q He condemneth mans ingratitude, who hauing receiued excellent gifts of God, abuled them like a beast to his owne condemnation.

19 ‖ o He shall enter into the generation of his fathers, p and they shall not liue for euer.

20 Man is in honour, and q vnderstandeth not; he is like to beasts that perish.

PSAL. L.

1 Because the Church is alway full of hypocrites, 8 which doe imagine that God will be worshipped with outward ceremonies onely, without the heart: and especially the Iewes were of this opinion, because of their figures and ceremonies of the Law, thinking that their sacrifices were sufficient. 22 Therefore the Prophet doth reproue this grosse errour, and pronounceth the Name of God to be blasphemed where holinesse is set in ceremonies. 23 For hee declareth the worship of God to be spirituall, whereof are two principall parts, inuocation and thankesgiuing.

d Because God had chosen it to haue his Name there called vpon, and also his image shined there in the doctrine of the Law.
e As when God gaue his Law in mount Sinai, he appeared terrible with thunder and tempest, so will he appeare terrible to take account for the keeping thereof.
f As witnesses against ỹ hypocrits, f God in respect of his elect, calleth the whole body holy, Saints, and his people.
g Which should know that sacrifices are seales of the couenant betweene God and his people, and not set religion therein.
h For I paise not for sacrifices, except the true vse be there, which is to confirme your faith in my promises.

k Though mans life for the infirmity thereof hath neede of food, yet God whose life quickeneth all the world, hath no need of such meanes.
l Shew thy selfe miudfull of Gods benefits by thankesgiuing.
m Why doeth thou faine to be of my people, and talkest of my couenant, seeing thou art but an hypocrite?
n And to liue according to my word.

3 Our God shall come, and shalle not keepe silence: d a fire shall deuoure before him, & a mighty tempest shallbe mooued round about him.
4 He shall call the heauen aboue, and e ỹ earth to iudge his people.
5 Gather my f Saints together vnto me, those that make a couenant with me with g sacrifice.
6 And the heauens shall declare his righteousnes: for God is iudge himselfe. Selah.
7 Heare, O my people and I will speake: heare, O Israel, and I will testifie vnto thee: for I am God, euen thy God.
8 I will not h reproue thee for thy sacrifices, or thy burnt offerings, that haue not beene continually before me.
9 I will take no bullocke out of thine house, nor goats out of thy folds.
10 i For all the beasts of the foreſt are mine, and the beasts on a thousand mountaines.
11 I know all the foules on the mountaines, and the wilde beasts of the field are mine.
12 If I be hungry, I will not tell thee: for the world is mine and all that therein is.
13 k Will I eate the flesh of bulles? or drinke the blood of goats?
14 Offer vnto God praise, and l pay thy vowes vnto the most High.
15 And call vpon me in the day of trouble: so will I deliuer thee, and thou shalt glorifie me.
16 But vnto the wicked said God, m What hast thou to do to declare mine ordinances, that thou shouldest take my couenant in thy mouth, 17 Seeing thou hatest n to be reformed, and hast cast my words behind thee?
18 For when thou seest a thiefe, o thou runnest with him, and thou art partaker ẅ the adulterers.
19 Thou giuest thy mouth to euill, and with thy tongue thou forgest deceit.
20 Thou p sittest, and speakest against thy brother, and slanderest thy mothers sonne.
21 These things hast thou done, and I held my tongue: therefore thou thoughtest that I was like thee: but I will reproue thee, and q set them in order before thee.

When Dauid was rebuked by the Prophet Nathan for his great offences, he did not onely acknowledge the same to God, with protestation of his naturall corruption and iniquitie, but also left a memoriall thereof to his posterity, 7 Therfore first he desireth God to forgiue his sin, 10 And to renew in him his holy Spirit. 13 With promise that he will not be vnmindfull of those great graces. 18 Finally, fearing least God would punish the whole Church for his fault, he requireth that hee would rather increase his graces toward the same.

PSAL. LXII.

This Psalme partly contemneth meditations, whereby Dauid encourageth himselfe to trust in God against the assaults of tentations. And because our mindes are easily drawen from God by the allurements of the world, he sharply reproueth this vanitie, to the intent he might cleaue fast to the Lord.

chiefe men are liers: to lay them vpon a balance they are altogether lighter then vanitie.

10 Truſt not in oppreſſion nor in robberie: [h] be not vaine; if riches increaſe, ſet not your heart thereon.

11 God ſpake [i] once or twice, I haue heard it, that power belongeth vnto God.

12 And to thee, O Lord, mercy: for thou [k] rewardeſt euery one according to his worke.

[h] Giue your ſelues wholly to God by putting away all things that are contrary to his Law.
[i] He hath plainely borne witneſſe of his power, ſo that none needeth to doubt thereof.
[k] So that the wicked ſhall feele thy power, and the godly thy mercy.

PSAL. LXIII.

1 Dauid after he had bene in great danger by Saul in the deſert of Ziph, made this Pſalme. 3 Wherein he gieneth thankes to God for his wonderfull deliuerance, in whoſe mercies he truſted, euen in the midde of his miſeries. 9 Propheſying the deſtruction of Gods enimies: 11 And contrariwiſe happineſſe to all them that truſt in the Lord.

¶ A Pſalme of Dauid, when he was in the [a] wilderneſſe of Iudah.

O God, thou art my God, earely will I ſeeke thee: my ſoule [b] thirſteth for thee: my fleſh longeth greatly after thee in a barren and drie land without water.

2 Thus [c] I behold thee as in the Sanctuary, when I behold thy power and thy glory.

3 For thy louing kindneſſe is better then life: therefore my lips ſhall prayſe thee.

4 Thus will I magnifie thee all my life, and lift vp mine hands in thy Name.

5 My ſoule ſhalbe ſatisfied, as with [d] marrow and fatneſſe, and my mouth ſhall prayſe thee with ioyfull lips,

6 When I remember thee on my bed, and when I thinke vpon thee in the night watches.

7 Becauſe thou haſt bene mine helper, therefore vnder the ſhadow of thy wings will I reioyce.

8 My ſoule [e] cleaueth vnto thee: for thy right hand vpholdeth me.

9 Therefore they that ſeeke my ſoule to deſtroy it, they ſhall goe into the loweſt parts of the earth.

10 [f] They ſhall caſt him downe with the edge of the ſword, and they ſhalbe a portion for foxes.

11 But the king ſhall reioyce in God, and all that [g] ſweare by him ſhall reioyce in him; for the mouth of them that ſpeake lies, ſhalbe ſtopped.

[a] To wit, of Ziph, 1. Sam. 23, 14.
[b] Though he was both hungry and in great diſtreſſe, yet he made God his ſufficiencie and aboue all meate and drinke.
[c] In this miſerie I exerciſe my ſelfe in the contemplation of thy power and glory, as if I were in the Sanctuary.
[d] The remembrance of thy fauour is more ſweete vnto me then all the pleaſures and dainties of the world.
[e] He aſſureth himſelfe by the Spirit of God to haue the gift of conſtancie.
[f] He propheciеth of the deſtruction of Saul and them that take his part, whoſe bodies ſhall not be buried, but be deuoured with wilde beaſtes.
[g] All that ſweare by God aright or profeſſe him, ſhall reioyce in this worthy king.

PSAL. LXIIII.

1 Dauid prayeth againſt the furie and falſe reports of his enemies. 7 Hee declareth their puniſhment and deſtruction. 10 To the comfort of the iuſt and the glory of God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Pſalme of Dauid.

HEare my voyce, O God, in my prayer: preſerue my life from feare of the enemie.

2 Hide me from the [b] conſpiracie of the wicked, & from the [c] rage of the workers of iniquity.

3 Which haue whet their tongue like a ſword, and ſhot for their arrowes [d] bitter words:

4 To ſhoote at the vpright in ſecret; they ſhoote at him ſuddenly and [e] feare not.

5 They [f] encourage themſelues in a wicked purpoſe; they commune together to lay ſnares priuily, and ſay, Who ſhall ſee them?

6 They haue ſought out iniquities, and haue accompliſhed that which they ſought out, euen euery one his ſecret thoughts, and the depth of his heart.

[a] To that be calleth to God with his voyce, it is a ſigne that his prayer was vehement, and that his life was in danger.
[b] That is, from their ſecret malice.
[c] To wit, their outward violence.
[d] Falſe reports and ſlanders.
[e] To be without feare of God and reuerence of man, is a ſigne of reprobation.
[f] The more that the wicked ſee God's children in miſerie, the more bold and impudent are they in oppreſſing them. [g] There is no way ſo ſecret and ſubtill to doe hurt, which they inuented not for his deſtruction.

7 But God will ſhoote an arrow at them ſuddenly: their ſtrokes ſhalbe at once.

8 They ſhall cauſe their owne tongue to fall vpon them; and whoſoeuer ſhall ſee them, ſhall [h] flee away.

9 And all men ſhall fee it, and declare the worke of God, and they ſhall vnderſtand, what he hath wrought.

10 But the righteous [i] ſhall be glad in the Lord, and truſt in him: and all that are vpright of heart, ſhall reioyce.

[h] To fee God's heauy iudgements againſt them, and how hee hath caught them in their owne ſnares.
[i] When they ſhall conſider that hee will be fauourable to them as he was to his ſeruant Dauid.

1 A prayſe and thankeſgiuing vnto God by the faithfull, who are ſignified by Zion. 4 For the chuſing, preſeruation, and gouernance of them. 9 And for the plentifull bleſſings powred forth vpon all the earth, but eſpecially toward his Church.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Pſalme or ſong of Dauid.

O God, a prayſe waiteth for thee in Zion, and vnto thee ſhall the vow be performed.

2 Becauſe thou heareſt the prayer, vnto thee ſhall all [b] fleſh come.

3 Wicked deedes [c] haue preuailed againſt me; but thou wilt be mercifull vnto our trangreſſions.

4 Bleſſed is hee, whom thou chuſeſt and cauſeſt to come to thee: he ſhall dwell in thy courts, and wee ſhall be ſatisfied with the pleaſures of thine Houſe, euen of thine holy Temple.

5 O God of our ſaluation, thou wilt [d] anſwere vs with feareſull ſignes in thy righteouſneſſe, O thou the hope of all the ends of the earth, and of them that are farre off in the [e] Sea.

6 Hee ſtabliſheth the mountaines by his power: and is girded about with ſtrength.

7 Hee appeaſeth the [f] noyſe of the ſeas, and the noyſe of the waues thereof, and the tumults of the people.

8 They alſo that dwell in the vttermoſt parts of the earth, ſhalbe afraid of thy ſignes; thou ſhalt make † the Eaſt and the Weſt to reioyce.

9 Thou [g] viſiteſt the earth, and watereſt it; thou makeſt it very rich: the [h] riuer of God is full of water: thou prepareſt them corne, for ſo thou appointeſt it.

10 Thou [k] watereſt abundantly the furrowes thereof, thou cauſeſt the raine to deſcend into the valleys thereof; thou makeſt it ſoft with ſhowres, and bleſſeſt the bud thereof.

11 Thou crowneſt the yeere with thy goodneſſe, and thy ſteps drop fatneſſe.

12 They drop vpon the paſtures of the wildernes: and the hils ſhalbe compaſſed with gladnes.

13 The paſtures are clad with ſheepe; the valleys alſo ſhalbe couered with corne, therefore they ſhout for ioy, [l] and ſing.

[a] Thou giueſt dayly new occaſion to thy Church to prayſe thee.
[b] Not onely the Iewes but alſo the Gentiles in the kingdom of Chriſt.
[c] He imputeth it to his ſinnes and to the ſinnes of the people, that God who was accuſtomed to aſſiſt them with diuerſeth his fauour from them.
[d] Thou wilt declare thy ſelfe to be the preſeruer of thy Church in deſtroying thine enemies, as thou diddeſt in the red Sea.
[e] As of all barbarous nations and farre off.
[f] He ſheweth that there is no part nor creature in the world which is not gouerned by Gods power and prouidence.
† Ebr. the going forth of the morning and of the euening.
[g] To wit, with raine.
[h] That is, Shiloah or the raine.
[i] Thou haſt appointed the earth to bring foorth foode to mans vſe.
[k] By this deſcription he ſheweth vs, who cauſeth all creatures to ſeruе our neceſſitie. [l] That is, the dumbe creatures ſhall not onely reioyce for a time for Gods benefits, but ſhall continually ſing.

PSAL. LXVI.

1 Hee prouoketh all men to prayſe the Lord and to conſider his works. 6 Hee ſetteth foorth the power of God to affray the rebels, 10 And ſheweth how God hath deliuered Iſrael from great bondage and afflictions. 13 Hee promiſeth to giue ſacrifice. 16 And prouoketh all men to heare what God hath done for him, and to prayſe his Name.

¶ To him that excelleth. A ſong or Pſalme.

REioyce in God, [a] all ye inhabitants of § earth.

2 Sing foorth the glory of his Name: make his prayſe glorious.

3 Say vnto God, How terrible art thou in thy workes! through the greatneſſe of thy power ſhall

b As the faithfull shall obey God willingly, so the infidels for feare shall dissemble themselues to be subiect.

c Hee toucheth the slouthfull dulnesse of man, who is cold in the consideration of Gods workes.

d His prouidence is wonderfull in ordinating their state.

e Hee prooueth that God will extend his grace also to the Gentiles, because he punisheth among them such as will not obey his calling.

f Hee signifieth some especiall benefite, that God had shewed to his Church of the Hebrews, in deliuering them from some great danger: whereof or of the like he promiseth that the Gentiles shalbe partakers.

g The condition of the Church is here described, which is to be led by Gods prouidence into troubles, to be subiect vnder tyrants, and to enter into manifold dangers.

h The duetie of the faithfull is here described, which are neuer vnmindfull to render God prayse for his benefits.

i It is not enough to haue receiued Gods benefits, and to be mindfull thereof, but also we are bound to make others to profit thereby and prayse God.

k If I delight in wickednesse, God will not heare me, but if I confesse it, he will receiue me.

shall thine enemies be b in subiection vnto thee.

4 All the world shall worship thee, and sing vnto thee, euen sing of thy Name. Selah.

5 c Come and behold the workes of God: he is terrible in his doings toward d the sonnes of men.

6 He hath turned the sea into dry land: they passed through the riuer on foote; there did wee reioyce in him.

7 Hee ruleth the world with his power; his eyes behold the nations; the rebellious shall not e exalt themselues. Selah.

8 Prayse our God, yee people, and make the voyce of his prayse to be heard.

9 Which f holdeth our soules in life, and suffereth not our feete to slip.

10 For thou, O God, hast prooued vs, thou hast tried vs as siluer is tried.

11 Thou hast brought vs into the g snare, and laid a strait chaine vpon our loynes.

12 Thou hast caused men to ride ouer our heads; we went into fire and into water, but thou broughtest vs out into a wealthy place.

13 I will goe into thine h House with burnt offerings, and will pay thee my vowes.

14 Which my lippes haue promised, and my mouth hath spoken in mine affliction.

15 I will offer vnto thee the burnt offerings of fat rams with incense; I will prepare bullocks and goates. Selah.

16 i Come and hearken, all ye that feare God, and I will tell you what he hath done to my soule.

17 I called vnto him with my mouth, and he was exalted with my tongue.

18 k If I regard wickednesse in mine heart, the Lord will not heare me.

19 But God hath heard me, and considered the voyce of my prayer.

20 Praysed be God, which hath not put backe my prayer, nor his mercy from me.

PSAL. LXVII.

1 A prayer of the Church to obtaine the fauour of God and to be lightened with his countenance. 2 To the ende that his way and iudgement may be knowen throughout the earth. 7 And finally is declared the kingdome of God, which should be universally erected at the comming of Christ.

¶ To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalme or song.

GOd be mercifull vnto vs, and blesse vs, and l cause his face to shine among vs. (Selah.)

2 That b they may know thy way vpon earth, and thy sauing health among all nations.

3 Let the people prayse thee, O God; let all the people prayse thee.

4 c Let the people be glad and reioyce; for thou shalt iudge the people righteously, and gouerne the nations vpon the earth. Selah.

5 Let the people prayse thee, O God; let all the people prayse thee.

6 Then shall d the earth bring foorth her encrease, and God, euen our God shall blesse vs.

7 God shall blesse vs, and all the ends of the earth e shall feare him.

l That is, vnbeute our hearts with his holy Spirit, that we may feele his fauour toward vs.

b That both Iewes and Gentiles may know Gods couenant made with them.

c By these oft repetitions hee sheweth that the people can neuer reioyce sufficiently and giue thanks for the great benefits that they shall receiue vnder the kingdome of Christ.

d He sheweth that where God fauoureth, there shall be abundance of all other things.

e When they feele his great benefits both spirituall and corporall toward them.

PSAL. LXVIII.

1 In this Psalme Dauid setteth forth as in a glasse the wonderfull mercies of God toward his people; 5 Who by all meanes and most strange sortes declared himselfe to them. 15 And therefore Gods Church by reason of his promises, graces, and victories doeth excell without comparison all worldly things. 34 He exhorteth therefore all men to prayse God for euer.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme or song of Dauid.

GOd a will arise, and his enemies shall be scattered; they also that hate him, shall flee before him.

2 As the smoke vanisheth, so shalt thou driue them away; and as waxe melteth before the fire, so shall the wicked perish at the presence of God.

3 b But the righteous shall be glad, and reioyce before God; yea, they shall leape for ioy.

4 Sing vnto God, and sing prayses vnto his name; exalt him that rideth vpon the heauens, in his Name c Iah, and reioyce before him.

5 He is a Father of the fatherlesse, and a Iudge of the widowes, euen God in his holy habitation.

6 God d maketh the solitary to dwell in families, and deliuereth them that were prisoners in shackles; but the rebellious shall dwell in a e drie land.

7 f O God, when thou wentest foorth before thy people; when thou wentest through the wildernesse, (Selah)

8 The earth shooke, and the heauens dropped at the presence of this God; euen Sinai was moooued at the presence of God, euen the God of Israel.

9 Thou, O God, sentest a gracious raine vpon thine inheritance, and thou didst refresh it when it was wearie.

16 n Why leape yee, yee high mountaines? as for this Mountaine, God delighteth to dwell in it; yea, the Lord will dwell in it for euer.

17 The charets of God are twentie thousand thousand Angels, and the Lord is among them, as in the Sanctuary of Sinai.

18 Thou art gone vp on high; thou hast led captiuitie captine, and receiued gifts for men; yea, euen the rebellious hast thou led, that the Lord God might dwell there.

19 Praysed be the Lord, euen the God of our saluation, which ladeth vs dayly with benefites. Selah.

a The Prophet sheweth that albeit God suffereth the wicked tyrants to oppresse his Church for a time, yet at length hee will be reuenged of them.

b Hee sheweth that when God declareth his power against the wicked, that it is for the commoditie and saluation of his Church, which prayse him therefore c Iah and Iehouah are the names of God, which doe signifie his essence and maiestie incomprehensible, so that hereby is declared that all idoles are but vanitie, and that the God of Israel is the only true God.

d He giueth children to them that be childelesse, and restoreth their families.

e Which is barren of Gods blessings, which before they had abused.

f Hee teacheth that Gods fauour peculiarly belongeth to his Church, as appeareth by their wonderfull deliuerance out of Egypt

g God blessed the land of Canaan, because hee had chosen that place for his Church.

h The fashion then was that women sang songs after the victory, as Miriam, Deborah, Iudith, and others.

i The pray was so great, that not only the souldiers, but women also had part thereof.

k Though God suffer his Church for a time to lie in blacke darkenesse, yet he will restore it, and make it most shining and white.

l In the land of Canaan, where his Church was.

m Zion the Church of God, doeth excell all worldly things, not in pompe and outward shew, but by the inward grace of God, which there remayneth, because of his dwelling there.

n Why boast yee of your strength and beautie against this Mountaine of God? o As God ouercame the enemies of his Church, tooke them prisoners, and made them tributaries: so Christ, which is God manifested in the flesh, subdued Satan and sinne vnder vs, and gaue vnto his Church most liberall gifts of his Spirit, Ephes. 4. 8.

6 He shall come g downe like the raine vpon the mowen grasse, and as the showers that water the earth.

7 In his dayes shall the righteous flourish, and abundance of peace shall be so long as the moone endureth.

19 And blessed be his glorious Name for euer: and let all the earth be filled with his glory. So be it, euen so be it.

HERE END THE q prayers of Dauid the sonne of Ishai.

g As this is true in all godly kings, so it is chiefly verified in Christ, who with his heauenly dew, maketh his Church euer to flourish.

h That is, from the red sea to the sea called Syriacum, and from Euphrates forward, meaning, that Christs Kingdome should be large and vniuersall.

i Of Cilicia, and of all other countreyes, beyond the sea, which he meaneth by the yles.

k That is, of Arabia that rich countrey, whereof Sheba was a part bordering vpon Ethiopia.

l Though tyrants passe not to shed blood: yet this godly king shall preserue his subiects from all kind of wrong.

m God will both prosper his life, and also make the people most willing to obey him.

n Vnder such a king shalbe most great plenty, both of fruit and also of the increase of mankind.

o They shall pray to God for his continuance, and know that God doth prosper them for his sake.

PSAL. LXXIII.

1 The Prophet teacheth by his example that neither the worldly prosperitie of the vngodly, 14 nor yet the affliction of the good ought to discourage Gods children: but rather ought to moue vs to consider our Fathers prouidence, and to cause vs to reuerence Gods iudgements, 19 forasmuch as the wicked vanish away, 24 and the godly enter into life euerlasting, 28 in hope whereof he resigneth himselfe into Gods hands.

¶ A Psalme committed to Asaph.

YEt a God is good to Israel: euen to the pure in heart.

2 As for me, my feete were almost gone: my steps had well neere slipt.

3 For I fretted at the foolish, when I saw the prosperitie of the wicked.

4 For there are b no bands in their death, but they are lustie and strong.

5 They are not in trouble as other men, neither are they plagued with other men.

6 c Therefore pride is as a chaine vnto them, and cruelnie couereth them as a garment.

7 Their eyes stand out for fatnesse: † they haue more then heart can wish.

8 They are licentious, and speake wickedly of their oppression: they talke presumptuously.

a As it were betweene hope and despaire he bursteth foorth into this affection, being assured that God would continue his fauour toward such as were godly indeed, and not hypocrites.

b The wicked in this life liue at pleasure and are not drawen to death like prisoners: that is, by sickn sse which is deaths messenger.

c They glory in their dge in apparell.

9 They d set their mouth against heauen, and their tongue walketh thorow the earth.

10 Therefore his e people turne hither: for waters of a full cup are wrung out to them.

11 And they f say, How doeth God know it? or is there knowledge in the most High?

12 Loe these are the wicked, yet prosper they alway, and increase in riches.

13 Certainely I haue cleansed mine heart in vaine, and washed mine hands in innocencie.

14 For dayly haue I beene punished, and chastened euery morning.

15 If I say, g I will iudge thus, behold the generation of thy children, I haue trespassed.

16 Then thought I to know this, but it was too painefull for mee, 17 Vntill I went into the h Sanctuary of God: then vnderstood I their end.

18 Surely thou hast set them in slipperie places, and cassest them downe into desolation.

19 How suddenly are they destroyed, perished and i horribly consumed, 20 As a dreame when one awaketh! O Lord, when k thou raisest vs vp, thou shalt make their image despised.

21 Certainely mine heart was vexed, and I was pricked in my reines.

22 So foolish was I & ignorant: I was a l beast before thee.

23 Yet I was alway m with thee: thou hast holden me by my right hand.

24 Thou wilt guide mee by thy counsell, and afterward receiue me to glorie.

25 Whom haue I in n heauen but thee? and I haue desired none in the earth with thee.

26 My flesh faileth and mine heart also: but God is the strength of mine heart, and my o portion for euer.

27 For loe, they that withdrawe themselues from thee, shall perish: thou destroyest all them that p goe a whoring from thee.

28 As for me, it is good for me q to draw neere to God: therefore I haue put my trust in the Lord God, that I may declare all thy workes.

d They blaspheme God, and feare not his power and rayle vpon men, because they esteeme themselues aboue all others.

e Not onely the reprobate, but also the people of God oftentimes fall backe, seeing the prosperous estate of the wicked, and are ouerwhelmed with sorrowes, thinking that God considereth not aright the estate of the godly.

f Thus the flesh mooueth euen the godly to dispute with God touching their poore estate and the prosperity of the wicked.

g If I giue place to this wicked thought, I offend against thy prouidence, seeing thou disposest all things most wisely, and preseruest thy children in their greatest dangers.

h Vntill I entred into thy schoole and learned by thy word and holy Spirit, that thou orderest all things most wisely and iustly.

i By thy fearefull iudgement.

k When thou openest our eyes to consider thy heauenly felicitie, wee contemne all their vaine pompe.

l For the more that man goeth about by his owne reason to seeke a health.

m By faith I am, & so preserue mee.

n Hee sought neither helpe nor comfort of any saue of God onely.

o He teacheth vs to denie our selues, to haue God our whole sufficiencie, and onely contentment.

p That is, forsake thee to seeke others.

q Though all the world striuke from God, yet he promiseth to trust in him, and to magnifie his workes.

c They haue destroyed thy true religion, and spred their banners in signe of defiance.

s He declareth how the faithfull shall euer haue iust occasion to prayse God, forasmuch as in their need they shall feele his power at hand to helpe them. t When I see my time (saith God) to helpe your miseries, I will come and set all things in good order.

4 Thine aduersaries roare in the mids of thy congregation, and e set vp their banners for signes.
5 He that d lifted the axe vpon the thicke trees, was renowmed as one that brought a thing to perfection:
6 But now they breake downe the carued worke thereof with axes and hammers.
7 They haue cast thy Sanctuarie into the fire, and raised it to the ground, and haue defiled the dwelling place of thy Name.
8 They sayd in their e hearts, Let vs destroy them altogether: they haue burnt all the Synagogues of God in the land.
9 Wee see not our signes: there is not one Prophet more, nor any with vs that knoweth f how long.
10 O God, how long shall the aduersarie reproach thee? shall the enemie blaspheme thy Name for euer?
11 Why withdrawest thou thine hand, euen thy right hand? draw it out of thy bosome, and g consume them.
12 Euen God is my king of olde, working saluation h in the mids of the earth.
13 Thou diddest diuide the sea by thy power: thou brakest the heads of the i dragons in the waters.
14 Thou brakest the head of k Liuiathan in pieces, and gauest him to be l meat for the people in wildernesse.
15 Thou brakest vp the fountaine and riuer: thou driedst vp mightie riuers.
16 The m day is thine, and the night is thine: thou hast prepared the light and the sunne.
17 Thou hast set all the borders of the earth: thou hast made Summer and Winter.
18 Remember this, that the enemie hath reproached the Lord, and the foolish people hath blasphemed thy Name.
19 Giue not the soule of thy n turtle doue vnto the beast, and forget not the Congregation of the poore for euer.
20 Consider thy couenant: for o the darke places of the earth are full of the habitations of the cruell.

22 Arise, O God: maintaine thy p owne cause: remember thy dayly reproach by the foolish man.
23 Forget not the voice of thine enemies: for the tumult of them that rise against thee, || ascendeth continually.

6 That the e posteritie might know it, and the children, which should be borne, should stand vp, and declare it to their children.

15 * He claue the rocks in the wildernesse, and gaue them drinke as of the great depths.

20 * Behold, he smote the rocke, that the water gushed out, and the streames ouerflowed: can hee giue bread also? or prepare flesh for his people?
21 Therefore the Lord heard, and was angrie, and the * fire was kindled in Iaakob, and also wrath came vpon Israel, h By Ephraim he meaneth also the rest of the tribes, because they were most in number: whose punishment declareth that they were vnfaithfull to God, and by their multitude and authoritie had corrupt all others.

them, and slew r the strongest of them, and smote downe the chosen men of Israel.

32 For all this, they s sinned still, and beleeued not his wonderous works.

33 Therefore their dayes did he consume in vanity, and their yeeres hastily.

34 And when he t slew them, they sought him, and they returned, and sought God early.

35 And they remembred that God was their strength, and the most hie God their redeemer.

36 But they flattered him with their mouth, and dissembled with him with their tongue.

37 For their u heart was not vpright with him: neither were they faithfull in his couenant.

38 Yet he being mercifull, x forgaue their iniquity, and destroyed them not, but oft times called backe his anger, and did not stir vp all his wrath.

39 For hee remembred that they were flesh: yea, a winde that passeth and commeth not againe.

40 How oft did they prouoke him in the wildernesse and grieue him in the desert?

41 Yea, they y returned and tempted God, and z limited the Holy one of Israel.

42 They a remembred not his hand, nor the day when he deliuered them from the enemy,

43 Nor him that set his signes in Egypt, and his wonders in the field of Zoan, 44 And turned their riuers into blood, and their floods, that they could not drinke.

45 Hee sent b a swarme of flies among them, which deuoured them, and frogs, which destroyed them.

46 He c gaue also their fruits vnto the caterpillar, and their labour vnto the grashopper.

47 Hee destroyed their vines with haile, and their wild figge trees with the hailestone.

48 He gaue their cattell also to the haile, and their flocks to the thunderbolts.

49 He cast vpon them the fiercenes of his anger, indignation and wrath, and vexation by the sending out of d euill angels.

50 He made a way to his anger: he spared not their soule from death, but gaue their life to the pestilence, 51 And smote all the first borne in Egypt, euen the e beginning of their strength in the tabernacles of Ham.

52 But hee made his people to goe out like sheepe, & led them in the wildernes like a flocke.

53 Yea, hee caried them out safely, and they feared not, and the Sea couered their enemies.

54 And he brought them vnto the borders of his f Sanctuairy: euen to this Mountain, which his right hand purchased.

55 * He cast out the heathen also before them, and caused them to fall to the lot of his inheritance, and made the tribes of Israel to dwell in their tabernacles.

56 Yet they tempted, and prouoked the most high God, and kept not his testimonies,

57 But turned backe, and dealt g falsly like their fathers: they turned like a deceitfull bow.

58 And they h prouoked him to anger with their high places, and mooued him to wrath with their grauen images.

59 God heard this and was wroth, and greatly abhorred Israel,

60 So that he i forsooke the habitation of Shilo, euen the Tabernacle where hee dwelt among men, 61 And deliuered his m power into captiuity, and his beauty into the enemies hand.

62 And hee gaue vp his people to the sword, and was angry with his inheritance.

63 The fire n deuoured their chosen men, and their maides were not o praysed.

64 Their Priests fell by the sword, and their p widowes lamented not.

65 But the Lord awaked as one out of sleepe, and as a strong man that after his q wine cryeth out, 66 And smote his enemies in the hinder parts, and put them to a perpetuall shame.

67 Yet hee refused the tabernacle of r Ioseph, and chose not the tribe of Ephraim:

68 But chose the tribe of Iudah, and mount Zion which he loued.

69 And he s built his Sanctuarie as an high palace, like the earth, which he stablished for euer.

70 He chose Dauid also his seruant, and tooke him from the sheepefolds, 71 Euen from behinde the ewes with young, brought he him to feed his people in Iaakob, and his inheritance in Israel.

72 So t he fed them according to the simplicitie of his heart, and guided them by the discretion of his hands.

r Though other were not spared, yet chiefly they suffered, which trusted in their strength against God.

s Thus time by continuance maked men insensible, so that by no plagues they can be amended.

t Such was their hypocrisie, that they sought vnto God for feare of punishment, though in their heart they loued him not.

u Whatsoeuer commeth not from the pure fountaine of the heart, is hypocrisie.

x Because hee would euer haue some remnant of a Church to prayse his Name in earth, he suffred not their sins to ouercome his mercy.

y That is, they tempted him oftentimes.

z As they all doe that measure the power of God by their capacity.

a The forgetfulnesse of Gods benefits is the root of rebellion and all vice.

b This word signifieth a confused mixture of flies and venemous wormes. Some take it for all sorts of serpents: some for all wilde beasts.

m The Arke is called his power and beautie, because thereby he defended his people, and beautifully appeared vnto them.

n They were suddenly destroyed, 1. Sam. 4. 10.

o They had no marriage songs: that is, they were not married.

p Either they were slaine before, or taken prisoners of their enemies, and so were forbidden.

q Because they were drunken in their sinnes, they iudged Gods patience to be a slumbring, as though he were drunken, therefore he auancsoyering their beastly iudgement, sayeth, hee wil awake and take sudden vengeance.

r Shewing that hee spared not altogether the Israelites, though he punished their enemies.

s By building the Temple, and establishing the kingdome, he declareth that y figues of his saiour were among them.

t He sheweth wherein a kings charge standeth: to wit, to prouide faithfully for his people, to guide them by counsell, and defend them by power.

b It see meth that this Psalme was appointed for solemne feasts and assemblies of the people to whom for a time these ceremonies were ordeined, but now vnder the Gospel are abolished.
c Vnder this feast he comprehendeth all other solemne dayes.
d That is, in Israel, for Ioseph & his family was counted the chiefe before that Iudah was preferred.
e God speaketh in the person of the people, because he was their leader.
f If they were neuer able to giue sufficient thanks to God for this deliuerance from corporall bondage, how much more are we indebted to him for our spirituall deliuerance from the tirranny of Satan and sinne?
g By a strange and wonderfull fashion, ‖ Or, contention, Exod. 17. 7.
h He condemneth all assemblies, where the people are not attentiue to heare Gods voyce, and to giue obedience to the same.
i God accuseth their incredulity, because they opened not their mouthe to receiue Gods benefits in such abundance as he powreth them out.
k God by his word calleth al, but his secret election appointeth who shall heare.
l If their sins had not letted.
m If the Israelites had not broken couenant with God, he would haue giuen them victory against their enemies.
n That is, with most fine wheate and abundance of hony.

a The Prophet sheweth, that if princes and iudges do not their duties, God, whose authoritie is aboue them, will take vengeance on them.
b For theues and murderers finde fauour in iudgement, when the cause of the godly cannot be heard.
c Notonly when they cry for help, but when their cause requireth aide and support.

d That is all things are out of order either by their tyranny or carelesse negligence.

e No title of honor shall excuse you, but you shall be subiect to Gods iudgement, and render account as well as other men.

f Therefore no tyrant shall plucke thy right and authoritie from thee.

from the hand of the wicked.

5 They know not and vnderstand nothing: they walke in darknes, albeit all the [d] fundations of the earth be moued.

6 I haue said, Ye are gods, and ye all are children of the most High.

7 [e] But yee shall die as a man, and ye princes shall fall like others.

8 O God, arise, therefore iudge thou the earth: for thou shalt inherite [f] all nations.

PSAL. LXXXIII.

1 The people of Israel pray vnto the Lord to deliuer them from their enimies, both at home and farre off, which vnagined nothing but their destruction. 9 And they desire that all such wicked people may, according as God was accustomed, be stricken with the feirie tempest of Gods wrath, 18 That they may know that the Lord is most high vpon the earth.

¶ A Song or Psalme committed to Asaph.

KEepe not thou silence, O God; be not still, and cease not, O God.

2 For lo, thine [b] enemies make a tumult, and they that hate thee; lifted vp the head.

3 They haue taken crafty counsell against thy people, and haue consulted against thy [c] secret ones.

4 They haue said, Come and let vs [d] cut them off from being a nation: and let the name of Israel be no more in remembrance.

5 For they haue consulted together in [e] heart, and haue made a league [f] against thee.

6 The tabernacles of Edom; and the Ishmaelites, Moab and the Agarims;

7 Gebal and Ammon, and Amalech the Philistims, with the inhabitants of [g] Tyrus.

8 Asshur also is ioyned with them; they haue beene an arme to the children [g] of Lot. Selah.

9 Doe thou to them as vnto the [h] Midianites; as to Sisera and as to Iabin at the riuer of Kishon.

10 They perished at Endor, and were [i] dung for the earth.

11 Make them, euen their princes, like *Oreb and like Zeeb; yea, all their princes like Zebah and like Zalmunna.

12 Which haue sayd, Let vs take for our possession the [k] habitations of God.

13 O my God, make them like vnto a [l] wheele, and as the stubble before the wind.

14 As the fire burneth the forrest, and as the flame setteth the mountaines on fire:

15 So persecute them with thy tempest, and make them affraid with thy storme.

16 Fill their faces with shame, that they may [m] seeke thy Name, O Lord.

17 Let them be confounded and troubled for euer: yea, let them be put to shame, and perish, 18 That they may [n] know that thou, which art called Iehouah, art alone, euen the most Hie ouer all the earth.

PSAL. LXXXIV.

1 Dauid driuen fourth of his countrey. 2 Desireth most ardently to come againe to the tabernacle of the Lord and the assembly of the Saints to praise God, 4 pronouncing them blessed that may so doe. 6 Then hee praiseth the courage of the people, that passe through the wildernesse to assemble themselues in Zion. 10 Finally, with praysse of his matter and confidence of Gods goodnes, he endeth the Psalme.

To him that excelleth vpon Gittith. A Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah.

OA Lord of hoasts, how amiable are thy Tabernacles?

2 My soule longeth, yea, and fainteth for the [b] courts of the Lord: for my heart and my flesh reioyce in the liuing God.

3 Yea, the sparrow hath found her an house, and the swallow a nest for her, where she may lay her yong: euen by thine [c] altars, O Lord of hoasts, my king and my God.

4 Blessed are they that dwell in thine house, they will euer praise thee. Selah.

5 Blessed is the man whose [d] strength is in thee, and in whose heart are thy wayes.

6 They going through the vale of [e] Baca, make welles therein: the raine also coureth the pooles.

7 They go from [f] strength to strength, till euery one appeare before God in Zion.

8 O Lord God of hoasts, heare my prayer, hearken, O God of Iaakob. Selah.

9 Behold, O God, our shield, and looke vpon the face of thine [g] Anoynted.

10 For [h] a day in thy courts is better then a thousand other where: I had rather be a doore keeper in the house of my God, then to dwell in the tabernacles of wickednes.

11 For the Lord God is the sunne and shield vnto vs: the Lord will giue grace and glory, and no [i] good thing will he withhold from them that walke vprightly.

12 O Lord of hoastes, blessed is the man that trusteth in thee.

a This Psalme seemeth to haue bene composed, as a forme of prayer against the dangers that the Church was in, in the dayes of Iehoshaphat.

b He calleth them Gods enemies, which are enemies to his Church.

c The elect of God are his secret ones: for he knoweth them in the secret of his tabernacle, and preserueth them from all dangers.

d They were not content to take the Church as prisoner: but sought vtterly to destroy it.

e By all secret meanes

f They thought to haue subuerted thy counsell, wherein the perpetuitie of the Church was established.

g Or, Zor.

h The wickednes of the Ammonites and Moabites is described in that they prouoked these other nations to fight against the Israelites their brethren.

i By these examples they were admonished, that God would not suffer his people to be vtterly destroyed, Iud. 7. 22. and 4. 15.

k Troden vnder feet as myre. Iudg. 7. 25. and 8. 21. l That is, Iudea: for where his Church is, there dwelleth he among them. m Because the reprobate could by no meanes be amended, he prayeth they may viterly be destroyed. n Vnstable, & led with al winds. o That is, be compelled by thy plagues to confesse thy power. p Though they beleue not, yet they may prooue by experience, that it is in vaine to resist against thy counsell in establishing thy Church.

house. g That is, for Christs sake, whose figure I represent. h Hee would haue but one day rather in Gods Church, then a thousand liuings. i But will from time to time increase his blessings more.

PSAL. LXXXV.

1 Because God withdrew not his rods from his Church after their returne from Babylon, shall they put him in mind of their deliuerance, to the intent that he should not leaue the worke of his grace vnperfit. 5 Next they complaine of their long affliction. 8 And thirdly, they reioyce in hope of felicity promised. 9 For their deliuerance was a figure of Christs kingdome, vnder the which should be perfect felicitie.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah.

LOrd, thou hast beene [a] fauourable vnto thy land: thou hast brought againe the captiuity of Iaakob.

2 Thou hast forgiuen the iniquity of thy people, and couered all their sinnes. Selah.

3 Thou hast withdrawen all thine anger, and hast turned backe from the [c] fiercenesse of thy wrath.

4 Turne vs, O God of our saluation, and release thine anger towards vs.

5 Wilt thou be angry with vs [d] for euer? and wilt thou prolong thy wrath from one generation to another?

6 Wilt thou not turne againe and quicken vs, that thy people may reioyce in thee?

7 Shew vs thy mercy, O Lord, and graunt vs thy [e] saluation.

8 I will hearken what the Lord God will say, for he will speake [f] peace vnto his people, and to his Saints, that they turne not againe to folly.

9 Surely his saluation is neere to them that a Dauid complaineth that he cannot haue accesse to the Church of God to make profession of his faith, and to preach in religion.

b For none but the Priests could enter into the Sanctuary, and the rest of the people into the courts.

c So that the poore birds haue more liberty then I.

d Who trusteth nothing in himselfe, but in thee only, and learneth of thee to rule his life.

e That is of mulberry trees, which was a barren place: so that they which passed through, must dig pits for water: signifying that no lees can hinder them that are fully bent to come to Christs Church, neither yet that God will euer faile them.

f They are neuer weary, but increase in strength and courage till they come to Gods sight.

a They confesse that Gods free mercy was the cause of their deliuerance, because he loued the land which he had chosen.

b Thou hast buried them that they shall not come into iudgement.

c Not onely in withdrawing thy rod, but in forgiuing of sinnes, and in touching our hearts to confesse them.

d As in times past they had felt Gods mercies, so now being oppressed by the long continuance of euils, they pray vnto God that according to his nature

he would be mercifull vnto them. e Hee confesseth that our saluation commeth onely of Gods mercy. f He will send all prosperity to his Church, when he hath sufficiently corrected them, also by his punishment the faithfull shall learne to beware that they returne not to like offences.

g Though for a time God thus exerciseth them with his rode, yet vnder the kingdome of Christ they should haue peace and ioy. h Iustice shall then flourish, and haue free course and passage in euery place.

10 Mercie and trueth shall meete, righteousnesse and peace shall kisse one another.

11 g Trueth shall bud out of the earth, and righteousnesse shall looke downe from heauen.

12 Yea, the Lord shall giue good things, and our land shall giue her increase.

13 h Righteousnesse shall goe before him, and shall set her steps in the way.

PSAL. LXXXVI.

1 Dauid sore afflicted & forsaken of all, prayeth feruently for deliuerance: sometimes vehemently his miseries, 5 Sometimes the mercies receiued. 11 Desiring also to be instructed of the Lord, that he may feare him, and glorifie his Name. 14. Hee complaineth also of his aduersaries, and requireth to be deliuered from them.

¶ A prayer of Dauid.

I Ncline a thine eare, O Lord, and heare me: for I am poore and needie.

2 Preserue thou my soule, for I am b mercifull: my God, saue thou thy seruant, that trusteth in thee.

3 Be mercifull vnto mee, O Lord; for I c cry vpon thee continually.

4 Reioyce the soule of thy seruant; for vnto thee, O Lord, doe I lift vp my soule.

5 For thou, Lord, art good and d mercifull, and of great kindnesse vnto all them that call vpon thee.

6 Giue eare, Lord, vnto my prayer, and e hearken to the voyce of my supplication.

7 In the day of my trouble I will call vpon thee; for thou hearest me.

8 Among the gods there is none like thee, O Lord, and there is none f that can doe like thy works.

9 All nations whom thou hast made, shall come and g worship before thee, O Lord, and shall glorifie thy Name.

10 For thou art great and doest wonderous things; thou art God alone.

11 h Teach mee thy way, O Lord, and I will walke in thy trueth; knit mine heart vnto thee, that I may feare thy Name.

12 I will praise thee, O Lord my God, with all mine heart: yea, I will glorifie thy Name for euer.

13 For great is thy mercie toward me, and thou hast deliuered my soule from i the lowest graue.

14 O God, the proud are rised against me, and the assemblies of violent men haue k sought my soule, and haue not set thee before them.

15 But thou, O Lord, art a pitifull God and mercifull, slow to anger, and great in kindnesse and trueth.

16 Turne vnto me, and haue mercie vpon me: giue thy strength vnto thy seruant, and saue the l sonne of thine handmaid.

17 Shew a token of thy goodnesse toward me, that they which hate me, may see it, and be ashamed, because thou, O Lord, hast holpen mee and comforted me.

a Dauid persecuted of Saul, thus prayed, leauing the same to the Church as a monument, how to seeke redresse against their miseries.
b I am not enemy to them, but pitie them, though they be cruell toward me.
c Which was a sure token that he beleeued that God would deliuer him.
d Hee doeth confesse that God is good to all, but onely mercifull to poore sinners.
e By crying and calling continually, he sheweth how wee may not be weary, though God grant not foorthwith our request, but that we must earnestly and often call vpon him.
f Hee condemneth all idoles, forasmuch as they can doe no workes to declare that they are gods.
g This prooueth that Dauid prayed in the Name of Christ the Messias, of whose kingdom he doeth here prophecie.
h He confesseth himselfe ignorant till God hath taught him, and his heart variable and feparate from God, till God ioyne it to him, and confirme it in his obedience.
i That is, from most great danger of death: out of the which none but onely the almighie hand of God could deliuer him. k He sheweth that there can be no moderation nor equitie, where proud tyrants reigne, and that the lacke of Gods feare is as a priuiledge to all vice and crueltie. l Hee boasteth not of his owne vertues, but confesseth that God of his free goodnesse hath euer bene mercifull vnto him, and giuen him power against his enemies, as to one of his owne household.

PSAL. LXXXVII.

1 The holy Ghost promiseth, that the condition of the Church which was in misery after the captiuitie of Babylon, should be restored to great excellencie, 4 So that there should be nothing more comfortable, then to be numbred among the members thereof.

¶ A Psalme or song committed to the sonnes of Korah.

GOD layd his a foundations among the holy mountaines.

2 The Lord loueth the gates of Zion aboue all the habitations of Iaakob.

3 b Glorious things are spoken of thee, O citie of God. Selah.

4 I will make mention of c Rahab and Babel among them that know mee: behold Palestina and Tyrus with Ethiopia, d There is he borne.

5 And of Zion it shall be said, e Many are borne in her: and hee, euen the most High shall stablish her.

6 The Lord shall count, when he f writeth the people, He was borne there. Selah.

7 Aswell the singers as the players on instruments shall praise thee: all my g springs are in thee.

a God did chuse that place among the hilles, to establish Ierusalem and his Temple.
b Though thy glorious estate doe not yet appeare, yet waite with patience, and God will accomplish his promise.
c That is, Egypt.
d Egypt and these other countreys shall come to the knowledge of God.

PSAL. LXXXVIII.

1 A grieuous complaint of the faithfull, sore afflicted by sickneſſe, perſecutions and aduerſitie. 7 Being as it were left of God without any conſolation. 13 Therefore ſtirreth vp God by faith, and fruyeth againſt deſperation. 8 Complaining himſelfe to be forſaken of all earthly helpe.

¶ A ſong or Pſalme of * Heman the Ezrahite to giue inſtruction, committed to the ſonnes of Korah for him that excelleth vpon Malath a Leannoth.

O Lord God of my ſaluation, I cry day and night b before thee.

2 Let my prayer enter into thy preſence: incline thine eare vnto my crie.

3 For my ſoule is filled with euils, and my life draweth neere to the graue.

4 I am counted among them that go downe vnto the pit, and am as a man without ſtrength:

5 c Free among the dead, like the ſlaine lying in the graue, whom thou remembreſt no more, and they are cut off from thy d hand.

6 Thou haſt laid me in the loweſt pit, in darkneſſe, and in the deepe.

7 Thine indignation lieth vpon me, and thou haſt vexed me with all thy e waues. Selah.

8 Thou haſt put away mine f acquaintance farre from mee, and made mee to be abhorred of them: g I am ſhut vp, and cannot get forth.

9 h Mine eye is ſorowfull through mine affliction; Lord, I call dayly vpon thee; I ſtretch out mine hands vnto thee.

10 Wilt thou ſhew i a miracle to the dead? or ſhall the dead riſe and praiſe thee? Selah.

11 Shall thy louing kindneſſe be declared in the graue? or thy faithfullneſſe in deſtruction?

12 Shall thy wonderous workes be knowen in the darke? and thy righteouſneſſe in the land k of oblíuion?

13 But vnto thee, haue I cryed, O Lord, and early ſhall my prayer come before thee.

14 Lord, why doeſt thou reiect my ſoule, and hideſt thy face from me?

15 I am afflicted and at the point of death;

* 1. King. 4. 31 Pſalme 13.

b Though many crie in their ſorrowes, yet they cry not earneſtly to God for remedie, as he did whom he confeſſed to be the authour of his ſaluation.
c For he that is dead, is free from all cares and buſineſſe of this life: and thus he ſaith, becauſe he was vnprofitable for all matters concerning mans life, and as it were cut off from this world.
d That is, from thy prouidence and care, which is meant according to the iudgement of the fleſh.
e The ſtormes of thy wrath haue ouerwhelmed me.
f Hee attributeth the loſſe and diſpleaſure of his friends to Gods prouidence, where by he partly puniſheth, and partly trieth his.
g I ſee none end of my ſorowes.
h Mine eyes and face declare my ſorowes. i He ſheweth that the time is more conuenient for God to helpe, when men call vnto him in their dangers, then to my till they be dead, and then raiſe them vp againe. k That is, in the graue, where onely the body lyeth without all ſenſe and remembrance.

I am euer in great dangers and sorowes, as though my life should vtterly be cut off euery moment.

† Ebr. were is darknesse.

from my youth. I suffer thy terrours doubting of my life.

16 Thine indignations goe ouer me, and thy feare hath cut me off.

17 They came round about me daily like water, and compassed me together.

18 My louers and friends hast thou put away from me, and mine acquaintance † hid themselues.

PSAL. LXXXIX.

With many wordes doth the Prophet prayse the godnesse of God. 23 For his testament and couenant, that he had made betweene him and his elect by Iesus Christ the sonne of Dauid. 38 Then doth hee complaine of the great ruine, and desolation of the kingdom of Dauid so that to the outward appearance the promise was broken. 46 Finally, he prayeth to be deliuered from his afflictions, making mention of the shortnesse of mans life, and confirming himselfe by Gods promise.

¶ A Psalme to giue instruction, of Ethan the Ezrahite.

I Will a sing the mercies of the Lord for euer: with my mouth will I declare thy trueth from generation to generation.

2 For I b said, Mercy shall be set vp for euer: thy trueth shalt thou c stablish in the very heauens.

3 d I haue made a couenant with my chosen: I haue sworne to Dauid my seruant.

4 Thy seede will I stablish for euer, and set vp thy throne from generation to generation. Selah.

5 O Lord, euen the e heauens shall prayse thy wonderous worke: yea, thy trueth in the f Congregation of the Saints.

6 For who is equall to the Lord in the heauen? and who is like the Lord among the g sonnes of the gods?

7 God is very terrible in the assemblie of the h Saints, and to be reuerenced aboue all that are about him.

8 O Lord God of hoastes, who is like vnto thee, which art a mightie Lord, and thy trueth is about thee?

9 i Thou rulest the raging of the Sea: when the waues thereof arise, thou stillest them.

10 Thou hast beaten downe Rahab as a man slaine: thou hast scattered thine enemie with thy mightie arme.

11 The heauens are thine, the earth also is thine: thou hast laid the foundation of the world, and all that therein is.

12 Thou hast created the North and the South: k Tabor and Hermon shall reioyce in thy Name.

13 Thou hast a mightie arme: strong is thy hand, and high is thy right hand.

14 l Righteousnesse and equitie are the stablishment of thy throne: mercie and trueth goe before thy face.

15 Blessed is the people that can m reioyce in thee: they shall walke in the light of thy n countenance, O Lord.

16 They shall reioyce continually in thy Name, and in thy righteousnesse shall they exalt themselues.

17 For thou art the o glory of their strength, and by thy fauour our hornes shall be exalted.

18 For our p shield appertaineth to the Lord, and our King to the Holy one of Israel.

19 Thou spakest then in a vision vnto q thine Holy one, and saidest, I haue layd helpe vpon one that is r mightie: I haue exalted one chosen out of the people.

20 I haue found Dauid my seruant: with mine holy oyle haue I annointed him.

21 Therefore mine hand shall be established with him, and mine arme shall strengthen him.

22 The enemy shall not oppresse him, neither shall the wicked hurt him.

23 But I will s destroy his foes before his face, and plague them that hate him.

24 My trueth also and my t mercie shall be with him, and in my Name shall his u horne be exalted.

25 I will set his hand also in the sea, and his right hand in the x floods.

26 He shall cry vnto mee, Thou art my y Father, my God, and the rocke of my saluation.

27 Also I will make him my first borne, higher then the kings of the earth.

28 My mercy will I keepe for him for euermore, and my Couenant shall stand fast with him.

29 His seede also will I make to endure z for euer, and his throne as the dayes of heauen.

30 But if his children forsake my Law, and walke not in my iudgements.

31 * If they breake my statutes, and keepe not my commandements:

32 Then will I visite their transgression with the rod, and their iniquitie with stripes.

33 a Yet my louing kindnesse will I not take from him, neither will I falsifie my trueth.

34 My Couenant will I not breake, nor b alter the thing that is gone out of my lips.

35 I haue sworne once by mine holines, † that I will not faile Dauid. Saying,

36 His seede shall endure for euer, and his throne shall be as the sunne before me.

37 He shall be established for euermore as the moone, and as a faithfull c witnesse in the heauen. Selah.

38 But thou hast reiected and abhorred, thou hast beene angry with thine annointed.

39 Thou hast d broken the Couenant of thy seruant, and prophaned his e crowne, casting it on the ground.

40 Thou hast broken downe all his walles: thou hast layd his fortresses in ruine.

41 All that goe by the way, spoyle him: he is a rebuke vnto his neighbours.

42 Thou hast set vp the right hand of his enemies, and made all his aduersaries to reioyce.

43 Thou hast also turned the edge of his sword, and hast not made him to stand in the battell.

44 Thou hast caused his dignitie to decay, and cast his throne to the ground.

45 The dayes of his f youth hast thou shortened, and couered him with shame. Selah.

46 g Lord, how long wilt thou hide thy selfe, for euer? shall thy wrath burne like fire?

a Though the horrible confusion of things might cause them to despaire of Gods fauour, yet the manifold examples of his mercies cause them to trust in God, though to mans iudgement they saw none occasion.

b As he that surely beleeueth in heart.

c As thine inuisible heauen is not subiect to any alteration and change: so shall the trueth of thy promise be vnchangeable.

d The Prophet sheweth what was the promise of God, whereon he grounded his faith.

e The Angels shall prayse thy power and faithfulnesse in deliuering thy Church.

f That is, in the heauens.

g Meaning, the Angels.

h If the Angels tremble before Gods maiesty and infinite iustice, what earthly creature by oppiefling the Church, dare set himselfe against God?

i For as he deliuered the Church by the red Sea, and by destroying Rahab, that is, the Egyptians: so will he eft sonnes deliuer it, when the dangers be great.

k Tabor is a mountaine Westward from Ierusalem, and Hermon Eastward: so the Prophet signifieth that all parts and places of the world shall obey Gods power for the deliuerance of his Church.

l For hereby bee iudgeth the world, and sheweth himselfe a mercifull Father, and faithfull protector vnto his m Feeling in their conscience that God is their Father.

n They shall be preserued by thy Fatherly prouidence.

o In that they are preserued and continue, they ought to giue the prayse and glory onely to thee.

p In that that our King hath power to defend vs, it is the gift of God.

q To Samuel and to others, to assure that Dauid was thy chosen one.

r Whom I haue both chosen and giuen him strength to execute his office, as verse 21.

s Though there shall be euermore enemies against Gods kingdome, yet he promiseth to ouercome them.

t I will mercifully performe my promises to him, not withstanding his infirmities and offences.

u By power, glory and estate.

x He shall enioy the land round about.

y His excellent dignitie shall appeare herein, that he shall be named the sonne of God, and the first borne, wherein he is a figure of Christ.

z Though for the sinnes of the people the state of this kingdom decayed: yet God preserued it till a Sauiour, till he had accomplished this promise in Christ.

* 2. Sam. 7. 14

a Though the faithfull auf.vere not in all points to their profession, yet God will not breake his Couenant with them.

b For God in promising hath respect to his mercie, and not to mans power in performing.

† Ebr. If I lie vnto Dauid: which is a maner of oath.

c As long as the Sunne and Moone endure, they shall be witnesses to me of this promise.

d Because of the horrible confusion of things, the Prophet complaineth to God, as though he saw not the performance of his promise. And thus disburdening his cares on God, he resisteth doubt and impatience.

e By this he meaneth the horrible dissipation and rending of the kingdom, which was vnder Ieroboam, or els by the spirit of prophesie Ethan speaketh of those great miseries, which came soone afterward to passe at the captiuitie of Babylon.

f He sheweth that the kingdome fell before it came to perfection, or was ripe.

g The Prophet in ioyning prayer with his complaints, sheweth that his faith neuer failed.

47 Remember [h] of what time I am: wherefore shouldest thou create in vaine all the children of men?

48 What man liueth, and shall not see death? shall hee deliuer his soule from the hand of the graue? Selah.

49 Lord, where are thy former mercies, which thou swarest vnto Dauid in thy trueth?

50 Remember, O Lord, the rebuke of thy seruants, which I beare in my [i] bosome of all the mighty people.

51 For [k] thine enemies haue reproched thee, O Lord, because they haue reproched the [l] footesteps of thine Anoynted.

52 Praysed be the Lord for euermore. So be it, euen so be it.

PSAL. XC.

1 Moses in his prayer setteth before vs the eternall fauour of God toward his, 3 who are neither admonished by the breuitie of their life, nor by his plagues to be thankfull, 12 therefore Moses prayeth God to turne their hearts, and continue his mercies toward them and their posterity for euer.

¶ A prayer of Moses, a the man of God.

LOrd, thou hast bene our [b] habitation from generation to generation.

2 Before the [c] mountaines were made, and before thou hadst formed the earth, and the world, euen from euerlasting to euerlasting thou art our God.

3 Thou [d] turnest man to destruction: againe thou sayest, Returne ye sonnes of Adam.

4 [e] For a thousand yeeres in thy sight are as yesterday when it is past, and as a watch in the night.

5 Thou hast [f] ouerflowed them, they are as a sleepe, in the morning he groweth like the grasse:

6 In the morning it flourisheth and groweth, but in the euening it is cut downe and withereth.

7 For we are [g] consumed by thine anger, and by thy wrath are we troubled.

8 Thou hast set our iniquities before thee, and our secret sinnes in the light of thy countenance.

9 For all our dayes are past in thine anger: we haue [h] spent our yeeres as a thought.

10 The time of our life is threescore yeeres and ten, and if they be of strength, [i] fourescore yeeres: yet their strength is but labour and sorrow: for it is cut off quickly, and we flee away.

11 [k] Who knoweth the power of thy wrath? for according to thy feare is thine anger.

12 Teach vs so to number our dayes, that we may apply our hearts vnto [l] wisedome.

13 Returne (O Lord, [m] how long?) and be [n] pacified toward thy seruants.

14 Fill vs with thy mercy in the morning: so shall we reioyce and be glad all our dayes:

15 Comfort vs according to the dayes that thou hast afflicted vs, and according to the yeeres that we haue seene euill.

16 [o] Let thy worke be seene toward thy seruants, and thy glory vpon their [p] children.

17 And let the [p] beauty of the Lord our God be vpon vs, and [q] direct thou the worke of our hands vpon vs, euen direct the worke of our hands.

PSAL. XCI.

1 Here is described in what assurance he liueth, that putteth his whole trust in God, and committeth himselfe wholly to his protection in all temptation. 14 A promise of God to those that loue him, know him, and trust in him to deliuer them, and giue them immortall glory.

WHo so dwelleth in the [a] secret of the most High, shall abide in the shadowe of the Almighty.

2 [b] I will say vnto the Lord, O my hope, and my fortresse: hee is my God, in him will I trust.

3 Surely I will deliuer thee from the [c] snare of the hunter, and from the noysome pestilence.

4 Hee will couer thee vnder his wings, and thou shalt be sure vnder his feathers: his [d] trueth shallbe thy shield and buckler.

5 [e] Thou shalt not be afraid of the feare of the night: nor of the arrow that flieth by day:

6 Nor of the pestilence that walketh in the darkenesse: nor of the plague that destroyeth at noone day.

7 A thousand shall fall at thy side, and tenne thousand at thy right hand, but it shall not come neere thee.

8 Doubtlesse with thine eyes shalt thou behold and see the reward of the wicked.

9 For thou hast said, The Lord is mine hope: thou hast set the most High for thy refuge.

10 There shall none euill come vnto thee, neither shall any plague come neere thy tabernacle.

11 [g] For he shall giue his Angels charge ouer thee to keepe thee in all thy wayes.

12 They shall beare thee in their hands, that thou hurt not thy foot against a stone.

13 Thou shalt walke vpon the lyon and aspe: the [h] young lyon, and the dragon shalt thou tread vnder feet.

14 [i] Because he hath loued me, therefore will I deliuer him: I will exalt him because hee hath knowen my Name.

15 He shall call vpon me, and I will heare him: I will be with him in trouble: I will deliuer him, and glorifie him.

16 With [k] long life will I satisfie him, and shew him my saluation.

2 This Psalme was made to be sung on the Sabbath, to stirre vp the people to acknowledge God, and to prayse him in his workes: the Prophet reioyceth therein. 6 But the wicked is not able to consider, that the vngodly, when hee is most flourishing, shall most speedily perish. 12 In the end is described the felicity of the iust, planted in the house of God to prayse the Lord.

¶ A Psalme or song for the a Sabbath day.

IT is a good thing to prayse the Lord, and to sing vnto thy Name, O most High.

2 To declare thy louing kindnesse in the [b] mornings, and thy trueth in the night,

3 Vpon an [c] instrument of ten strings, and vpon the viole, with the song vpon the harpe.

4 For thou Lord, hast made me glad by thy [d] works, and I will reioyce in the works of thine hands.

5 O Lord, how glorious are thy workes! and thy thoughts are very deepe.

6 An [e] vnwise man knoweth it not, and a [f] a Seeing mans life is short, and thou hast created man to bestowe thy benefits vpon him, except thou haste to helpe, death will preuent thee.

i He meaneth that Gods enemies did not onely slander him behinde his backe: but also mocked him to his face, and as it were cast their iniquities in his bosome.
k So he calleth them that persecute the Church.
l They laugh at vs which patiently waite for the comming of thy Christ.

a Thus the Scripture vseth to call the Prophetes.
b Thou hast bene as an house and defence vnto vs in all our troubles and trauels now this foure hundreth yeeres.
c Thou hast chosen vs to be thy people before the foundations of the world were layd.
d Moses by lamenting the frailtie and shortnesse of mans life moueth God to pity.
e Though man thinke his life long, which is indeed most short, yea, though it were a thousand yeeres: yet in Gods sight it is as nothing, and as the watch that lasteth but three houres.
f Thou takest them away suddenly as with a flood.
g Thou calleste vs by thy rods to consider the shortnes of our life, and for our sinnes thou abridgest our dayes.
h Our dayes are not onely short, but miserable, forasmuch as our sinnes dayly prouoke thy wrath.
i Meaning, according to the common state of life.
k If mans life for the breuitie be miserable, much more if thy wrath lie vpon it, as they which feare thee, onely know. l Which is, by considering the shortnesse of our life, and by meditating the heauenly ioyes. m Meaning, wilt thou be angry? n Or, take comfort in thy seruants. n Euen thy mercy, which is thy chiefest worke. o As Gods promises appertained as well to their posterity, as to them, so Moses prayeth for the posterity. p Meaning, that it was obscureth, when he ceaseth to doe good to his Church. q For except thou guide vs with thine holy Spirit, our enterprises can haue no good successe.

a Which teacheth that the vse of the Sabbath standeth in praying God, and not onely in ceasing from worke.
b For Gods mercie and fidelitie in his promise is toward his, binde them to prayse him continually both day and night.
c These instruments were then permitted, but at this Sabbath day not.
d He sheweth what is the vse of the Sabbath day: to wit, to meditate Gods works. e That is, the wicked consider not Gods works, nor his iudgements against them, and therefore most iustly perish.

foole doeth not vnderstand this.

7 (When the wicked grow as the grasse, and all the workers of wickednesse doe flourish) that they shallbe destroyed for euer.

8 But thou, O Lord, art [f] most High for euermore.

9 For loe, thine enemies, O Lord: for loe, thine enemies shall perish: all the workers of iniquitie shallbe destroyed.

10 [g] But thou shalt exalt mine horne, like the vnicornes, and I shall be anoynted with fresh oyle.

11 Mine eye also shall see my desire against mine enemies: and mine eares shall heare my wish against the wicked, that rise vp against me.

12 The righteous shall [h] flourish like a palme tree, and shall grow like a cedar in Lebanon.

13 Such as be planted in the house of the Lord, shall flourish in the courts of our God.

14 They shall still bring foorth fruit in their age: they shallbe fat and flourishing.

15 To declare that the Lord my rocke is righteous, and that none iniquity [i] in him.

PSAL. XCIII.

1 Hee prayseth the power of God in the creation of the world, and beateth downe all people which set them vp against his maiestie, 5 and prouoketh to consider his promises.

THe Lord [a] reigneth, and is cloathed with maiestie: the Lord is cloathed, and girded with power, the world also shall be established, that it cannot be mooued.

2 Thy [b] throne is established of old: thou art from euerlasting.

3 [c] The floods haue lifted vp, O Lord: the floods haue lifted vp their voyce: the floods lift vp their waues.

4 The waues of the sea are marueilous through the noise of many waters, yet the Lord on high is more mighty.

5 Thy [d] testimonies are very sure: holinesse becommeth thine House, O Lord, for euer.

[a] As God by his power and wisedome hath made and gouerneth the world: so must the same be our defence against all enemies and dangers.
[b] Where in thou sittest it and gouernest the world.
[c] Gods power appeareth in ruling the furious waters.
[d] Besides Gods power and wisedome in creating and gouerning, his great mercy also appeareth in that hee hath giuen his people his word and couenant.

PSAL. XCIV.

1 He prayeth vnto God against the violence and arrogance of tyrants, 10 warning them of Gods iudgements. 12 Therefore he comforteth the afflicted by the good issue of their afflictions, as he felt in himselfe, and did see in others, and by the ruine of the wicked, 23 whom the Lord will destroy.

O Lord God [a] the auenger, O God the auenger, shew thy selfe [b] clearely.

2 Exalt thy selfe, O Iudge of the world, and render a reward to the proud.

3 Lord, how long shall the wicked, how long shall the wicked [c] triumph?

4 They prate and speake fiercely: all the workers of iniquity vaunt themselues.

5 They [d] smite downe thy people, O Lord, and trouble thine heritage.

6 They slay the widow and the stranger, and murther the fatherlesse.

7 [e] Yet they say, The Lord shall not see: neither will the God of Iaakob regard it.

8 Vnderstand, yee vnwise among the people: and ye fooles, when will ye be wise?

9 Hee that [f] planted the eare, shall hee not heare? or he that formed the eye, shall he not see?

10 Or he that chastiseth the [g] nations, shall he not correct? he that teacheth man knowledge, shall he not know?

11 The Lord knoweth the thoughts of man, that they are vanitie.

12 Blessed is the man whom thou [h] chastisest, O Lord, and teachest him in thy Law, 13 That thou mayest giue him rest from the dayes of euill, whiles the pitte is digged for the wicked.

14 Surely the Lord will not faile his people, neither will he forsake his inheritance.

15 For iudgement shall returne to iustice, and all the vpright in heart shall follow after it.

16 Who will rise vp with me against the wicked? or who will take my part against the workers of iniquitie?

17 If the Lord had not [i] holpen me, my soule had almost dwelt in silence.

18 When I said, [k] My foot slideth, thy mercy, O Lord, stayed me.

19 In the multitude of my [l] thoughts in mine heart, thy comforts haue reioyced my soule.

20 Hath the throne of iniquitie [m] fellowship with thee, which forgeth wrong for a Law?

21 They gather them together against the soule of the righteous, and condemne the innocent blood.

22 But the Lord is my refuge, and my God is the rocke of mine hope.

23 And he will recompense them their wickednesse, and [o] destroy them in their owne malice, yea, the Lord our God shall destroy them.

[a] Whose office it is to take vengeance on the wicked.
[b] Shew by effect that thou art Iudge of the world to punish the wicked.
[c] That is, bragge of their cruelty and oppression: or esteeme themselues aboue all other.
[d] Seeing the Church was then so sore oppressed, it ought not to seeme strange to vs, if we see it so now and therefore we must call to God, to take our cause in hand.
[e] He shewerh that they are desperate in malice, for as much as they feared not God, but gaue themselues wholly to doe wickedly.
[f] He shewes that it is impossible, but God should heare, see, and vnderstand their wickednesse.
[g] If God punish whole nations for their sinnes, it is meere folly for any one man, or els a few to thinke that God will spare them.
of Gods iudgement, when the purpose of the wicked is broken they are destroyed in their owne malice.

[h] God hath care ouer his, and chastiseth them for their wealth, that they should not perish for euer with the wicked.
[i] God will restore the state and gouernement of things to their right vse, and then the Godly shall follow him cheerefully.
[k] He complaineth of them which would not helpe him to resist the enemies: yet was afflicted that Gods helpe would not faile.
[l] When I thought there was no way but death.
[m] In my trouble and distresse I euer found thy present helpe.

COme, let vs reioyce vnto the Lord: let vs sing [a] alowde vnto the rocke of our saluation.

2 Let vs come before his face with praise: let vs sing lowd vnto him with Psalmes.

PSAL. XCVI.

a An exhortation both to the Iewes and Gentiles to prayse God for his mercie. And this specially ought to be referred to the kingdome of Christ.

SIng a vnto the Lord a newe song: sing vnto the Lord all the earth.

2 Sing vnto the Lord, and prayse his Name: declare his saluation from day to day.

3 Declare his glory among all nations, and his wonders among all people.

4 For the Lord is b great and much to be praised: he is to be feared aboue all gods.

5 For all the gods of the people are ‖ idoles: but the Lord c made the heauens.

6 d Strength and glory are before him: power and beautie are in his Sanctuary.

7 Giue vnto the Lord, ye families of the people: giue vnto the Lord glory and e power.

8 Giue vnto the Lord the glory of his Name: bring f an offering, and enter into his courts.

9 Worship the Lord in the glorious Sanctuary: tremble before him all the earth.

10 Say among the g Nations, The Lord reigneth: surely the world shall be stable, and not moouе, and he shall iudge the people h in righteousnesse.

11 Let the heauens reioyce, and let the earth be glad: let the sea roare, and all that therein is.

12 Let the field be ioyfull, and all that is in it: let all the i trees of the wood then reioyce, 13 Before the Lord: for hee commeth, for hee commeth to iudge the earth; he will iudge § world with righteousnesse, and the people in his trueth.

a The Prophet sheweth that the time shall come, that all nations shall haue occasion to prayse the Lord for the reuealing of his Gospel.
b Seeing he will reueale himselfe to all nations contrarie to their own expectation, they ought all to worship him contrary to their owne imaginations, and onely as he hath appointed.
‖ Or, vanities.
c Then the idoles, or whatsoeuer made not the heauens, are not God.
d God cannot be knowen, but by his strength and glory, the tokens whereof appeare in his Sanctuarie.
e As by experience ye see that it is onely due vnto him.
f By offering vp your selues wholy vnto God, declare that you worship him onely.
g He prophecieth that the Gentiles shall be partakers with the Iewes of Gods promise.
h He shall regenerate them a new with his Spirit, and restore them to the image of God.
i If the insensible creatures shall haue cause to reioyce, when God appeareth, much more ye, from whom hee hath taken malediction and sinne.

PSAL. XCVII.

a The Prophet exhorteth all to reioyce for the comming of the kingdome of Christ, 7 dreadfull to the rebels and idolaters, 8 and ioyfull to the iust, whom he exhorteth to innocencie, 12 to reioycing and thanksgiuing.

THe a Lord reigneth: let the earth reioyce: let the b multitude of the Iles be glad.

2 c Cloudes and darknesse are round about him: righteousnesse and iudgement are the foundation of his throne.

3 There shall go a fire before him, and burne vp his enemies round about.

4 His lightnings gaue light vnto the world: the earth saw it and was d afraid.

5 The mountaines melted like waxe at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the Lord of the whole earth.

6 The heauens declare his righteousnesse, and all the people see his glory.

7 e Confounded be all they that serue grauen images, and that glory in idols: worship him f all ye gods.

8 Zion heard of it, and was glad; and the g daughters of Iudah reioyced, because of thy iudgements, O Lord.

9 For thou, Lord, art most High aboue all the earth: thou art much exalted aboue all gods.

10 Ye that h loue the Lord, hate euill, hee preserueth the soules of his Saints; hee will deliuer them from the hand of the wicked.

11 ‖ Light is sowen for the righteous, and ioy for the vpright in heart.

12 Reioyce yee righteous in the Lord, and giue thanks for his holy i remembrance.

a He sheweth that where God reigneth, there is all felicitie, and spirituall ioy.
b For the Gospel shall not be onely preached in Iudea, but through all ytes and countreyes.
c He is thus described to keepe his enemies in feare, which commonly contemne Gods power.
d This feare bringeth not the wicked to true obedience, but maketh them to run away from God.
e He signifieth that Gods iudgements are in a readinesse to destroy the idolaters.
f Let all that which is esteemed in the world fall down before him.
g The Iewes shall haue occasion to reioyce, that the Gentiles are made partakers with them of Gods fauour.
h He requireth two things of his children; the one that they detest vice, the other, that they put their trust in God for their deliuerance.
i Though Gods deliuerance appeare not suddenly, yet it is sowen and laid vp in store for them.

PSAL. XCVIII.

a An earnest exhortation to all creatures to prayse the Lord for his power, mercie and fidelitie in his promise by Christ, 10 by whom he hath communicated his saluation to all nations.

¶ A Psalme.

SIng a vnto the Lord a new song: for hee hath done marueilous things: * his right hand, and his holy b arme haue gotten him the victory.

2 The Lord declared his c saluation: his righteousnesse hath he reuealed in the sight of the nations.

3 Hee hath remembred his mercie and his trueth toward the house of Israel: all the ends of the earth haue seene the saluation of our God.

4 All the earth, sing ye loud vnto the Lord: cry out and reioyce, and sing prayses.

5 Sing prayse to the Lord vpon the harpe, euen vpon the harpe with a singing voyce.

6 With d shalmes and sound of trumpets sing loud before the Lord the King.

7 Let the sea roare, and all that therein is, the world, and they that dwell therein.

8 Let the floods clap their hands, and let the mountaines reioyce together,

9 Before the Lord: for he is come to iudge the earth: with righteousnes shall he iudge the world: and the people with equitie.

a Be mindfull of his benefits and onely trust in his defence.
a That is, some song newly made in token of their wonderfull deliuerance by Christ. * Isa. 59. 16.
b He preferreth his Church miraculously.
c For the deliuerance of his Church.
d God was mooued by none other meanes to gather his Church of the Iewes and Gentiles, but because he would performe his promise.
e By this repetition and earnest exhortation to giue prayse with instruments, and also of the dumbe creatures, he signifieth that the world is neuer able to prayse God sufficiently for their deliuerance.

PSAL. XCIX.

a Hee commendeth the power, equitie and excellencie of the kingdome of God by Christ ouer the Iewes and Gentiles, 5 And prouoketh them to magnifie the same, and to serue the Lord, 6 following the example of the auncient fathers, Moses, Aaron, Samuel, who calling vpon God, were heard in their prayers.

THe Lord reigneth, let the a people tremble: he sitteth betweene the * Cherubims, let the earth be mooued.

2 The Lord is great in Zion, and he is high aboue all the people.

3 They shall b prayse thy great and fearefull Name (for it is holy.)

4 And the Kings power, that loueth iudgement; for thou hast prepared equitie: thou hast executed iudgement and iustice in Iaakob.

5 Exalt the Lord our God, and fall downe before his c footstoole; for he is holy.

6 Moses and Aaron were among his Priests, d and Samuel among such as call vpon his Name, these called vpon the Lord, and he heard them.

7 Hee spake vnto them in the cloudy pillar: they kept his testimonies, and the Law that he gaue them.

8 Thou heardest them, O Lord our God: thou wast a fauourable God vnto them, though thou diddest take vengeance for e their inuentions.

9 Exalt the Lord our God and fall downe before his holy Mountaine: for the Lord our God is holy.

a When God deliuereth his Church, all the enemies shall haue cause to tremble. * Exod. 25. 22.
b Though the wicked rage against God, yet he godly shall prayse his Name and mighte power.
c That is, before his Temple or Arke, where he promised to heare when they worshipped him, as now he promiseth his spirituall presence, wheresoeuer his Church is assembled.
d Vnder these three he comprehendeth the whole people of Israel, with whom God made his promise.
e For the more liberally that God dealeth with his people, the more doth he punish them that abuse his benefits.

PSAL. C.

1 He exhorteth all to serue the Lord, 3 who hath chosen vs, and preserued vs, 4 and to enter into his assemblies to prayse his Name.

2 Serue the Lord with gladnesse; come before him with ioyfulnesse.

a Hee prophecieth that Gods benefite in calling the Gentiles, shall be his mercy & ioyce, b He chiefly meaneth, touching the spirituall regeneration, whereby we are his sheepe and people.

c He sheweth what God will not be worshipped, but by that meanes which he hath appointed.

3 Know yee that euen the Lord is God; hee hath b made vs, and not we our selues: we are his people, and the sheepe o' his pasture.

4 c Enter into his gates with prayse, and into his courtes with reioycing: prayse him and blesse his Name.

5 For the Lord is good: his mercie is d euerlasting, and his trueth is from generation to generation.

d He declareth that we ought neuer to be wearie in praysing him, seeing his mercies towards vs last for euer.

PSAL. CI.

Dauid describeth what gouernement hee will obserue in his house and kingdome. 5 He will punish and correct, by rooting foorth the wicked, 6 and cherishing the godly persons.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

I Will a sing mercie and iudgement: vnto thee, O Lord, will I sing.

a Dauid considereth what maner of King he would be, when God should place him in the throne, promising openly, that he would be mercifull and iust.

2 I will doe wisely in the perfect way, b till thou commest to me: I will walke in the vprightnesse of mine heart in the middes of my house.

b Though as yet whom he deferreth to place me in the Kingly dignitie, yet will I giue my selfe to wisedome and vprightnesse being a priuate man.

3 I will set not wicked thing before mine eyes: I hate c the worke of them that fall away: it shall not cleaue vnto me.

c He sheweth what Magistrates doe not their duties, except they be enemies to all vice.

4 A froward heart shall depart from mee; I will know none euill.

5 Him that priuily d slandereth his neighbour, will I destroy: him that hath a proud looke and hie heart, I cannot suffer.

d In promising to punish these vices, which are most pernitious in them that are about Kings, he declareth the sobrest to punish the wicked, and to maintaine the good.

6 Mine eyes shall be vnto the e faithfull of the land, that they may dwell with me: he that walketh in a perfect way, he shall serue me.

e Magistrates must immediately punish vice, least it grow to further inconuenience: and if heathen magistrates are bound to doe this, how much more they that haue the charge of the Church of God.

7 There shall no deceitfull person dwell within my house: hee that telleth lies, shall not remaine in my sight.

8 f Betimes will I destroy all the wicked of the land, that I may cut off all the workers of iniquitie from the Citie of the Lord.

f He will punish all.

PSAL. CII.

It seemeth that this prayer was appointed to the faithfull to pray in the captiuitie of Babylon. 15 A consolation for the building of the Church: 18 Wherof foloweth the prayse of God to be published vnto all posterities. 22 The conuersion of the Gentiles, 28 and the stablisse of the Church.

¶ A prayer a of the afflicted, when hee shall be in distresse, and powre foorth his meditation before the Lord.

a It seemeth that this prayer was appointed to the faithfull to pray in the captiuitie of Babylon.

O Lord heare my prayer, and let my b cry come vnto thee.

b Whereby is signified, that although we be in neuer so great miseries, yet there is euery place left for prayer.

2 Hide not thy face from mee in the time of my trouble: incline thine eares vnto me, when I call, make haste to heare me.

3 For my dayes are c consumed like smoake, and my bones are burnt like an herth.

c He declareth that is our prayer woe-moft likely seeke that, which we desire, and stedfastly beleeue to obtaine.

4 Mine heart is smitten, and withered like grasse, because I forgate d to eare my bread.

d These excessiue kindes of speach shewe how much the affliction of the Church ought to wound the hearts of the godly 5 For the voyce of my groning, my bones doe cleaue to my skinne.

e My sorrowes agree so great, what I passed not for mine ordinary food.

6 I am like e a pelicane of the wildernesse: I am like an owle of the deserts.

7 I watch, and am as a sparow alone vpon the house top.

8 Mine enemies reuile me dayly, and they that rage against me, haue f sworne against me.

f Haue conspired my death.

9 Surely I haue g eaten ashes as bread, and mingled my drinke with weeping.

g I haue not refen out of my mourning to take my refection.

10 Because of thine h indignation and thy wrath: for thou hast heaued me vp, and cast me downe.

h He sheweth that the afflictions did not onely thus maruelous hurt, but chiefly the teeling of Gods displeasure

11 My dayes are like a shadowe that fadeth, and I am withered like grasse.

12 But thou, O Lord, doest i remaine for euer, and thy remembrance from generation to generation.

i However we be traile, yet thy promise is sure, and the remembrance thereof shall continue vs for euer.

13 Thou wilt arise and haue mercie vpon Zion: for the time to haue mercie thereon, for the k appointed time is come.

k That is, the seuentie yeeres which by the Prophet Ieremie thou didst appoint, Iere. 29. 12.

14 For thy seruants delight in the l stones thereof, and haue pitie on the dust thereof.

l The more that the Church is in miserie and desolation, the more ought the faithfull to loue and pitie it.

15 Then the heathen shall feare the Name of the Lord, and all the kings of the earth thy glory, m That is, when he shall haue drawen his church out of the darknes of death.

16 When the Lord shall build vp Zion, and shall appeare m in his glory, 17 And shall turne vnto the prayer of the desolate, and nor despise their prayer.

n The deliuerance of the Church is a most excellent benefit, and therefore he compareth it to a new creation: for in their banishment the body of the Church seemed to haue beene dead, which by deliuerance was as it were created a new,

18 This shall be written for the generation to come: and the people which shall be n created, shall prayse the Lord.

19 For he hath looked downe from the height of his Sanctuary: out of the heauen did the Lord behold the earth, o Who now in their banishment could looke for both great death.

20 That he might heare the mourning of the prisoner, and deliuer the o children of death:

21 That they may declare the Name of the Lord in Zion, and his prayse in Ierusalem, 22 When the people shall be gathered p together, and the kingdomes to serue the Lord.

p He sheweth that Gods Name is neuer more prayfed, then when religion flourisheth and the church increaseth: which thing is chiefly accomplished vnder the kingdome of Christ.

23 Hee q abated my strength in the way, and shortned my dayes.

q The Church lament that they see not the time of Christ, which was promised, but haue but fewe yeeres and short dayes.

24 And I said, O my God, take me not away in the mids of my dayes: thy yeeres endure from generation to generation.

r If heauen and earth perish, much more shall perish: but the Church by reason of Gods promise endureth for euer.

25 Thou hast aforetime layd the foundation of the earth, and the heauens are the worke of thine hands.

26 r They shall perish, but thou shalt endure: euen they all shall waxe old as doeth a garment: as a vesture shalt thou change them, and they shall be changed.

27 But thou art the same, and thy yeeres shall not faile.

28 The children of thy seruants shall continue, and their seed shall stand f fast in thy sight.

s Seeing it is impossible that the world, and ioyned in to thee, it cannot but continue for euer: for thou art euerlasting.

PSAL. CIII.

1 Hee prouoketh all to prayse the Lord, which hath pardoned his sinnes, deliuered him from destruction, and giuen him sufficient of all good things. 10 Then he setteth the tender mercies of God, which he vseth like a most tender Father towards his children. 14 The fraitie of mans life. 20 An exhortation to man and Angell to prayse the Lord.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

a He wakeneth his dulnesse to prayse God, shewing that both vnderstanding and affections, minde and heart are too little to set foorth his prayse.

MY soule, a prayse thou the Lord, and all that is within me, prayse his holy Name.

2 My soule, prayse thou the Lord, and forget not all his benefits.

b This is the beginning and chiefest of all benefits remission of sinne.

3 Which b forgiueth all thine iniquitie, and healeth all thine infirmities.

4 Which redeemeth thy life from the c graue, and crowneth thee with mercie and compassions.

c Before that wee liuings, we are as dead men in the graue.

d As the eagle, when her beake ouergroweth, sucketh blood, and so is renewed to strength, euen so God miraculously giueth strength to his Church aboue all mans expectation.

e Or to his chiefe minister, and next to his people.

f He sheweth first his seuere iudgement, but so soone as the sinners is humbled, he receiueth him to mercie.

g Who hath prooued by continuall experience, that his mercy hath euer preuailed against our offences.

h As great as the world is, so full is it of signes of Gods mercies toward his faithfull, when he hath remooued their sinnes.

i Hee declareth that man hath no thing in himselfe to moue God to mercie, but onely the confession of his infirmity and misserie.

k His iust and faithfull keeping of his promise.

l To whom hee giueth grace to feare him and to obey his word.

m In that we which naturally are slow to praise God, exhort the Angels, which willingly doe it, we stirre vp our selues to consider our dulnes, and awake out of our sluggishnesse.

5 Which satisfied thy mouth with good things: and thy d youth is renued like the eagles.

6 The Lord executeth righteousnesse and iudgement to all that are oppressed.

7 He made his wayes knowen vnto e Moses, and his workes vnto the children of Israel.

8 The Lord is full of compassion and mercy, slow to anger and of great kindnesse.

9 He will not alway f chide, neither keepe his anger for euer.

10 He hath not g dealt with vs after our sinnes, nor rewarded vs according to our iniquities.

11 For as high as the heauen is aboue the earth, so great is his mercie toward them that feare him.

12 As farre as h the East is from the West, so farre hath he remooued our sinnes from vs.

13 As a father hath compassion on his children, so hath the Lord compassion on them that feare him.

14 For he knoweth whereof we be made: he remembreth that we are but dust.

15 The dayes of i man are as grasse: as a flowre of the field, so flourisheth he.

16 For the wind goeth ouer it, and it is gone, and the place thereof shall know it no more.

17 But the louing kindnes of the Lord endureth for euer and euer vpon them that feare him, and his k righteousnesse vpon childrens children, 18 Vnto them that keepe his l couenant, and thinke vpon his commandements to doe them.

19 The Lord hath prepared his throne in heauen, and his kingdome ruleth ouer all.

20 Praise the Lord, ye m his Angels, that excell in strength, that doe his commandement in obeying the voyce of his word.

21 Praise the Lord all ye his hoasts, ye his seruants that doe his pleasure.

22 Praise the Lord all ye his works, in all places of his dominion: my soule, praise thou the Lord.

PSAL. CIIII.

n An excellent Psalme to praise God for the creation of the world, and the gouernance of the same by his marueilous prouidence. 35 Wherein the Prophet prayeth against the wicked, who are occasions that God diminished his blessings.

a The Prophet sheweth that wee needs must, to enter into the heauenly seeke God, for as much as all the order of nature, with the properties, and placing of the elements, are most lively instruments to set his maiestie in.

b As the Prophet here sheweth that all visible powers are ready to serue God: so the Apostle to the Hebrews, beholdeth in this glasse how the very Angels also are obedient to his commandement.

c Thou makest the earth so beautifull and ornament vnto the earth.

d If by thy power thou diddest not bridle the rage of the waters, it were not possible, but the whole world should be destroyed.

e If God prouide for the very beasts, much more will he extend his prouidence to man.

f There is no part of the world so barren, where most euident signes of Gods blessings appeare not.

g From the cloudes.

h He describeth Gods prouident care ouer man, who doeth not onely prouide necessary things for him, as herbes and other meate: but also things to reioyce and comfort him as wine and oyle, or oyn ments.

i Or, deer, roes, and such like.

k As to set time the night from the day, and to note dayes, monethes and yeeres.

l That is, by his course, either farre or neere, it moueth summer & winter and other seasons.

m That is, they onely hide meate according to Gods prouidence, who careth euen for the brute beasts.

n To wit, when the day springeth: for the light is as it were a shield to defend man against the ynnumerable and fierce rage of beasts.

o God in a most nourishing father, who prouideth for all creatures their dayly foode.

p As by thy prouidence all things haue life: so if thou withdraw thy blessings, they all perish.

q As the death of creatures the Lord saith that we are nourishing of our selues: for their generation declareth that we receiue all things 1 MY soule, praise thou the Lord: O Lord my God, thou art exceeding great, thou art a cloathed with glory and honour.

2 Which coueresth himselfe with light, as with a garment, and spreadeth the heauens like a curteine.

3 Which layeth the beames of his chambers in the waters, and maketh the cloudes his chariot, and walketh vpon the wings of the winde.

4 Which b maketh the spirits his messengers, and a flaming fire his ministers.

5 He set the earth vpon her foundations, so that it shall neuer mooue.

6 Thou couerest it with the c deepe as with a garment: the d waters would stand aboue the mountaines.

7 But at thy rebuke they flee: at the voyce of thy thunder they haste away.

8 And the mountaines ascend, and the valleys descend to the place which thou hast established for them.

9 But thou hast set them a bound, which they shall not passe: they shall not returne to couer the earth.

10 Hee sendeth the springs into the valleys, which runne betweene the mountaines.

11 They shall giue drinke to all the e beastes of the field, and the wilde asses shall quench their thirst.

12 By these f springs shall the foules of the heauen dwell, and sing among the branches.

13 Hee watereth the mountaines from his g chambers, and the earth is filled with the fruite of thy workes.

14 He causeth grasse to grow for the cattell, and herbe for the vse of h man, that he may bring forth bread out of the earth.

15 And wine that maketh glad the heart of man, and oyle to make his face to shine, and bread that strengtheneth mans heart.

16 The high trees are satisfied, euen the cedars of Lebanon, which he hath planted.

17 That the birds may make their nests there: the storke dwelleth in the fir trees.

18 The high mountaines are for the ‖ goates: the rocks are a refuge for the conies.

19 He appointed i the moone for certaine seasons, k the sunne knoweth his going downe.

20 Thou makest darkenesse, and it is night, wherein all the beasts of the forest creepe forth.

21 The lyons roare after their pray, and seeke their meate l at God.

22 When the sunne riseth, they retire, and couch in their dennes.

23 m Then goeth man forth to his worke, and to his labour vntill the euening.

24 O Lord, how n manifold are thy workes! in wisedome hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches.

25 So is the sea great and wide: for therein are things creeping innumerable, both small beasts and great.

26 There goe the ships, yea that ‖ Liuiathan, whom thou hast made to play therein.

27 o All these wait vpon thee, that thou mayest giue them foode in due season.

28 Thou giuest it to them, and they gather it, thou openest thy hand, and they are filled with good things.

29 But if thou p hide thy face, they are troubled: if thou take away their breath, they die and returne to their dust.

30 Againe if thou q send forth thy spirit, they are created, & thou renewest the face of the earth.

31 Glory be to the Lord for euer: let the Lord reioyce in his workes.

32 He looketh on the earth and it trembleth: he toucheth the mountaines, and they r smoke.

33 I will sing vnto the Lord all my life: I will praise my God, while I liue.

34 Let my wordes be acceptable vnto him: I will reioyce in the Lord.

35 Let the sinners be s consumed out of the earth, and the wicked till there be no more: O my soule, praise thou the Lord. Praise ye the Lord.

of our Creatour.

r Gods merciful face giueth strength vnto the earth, but his seuere countenance burneth the mountaines.

s Who tasted the world, and for cause God that he cannot reioyce in his workes.

PSAL. CV.

1 Hee praiseth the singular grace of God, who hath of all the people of the world chosen a peculiar people to himselfe, and hauing chosen them, neuer ceaseth to doe them good, euen for his promises sake.

Praise ye

a For as much as the Israelites were exempted from the common condemnation of the world, and were elected to be Gods people, the Prophet willeth them to shew themselues mindfull by thankesgiuing.
b By the strength and face he meaneth the Arke where God declared his power and his presence.
c Which he hath wrought in the deliuerance of his people.
d Because his power was thereby as liuely declared, as if he should haue declared it by mouth.
e The promise which God made to Abraham to be his God, and the God of his seede after him, he renewed and repeated it againe to his seede after him.
f He sheweth that they should not enioy the land of Canaan by any other meanes, but by reason of his couenant made with their fathers.
g That is, the king of Egypt and the king of Gerar, Gen. 12. 17. and 20. 3.
h Those whom I haue sanctified to be my people.
i Meaning, the old fathers, to whom God shewed himselfe liuinely, and who were seruers forth of his word.
k Either by sending scarcity, or by taking away the strength and nourishment thereof.
l So long he suffered aduersitie as God had appointed, and till he had tryed sufficiently his patience.
m That the very princes of the country should be at his commandement, and learne wisedome at him.
n So it is in God, either to moue the hearts of the wicked to hourte hate Gods children.
o Meaning, Moses and Aaron.
* Exod. 7. 20.
* Exod. 8. 6.
p So that this vermine came not by seruice, but as God ordained, and his prophet Moses spake.
q It was strange to see raine in Egypt, much more it was fearefull to see haile.
r He sheweth that all creatures are armed against man when God is his enemie, as at his commandement the grashoppers destroyed the land.
* Exod. 12. 29.
s When their enemies felt Gods plagues, his children were exempted.
t For Gods plagues caused them rather to depart with the Israelites, then with their liues.
u Not for necessitie, but for satisfying of their lust.
x Which he confirmeth to the posteritie, in whom after a sort the dead liue and enioy the promises.
y When the Egyptians lamented and were destroyed.
z This is the ende, why God preserueth his Church, because they should worship, and call vpon him in this world.

1 P Rayse the Lord, and call vpon his Name: a declare his workes among the people.
2 Sing vnto him, sing prayse vnto him, and talke of all his wondrous workes.
3 Reioyce in his holy Name, let the heart of them that seeke the Lord, reioyce.
4 Seeke the Lord and his b strength: seeke his face continually.
5 Remember his c marueilous workes that he hath done, his wonders, and the d iudgements of his mouth.
6 Ye seed of Abraham his seruant, ye children of Iaakob, which are his elect.
7 Hee is the Lord our God: his iudgements are through all the earth.
8 He hath alway remembred his couenant, and promise, that he made to a thousand generations,
9 Euen that which he e made with Abraham, and his oath vnto Izhak:
10 And since hath confirmed it to Iaakob for a law, and to Israel for an euerlasting couenant, 11 Saying, f Vnto thee will I giue the land of Canaan, the lot of your inheritance.
12 Albeit they were few in number, yea very few, and strangers in the land, 13 And walked about from nation to nation, from one kingdome to another people, 14 Yet suffered he no man to do them wrong, but reprooued g Kings for their sakes, saying,
15 Touch not mine h anoynted, and doe my i Prophets no harme.
16 Moreouer, hee called a famine vpon the land, and vtterly brake the h staffe of bread.
17 But he sent a man before them: Ioseph was sold for a slaue.
18 They held his feet in the stokes, and he was layd in yrons, 19 Vntill i his appoynted time came, and the counsell of the Lord had tried him.
20 The King sent and loosed him; euen the Ruler of the people deliuered him.
21 He made him lord of his house, and ruler of all his substance, 22 That hee should binde his m princes vnto his will, and teach his Anciens wisdome.
23 Then Israel came to Egypt, and Iaakob was a stranger in the land of Ham.
24 And hee increased his people exceedingly, and made them stronger then their oppressours.
25 n He turned their heart to hate his people, and to deale craftily with his seruants.
26 Then sent he Moses his seruant, and Aaron whom he had chosen.
27 They sheweth among them the message of his signes, and wonders in the land of Ham.
28 He sent darkenesse, and made it darke: and they were not o disobedient vnto his commission.
29 * Hee turned their waters into blood, and slew their fish.
30 * Their land brought foorth frogs, euen in their Kings chambers.
31 Hee p spake, and there came swarmes of flies and lice in all their quarters.
32 He gaue them q haile for raine, and flames of fire in their land.
33 Hee smote their vines also and their figge trees, and brake downe the trees in their coasts.
34 r He spake and the grashoppers came, and cate pillers innumerable,
35 And did eate vp all the grasse in their land, and deuoured the fruit of their ground.
36 * He smote also all the first borne in their land, euen the beginning of all their strength.
37 Hee brought them foorth also with siluer and golde, and there was s none feeble among their tribes.
38 Egypt was t glad at their departing: for the feare of them had fallen vpon them.
39 He spread a cloud to be a couering, and fire to giue light in the night.
40 They u asked, and he brought quailes, and he filled them with the bread of heauen.
41 He opened the rocke, and the waters flowed out, and ranne in the dry places like a riuer.
42 For hee remembred his holy x promise to Abraham his seruant, 43 And hee brought foorth his people with y ioy, and his chosen with gladnesse, 44 And gaue them the lands of the heathen, & they tooke the labors of ỹ people in possession, 45 That they might z keepe his statutes, and obserue his Lawes. Prayse ye the Lord.

PSAL. CVI.

1 The people dispersed vnder Antiochus, doe magnifie the goodnesse of God among the iust and repentant: 4 Desiring to be brought againe into the land by Gods merciful visitation. 8 And after the manifold marueiles of God wrought in their deliuerance forth of Egypt, and the great ingratitude of the people rehearsed. 47 They doe pray and desire to be gathered from among the heathen, to the intent they may prayse the Name of the God of Israel.

¶ Prayse ye the Lord.

1 P Rayse a ye the Lord because he is good, for his mercy endureth for euer.
2 Who can expresse the noble actes of the Lord, or shew forth all his prayse?
3 Blessed are they that b keepe iudgement, and doe righteousnesse at all times.
4 Remember mee, O Lord, with the c fauour of thy people: visit me with thy saluation,
5 That I may see the felicity of thy chosen, and reioyce in the ioy of thy people, and glory with thine inheritance.
6 Wee haue d sinned with our fathers: wee haue committed iniquity, and done wickedly.
7 Our fathers vnderstood not thy wonders in Egypt, neither remembred they the multitude of thy mercies, but rebelled at the Sea, euen at the red sea.
8 Neuertheless he e saued them for his Names sake, that he might make his power to be knowen, 9 And he rebuked the red sea, and it was dried vp, and he led them in the deepe, as in the wildernesse.
10 And he saued them frō the aduersaries hand, and deliuered them from the hand of the enemy.
11 * And the waters couered their oppressors: not one of them was left.
12 Then f beleeued they his wordes, and sang prayse vnto him.
13 But incontinently they forgate his works: they waited not for his g counsell.

a The Prophet exhorteth the people to prayse God for his benefites past, that thereby their mindes may be strengthened against all present troubles and desparate.
b He sheweth that it is not enough to prayse God with mouth, except the whole heart agree thereunto, and all our life be thereunto framed.
c Let the good will that thou bearest to thy people, extend vnto me, that thereby I may be receiued into the number of thine.
d By earnest confession of sinne of their owne, as of their fathers sinnes, they shew that they had hope that God according to his promise would pitie them.
e The inestimable goodnesse of God appeareth in this, that hee would change the order of nature, rather then his people should not be deliuered.
f Although they were wicked. * Exod. 14. 27.
g They would God caused them to beleeue for a time, and to prayse him.
h They would preuent his wisedome and prouidence.

14 But lusted with concupiscence in the wilderneſſe, and tempted God in the deſert.
15 Then hee gaue them their deſire: but hee ſent [h] leanneſſe into their ſoule.
16 They enuied Moſes alſo in the tents, and Aaron the holy one of the Lord.
17 Therefore the earth opened and [i] ſwallow-ed vp Dathan, and couered the company of Abi-ram.
18 And the fire was kindled in their aſſemblie:
the flame burnt vp the wicked.
19 They made a calfe in Horeb, and worſhipped the molten image.
20 Thus they turned their [k] glory into the ſimilitude of a bullocke, that eateth graſſe.
21 They forgat God their Sauiour, which had done great things in Egypt.
22 Wonderous workes in the land of Ham, and fearefull things by the red ſea.
23 Therefore he minded to deſtroy them, had not Moſes his choſen ſtood in the breach before him to turne away his wrath, leaſt hee ſhould deſtroy them.
24 Alſo they contemned [m] that pleaſant land,
and beleeued not his word, 25 But murmured in their tents and hearkened not vnto the voyce of the Lord.
26 Therefore [n] hee lifted vp his hand againſt them, to deſtroy them in the wildernesſe, 27 And to deſtroy their ſeede among the nations, and to ſcatter them throughout the countreyes.
28 They ioyned themſelues alſo vnto [o] Baalpeor, and did eat the offerings of the [p] dead.
29 Thus they [q] prouoked him vnto anger with their owne inuentions, and the plague brake in vpon them.
30 But [r] Phinehas ſtoode vp, and executed iudgement, and the plague was ſtayed.
31 * And it was [s] imputed vnto him for righteouſneſſe from generation to generation for e-uer.
32 They angred him alſo at the waters of
* Meribah, ſo that [t] Moſes was puniſhed for their ſakes,
33 Becauſe they vexed his Spirit, ſo that hee ſpake vnaduiſedly with his lips, 34 Neither deſtroyed they the people, as the Lord had commanded them, 35 But were mingled among the heathen, and learned their workes, 36 And ſerued their idoles, which were their ruine.
37 Yea, they offered their [u] ſonnes, and their daughters vnto deuils, 38 And ſhed innocent blood, euen the blood of their ſonnes, and of their daughters whom they offred vnto the idoles of Canaan, and the lande was defiled with blood.
39 Thus were they ſtayned with their owne workes, and went [x] a whoring with their owne inuentions.
40 Therefore was the wrath of the Lord kindled againſt his people, and he abhorred his owne inheritance.
41 And hee gaue them into the hand of the heathen: and they that hated them were lordes ouer them.
42 Their enemies alſo oppreſſed them, and they were humbled vnder their hand.
43 Many [y] a time did hee deliuer them, but they prouoked him by their counſels: therefore they were brought downe by their iniquitie.
44 Yet he ſaw when they were in affliction, &
he heard their cry.
45 And hee remembred his couenant toward them, and [z] repented according to the multitude of his mercies, 46 And gaue them fauour in the ſight of all them that led them captiues.
47 Saue vs, O Lord our God, and [a] gather vs from among the heathen, that wee may praiſe thine holy Name, and glory in thy prayſe.
48 Bleſſed be the Lord God of Iſrael for euer and euer, and let all the people ſay, So be it. Prayſe ye the Lord.

vs conſtancie vnder the croſſe, that with one conſent wee may all prayſe thee.

[1] The Prophet exhorteth all thoſe that are redeemed by the Lord and gathered vnto him, to giue thanks, 9 for this mercifull prouidence of God, concerning all things: at his good pleaſure, 10 in ſending good and euill, proſperitie and aduerſitie to bring men vnto him. 42 Therefore as the righteous thereat reioyce, ſo ſhall the wicked haue their mouth ſtopped.

and because of their iniquities are afflicted.

18 Their soule abhoreth all meate, and they are brought to deaths doore.

19 Then they cry vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuereth them from their distresse.

20 [b] Hee sendeth his word and healeth them, and deliuereth them from their [i] graues.

21 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.

22 And let them offer sacrifices of [k] prayse, and declare his works with reioycing.

23 They that goe downe to the [l] sea in ships, and occupie by the great waters, 24 They see the workes of the Lord, and his wonders in the deepe.

25 For he commandeth and raiseth the stormie winde, and it lifteth vp the waues thereof.

26 They mount vpto the heauen, and descend to the deepe, so that their soule [m] melteth for trouble.

27 They are tossed to and fro, and stagger like a [n] drunken man, and all their [n] cunning is gone.

28 Then they cry vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he bringeth them out of their distresse.

29 Hee turneth the storme to calme, so that the waues thereof are still.

30 When they are [o] quieted, they are glad, and hee bringeth them vnto the hauen, where they would be.

31 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.

32 And let them exalt him in the [p] congregation of the people, and prayse him in the assembly of the Elders.

33 Hee turneth the floods to a wildernesse, and the springs of waters into drinesse.

34 And a fruitfull land into ‖ barrennesse, for the wickednesse of them that dwell therein.

35 Againe he [q] turneth the wildernes into pools of water, and the dry land into water springs.

36 And there he placeth the hungry, and they build a citie to dwell in,

37 And sow the fields, and plant vineyards, which bring forth fruitfull [r] increase.

38 For he blesseth them, and they multiply exceedingly, and he diminisheth not their cattell.

39 [s] Againe men are diminished, and brought low by oppression, euill and sorow.

40 He powreth [t] contempt vpon princes, and causeth them to erre in desert places out of [y] way.

41 Yet hee raiseth vp the poore out of misery, and maketh him families like a flocke of sheepe.

42 The [u] righteous shall see it, and reioyce, and all iniquitie shall stop her mouth.

43 Who is wise that hee may obserue these things? for they shall vnderstand the louing kindnesse of the Lord.

PSAL. CVIII.

This Psalme is compoſed of two other Pſalmes before the ſeuen and ſiftieth and the ſixtieth. The matter here contained is, 1 That David giueth himſelfe with heart and voyce to prayſe the Lord, 7 and aſſureth himſelfe of the promiſe of God concerning his kingdome ouer Iſrael, and his power againſt other nations: 11 Who though hee ſeeme to forſake vs for a time, yet he alone will in the end caſt downe our enemies.

¶ A ſong or Pſalme of Dauid.

O God, mine heart [a] is prepared, ſo is ‖ my tongue: I will ſing and giue prayſe.

2 Awake viole and harpe, I will awake early.

3 I will prayſe thee, O Lord, among the [b] people, and I will ſing vnto thee among the nations.

4 For thy mercy is great aboue the heauens, and thy trueth vnto the cloudes.

5 [c] Exalt thy ſelfe, O God, aboue the heauens, and let thy glory be vpon all the earth.

6 That thy beloued may be deliuered: [d] helpe with thy right hand and heare me.

7 God hath ſpoken in his [e] holineſſe: therefore I will reioyce, I ſhall diuide Shechem and meaſure the valley of Succoth.

8 Gilead ſhalbe mine, and Manaſſeh ſhalbe mine: Ephraim alſo ſhalbe the ſtrength of mine head: Iudah is my lawgiuer.

9 * Moab ſhalbe my waſhpot: ouer Edom will I caſt out my ſhoe: vpon Paleſtina will I triumph.

10 Who will leade me into the ſtrong citie? who will bring me vnto Edome?

11 [f] Wilt not thou, O God, which hadſt forſaken vs, and didſt not goe foorth, O God, with our armies?

12 Giue vs helpe againſt trouble: for vaine is the helpe of man.

13 Through God we ſhall doe valiantly: for he ſhall tread downe our enemies.

a This earneſt affection declareth that hee is free from hypocriſie, and that ſluggiſhneſſe ſtayeth him not. ‖ Or, my glory, becauſe as chiefly ſeeketh foorth the glory of God.

b He propheciеth of the calling of the Gentiles: for except they were called, they could not ſtare the goodneſſe of God.

c Let all the world ſee thy iudgements in that that thou art God ouer all, and ſo confeſſe that thou art glorious.

d When God by his benefits maketh vs partakers of his mercies, he admoniſheth vs to be earneſt in prayer, to deſire him to continue and finiſh his graces.

e As he hath ſpoken to Samuel concerning mee, ſo will he ſhew himſelfe conſtant, and holy in his promiſe, ſo that theſe nations following ſhalbe ſubiect vnto the laſt, ſeeing the PSAL. CIX.

1 Dauid being falſely accuſed by flatterers vnto Saul, prayeth God to helpe him, and to deſtroy his enemies. 8 And vnder them he ſpeaketh of Iudas the traytor vnto Ieſus Chriſt, and of all the like enemies of the children of God: 27 And deſireth ſo to be deliuered, that his enemies may know the worke to be of God. 30 Thus doth he promiſe to giue prayſe vnto God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Pſalme of Dauid.

HOld not thy tongue, O God of my [a] prayſe:

2 For the mouth of the wicked, and the mouth full of deceit are opened vpon mee: they hane ſpoken to me with a lying tongue.

3 They compaſſed me about alſo with words of hatred, and fought againſt me without a cauſe.

4 For my friendſhip they were my aduerſaries, [b] but I gaue my ſelfe to prayer.

5 And they haue rewarded me euill for good, and hatred for my friendſhip.

6 [c] Set thou the wicked ouer him, and let the aduerſary ſtand at his right hand.

7 When he ſhall be iudged, let him be condemned, and let his [d] prayer be turned into ſinne.

8 Let his dayes be few, and let another take his [e] charge.

9 Let his children be fatherleſſe, and his wife a widow.

10 Let his children be vagabonds, and beg and ſeeke bread, comming out [f] of their places deſtroied.

11 Let [f] the extortioner catch all that hee hath, and let the ſtrangers ſpoyle his labour.

12 Let there be none to extend mercy vnto him: neither let there be any to ſhew mercy vpon his fatherleſſe children.

13 Let his poſterity be deſtroyed, and in the generation following, let their name be put out.

14 [g] Let the iniquity of his fathers be had in remembrance with the Lord: and let not the ſinne of his mother be done away.

15 But let them alway be before the Lord, that he may cut off their memoriall from the earth.

a Though all the world condemne me, yet thou wilt approoue mine innocency, and that is a ſufficient prayſe to me.

b To declare that I had no other refuge, but thee, in whom my conſcience was at reſt.

c Whether it were Doeg, or Saul, or ſome familiar friend that hath betrayed him, hee prayeth not of priuate affection, but mooued by Gods Spirit, that God would take vengeance vpon him.

d As to the elect all things turne to their profite: ſo to the reprobate, euen thoſe things that are good, turne to their damnation.

e This was chiefly accompliſhed in Iudas. Acts 1. 20.

f He declareth that the curſe of God lieth vpon the extortioners, who thinking to enrich their children by their vnlawfull gotten goods, are by Gods iuſt iudgement

18 As he cloathed himselfe with cursing like a rayment, so shall it come into his bowels like water, and like oyle into his bones.
19 Let it be vnto him as a garment to couer him, and for a girdle, wherewith hee shall be alwayes girded.
20 Let this be the reward of mine aduersaries k from the Lord, and of them that speake euill against my soule.
21 But thou, O Lord my God, deale with mee according vnto thy l Name: deliuer me, (for thy mercy is good) 22 Because I am poore and needy, and mine heart is wounded within me.
23 I depart like the shadow that declineth, and am shaken off as the m grashopper.
24 My knees are weake through fasting, and my flesh n hath lost all fatnesse.
25 I became also a rebuke vnto them: they that looked vpon me, shaked their heads.
26 Helpe me, O Lord my God: o saue mee according to thy mercie.
27 And they shall knowe that this is thine hand, and that thou, Lord, hast done it.
28 Though p they curse, yet thou wilt blesse: they shall arise, and be confounded, but thy seruant shall reioyce.
29 Let mine aduersaries be cloathed with shame, and let them couer themselues with their confusion as with a cloake.

PSAL. CX.

1 David prophecieth of the power & euerlasting kingdome giuen to Christ: 4 and of his Priesthood, which should put an end to the Priesthood of Leui.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

THe a Lord said vnto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hand, vntill I make thine enemies thy foote stoole.
2 The Lord shall send the rod of thy power out of Zion: be thou ruler in the middes of thine enemies.
3 Thy people shall come willingly at the time of assembling § thine armie in holy beautie: the youth of thy wombe shalbe as the morning dew.
4 The Lord sware, and will not repent, Thou art a Priest for euer, after the order of a Melchi-zedek.
5 The Lord that is at thy right hand, shall wound kings in the day of his wrath.
6 Hee shallbe iudge among the heathen: hee shall fill all with dead bodies, and smite the b head ouer great countries.
7 He shall c drinke of the brooke in the way: therefore shall he lift vp his head.

a Iesus Christ in the two and twentie of Matth. verse 44. giueth the interpretation hereof, and sheweth that this cannot properly be applied vnto Dauid, but to himselfe.
b And thence it shall stretch throw all the world: and this power chiefly standeth in the preaching of his word.
c By the word thy people shall be assembled into thy Church, whose increase shall be so abundant and wonderfull, as the drops of the dew.
d As Melchi-zedek the figure of Christ was both King and Priest: so the effect cannot be accomplished in any king saue onely Christ Heb. 7.
e No power shalbe able to resist him vnder this similitude of a captaine, that is so greedie to destroy his enemies, that he will not feare drinke by the way, he sheweth how God will destroy his enemies.

PSAL. CXI.

1 He giueth thankes to the Lord for his mercifull workes toward his Church, 10 and declareth wherein true wisdome and right knowledge consisteth.

¶ Prayse ye the Lord.

I Will a prayse the Lord with my whole heart in the assembly and congregation of the iust.
2 The works of the Lord are b great, & ought to be fought out of all them that loue them.
3 His worke is beautifull and glorious, and his righteousnesse endureth for euer.
4 Hee hath made his wonderfull workes to be had in remembrance: the Lord is mercifull and full of compassion.
5 He hath giuen § a ‖ portion vnto them that feare him: he will euer be mindfull of his couenat.
6 He hath sheweth to his people the power of his workes, in giuing vnto them the heritage of the heathen.
7 The c workes of his hands are trueth and iudgement: all his statutes are true.
8 They are established for euer and euer, and are done in trueth and equity.
9 Hee sent redemption vnto his people: hee hath commanded his couenant for euer: holy and fearefull is his Name.
10 e The beginning of wisedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue t them, haue good vnderstanding: his prayse endureth for euer.

a The Prophet declareth that he will prayse God both priuately and openly, and that from the heart, as he that consecrateth himselfe wholy and onely vnto God.
b He sheweth that Gods workes are a sufficient cause wherefore wee should prayse him, but chiefly his benefits toward his Church.
c God hath giuen to his people all that was necessarie for them, and will doe till euen for his couenants sake, and in this sense the Ebrew word is taken, Pro. 30. 8. and 31. 15.

PSAL. CXII.

1 He praiseth the felicitie of them that feare God, 10 and condemneth the cursed state of the contemners of God.

¶ Prayse ye the Lord.

BLessed is the man that a feareth the Lord, and delighteth greatly in his commandements.
2 His seed shalbe mighty vpon earth: the generation of the righteous shalbe blessed.
3 b Riches and treasures shalbe in his house, and his righteousnesse endureth for euer.
4 Vnto the c righteous ariseth light in darknes: he is mercifull & full of compassion & righteous.
5 A good man is mercifull, and d lendeth, and will measure his affaires by iudgement.
6 Surely he shall neuer be moued: but the righteous shalbe had in euerlasting remembrance.
7 He will not be afraide of euill tidings: for his heart is fixed, and beleeueth in the Lord.
8 His heart is established: therefore he will not feare, vntill he see his desire vpon his enemies.
9 Hee hath e distributed and giuen to the poore: his righteousnesse remaineth for euer: his f horne shall be exalted with glory.
10 The wicked shall see it, and be angry: hee shall gnash with his teeth, and g consume away: the desire of the wicked shall perish.

a He meaneth that reuerent feare, which is in the children of God, which causeth them to delight onely in the word of God.
b The godly shall haue abundance, and contentment, because their heart is satisfied in God onely.
c The faithfull in all their afflictions, know that all shall goe well with them, for God will be mercifull and iust.
d He sheweth what is the fruite of mercy to lend freely, and not for gaine, and so to measure his doings that he may be able to help where need requireth, and not to bestow all on himselfe. e The godly pinch not nigardly, but distribute liberally as the necessitie of the poore requireth, and as his power is able. f His power and prosperous estate. g The blessings of God vpon his children shall cause the wicked to die for enuie.

PSAL. CXIII.

1 An exhortation to prayse the Lord for his prouidence, 7 in that that contrary to the course of nature hee worketh in his Church.

¶ Prayse ye the Lord.

PRayse, O yee seruants of the Lord, a prayse the Name of the Lord.
2 Blessed be the Name of the Lord from henceforth and for euer.
3 The Lords Name is prayed from the rising of the sunne, vnto the going downe of the same.

a By this often repetition he stirreth vp our cold dulnes to prayse God, seeing his workes are so wonderfull, and that we are created for the same cause.

b If Gods glorie shine thorow all the world, and therefore of all ought to be prayed, what great condemnation were it to his people, among whom chiefly it shineth, if they should not earnestly extoll his Name?

c By preferring the poore to high honor and gining the bargen children, he sheweth that God weigheth not onely in his Church by ordinary meanes, but also by miracles.

4 The Lord is high aboue all b nations, and his glorie aboue the heauens.

5 Who is like vnto the Lord our God, that hath his dwelling on high,

6 Who abaseth himselfe to behold things in the heauens and in the earth?

7 Hee rayseth the needie out of the dust, and lifteth vp the c poore out of the dung.

8 That he may set him with the princes, euen with the princes of his people.

9 He maketh the barren woman to dwell with a family, and a ioyfull mother of children. Prayse ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXIIII.

1 How the Israelites were deliuered from of Egypt, and of the wonderfull miracles that God wrought at that time. Which putteth in remembrance of Gods great mercy toward his Church, who when the course of nature faileth, preserueth his miraculously.

WHen * Israel went out of Egypt, and the house of Iaakob from the a barbarous people,

2 Iudah was his b sanctification, and Israel his dominion.

3 The sea saw it, and fled: Iorden was turned backe.

4 The c mountaines leaped like rammes, and the hils as lambes?

5 What ailed thee. Osea, that thou fleddest? O Iorden, why wast thou turned backe?

6 Ye mountaines why leaped ye like rammes, and yee hils as lambes?

7 The d earth trembled at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the God of Iaakob.

8 Which e turneth the rocke into waterpooles, and the flint into a fountaine of water.

* Exod. 12. 5.

a That is, from them that were of a strange language.

b The whole people were witnesses of his holy maiestie, & adopting them, and of his mightie power in deliuering them.

c Seeing that these dead creatures felt Gods power, and after a sort saw it, much more his people ought to consider it, and glorifie him for the same.

d Ought then his people to be insensible, when they see his power and maiestie?

e That is, caused miraculously water to come out of the rocke in most abundance, Exod. 17. 6.

PSAL. CXV.

1 A prayer of the faithfull oppressed by idolatrous tyrants against whom they desire that God would succour them, 9 trusting most constantly that God will preserue them in this their nede, seeing that hee hath adopted and receiued them into his fauour. 18 Promising finally that they will not be vnmindfull of so great a benefite, if it would please God to heare their prayer, and deliuer them by his omnipotent power.

NOt a vnto vs, O Lord, not vnto vs, but vnto thy Name giue the glorie for thy louing mercie, and for thy truethes sake.

2 Wherefore shall the heathen say, b Where is now their God?

3 But our God is in heauen: he doth whatsoeuer he c will.

4 Their idoles are d siluer and gold, euen the worke of mens hands.

5 They haue a mouth, and speake not: they haue eyes, and see not.

6 They haue eares, and heare not: they haue noses and smell not.

7 They haue e hands, and touch not: they haue feete, and walke not: neither make they a sound with their throat.

8 They that make them are f like vnto them: so are all that trust in them.

9 O Israel, trust thou in the Lord: for hee is their helpe, and their shield.

a Because God promised to deliuer them, not for their sakes, but for his Name, Ita 48. 11. therefore they ground their prayer vpon this promise.

b When the wicked see that God accomplisheth not his promise as they imagine, they thinke there is no God.

c No impediments can let his worke, but he setteth euen the impediments to serue his will.

d Seeing that neither the matter nor the forme can commend the idoles, it followeth that there is nothing why they should be esteemed.

e He sheweth what great vanitie it is to aske helpe of them, which not only haue no helpe in them, but lacke sense and reason. f As much without sense, as blockes and stones.

10 O house of Aaron trust ye in the Lord, for he is their helpe, and their shield.

11 Yee that feare the Lord, trust in the Lord: for he is their helper, and their shield.

12 The Lord hath beene mindfull of vs, he will bleese, hee b will bleese the house of Israel, hee will bleese the house of Aaron.

13 Hee will bleese them that feare the Lord, both small and great.

14 The Lord will increase his graces toward you, euen toward you, and toward your children.

15 Ye are blessed of the Lord, which c made the heauen and the earth.

16 The d heauens, euen the heauens are the Lords: but he hath giuen the earth to the sonnes of men.

17 The dead prayse not the Lord, neither any that e goe downe into the place of silence.

18 But wee will prayse the Lord from henceforth and for euer. Prayse ye the Lord.

g For they were appointed by God as instructers and teachers of faith and religion for others to follow.

b That is, he will continue his graces toward his people.

i And therefore doeth still gouerne and continue all things therein.

k And they declare enough his sufficiencie, so that the world seemeth him nothing, but to shew his fatherly care toward men.

l Though the dead for forth Gods glorie, yet hee meaneth here, that they prayse him not in his Church and Congregation.

PSAL. CXVI.

1 Dauid being in great danger of Saul in the desert of Maon, perceiuing the great vnspeakable loue of God toward him, magnifieth such great mercies, 13 and promiseth that hee will be thankefull for the same.

I a Loue the Lord, because hee hath heard my voyce and my prayers.

2 For he hath inclined his eare vnto me, when I did call vpon him b in my dayes.

3 When the snares of death compassed me, and the griefes of the graue caught me: When I found trouble and sorow.

4 Then I called vpon the name of the Lord, saying, I beseech thee, O Lord, deliuer my soule.

5 The Lord is c mercifull and righteous, and our God is full of compassion.

6 The Lord preserueth the simple: I was in misery, and he saued me.

7 Returne vnto thy rest, O d my soule: for the Lord hath beene beneficiall vnto thee.

8 Because thou hast deliuered my soule from death, mine eyes from teares, and my feete from falling.

9 I shall e walke before the Lord in the land of the liuing.

10 f I beleeued, therefore did I speake: for I was sore troubled.

11 I sayd in my g feare, All men are liars.

12 What shall I render vnto the Lord for all his benefits toward me?

13 I will h take the cup of saluation, and call vpon the Name of the Lord, 14 I will pay my vowes vnto the Lord, euen now in the presence of all his people.

15 Precious in the sight of the Lord is the i death of his Saints.

16 Behold, Lord: for I am thy seruant, I am thy seruant, and the sonne of thine handmaide: thou hast broken my bonds.

17 I will offer to thee a sacrifice of prayse, and will call vpon the Name of the Lord.

18 I will pay my k vowes vnto the Lord, euen now in the presence of all his people.

19 In the courts of the Lords house, euen in the mids of thee, O Ierusalem. Prayse ye the Lord.

a Hee granteth that no pleasure is so great, as to feele Gods helpe in our necessitie, neither that any thing more stirreth vp our loue toward him.

b That is, in conuenient time to seeke helpe, which was when he was in distresse.

c He sheweth forth the fruit of his loue in calling vpon him, confessing him to be iust and mercifull, and to helpe them that are destitutes of aid and counsell.

d Which was vnquieted before, now reit vpon the Lord, for hee hath beene beneficiall towards thee.

e The Lord will preserue me, and saue my life.

f I felt all these things, and therefore was moued by faith to confesse them, 2. Cor. 4. 13.

g In my great distresse I thought God would not regard man, which is but lies and vanitie, yet I ouercame this tentation, and felt the contrarie.

h In the Law they vsed to make a banket when they gaue solemne thankes to God, and to take the cuppe and drinke in signe of thankesgiuing. i I perceiue that God hath a care ouer his, so that he both disposeth their death, and taketh an account. k I will thanke him for his benefits, for that is a iust payment, to confesse that we owe all to God.

PSAL. CXVII.

1 Hee exhorteth the Gentiles to prayse God, because he hath accomplished as well to them as to the Iewes, the promise of life euerlasting by Iesus Christ.

ALl* nations, prayse ye the Lord: all ye people, prayse him.

2 For his louing kindnesse is great toward vs, and the [a] truth of the Lord endureth for euer. Prayse ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXVIII.

1 Dauid reuiled of Saul and of the people, at the time appointed obteined the kingdome. 4 For the which hee bideth all them, that feare the Lord, to be thankefull. And vnder his person in all this was Christ lively set foorth, who should be of his people reuelled.

PRayse [a] ye the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.

2 Let Israel now say, That his mercy endureth for euer.

3 Let the house of Aaron now say, that his mercie endureth for euer.

4 Let them that feare the Lord, now say, That is mercie endureth for euer.

5 I called vpon the Lord in [b] trouble, and the Lord heard me, and set me at large.

6 The Lord is with me: therefore I will not feare what [c] man can doe vnto me.

7 The Lord is with me amõg them that helpe me: therefore shall I see my desire vpõ mine enemies.

8 It is better to trust in the Lord, then to haue confidence [d] in man.

9 It is better to trust in the Lord, then to haue confidence in princes.

10 All nations haue compassed me: but in the Name of the Lord shall I destroy them.

11 They haue compassed mee, yea, they haue compassed mee: but in the Name of the Lord I shall destroy them.

12 They came about me like bees, but they were quenched as a fire of thornes: for in the Name of the Lord I shall destroy them.

13 [e] Thou hast thrust sore at me, that I might fall: but the Lord hath holpen me.

14 The Lord is my strength and [f] song: for he hath beene my deliuerance.

15 The [g] voyce of ioy and deliuerance shalbe in the tabernacles of the righteous, saying, The right hand of the [h] hath done valiantly, 16 The right hand of the Lord is exalted: the right hand of the Lord hath done valiantly.

17 I shall not die, but liue, and declare the workes of the Lord.

18 The Lord had chastened me sore, but hee hath not deliuered me to death.

19 Open ye vnto me the [i] gates of righteousnes, that I may goe into them, & prayse the Lord.

20 This is the gate of the Lord: the righteous shall enter into it.

21 I will prayse thee: for thou hast heard me, and hast beene my deliuerance.

22 * The stone, which the builders [k] refused, is the head of the corner.

23 This was the Lords doing, and it is marueilous in our eyes,

24 This is the [l] day, which the Lord hath made: let vs reioyce and be glad in it.

25 [m] O Lord, I pray thee, saue now; O Lord, I pray thee now giue prosperitie

26 Blessed be he, that commeth in the Name of the Lord; [n] wee haue blessed you out of the house of the Lord

27 The Lord is mightie, and hath giuen vs [o] light; binde the sacrifice with cordes vnto the hornes of the altar.

28 Thou art my God, and I will prayse thee, euen my God: therefore I will exalt thee.

29 Prayse ye the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.

PSAL. CXIX.

1 The Prophet exhorteth the children of God to frame their liues according to his holy word. 123 Also hee sheweth wherein the true seruice of God standeth, that is, when we frame him according to his word, and not after our owne fantasies.

ALEPH.

BLessed are [a] those that are vpright in their way, and walke in the Law of the Lord.

2 Blessed are they that keepe his testimonies, and seeke him with their whole heart.

3 Surely they worke [b] none iniquitie, but walke in his wayes.

4 Thou hast commaunded to keepe thy precepts diligently.

5 [c] Oh that my wayes were directed to keepe thy statutes!

6 Then should I not be confounded, when I haue respect vnto all thy commaundements.

7 I will prayse thee with an vpright [d] heart, when I shall learne the [e] iudgements of thy righteousnesse.

8 I will keepe thy statutes: forsake mee not [f] ouerlong.

BETH.

9 Wherewith shall a [a] yong man redresse his way? in taking heede thereto according to thy word.

10 With my whole heart haue I sought thee: let me not wander from thy commandements.

11 I haue [b] hid thy promise in mine heart, that I might not sinne against thee.

12 Blessed art thou, O Lord: teach me thy statutes.

13 With my lippes haue I declared all the iudgements of thy mouth.

14 I haue had as great [c] delight in the way of thy testimonies, as in all riches.

15 I will meditate in thy precepts, and consider thy wayes.

16 I will delite in thy statutes, and I will not forget thy word.

GIMEL.

17 Be beneficiall vnto thy seruant, that I may [a] liue and keepe thy word.

18 Open mine eyes, that I may see the wonders of thy Law.

19 I am a [b] stranger vpon earth: hide not thy commandements from me.

20 Mine heart breaketh for the desire to thy iudgements alway.

* Rom. 15. 11.

a That is, the most certaine and constant testimonies of his Fatherly graces.

a Because God by creating Dauid King, sheweth his mercie toward his afflicted Church, the Prophet doeth not onely himselfe thanke God, but exhorteth all the people to doe the same.

b Wee are here taught, y the more that troubles oppresse vs, the more ought we to be instant in prayer.

c Being exalted to this estate, he assayed himselfe to haue man euer to be his enemie. Yet he doubted not, but God would minister him, because he had placed him.

d He sheweth that he had trusted in vaine, if he had put his confidence in man, to haue beene preferred to the kingdome, and therefore he put his trust in God and obteined.

e He noteth Saul his chiefe enemie.

f In that, he was deliuered, it came not of himselfe, nor of the power of man, but onely of Gods fauour, therefore he will prayse him.

g He promiseth both to render graces himselfe, and to cause others to doe the same, because that in his person the Church was restored h So that all, that are both faint and meere, may see his mightie power.

i He willeth the doores of the Tabernacle to be opened, that he may declare his thankfull minde.

* Isa. 28. 16.

matt. 21. 42. Acts 4. 11. roman 9. 33. 1. peter 2. 6. 7.

k Though Saul and the chiefe powers refused me to be King, yet God hath preferred me aboue them all.

l Wherein God hath sheweth chiefly his mercie, by appointing me King, and deliuering his Church.

m The people pray for the prosperitie of Dauids kingdome, who was the figure of Christ.

n Which are the Priests, and haue the charge thereof, as Num. 6. 23.

o Because he hath reuiued vs from darkenesse to light, we will offer sacrifices and prayses vnto him.

a Heere they are not called blessed, which thinke themselues wise in their owne iudgement, nor which imagine to themselues a certaine holinesse, but they whose conuersation is without hypocrisie b For they are ruled by Gods Spirite and imbrace no doctrine but his.

c Dauid acknowledgeth his imperfection, desiring God to reforme it, that his life may be conformable to Gods word.

d For true religion standeth in seruing God without hypocrisie.

e That is, thy precepts, which containe perfite righteousnesse.

f He refuseth not to be tryed by tentations, but he seeketh to faint, if God succour not his infirmitie in time.

a Because youth is most giuen to licentiousnesse, he chiefly warneth them to frame their liues betime to Gods word.

b If Gods word be grauen in our hearts, we shall be more able to resist the assaults of Satan: and therefore the Prophet desireth God to instruct him dayly more and more therein.

c The Prophet doeth not boast of his vertues, but setteth foorth an vanities.

a Hee sheweth that we ought not to desire to liue but to serue God, and that we can not serue him aright, except he open our eyes and mindes.

b Seeing many life in this world is but a passage, what should become of him if thy word were not his guide?

c In all ages thou hast plagued all such which maliciously and constemptuously departe from thy trueth.
d When the powers of the world gaue false sentence against mee, thy word was a guide and counseller to teach me what to doe, and to comfort mee.

21 Thou c hast destroyed the proud: cursed are they that doe erre from thy commandements.
22 Remoue from me shame and contempt: for I haue kept thy testimonies.
23 d Princes also did sit, and speake against mee: but thy seruant did meditate in thy statutes.
24 Also thy testimonies are my delite, and my counsellers.

DALETH.

a That is, it is almost brought to the graue, and without thy Word I cannot liue.
b I haue confessed mine offences, and now depend wholy on thee.
c If God did not maintaine vs by his word, our life would drop away like water.
d Instruct me in thy word, whereby my minde may be purged from vanity, and taught to obey thy will.
e By this hee sheweth that wee can neither chuse good, cleaue to Gods word, nor runne forward in his way, except hee make our hearts large to receiue grace, and willing to obey.

25 My soule cleaueth to the a dust: quicken me according to thy word.
26 I haue b declared my wayes, and thou heardest me: teach me thy statutes.
27 Make me to vnderstand the way of thy precepts, and I will meditate in thy wondrous works.
28 My soule melteth for heauinesse: raise mee vp according to thy c word.
29 Take from me the d way of lying, and grant me graciously thy Law.
30 I haue chosen the way of trueth, and thy iudgements haue I layd before me.
31 I haue cleaued to thy testimonies, O Lord: confound me not.
32 I will runne the way of thy commandements, when thou e shalt inlarge mine heart.

HE.

a He sheweth that he cannot follow on to the end, except God teach him oft times, and leade him forward.
b Not onely in outward confession, but also with inward affection.
c Hereby meaning all other vices, because that couetousnes is the root of all euill.
d Meaning all his senses.
e Let me not fall to thy dishonour, but let mine heart still delite in thy gracious word.

33 Teach a me, O Lord, the way of thy statutes, and I will keepe it vnto the end.
34 Giue me vnderstanding and I will keepe thy Law, yea, I will keepe it with my whole b heart.
35 Direct mee in the path of thy commandements: for therein is my delite.
36 Incline mine heart vnto thy testimonies: and not to c couetousnes.
37 Turne away mine d eyes from regarding vanity, and quicken me in thy way.
38 Stablish thy promise to thy seruant, because he feareth thee.
39 Take away e my rebuke that I feare: for thy iudgements are good.
40 Behold, I desire thy commandements: f quicken me in thy righteousnesse.

f Giue me strength to continue in thy word euen to the end.

VAV.

a He sheweth that Gods mercy and loue is the first cause of our saluation.
b By trusting in Gods word hee assureth himselfe to be able to confute the slanders of his aduersaries.
c They that simply walke after Gods word, haue no lets to intangle them, whereas they that doe contrary, are euer in nettes and snares.
d Hee sheweth that the children of God ought not to suffer their Fathers glory to be obscured by the vaine pompe of princes.

41 And let thy louing a kindnesse come vnto mee, O Lord, and thy saluation according to thy promise.
42 So shall I b make answere vnto my blasphemers: for I trust in thy word.
43 And take not the worde of trueth vtterly out of my mouth: for I waite for thy iudgements.
44 So shall I alway keepe thy Law for euer and euer.
45 And I will c walke at libertie: for I seeke thy precepts.
46 I will speake also of thy testimonies before d Kings, and will not be ashamed.
47 And my delite shall be in thy Commandements, which I haue loued.
48 Mine handes also will I lift vp vnto thy Commandements, which I haue loued, and I will meditate in thy statutes.

ZAIN.

a Though hee feele Gods hand still to lie vpon him, yet he resteth on his promise, and comforteth himselfe therein.
b Meaning, the word, which containe Gods word, and treade his Religion vnder foote.
c That is, the examples, whereby thou declarest thy selfe to be iudge of the world.
d That is, a vehement zeale to thy glory and indignation forowfull exile.

49 Remember a the promise made to thy seruant; wherein thou hast caused me to trust.
50 It is my comfort in my trouble; for thy promise hath quickened me.
51 The b proud haue had me exceedingly in dirision: yet haue I not declined from thy Law.
52 I remembred thy c iudgements of olde, O Lord, and haue bene comforted.
53 d Feare is come vpon mee for the wicked, that forsake thy Law.
54 Thy statutes haue beene my songs in the house of my e pilgrimage.
55 I haue remembred thy Name, O Lord, in the f night, and haue kept thy Law.
56 g This I had because I kept thy precepts.

e In the course of this life f Euen when other sleepe, g That is, all these benefits.

CHETH.

a I am perswaded that to keepe thy Law is an heritage and great gaine for me.
b He sheweth that none can imbrace the word of God, except he confider his owne imperfections and wayes.
c They haue gone about to draw me into their company.
d Not onely in mutuall consent, but also with aide and succour.
e For the knowledge of Gods word is a singular token of his fauour.

57 O Lord, that art my a portion, I haue determined to keepe thy words.
58 I made my supplication in thy presence with my whole heart: be mercifull vnto mee according to thy promise.
59 I haue considered my b wayes, and turned my feet into thy testimonies.
60 I made haste and delayed not to keepe thy commandements.
61 The bands of the wicked haue c robbed me: but I haue not forgotten thy Law.
62 At midnight will I rise to giue thanks vnto thee, because of thy righteous iudgements.
63 I am d companion of all them that feare thee, and keepe thy precepts.
64 The earth, O Lord, is full of thy mercy: e teach me thy statutes.

TETH.

a Hauing prooued by experience that God was true in his promise, hee desireth that he would increase in him knouledge and iudgement.
b So Ieremie saith, that before the Lord touched him, he was like a calfe vntamed: so that the vse of Gods rods, is to call vs home to God.

67 Before I was b afflicted, I went astray: but now I keepe thy word.
68 Thou art good and gracious: teach mee thy statutes.
69 The proud haue imagined a lie against me: but I will keep thy precepts with my whole heart.
70 c Their heart is fat as grease; but my delight is in thy Law.
71 It is d good for me that I haue bene afflicted, that I may learne thy statutes.

b When God sheweth his grace toward any, he testifieth to others, that he falleth not them that trust in him.
† Ebr. in trueth.

73 Thine hands haue a made mee and fashioned me: giue mee vnderstanding therefore, that I may learne thy commandements.
74 So they that b feare thee, seeing mee, shall reioyce, because I haue trusted in thy word.
75 I know, O Lord, that thy iudgements are right, and that thou hast afflicted me † iustly.
76 I pray thee that thy mercie may comfort me, according to thy promise vnto thy seruant.

dealt wickedly and falsly with me: but I meditate in thy precepts.

79 Let such as feare thee [d] turne vnto me, and they that [e] know thy testimonies.

80 Let mine heart be vpright in thy statutes, that I be not ashamed.

C A P H.

81 My soule [a] fainteth for thy salvation; yet I wait for thy word.

82 Myne eyes fayle for thy promise, saying, When wilt thou comfort me?

83 For I am like a [b] bottle in the smoke; yet doe I not forget thy statutes.

84 How many are the [c] dayes of thy servant? When wilt thou execute iudgement on them that persecute me?

85 The proud haue [d] digged pits for me, which is not after thy Law.

86 All thy commandements are true: they persecute me falsly: [e] helpe me.

87 They had almost consumed [f] me vpon the earth: but I forsooke not thy precepts.

88 Quicken me according to thy louing kindnes: so shall I keepe the testimony of thy mouth.

L A M E D.

89 O Lord, thy word endureth for euer in [a] heauen.

90 Thy trueth is from generation to generation: thou hast layed the foundation of the earth, and it abideth.

91 They [b] continue euen to this day by thine ordinances: for all are thy seruants.

92 Except thy law had bin my delite, I should now haue perished in mine affliction.

93 I will neuer forget thy precepts, for by them thou hast quickened me.

94 I am [b] thine, saue me: for I haue sought thy precepts.

95 The wicked haue waited for me to destroy me: but I will consider thy testimonies.

96 I [d] haue seene an end of all perfection: but thy commandement is exceeding large.

M E N.

97 Oh how loue I thy law! it is my meditation [a] continually.

98 By thy commandements thou hast made me wiser then mine enemies: for they are euer [b] with me.

99 I haue had more [b] vnderstanding then all my teachers: for thy testimonies are my meditation.

100 I vnderstood more then the ancient, because I kept thy precepts.

101 I haue refrained my feete from euery euill way, that I might keepe thy word.

102 I haue not declined from thy iudgements: for [c] thou diddest teach me.

103 How sweete are thy promises vnto my mouth, yea, more then hony vnto my mouth.

104 By thy precepts I haue gotten vnderstanding: therefore I hate all the ways of falshood.

N V N.

105 Thy word is a [a] lanterne vnto my feete, and a light vnto my paths.

106 I haue [b] sworne and will performe it, that I will keepe thy righteous iudgements.

107 I am very sore afflicted: O Lord, quicken me according to thy word.

108 O Lord, I beseech thee, accept the [c] free offerings of my mouth, and teach me thy iudgements.

109 My [d] soule is continually in mine hand: yet doe I not forget thy law.

110 The wicked haue laid a snare for me: but I swarued not from thy precepts.

111 Thy testimonies haue I taken as an [e] heritage for euer: for they are the ioy of mine heart.

112 I haue applyed mine heart to fulfill thy statutes alway, euen vnto the end.

S A M E C H.

113 I hate [a] vaine inuentions: but thy Law doe I loue.

114 Thou art my refuge and shield, and I trust in thy word.

115 [b] Away from mee, yee wicked: for I will keepe the commandements of my God.

116 Stablish me according to thy promise, that I may liue, and disappoint me not of mine hope.

117 [c] Stay thou me, and I shalbe safe, and I will delight continually in thy statutes.

118 Thou hast troden down all them that depart from thy statutes: for their [d] deceit is vaine.

119 Thou hast taken away all the wicked of the earth like [e] drosse: therefore I loue thy testimonies.

120 My flesh [f] trembleth for feare of thee, and I am afraid of thy iudgements.

A I N.

121 I haue executed iudgement and iustice: leaue me not to mine oppressour.

122 [a] Answere for thy seruant in that which is good, and let not the proud oppresse me.

123 Mine eyes haue fayled in wayting for thy saluation, and for thy iust promise.

124 Deale with thy [b] seruant according to thy mercy, and teach me thy statutes.

125 I am thy seruant: grant mee therefore vnderstanding, that I may know thy testimonies.

126 It is [c] time for thee, Lord, to worke: for they haue destroyed thy Law.

127 Therefore loue I thy commandements aboue gold, yea, aboue most fine gold.

128 Therefore I esteemed all thy precepts most iust, and hate all false [d] wayes.

P E.

129 Thy testimonies are [a] wonderfull: therefore doth my soule keep them.

130 The entrance into thy [b] wordes sheweth light, and giueth vnderstanding to the simple 131 I opened my mouth, and [c] panted, because I loued thy commandements.

132 Looke vpon mee and be mercifull vnto me, as thou vsest to doe vnto those that loue thy Name.

133 Direct my steps in thy word, and let none iniquity haue dominion ouer me.

134 Deliuer me from the oppression of men, and I will keepe thy precepts.

135 Shew the light of thy countenance vpon thy seruant, and teach me thy statutes.

a That is, be comforted by mine example.
e He sheweth that there can be no true feare of God without the knowledge of his word.

a Though my strength faile me, yet my soule groneth and tigheth, resting still in thy word.
b Like a skinbottle or bladder y is parched in the smoke.
c How long wilt thou afflict thy seruant?
d They haue not onely oppressed me violently, but also craftily conspired against me.
e He assureth himselfe, that God will deliuer his and destroy such as vniustly persecute them. f Finding no helpe in earth, he lifteth vp his eyes to heauen.

a Because none should esteeme Gods word according to the changes of things in this world, he sheweth that it abideth in heauen, and therefore is immutable.
b Seeing the earth and all creatures remaine in that estate wherein thou hast created them, much more thy trueth remaineth constant and vnchangeable.
c He prooueth by effect, that he is God: child, because he seeketh to vnderstand his word. d There is nothing so perfect in earth, but it hath an end, onely Gods word lasteth for euer.

a He sheweth that we cannot loue Gods word, except we exercise our selues therein and practise it.
b Whosoeuer doeth submit himselfe only to Gods word, shall not only be safe against the practises of his enemies, but also learne more wisdome then they that professe it, and and are men of experience.
c So then of our selues we can doe nothing: but when God doth inwardly instruct vs with his spirit, we feele his graces sweeter then hony.

a Of our selues we are but darkenesse and cannot see, except we be lightened with Gods word. b So all the faithfull ought to bind themselues to God by a solemne oath and promise, to stirre vp their zeale to embrace Gods word.

c That is, my prayers and thanksgiuing which sacrifice Hosea calleth the calues of the lips, Chap. 14. verse. 3. d That is, I am in continuall danger of my life.
e I esteemed no worldly things, but made thy word mine inheritance.

a Whosoeuer will embrace Gods word a right, must abhorre all fantasies and imaginations both of himselfe and others.
b And hinder me not to keepe the Law of the Lord.
c He desireth Gods continuall assistance, least hee should faint in this race, which he had begun.
d The craftie practises of them that contemne thy Law, shall be brought to nought.
e Thy iudgements doing mine own weake a Put thy selfe betweene mine enemies and me, as if thou were my pledge.

b He boasteth not that he is Gods seruant, but heereby putteth God in mind that as he made him his by his grace, so hee would continue his fauour toward him.
c The Prophet sheweth that when the wicked haue brought all things to a desperate point, God is time to helpe and succour.

a Containing hie and secret mysteries, so that I am moued with admiration and reuerence.
b The simple ideots that submit themselues to God, haue their eyes opened and their minds illuminated, so soone as they begin to read Gods word.
c My zeale toward thy word was so great.

d He sheweth what ought to be y zeale of Gods children, when they see his word contemned.

e We cannot confesse God to be righteous, except we liue uprightly and truely, as he hath commanded. Psal. 69. 9. iohn. 2. 17.
f Gold hath need to be fined, but thy word is perfection in itselfe.
g This is the true triall, to praise God in aduersity.
h So that the life is vain, without the knowledge of God, is death.

i He sheweth that all his affections and whole heart were bent to Godward for to haue helpe in his dangers.
k He was more earnest in the study of Gods word, when they that kept the watch were in their charge.
‖ Or, custome.
l He sheweth the nature of the wicked to be to persecute againſt their conſcience.
m His faith is grounded vpon Gods word, that he would euer beare hand when his children be oppressed.

n For without Gods promise there is no hope of deliuerance.
o According to thy promise made in the law, wh ch, because the wicked locke, they can haue no hope of saluation.
p My zeale consumed me, when I saw their malice and contempt of thy glory.
q It is a sure signe of vnfeined zeale, when we loue the Law of God.
r Since thou hast promised it, euen to the end all thy sayings are true.

a The threatnings and persecutions of princes could not cause me to shrinke to confesse thee whom I more feare then men.
b That is, often, and sundry times.
c For their conſcience asſureth them, that they please thee, whereas they, that loue not thee, haue the contrary.

136 Mine eyes gushed out with riuers of water, because they keepe not thy Law.

T S A D D I.

137 Righteous art thou, O Lord, and iust are thy iudgements.
138 Thou hast commanded a iustice by thy testimonies and trueth especially.
139 *My zeale hath euen consumed mee; because mine enemies haue forgotten thy words.
140 Thy word is proued b most pure, and thy seruant loueth it.
141 I am c small and despised: yet doe I not forget thy precepts.
142 Thy righteousnes is an euerlasting righteousnes, and thy Law is trueth.
143 Trouble and anguish are come vpon me: yet are thy commandements my delight.
144 The righteousnesse of thy testimonies is euerlasting: grant me vnderstanding, and I shall liue.

K O P H.

145 I haue a cried with my whole heart: heare me, O Lord, and I will keepe thy statutes 146 I called vpon thee; saue me, and I will keepe thy testimonies.
147 I preuented the morning light, and cried: for I waited on thy word.
148 Mine eyes b preuent the night watches, to meditate in thy word.
149 Heare my voyce according to thy louing kindnesse: O Lord, quicken me according to thy ‖ iudgement.
150 They draw neere that follow after c malice, and are farre from thy law.
151 Thou art neere, O Lord: for all thy commandements are true.
152 I haue knowen long since d by thy testimonies, that thou hast established them for euer.

R E S H.

153 Behold mine affliction, and deliuer me: for I haue not forgotten thy law.
154 Pleade my cause, and deliuer me; quicken me according vnto thy word.
155 Saluation is farre from the wicked, because they seeke not thy statutes.
156 Great art thy tender mercies, O Lord: quicken me according to thy b iudgements.
157 My persecutors an mine oppressours are many: yet doe I not swarue from thy testimonies.
158 I saw the transgressors and was c grieued, because they kept not thy word.
159 Consider, O Lord, how I d loue thy precepts: quicken me according to thy louing kindnesse.
160 The e beginning of thy word is trueth, and all the iudgements of thy righteousnes indure for euer.

S C H I N.

161 Princes haue a persecuted mee without cause: but mine heart stood in awe of thy words.
162 I reioyce at thy word, as one that findeth a great spoyle.
163 I hate falshood and abhorre it, but thy Law doe I loue.
164 b Seuen times a day doe I praise thee, because of thy righteous iudgements.
165 They that c loue thy law, shall haue great prosperity, and they shall haue none hurt.
166 Lord, I haue a trusted in thy saluation, and haue done thy commandements.
167 My soule hath kept thy testimonies: for I loue them exceedingly.
168 I haue kept thy precepts and thy testimonies: c for all my wayes are before thee.

T A V.

169 Let my complaint come before thee, O Lord, and giue me vnderstanding a according vnto thy word.
170 Let my supplication come before thee, and deliuer me according to thy promise.
171 My lips shall b speake prayse, when thou hast c taught me thy statutes.
172 My tongue shall intreate of thy word: for all thy commandements are righteous.
173 Let thine hand helpe me: for I haue chosen thy precepts.
174 I haue longed for thy saluation, O Lord, and thy Law is my delight.
175 Let my soule liue, and it shall prayse thee, and thy d iudgements shall helpe me.
176 I haue e gone astray like a lost sheepe: seeke thy seruant, for I doe not forget thy commandements.

d He sheweth that we must first haue faith before we can worke and please God.
e I had no respect of men, but set thee alwayes before mine eyes, as the iudge of my doings.

a As thou hast promised to be the schoolmaster vnto all them that depend vpon thee.
b The word signifieth to powre forth continually.
c All his prayer and desire is to profit in the word of God.

d That is, thy prouidence care ouer me, and wherewith thou wilt iudge mine enemies.
e Being chased to and fro by mine enemies, and hauing no place to rest in.

3 Haue mercie vpon vs, O Lord, haue mercie vpon vs: for wee haue b suffered too much contempt

4 Our soule is filled too full of the mocking of the wealthy, and of the despitefulnesse of ỹ proud.

a He compareth the condition of the godly, to seruants that are destitute of all helpe, affiaring that when all other helpes faile, God is euer at hand and like himselfe.
b He declareth that when the faithfull are so full, that they can no more endure the oppressions and scornings of the wicked, there is alway helpe aboue, if with hungly desires they call for it.

PSAL. CXXV.

4 Doe well, O Lord, vnto those that be good and true in their hearts.

5 c But these that turne aside by their crooked wayes, them shall the Lord leade with the workers of iniquitie: but peace shalbe vpon Israel.

a Though the world be subiect to mutations, yet the people of God shall stand sure, and be defended by Gods prouidence.
b Though God suffer his to be vnder the rode least they should embrace wickednes, yet this rode shall not rest vpon them, that it should driue them from hope.

PSAL. CXXVI.

1 This Psalme was made after the returne of the people from Babylon, & sheweth that the meane of their deliuerance was wonderfull after the seuentie yeeres of captiuitie forespoken by Ieremie, Chap. 25. 12. and 29. 10.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalme of Dauid.

WHen the Lord brought againe the captiuitie of Zion, wee were like them that a dreame.

3 The Lord hath done great things for vs, whereof we reioyce,

4 O Lord, bring againe our captiuitie, as the d riuers in the South.

5 They that sowe in teares, shall reape in ioy.

6 They went weeping, and caried e precious seede: but they shall returne with ioy, and bring their sheaues.

a Their deliuerance was as a thing incredible, and therefore tooke away all excuse of ingratitude.
b He sheweth how the godly ought to reioyce when God gathereth his Church or deliuereth it.
c If the infidels confesse Gods wonderfull worke, the faithfull can neuer shew themselues sufficiently thankefull.
d It is no more impossible to God to deliuer his people, then to cause the riuers to runne in the Wildernesse and barren places.

PSAL. CXXVIII.

1 He sheweth that blessednesse appertaineth not to all vniuersally, but to them onely that feare the Lord, and walke in his wayes.

¶ A song of degrees.

BLessed is euery one that feareth the Lord, and walketh in his [a] wayes.

2 When thou eatest the labours of thine [b] hands, thou shalt be blessed, and it shalbe well with thee.

3 Thy wife shalbe as the fruitfull vine on the sides of thine house, and thy [c] children like the oliue plants round about thy table.

4 Lo, surely thus shall the man be blessed, that feareth the Lord.

5 The Lord out of Zion shall d blesse thee, and thou shalt see the wealth of [e] Ierusalem all the dayes of thy life.

6 Yea, thou shalt see thy childrens children, and peace vpon Israel.

[a] God approueth not our life, except it be reformed according to his word.
[b] The world esteemeth them happy, which liue in wealth and idlenesse: but the holy Ghost approueth them best that liue of the meane profite of their labours.
[c] Because Gods fauour appeareth in none outward thing, more then in increase of children, he promiseth to enrich the faithfull with this gift. d Because of the spirituall blessing which God hath made to his Church, these temporall things shall be graunted. e For except God blessed his Church publikely, this priuate blessing were nothing.

PSAL. CXXIX.

1 He admonisheth the Church to reioyce though it be afflicted. 4 For by the righteous Lord it shall be deliuered. 6 And the enemies for all their glorious shew, shall suddenly be destroyed.

¶ A song of degrees.

THey haue oftentimes afflicted mee from my youth (may a Israel now say.)

2 They haue oftentimes afflicted me from my youth: but they could not preuaile against me.

3 The plowers plowed vpon my backe, and made long furrowes.

4 But the [b] righteous Lord hath cut the cords of the wicked.

5 They that hate Zion, shall be all ashamed and turned backward.

6 [c] They shallbe as the grasse on the house tops, which withereth afore it commeth forth.

7 Whereof the mower filleth not his hand, neither the glainer his lap:

8 [d] Neither they which goe by, say, The blessing of the Lord be vpon you, or, We blesse you in the Name of the Lord.

[a] The Church now afflicted, ought to remember how her condition hath euer beene such from the beginning to be molested most grieuously by the wicked: yet in time it hath euer beene deliuered.
[b] Because God is righteous, he cannot but plague his aduersaries, and deliuer his, as oxen out of the plough.
[c] The enemies that lift them selues most high, and as it were approach neere to the Sunne, are consumed with the heat of Gods wrath, because they are not grounded in godly humilitie. d That is, the wicked shall perish, and none shall passe for them.

PSAL. CXXX.

1 The people of God from their bottomlesse miseries doe cry vnto God, and are heard. 3 They confesse their sinnes, and flee vnto Gods mercies.

¶ A song of degrees.

OVt of the [a] deepe places haue I called vnto thee, O Lord.

2 Lord, heare my voyce: let thine eares attend to the voyce of my prayers.

3 If thou, O Lord, straightly markest iniquities, O Lord, [b] who shall stand?

4 But mercie is with thee, that thou [c] mayest be feared.

5 I haue waited on the Lord: my soule hath waited, and I haue trusted in his word.

6 My soule waiteth on the Lord more then the morning watch watcheth for the morning.

7 Let Israel waite on the Lord: for with the Lord is [d] mercie, and with him is great redemption.

8 And hee shall redeeme Israel from all his iniquities.

[a] Being in great distresse and sorow.
[b] He declareth that we cannot be iust before God, but by forgiuenesse of sinnes.
[c] Because of nature thou art mercifull: therefore the faithfull reuerence thee.
[d] He sheweth to whom the mercy of God doth appertaine: to Israel, that is, to the Church and not to the reprobate.

PSAL. CXXXI.

1 Dauid charged with ambition and greedie desire to reigne, protesteth his humilitie and modestie before God, and teacheth all men what they should doe.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalme of Dauid.

LOrd, a mine heart is not haughtie, neither are mine eyes lofty, neither haue I walked in great [b] matters and hid from me.

2 Surely I haue behaued my selfe, like one wained from his mother, and kept silence: I am in my selfe as one that is [c] wained.

3 Let Israel waite on the Lord from henceforth and for euer.

[a] He setteth forth his great humility, as an example to all rulers and gouernours.
[b] Which passe the measure and limits of his vocation.
[c] He was void of am bition and wicked desires.

PSAL. CXXXII.

1 The faithfull grounding on Gods promise made vnto Dauid, desire that he would establish the same, both as touching his posterite, and the building of the Temple, to pray there as was forespoken, Deut. 12, 5.

¶ A song of degrees.

LOrd, remember Dauid with all his [a] affliction:

2 Who sware vnto the Lord, and vowed vnto the mightie God of Iaakob, saying,

3 I [b] will not enter into the Tabernacle of mine house, nor come vpon my pallet or bed.

4 Nor suffer mine eyes to sleepe, nor mine eye lids to slumber.

5 Vntill I finde out a place for the [c] Lord, an habitation for the mightie God of Iaakob.

6 Lo, we heard of it in [d] Ephrathah, and found it in the fields of the forrest.

7 Wee will enter into his Tabernacles, and worship before his footstole.

8 Arise, O Lord, to come into thy [e] rest, thou, and the Arke of thy strength.

9 Let thy Priests be cloathed with [f] righteousnesse, and let thy Saints reioyce.

10 For thy [g] seruant Dauids sake refuse not the face of thine Anoynted.

11 The Lord hath sworne in trueth vnto Dauid, and he will not shrinke from it, saying, Of the fruit of thy body will I set vpon thy throne.

12 If thy sonnes keepe my Couenant, and my testimonies, that I shall teach them, their sonnes also shall sit vpon thy throne for [h] euer.

13 For the Lord hath chosen Zion, and loued to dwell in it, saying, 14 This is my rest for euer; here will I dwell, for I haue a [i] delight therein.

15 I will surely blesse her vitailes, and will satisfie her poore with bread.

16 And will cloath her Priests with [k] saluation, and her Saints shall shout for ioy.

17 There will I make the [l] horne of Dauid to bud: for I haue ordeined a light for mine Anoynted.

18 His enemies will I cloath with shame, but on him his crowne shall florish.

[a] That is, with how great difficultie he came to the kingdom, and with how great zeale and care he went about to build thy Temple.
[b] Because the chiefe charge of the king was to set foorth Gods glory, he sheweth that he could take no rest, neither would goe about any worldly thing, were it neuer so necessarie, before he had executed his office.
[c] That is, the Arke: which was a signe of Gods presence.
[d] The common brute was that the Arke should remaine in Ephrathah, that is, in Bethlehem a plesantfull place: but after we perceiued that thou wouldest place it in Ierusalem, which was barren as a forrest, and compassed about onely with hilles.
[e] That is, Ierusalem, because that afterward his Arke should remooue to none other place.
[f] Let the effect of thy grace both appeare in the Priests and in the people.
[g] As thou first madest promise to Dauid, so continue it to his posterite, that whatsoeuer they shall aske for their people, it may be granted. [h] Because this cannot be accomplished but in Christ, it followeth that the promise was spirituall. [i] Meaning, for his owne sake, and not for the plentifulnesse of the place for he promiseth to blesse it, declaring before that it was barren. [k] That is, with whereby they shalbe safe. [l] Though his force for a time seemed to be broken, yet he promiseth to restore it.

PSAL. CXXXIII.

1 This Psalme contemneth the commendation of brotherly amitie among the seruants of God.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalme of Dauid.

BEhold, how good and how comely a thing it is, brethren to dwell euen [a] together.

[a] Because the greatest part were against Dauid, though some fauoured him, yet when hee was established king at length, they ioyned altogether like brethren: and therefore he sheweth by these similitudes the commoditie of brotherly loue.

g By shewing what punishment God appointeth for the heathen idolaters, hee warneth his people to beware the like offences, seeing that idoles haue neither power nor life, and that their deliuerance came not by idole, but by the mighty power of God. Reade Psal. 115, verse 4.

PSAL. CXXXVI.

1 A most earnest exhortation to giue thankes vnto God for the creation & gouernance of all things, which standeth in confessing that he giueth vs all of his meere liberalitie.

PRayse ye the Lord, because he is good: for his a mercy endureth for euer.
2 Prayse yee the God of gods: for his mercie endureth for euer.
3 Prayse yee the Lord of lords: for his mercie endureth for euer.
4 Which onely doeth great wonders; for his mercie endureth for euer.
5 Which by his wisedome made the heauens, for his mercie endureth for euer.
6 Which hath stretched out the earth vpon the waters: for his b mercie endureth for euer.
7 Which made great lights: for his mercy endureth for euer.
8 As the sunne to rule the day; for his mercy endureth for euer.
9 The Moone and the starres to gouerne the night: for his mercy endureth for euer:
10 Which smote Egypt with their first borne, (for his mercy endureth for euer.)
11 And c brought out Israel from among them; for his mercie endureth for euer.
12 With a mighty hand and d stretched out arme; for his mercie endureth for euer:
13 Which diuideth the Sea into two parts; for his mercie endureth for euer.
14 And made Israel to passe through the mids of it; for his mercie endureth for euer:
15 And ouerthrew Pharaoh and his hoaste in the red Sea; for his mercie endureth for euer:
16 Which led his people thorow the e wildernes; for his mercie endureth for euer:
17 Which smote great Kings: for his mercie endureth for euer.
18 And slew f mighty Kings: for his mercie endureth for euer:
19 As Sihon king of the Amorities: for his mercy endureth for euer:
20 And Og the king of Bashan: for his mercy endureth for euer:
21 And gaue their land for an heritage; for his mercy endureth for euer:
22 Euen an heritage vnto Israel his seruant, for his mercy endureth for euer:
23 Which remembred vs in our g base estate; for his mercy endureth for euer:
24 And hath rescued vs from our oppressours; for his mercy endureth for euer:
25 Which giueth food to all h flesh; for his mercy endureth for euer:
26 i Prayse ye the God of heauen; for his mercie endureth for euer.

a By this repetition he sheweth that the least of Gods benefits binde vs to thankesgiuing: but chiefly his mercy, which is principally declared towards his Church.
b This was a common kinde of thankesgiuing, which the whole people vsed, when they had received any benefit of God, as 2 Chron. 7. 6 and 20. 21. meaning, that God was not onely mercifull to their fathers, but also continued the same to their posterity.
c Gods mercifull prouidence toward man appeareth in all his creatures, but chiefly in that that he deliuered his Church from the thraldome of their enemies.
d In doings such a worke as was neuer done before, nor that any other could doe.
e Where for the space of fourty yeares he sheweth infinite and most strange wonders.
f Declaring thereby that no power nor authority was to deare vnto him, as the loue of his Church.
g In our greatest affliction and slauery, when we looked for nothing lesse then to haue had any succour.
h Seeing that God prouideth euen for the beasts, much more hath he care ouer his.
i Seeing that all ages haue had most plaine testimonies of Gods benefits.

PSAL. CXXXVII.

1 The people of God in their banishment seeing Gods true Religion decay, lined in great anguish & sorow of heart: the which griefe the Caldeans did so litle pitie. 3 That they rather encreased the same dayly with taunts, vsing prouches and blasphemies against God. 7 Wherefore the Israelites desire God, first to punish the Edomites, who prouoked the Babylonians against them. 8 And moued by the Spirit of God, prophecie the destruction of Babylon, where they were handled so tyrannously.

BY the riuers of Babel we a sate, and there wee wept, when we remembred Zion.

c The Babylonians spake thus in mocking vs, as though by our sidence we should signifie that we hoped no more in God.
d Albeit the faithfull are touched with their particular griefes, yet the common sorrow of the Church is most grieuous vnto them, and is such as they cannot but remember and lament.
e The decay of Gods religion in their countrey

PSAL. CXXXVIII.

1. Dauid with great courage praiseth the goodnesse of God toward him, the which is great. 4. That it is known to forein princes, who shall praise the Lord together with him. 6. And hee is ashamed to haue the like comfort of God in the time following, as he had heretofore.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

I Will praise thee with my whole heart: euen before the a gods will I praise thee.

2 I will worship toward thine holy b Temple and praise thy Name, because of thy louing kindnesse and for thy trueth: for thou hast magnified thy Name aboue all things by thy word.

3 When I called, then thou heardest me, and hadst increased strength in my soule.

4 All the c kings of the earth shall praise thee, O Lord: for they haue heard the wordes of thy mouth.

5 And they shall sing of the wayes of the Lord, because the glory of the Lord is great.

6 For the Lord is high, yet he beholdeth the lowly, but the proud he knoweth d afarre off.

7 Though I walke in the middes of trouble, yet wilt thou reuiue me: thou wilt stretch foorth thine hand vpon the wrath of mine enemies, and thy right hand shall saue me.

8 The Lord will f performe his worke toward mee: O Lord, thy mercy endureth for euer: forsake not the works of thine hands.

a Euen in the presence of Angels and of them that haue authority among men.
b By the Temple and ceremoniall seruice at Corith commming were abolished: so that now God will be worshipped only in spirit and trueth, Iohn 4. 23.
c Thou hast strengthened me against mine outward and inward enemies.
d All the world shall confesse that thou hast wonderfully preserued me, and performed thy promise.
e Distance of place cannot hinder God to shew mercy to his, and to iudge the wicked: though they thinke that he is farre off.
f Though mine enemies rage neuer so much, yet the Lord, which hath begun his worke in me, will continue his grace to the end.

PSAL. CXXXIX.

1 Dauid cleanseth his heart from all hypocrisie: sheweth that there is nothing so hid, which God seeth not. 13 Which hee confirmeth by the creation of man. 14 After declaring his zeale and feare of God, hee protesteth to be enemie to all them that enteme God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

O Lord, thou hast tried me, and knowen me.

2 Thou knowest my sitting and my rising: thou vnderstandest my thoughts afarre off.

3 Thou b compassest my pathes, and my lying downe, and art accustomed to all my wayes.

4 For there is not a word in my c tongue, but loe, thou knowest it wholly, O Lord.

5 Thou holdest me straite behind and before, and layest thine d hand vpon me.

6 Thy knowledge is too wonderfull for me: it is so high that I cannot attaine vnto it.

7 Whither shall I goe from thy e Spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence?

8 If I ascend into heauen, thou art there: if I lie downe in hell, thou art there.

9 Let me take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the vttermost parts of the sea:

10 Yet thither shall thine hand f leade me, and thy right hand hold me.

11 If I say, Yet the darkenesse shall hide me, euen the night shall be g light about me.

12 Yea, the darkenesse hideth not from thee: but the night shineth as the day: the darkenesse and light are both alike.

13 For thou hast h possessed my reines: thou hast couered me in my mothers wombe.

14 I will praise thee, for I am i fearefully and wonderously made: marueilous are thy workes, and my soule knoweth it well.

15 My bones are not hid from thee, though I was made in a secret place, and fashioned beneath in the earth.

16 Thine eyes did see me, when I was without forme: k for in thy booke were all things written, which in continuance were fashioned, when there was none of them before.

17 How m deare therefore are thy thoughts vnto me, O God! how great is the summe of them!

18 If I should count them, they are moe then the sand: when I awake, n I am still with thee.

19 O that thou wouldest slay, O God, the wicked and bloody men, to whom I say, Depart ye from me:

20 Which speake wickedly of thee, and being thine enemies are lifted vp in vaine.

21 Doe not I o hate them, O Lord, that hate thee? and doe not I earnestly contend with those that rise vp against thee?

22 I hate them with an vnfained hatred, as they were mine vtter enemies.

23 Try mee, O God, and knowe mine heart: proome me and know my thoughts.

24 And consider if there be any p way of wickednes in me, and leade me in the q way for euer-friendship of the world, when they would let vs to serue God sincerely. p Or any heinous way or rebellious meaning, that though he were subiect to sinne, yet was he not giuen to wickednesse, and to prouoke God by rebellion. q That is, continue thy fauour towards me to the end.

PSAL. CXL.

1 Dauid complaineth of the cruelties, falshood and iniuries of his enemies. 8 Against the which hee prayeth vnto the Lord, and assureth himselfe of his helpe and succour. 12 Wherefore hee prouoketh the iust to praise the Lord, and to assure themselues of his iustice.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

DEliuer mee, O Lord, from the euill man: preserue me from the a cruell man:

2 Which imagine euill things in their b heart, and make warre continually.

3 They haue sharpened their tongues like a serpent: c adders poison is vnder their lips, Selah.

4 Keepe d me, O Lord, from the hands of the wicked; preserue me from the cruell man, which purposeth to cause my steps to slide.

5 The proud haue layd a snare for mee, and spread a net with cordes in my pathway, and set grennes for me. Selah.

6 Therefore I said vnto the Lord, Thou art my God: heare, O Lord, the voyce of my prayers.

7 O Lord,

d Thou so guidest mee with thine hand, that I can turne no way, but where thou appointest me.
e From thy power and knowledge?
f Thy power doth so fast hold me, that I can escape by no meanes from thee.
g Though darkenesse be an hinderance to mans sight, yet it serueth thine eyes as well as the light.
h Thou hast made me in all parts, and therefore must needs know me.
i Considering thy wonderfull works in forming me, I cannot but praise thee and feare thy mighty power.
k That is, in my mothers wombe: which he compareth to the inward parts of the earth.
l Seeing that thou didst know me before I was composed of either flesh or bone, much more now must thou know me when thou hast fashioned me.
m How ought we to esteeme the exceeding declaration of thy wisedome in the creation of man?
n I continually see new occasions to meditate in thy wisedome, and to praise thee.
o He teacheth vs boldly to contemne all the hatred of the wicked, and a Which persecuteth me of malice and without cause.

b That is, by their false cauillations & lies they kindle the hatred of the wicked against me.
c He sheweth what weapons the wicked vse, when power and force faile them.
d He declareth what is the remedie of the godly, when they are oppressed by the worldlings.

7 O Lord God the strength of my saluation, thou e hast couered my head in the day of battell.

8 Let not the wicked haue his desire, O Lord; f performe not his wicked thought, least they be proud. Selah.

9 As for g the chiefe of them that compasse mee about, let the mischiefe of their owne lips come vpon them.

10 Let coales fall vpon them: let h him cast them into the fire, and into the deepe pits that they rise not.

11 For the backbiter shall not be established vpon the earth, euill shall i hunt the cruell man to destruction.

12 I know that the Lord will auenge the afflicted, and iudge the poore.

13 Surely the righteous shall praise thy Name, and the iust shall k dwell in thy presence.

e He calleth to God with liuely faith, being assured of his mercies, because he had before time prooued, that God helped him euer in his dangers.

f For it is in Gods hand to ouerthrow the counsels and enterprises of the wicked.

g It seemeth that he alludeth to Saul.

h To wit, God: for Dauid saw that they were reprobate, and that there was no hope of repentence in them.

i Gods plagues shall light vpon him in such sort, that he shall not escape.

k That shall and preserued by thy fatherly prouidence and care.

PSAL. CXLI.

x Dauid being grieuously persecuted vnder Saul, onely fleeth vnto God to haue succour. 3 Desiring him to bridle his affections, that he may patiently abide till God take vengeance of his enemies.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

O Lord, I a call vpon thee: hast thee vnto mee: heare my voyce, when I cry vnto thee.

2 Let my prayer be directed in thy sight as incense, and the b lifting vp of mine handes as an euening sacrifice.

3 Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth, and keepe the c doore of my lips.

4 Incline not mine heart to euill, that I should commit wicked works with them that worke iniquitie: and let me not eate of their d delicates.

5 Let the righteous smite me: for that is a benefit, and let e him reproue me, and it shalbe a precious oyle that shall not breake mine head: for within a while I shall euen f pray in their miseries.

6 When their iudges shalbe cast downe in stonie places, they shall g heare my wordes, for they are sweet.

7 Our bones lie scattered at the h graues mouth, as he that heweth wood or diggeth in the earth.

8 But mine eyes looke vnto thee, O Lord God: in thee is my trust; leaue not my soule destitute.

9 Keepe mee from the snare, which they haue layd for me, and from the grennes of the workers of iniquitie.

10 Let the wicked fall into i his nets k together, whiles I escape.

a He sheweth that there is none other refuge in our necessities, but only to flee vnto God for comfort of soule.

b He meaneth his earnest zeale and gesture, which he vsed in prayer: alluding of the sacrifices which were by God commaundement offered in the old Law.

c He desireth God to keepe his thoughts and wayes either from thinking or executing vengeance.

d Let not their prosperitie allure me to be wicked as they are.

e He could abide all corrections, that came of a louing heart.

f By patience I shall see the wicked so sharply handled, that I shall for pitie pray for them.

g The people which followed their wicked rulers in persecuting the Prophet, shall repent and turne to God, when they see their wicked rulers punished.

h Here appeareth that Dauid was miraculously deliuered out of many deaths as 2. Cor. 1. 9, 10.

i Into Gods pit: whereby he catcheth the wicked in their owne malice.

k So that none of them escape.

PSAL. CXLII.

1 The Prophet neither astonied with feare, nor caried away with anger, nor forced by desperation, would kill Saul: but with a quiet minde directed his earnest prayer to God, who did preserue him.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid, to giue instruction, and a prayer when he was in the caue.

I Cryed vnto the Lord with my voyce; with my voyce I a prayed vnto the Lord.

2 I powred out my meditation before him, and declared mine affliction in his presence.

a Dauids patience and instant prayer to God condemneth their wicked rage, which in their troubles either despaire and murmure against God, or elsse seeke to others then to God, to haue redresse in their miserie.

3 Though my spirit † was in perplexitie in me, yet thou knewest my path; in the way wherein I walked, haue they priuily laid a snare for me.

4 I looked vpon my right hand, and behold, but there was none that would know me; all refuge failed me, and ‖ none cared for my soule.

5 Then cried I vnto thee, O Lord, and sayd, Thou art mine b hope, and my portion in the land of the liuing.

6 Hearken vnto my cry, for I am brought very low; deliuer me from my persecuters, for they are too strong for me.

7 Bring my soule out of c prison, that I may praise thy Name; then shall the righteous d come about me, when thou art beneficiall vnto me.

† Ebr. was folden or wrapped in mee: meaning, as a thing that could haue no issue.

‖ Or, sought for my soule.

b Though all meanes failed him, yet he knew that God would neuer forsake him.

c For he was on all sides beset with his enemies, as though he had beene in a most fleart prison, a crowne vpon mine d Either to reioyce at my wonderfull deliuerance, or to feed.

PSAL. CXLIII.

1 An earnest prayer for remission of sinnes, acknowledging that the enemies did thus cruelly persecute him by Gods iust iudgement. 8 He desireth to be restored to grace, 10 To be gouerned by his holy Spirit, that hee may spend the remnant of his life in the true feare & seruice of God.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

HEare my prayer, O Lord, and hearken vnto my supplication: answere me in thy a trueth, and in thy b righteousnesse.

2 (And enter not into iudgement with thy seruant: for in thy e sight shall none that liueth, be iustified.)

3 For the enemie hath persecuted my soule: he hath smitten my life downe to the earth: hee hath laid me in the darkenesse, as they that haue beene dead d long agoe:

4 And my spirit was in perplexitie in me, and mine e heart within me was amazed.

5 Yet doe I remember the time f past; I meditate in all thy workes, yea, I doe meditate in the workes of thine hands.

6 I stretch foorth mine hands vnto thee; my soule desireth after thee, as the thirstie land. Selah.

7 Heare mee speedily, O Lord, for my spirit faileth; hide not thy face from mee, elsse I shalbe like vnto them that goe downe into the pit.

8 Let mee heare thy louing kindnesse in the g morning, for in thee is my trust; h shew me the way, that I should walke in, for I lift vp my soule vnto thee.

9 Deliuer me, O Lord, from mine enemies; for i I hid mee with thee.

10 k Teach me to d doe thy will, for thou art my God: let thy good Spirit leade mee vnto the land of righteousnes.

11 Quicken me, O Lord, for thy Names sake, and for thy righteousnesse bring my soule out of trouble.

12 And for thy mercy m slay mine enemies, and destroy all them that oppresse my soule; for I am thy n seruant.

a That is, as thou hast promised to be faithfull to thy promise to all that trust in thee.

b That is, according to thy free goodnesse, whereby thou defendest thine.

c He knewe that his afflictions were Gods messengers to call him to repentance for his sinnes, though toward his enemies he was innocent, and that in Gods sight all men are sinners.

d He acknowledgeth that God is the onely and true physitian to heale him: and that he is able to raise him to life, though he were dead long a goe, and turned to ashes.

e So that onely by faith, and by the grace of Gods Spirit he was vpholden.

f To wit, thy great benefits of old, and the manifold examples of thy fauour towards thine.

g That is, free fully & in due season.

h Teach me in these great cares and troubles.

i I bid my selfe vnder the shadow of thy wings, that I might be defended by thy power.

k He confesseth that both the knowledge and obedience of Gods will commeth by the Spirit of God, who teacheth vs by his worde, giueth vnderstanding by his Spirit, and frameth our hearts by his grace to obey him.

l That is, iustly and aright: for so soone as we decline from Gods will, we fall into errour.

m Which shall be a figure of thy Fatherly kindnesse toward mee in deliuering me.

n Resigning my selfe wholly vnto thee, and trusting in thy protection.

PSAL. CXLIV.

1 He prayseth the Lord with great affection and humilitie for his kingdome restored, and for his victories obteined. 5 Demaunding helpe, and the destruction of the wicked. 9 Promising to acknowledge the same with songs of prayses. 15 And declareth wherein the felicitie of any people consisteth.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

BLessed be the Lord my ſtrength , which a teacheth mine handes to fight , and my fingers to battell.

2 He is my goodneſſe and my fortreſſe , my towre and † my deliuerer, my ſhield and in him I truſt, which ſubdueth my people vnder me.

3 Lord , what is man that thou ᵉ regardeſt him ! or the ſonne of man that thou thinkeſt vpon him ?

4 Man is like to vanitie; his dayes are like a ſhadow that vaniſheth.

5 ᵈ Bowe thine heauens , O Lord , and come downe; touch the mountaines, & they ſhall smoke.

6 ᵉ Caſt forth the lightning and ſcatter them; ſhoot out thine arrowes and conſume them.

7 Send thine hand from aboue ; deliuer mee, and take me out of the great ᶠ waters , and from the hand of ſtrangers.

8 Whoſe mouth talketh vanitie , and their right hand is a right hand ᵍ of falſhood.

9 I will ſing a ʰ new ſong vnto thee , O God, and ſing vnto thee vpon a viole , and an inſtrument of ten ſtrings.

10 It is he that giueth deliuerance vnto kings, and reſcueth Dauid his ſeruant from the hurtfull ſword.

11 Reſcue me, and deliuer mee from the hand of ſtrangers , whoſe mouth talketh vanitie , and their right hand, is a right hand of falſhood :

12 That our ſonnes may be as the plants growing vp in their youth, and our daughters as the corner ſtones , grauen after the ſimilitude of a place:

13 That our ⁱ corners may be full and abounding with diuers ſorts , and that our ſheepe may bring forth thouſands and ten thouſand in our ſtreets.

14 That our ᵐ oxen may be ſtrong to labour; that there be none inuaſion , nor going out , nor no crying in our ſtreetes.

15 Bleſſed are the people. that be ⁿ ſo, yea bleſſed are the people whoſe God is the Lord.

a Who of a poore ſheepheard hath made me a valiant warriour and mightie conquerour.
† Ebr. my deliuerer vnto me : for the Prophet cannot ſatisfie himſelfe with any words.
b Hee confeſſeth that neither by his owne authoritie, power or policie his Kingdome was quiet , but by the ſecret grace of God.
c To giue vnto God ſuch prayſe, is to confeſſe our ſelues to be vnworthy of ſoexcellent benefits , and that he beſtoweth them vpon vs of his free mercie.
d He deſireth God to continue his graces , and to ſend helpe for the preſent neceſſitie.
e By theſe maner of ſpeeches he ſheweth that all the lets in the world cannot hinder Gods power, which he apprehended by faith.
f That is, deliuer me from the tumults of them that ſhould be my people , but are corrupt in their iudgement and eſpurifies , although they were ſtrangers.
g For though they ſhake hands, yet they keepe no promiſe.
h That is, a rare and excellent ſong , as thy great benefits deſerue.
i Though wicked kings be called Gods ſeruants, as Cyrus, Iſa 45. 1. for as much as he vſeth them to execute his iudgements: yet Dauid becauſe of Gods promiſe , and they that rule godly, are properly ſo called , becauſe they ſerue not their owne affections , but ſet forth Gods glorie.
k He deſireth God to continue his benefites toward his people , counting the procreation of children and their good education among the chiefeſt of Gods benefits.
l That the very corners of our houſes may be full of ſtore for the great aboundance of thy bleſſings.
m He attributeth not onely the great commodities , but euen the leaſt alſo to Gods fauour.
n As if God giue not to all his children all theſe bleſſings , yet he recompenſeth them with better things.

PSAL. CXLV.

This Pſalme was compoſed when the kingdome of Dauid ſtood ſtil. 1 Wherein he deſcribeth the wonderfull prouidence of God , aſwell in gouerning man , as in preſeruing all the reſt of his creatures. 17 He prayſeth God for his iuſtice and mercie. 18 But ſpecially for his louing kindneſſe toward thoſe that call vpon him , that feare him , and loue him. 21 For the whiche hee promiſeth to prayſe him for euer.

¶ A Pſalme of Dauid of prayſe.

O My God and King , a I will exalt thee , and will bleſſe thy Name for euer and euer.

2 I will bleſſe thee dayly, and prayſe thy Name for euer and euer.

3 ᵇ Great is the Lord , and moſt worthy to be prayſed, and his greatneſſe is incomprehenſible.

4 Generation ſhall prayſe thy works vnto ᶜ generation; and declare thy power.

5 I will meditate of the beautie of thy glorious maieſtie, and thy wonderfull workes.

6 And they ſhall ſpeake of the power of thy ᵈ dreadfull acts , and I will declare thy greatneſſe.

7 They ſhall breake out into the mention of thy great goodneſſe , and ſhall ſing aloude of thy righteouſneſſe.

8 ᵉ The Lord is gracious, and ᶠ mercifull ,ſlow to anger , and of great mercie.

9 The Lord is good to all , and his mercies are ouer all his works.

10 All thy works prayſe thee, O Lord, and thy Saints bleſſe thee.

11 ᵍ They ſhew the glory of thy kingdome, and ſpeake of thy power.

12 To cauſe his ᵍ power to be knowen to the ſonnes of men , and the glorious renowme of his kingdome.

13 Thy ʰ kingdome is an euerlaſting kingdome, and thy dominion endureth throughout all ages.

14 The Lord vpholdeth all that ⁱ fall , and liſteth vp all that are ready to fall.

15 The eyes of all waite vpon thee, and thou giueſt them their meate in due ſeaſon.

16 Thou openeſt thine hand , and filleſt all things liuing of thy good pleaſure.

17 The Lord is ᵏ righteous in all his wayes, and holy in all his workes.

18 The Lord is neere vnto all that call vpon him , yea, to all that call vpon him in ˡ truth.

19 He will fulfill the ᵐ deſire of them that feare him; he will alſo heare their cry, & will ſaue them.

20 The Lord preſerueth all them that loue him; but he will deſtroy the wicked.

21 My mouth ſhall ſpeake the prayſe of the Lord , and all ⁿ fleſh ſhall bleſſe his holy Name for euer and euer.

d Of thy terrible iudgements againſt the wicked.
* Exod. 34. 6.
e He deſcribeth after what ſort God ſheweth himſelfe to all his creatures , though our ſins haue prouoked his vengeance againſt all : to wit, mercifull , not only in pardoning the ſinnes of his elect, but in doing good euen to the reprobate , albeit they cannot feele the ſweet comfort of the ſame.
f The Prayſe of thy glory appeareth in all thy creatures : and though the wicked would obſcure the ſame by their ſilence, yet the faithfull are euer mindfull of the ſame.
g He ſheweth that all things are out of order , but only where God reigneth Luke 1. 33.

k He praiſeth God, not onely becauſe he is beneficiall to all his creatures, but alſo in that hee iuſtly puniſheth the wicked, & mercifully examineth his by the croſſe , giuing them ſtrength and deliuering them.
l Which onely appertaineth to the faithfull : and this vertue is contrary to infidelitie , doubting, impatiencie and murmuring.

in heauen, and ſuffer themſelues to be gouerned by him.

PSAL. CXLVI.

1 Dauid declareth his great zeale that hee hath to prayſe God. 3 And teacheth, not to truſt in man, but onely in God Almightie. 7 Which deliuereth the afflicted. 9 Defendeth the ſtrangers , comforteth the faſherleſſe , and the widowes. 10 And reigneth for euer.

¶ Prayſe ye the Lord.

PRayſe thou the Lord , O my ᵃ ſoule.

2 I will prayſe the Lord during my life ; as long as I haue any being, I will ſing vnto my God.

3 Put not your truſt in ᵇ Princes , nor in the ſonne of man , for there is no helpe in him.

4 His breath departeth , and hee returneth to his earth; then his ᶜ thoughts periſh.

5 Bleſſed is he that hath the God of Iaakob for his helpe, whoſe hope is in the Lord his God.

6 Which made d heauen and earth , the ſea, and all that therein is , which keepeth his fidelitie for euer.

7 Which executeth iuſtice ᵉ for the oppreſſed, which giueth bread to the hungrie ; the Lord looſeth the priſoners.

8 The Lord giueth ſight to the blind : the a He ſtirreth vp himſelfe and all his affections to prayſe God.

b That God may haue the whole prayſe: wherein he forbiddeth all vaine confidence, ſhewing that of nature wee are more inclined to put our truſt in creatures, then in God the Creator.
c As their vaine opinions, whereby they flattered themſelues , and ſo imagined wicked enterprifes.
d He encourageth the godly to truſt onely in the Lord , both for that his power is able to deliuer them from all danger, and for his promiſe ſake , his will is moſt ready to doe it.
e Whoſe faith and patience for a while he tryeth , but at length he puniſheth the aduerſaries , that he may be knowen to be iudge of the world.

a Hee ſheweth what ſacrifices are pleaſant and acceptable vnto God. euen prayſe and thankſgiuing, and ſeeing that God ſtill continueth his benefits towards vs, wee ought neuer to be weary in praiſing him for the ſame.
b Hereby hee declareth that all power is ſubiect vnto God , and that no worldly promotion ought to obſcure Gods glory.
c For aſmuch as the ende of mans creation , and of his preſeruation in this life is to prayſe God, therefore hee requireth that not onely wee our ſelues doe this , but cauſe all others to doe the ſame.

Lord raiseth vp the crooked: the Lord f loueth the righteous.

9 The Lord keepeth the g strangers: he relieueth the fatherlesse and widow: but hee ouerthroweth the way of the wicked.

10 The Lord shall h reigne for euer: O Zion, thy God endureth from generation to generation. Prayse ye the Lord.

f Though he visit them by affliction, hunger, imprisonment and such like, yet his fatherly loue and pitie neuer faileth them, yea, rather to his thefe are signes of his loue.

g Meaning, all them that are destitute of worldly meanes and succour. h He assureth the Church euer for the preseruation of the same.

PSAL. CXLVII.

1 The Prophet prayseth the bounty, wisedome, power, iustice, and prouidence of God vpon all his creatures, 2 But specially vpon his Church, which he gathereth together after their dispersion. 19 Declaring his word and iudgement so vnto them, as he hath done to none other people.

PRayse ye the Lord, for it is good to sing vnto our God: for it is a pleasant thing, and prayse is comely.

2 The Lord doth build vp b Ierusalem, and gather together the dispersed of Israel.

3 He healeth those that are c broken in heart, and bindeth vp their sores.

4 Hee d counteth the number of the starres, and calleth them all by their names.

5 Great is our Lord, and great is his power: his wisedome is infinite.

6 The Lord relieueth the meeke, and abaseth the wicked to the e ground.

7 Sing vnto the Lord with prayse: sing vpon the harpe vnto our God,

8 Which f couereth the heauen with clouds, and prepareth raine for the earth, and maketh the grasse to grow vpon the mountaines:

9 Which giueth to beasts their foode, and to the yong rauens that g cry.

10 He hath no pleasure in the h strength of an horse, neither delighteth he in the legs of man.

11 But the Lord delighteth in them that feare him, and attend vpon his mercy.

12 Prayse the Lord, O Ierusalem: prayse thy God, O Zion.

13 For he hath made the barres of thy gates i strong, and hath blessed thy children within thee.

14 He setteth peace in thy borders, and satisfieth thee with the j flowre of wheate.

15 He sendeth forth his k commandement vpon earth, and his word runneth very l swiftly.

16 He giueth snow like wooll, and scattereth the hoare frost like ashes.

17 He casteth forth his yce like morsels: who can abide the cold thereof?

18 He sendeth his word and melteth them: he causeth his winde to blow, and the waters flow.

19 He sheweth his m word vnto Iaakob, his statutes and his iudgements vnto Israel.

20 He hath not dealt so with euery nation, neither haue they n knowen his iudgements. Prayse ye the Lord.

a Hee sheweth wherein we ought to exercise our selues continually, and to take our paitime: to wit, in prayfing God.

b Because the Lord is the founder of the Church, it cannot be destroyed, though the members thereof be diuersely, and seeme as it were for a time to be cut off.

c With affliction, or sorow for sinne.

d Though it seeme to man incredible, that God should assemble his Church, being so dispersed, yet nothing can be too hard to him, that can number and name all the starres.

e For the more high that the wicked clime, the greater is their fall in the end.

f He sheweth by the examples of Gods mightie power, goodnesse, and wisedome, that he can neuer want most iust occasion to prayse God.

g For their crying is as it were a confession of their neede, which cannot be relieued, but by God onely, then if God shew himselfe mindfull of the most contemptible soules, can he suffer them to die with famine, whom he hath assured of life euerlasting?

h Though to vse lawfull meanes is both profitable and pleaseth God, yet to put our trust to them, is to defraud God of his honour. i He doth not onely furnish his Church with all things necessary, but preserueth also the same and maketh it strong against all outward force. † Ebr. fat. k His seruetworking in all creatures is as a commandement to keepe them in order, and to giue them mouing and force. l For immediatly and without resisting all things obey him. m As before hee called Gods secret vow king in all his creatures his word: so he meaneth hereby his word the doctrine of life euerlasting, which he hath left to his Church as a most precious treasure. n The cause of this difference is Gods free mercie, which hath elected his in his Sonne Christ Iesus to saluation: and his iust iudgement, whereby he hath appointed the reprobate to eternall damnation.

PSAL. CXLVIII.

1 He prouoketh all creatures to prayse the Lord in heauen and earth, and all places. 14 Specially his Church, for the power that hee hath giuen to the same, after that he had chosen them and ioyned them vnto him.

¶ Prayse ye the Lord.

PRayse ye the Lord from the heauen: prayse ye him in the hie places.

2 Prayse ye him, all ye a his Angels: prayse him, all his armie.

3 Prayse ye him, b sunne and moone: prayse ye him all bright starres:

4 Prayse yee him, c heauens of heauens, and d waters, that be aboue the heauens.

5 Let them prayse the Name of the Lord: for he commanded, and they were created.

6 And he hath established them for euer and euer: he hath made an ordinance, which shall not passe.

7 Prayse ye the Lord from the earth, ye e dragons and all depths:

8 f Fire and haile, snow and vapours, stormy winde, which execute his word.

9 Mountaines and all hils, fruitfull trees, and all cedars:

10 Beasts and all cattell, creeping things and fethered foules:

11 g Kings of the earth and all people, princes and all iudges of the world:

12 Yong men and maidens, also old men and children:

13 Let them prayse the Name of the Lord: for his Name onely is to be exalted, and his prayse aboue the earth and the heauens.

14 For he hath exalted the h horne of his people, which is a prayse for all his Saints, euen for the i children of Israel, a people that is neere vnto him. Prayse ye the Lord.

a Because they are members of the same body, he setteth them before our eyes, which are most willing hereunto, and by their prompt obedience teach vs to doe our duety.

b In that Gods glory shineth in these insensible creatures, this their beauty is as a continuall prayfing of God.

c Not that there are diuers heauens, but because of the spheres and of the situation of the fixed starres and planets, he comprehendeth by this worde the whole heauen.

d That is, the raine which is in the middle region of the ayre, which he here comprehendeth vnder the Name of the heauens.

e Meaning, the great and monstrous fishes, as whales and such like.

f which come not by chaunce or fortune, but by Gods appointed ordinance.

g For the greater gifts that any hath received, and the more high that one is preferred, the more bound is he to prayse God for the same: but neither hie nor low condition or degree can be exempted from this duetie.

h That is, the dignitie, power and glory of his Church i By reason of his couenant made with Abraham.

PSAL. CXLIX.

1 An exhortation to the Church to prayse the Lord for his victory and conquest, that hee giueth his Saints against all mans power.

¶ Prayse ye the Lord.

SIng yee vnto the Lord a a new song: let his prayse be heard in the Congregation of Saints.

2 Let Israel reioyce in him that b made him, and let the children of Zion reioyce in their c King.

3 Let them prayse his Name with the flute: let them sing prayses vnto him with the timbrell and harpe.

4 For the Lord hath pleasure in his people: he will make the meeke glorious by deliuerance.

5 Let the Saints be ioyfull with glory: let them sing loud vpon their d beds.

6 Let the high Acts of God be in their mouth, and a two edged sword in their hands,

7 † To execute vengeance vpon the heathen, and corrections among the people:

8 To bind e their kings in chaines, and their nobles with fetters of yron,

9 That they may execute vpon them the a For his rare and manifold benefits bestowed on his Church.

b In that that they were preferred before all other nations, it was as a new creation, and therefore Psal. 95. 7. they were called the people of Gods hands.

c For God as he is the creatour of the soule and body, so will he that both owe seruice him, and that his people be diligently subiect to him, as to their most lawfull king.

d He alludeth to if they would suffer the kingdome of Christ, against his enemies, in quietes. e Not onely the people, but the kings that were their enemies, should be destroyed.

that continuall rest and quietnesse, which they should haue when Gods people for iust causes execute Gods iudgement and it giueth no liberte to any to reuenge their priuate iniuries.

g Hereby God bindeth the hands and minder of all his to enterprise no farther then he appointeth.

judgement that is g written: this honour shall be to all his Saints. Prayse ye the Lord.

PSAL. CL.

1 An exhortation to prayse the Lord without cease, by all manner of wayes for all his mighty and wonderful workes.

¶ Prayse ye the Lord.

PRaise ye God in his a Sanctuary: prayse ye him in the b firmament of his power.

2 Prayse ye him in his mighty Acts: prayse ye him according to his excellent greatnesse.

3 Prayse ye him in the sound of the c trumpet: prayse ye him vpon the viole and the harpe.

4 Prayse ye him with timbrel and flute: prayse ye him with virginals and organs.

5 Prayse yee him with sounding cymbals: prayse ye him with high sounding cymbals.

6 Let euery thing that hath d breath prayse the Lord. Prayse ye the Lord.

c Exhorting the people only to reioyce in praysing God, he maketh mention of those instruments which by Gods commandement were appointed in the old Law, but vnder Christ the vse thereof is abolished in the Church. d He sheweth that all the order of nature is bound to this duetie, and much more Gods children, who ought neuer to cease to prayse him, till they be gathered into that kingdome, which he hath prepared for his, where they shall sing euerlasting prayse.

a That is, in the heauen.

b For his wonderfull power appeareth in the firmament, which in Hebrew is called a stretching out, or spreading abroad, wherein the mightie worke of God shineth.

THE * PROVERBES OF SALOMON.

* This word Prouerbe, or Parable, signifieth a graue and notable sentence, worthy to be kept in memorie: and is sometime taken in the euill part for a mocke or scoffe.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe wonderfull loue of God toward his Church is declared in this booke: forasmuch as the summe and effect of the whole Scriptures is here set forth in these briefe sentences, which partly containe doctrine, and partly manners, and also exhortations to both: whereof the nine first Chapters are as a preface full of graue sentences and deepe mysteries, to allure the hearts of men to the diligent reading of the parables that follow: which are left as a most precious iewell to the Church, of those three thousand parables mentioned 1. King. 4. 32. and were gathered and committed to writing by Salomons seruants, and indited by him.

CHAP. I.

1 The power and vse of the word of God. 7 Of the feare of God and knowledge of his word. 10 We may not consent to the entisings of sinners. 20 Wisedome complaineth that she is contemned. 24 The punishments of them that contemne her.

THE Parables of Salomon the sonne of Dauid king of Israel,

2 To knowe wisdome, a and instruction, to vnderstand the words b of knowledge,

3 To receiue c instruction to doe wisely, by d iustice and iudgement and equity.

4 To giue vnto the e simple sharpnesse of wit, and to the childe knowledge and discretion.

5 A wise man shall heare and increase in learning, and a man of f vnderstanding shall attaine vnto wise counsels,

6 To vnderstand a parable, and the interpretation, the words of the wise, & their darke sayings.

7 ¶ * The feare of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge: but fooles dispise wisedome and instruction.

8 My sonne, heare thy g fathers instruction, and forsake not thy h mothers teaching.

9 For they shall be † a comely ornament vnto thine head, and as chaines for thy necke.

10 ¶ My sonne, i if sinners doe intise thee, consent thou not.

11 If they say, Come with vs, we will lay wait for k blood, and lie priuily for the innocent without a cause:

12 We will swallow them vp aliue like a l graue, euen whole, as those that goe downe into the pit:

13 We shall finde all precious riches, and fill our houses with spoyle:

14 Cast in thy lot among vs: we will all haue one m purse:

15 My sonne, walke not thou in the way with them: refraine thy foote from their n path.

16 For their feete run to euill, and make haste to shed blood.

17 Certainely as without cause the net is spred before the eyes of all that hath wing:

18 So they lay waite for blood, and lie priuily for o their liues.

19 Such are the wayes of euery one that is greedie of gaine: he would take away p the life of the owners thereof.

20 ¶ q Wisdome cryeth without: she vttereth her voyce in the r streetes.

21 She calleth in the high streete, among the prease in the entrings of the gates, and vttereth her words in the city, saying,

22 Oye s foolish, how long will ye loue foolishnesse? and the scornefull take their pleasure in scorning? and the fooles hate knowledge?

23 (Turne you at my correction: loe, I will powre out my mind vnto you, and make you vnderstand my words.)

24 Because I haue called, and ye refused: I haue stretched out mine hand, and none would regard.

25 But ye haue despised all my counsell, and would none of my correction,

26 I will also t laugh at your destruction, and mocke when your feare commeth.

27 When u your feare commeth like sudden desolation, and your destruction shall come like a whirlewinde: when affliction and anguish shall come vpon you,

28 Then shall they call vpon mee, but I will not answere: they shall seeke me early, but they shall not x finde me,

29 Because they hated knowledge, and did not chuse the feare of the Lord

30 They would none of my counsell, but y despised all my correction.

31 Therefore shall they eat of the z fruit of their owne way, and be filled with their owne deuises.

32 For a ease slayeth the foolish, and the prosperitie of fooles destroyeth them.

33 But he that obeyeth me, shall dwell safely, and be quiet from feare of euill.

CHAP. II.

1 Wisedome exhorteth to obey her. 5 She teacheth the feare of God. 6 Shee is giuen of God. 10 She preserueth from wickednesse.

a That is, what we ought to know and follow, and what we ought to refuse.

b Meaning, the worde of God wherein is the onely true knowledge.

c To learne to submit our selues to the correction of those that are wise

d By liuing iustly and rendring to euery man that which appertaineth vnto him.

e To such as haue no discretion to rule themselues.

f As he sheweth that these parables containing the effect of religion as touching maners and doctrine, doe appertaine to the simple people: so doeth he declare that the same is also necessarie for them that are wise and learned.

* Psal. 111. 10. Eccles. 1. 16.

g He speaketh of the Church, wherein the faithfull are begotten by the incorruptible seede of Gods worde.

h That is, of the Church, wherein the faithfull are begotten by the incorruptible seede of Gods worde. † Ebr. increase of grace. i To wit, the wicked which haue not the feare of God. k He speaketh not onely of the shedding of blood with hand, but of all craftie practises which tend to the detriment of our neighbour. l As the graue is neuer satisfied, so the auarice of the wicked and their cruelty hath none end. m He sheweth whereby the wicked are allured to ioyne together, because they haue euery one part of the spoyle of the innocent. n That is, haue nothing at all to doe with them.

o He sheweth that there is no cause to mooue these wicked to spoile the innocent, but their auarice and cruelty.

p Whereby he concludeth, that the couetous man is a murtherer.

q This wisedome is the eternall word of God.

r So that none can pretend ignorance.

s Wisedome reprooueth three kindes of men: the foolish or simple which erre of ignorance, and the mockers that cannot suffer to be taught, and the fooles which are drowned in worldly lusts, and hate the knowledge of god inwise.

t This is spoken according to our capacitie, signifying that the wicked, which mocke and iest at Gods word, shall haue the iust reward of their mocking.

u That is, your destruction, which thing you feared.

x Because they sought not with an affection to God, but for ease of their owne griefe.

y Shewing that without faith and obedience, we can not call vpon God aright.

z They shall feele what commoditie their wicked life shall giue them.

a That is, the prosperity and sensualitie wherein they delight,

MY sonne, if thou wilt receiue my wordes, and a hide my commandements within thee.
2 And cause thine eares to hearken vnto wisdome, and encline b thine heart to vnderstanding,
3 (For if thou calleſt after knowledge, c and cryeſt for vnderſtanding:
4 If thou ſeekeſt her as ſiluer, and ſearcheſt for her as for d treaſures.
5 Then ſhalt thou vnderſtand the feare of the Lord, and finde the e knowledge of God.
6 For the Lord giueth wiſedome: out of his mouth commeth knowledge and vnderſtanding.
7 He ‖ preſerueth the ſtate of the righteous, he is a ſhield to them that walke vprightly,
8 That they may keepe the wayes of iudgement: and he perſerueth the way of his Saints)
9 Then ſhalt thou vnderſtand righteouſneſſe and iudgement, and equitie, and euery good path.
10 ¶ When wiſdome entreth into thine heart, and knowledge delighteth thy ſoule, 11 Then ſhall f counſell preſerue thee, and vnderſtanding ſhall keepe thee, 12 And deliuer thee from the euill way, and from the man that ſpeaketh froward things, 13 And from them that leaue the g wayes of righteouſneſſe to walke in the wayes of darkenes:
14 Which reioyce in doing euill, and delight h in the frowardneſſe of the wicked, 15 Whoſe wayes are crooked, and they are lewd in their paths.
16 And it ſhall deliuer thee from the ſtrange i woman, euen from the ſtranger, which flattereth with her words.
17 Which forſaketh the k guide of her youth, and forgetteth the l couenant of her God.
18 Surely her m houſe tendeth to death, and her paths vnto n the dead.
19 All they that goe vnto her, returne not againe, neither take they hold of the wayes of life:
20 Therefore walke thou in the way of good men, and keepe the wayes of the righteous.
21 For the iuſt ſhall dwell in the o land, and the vpright men ſhall remaine in it.
22 But the wicked ſhall be cut off from the earth, and the tranſgreſſour ſhall be rooted out of it.

a That is, keepe them in thine heart.
b If thou giue thy ſelfe to the true knowledge of God without hypocriſie.
c Meaning, that we muſt ſeeke the knowledge of God with care and diligence.
d Shewing that no labour muſt be ſpared.
e This (faith he) is the true wiſedome, to know and feare God.
‖ Or, hideth the ſalnation.
f The word of God ſhall teach thee, and counſell thee how to gouerne thy ſelfe.
g That is, the word of God, which is the only light, to follow their owne fantaſies which are darkeneſſe.
h When they ſee any giuen to euill as they are.
i Meaning, that wiſedome which is the word of God, ſhall preſerue vs from all vices, namong this vice of whoredom whereunto man is moſt prone.
k That is, her huſband, which is her head and guide to gouerne her, from whom ſhe ought not to depart, but remaine in his ſubiection.
l Which is the promiſe made in mariage.
m Her acquaintance with her familiars, and them that haunt her.
n To them that are dead in body and ſoule.
o They ſhall enioy the temporall and ſpirituall promiſes of God, as the wicked ſhalbe voyd of them.

CHAP. III.

1 The word of God giueth life. 5 Truſt in God. 7 Feare him. 9 Honour him. 11 Suffer his correction. 21 To them that follow the word of God, all things ſhall ſucceed well. that follow the word of God, all things ſhall ſucceed well.

MY ſonne, forget not thou my Law, but let thine heart * keepe my commandements.
2 For they ſhall increaſe the length of thy a dayes and the yeeres of life, and thy proſperitie.
3 Let not b mercy and trueth forſake thee: bind them on thy c necke, and write them vpon the table of thine d heart,
4 So ſhalt thou find fauour and good vnderſtanding in the ſight of God and man.
5 ¶ Truſt in the Lord with all thine heart, and leane not vnto thine owne wiſedome.
6 In all thy wayes acknowledge him, and he ſhall direct thy wayes.
7 ¶ Be not wiſe in thine owne eyes: but feare the Lord, and depart from euill.
8 So health ſhalbe vnto thy e nauell, and marrow vnto thy bones.

* Deut. 8. 1. & 30. 16.
a Long life is the bleſsing of God which he giueth to his, ſo far foorth as it is expedient for them.
b By mercy and trueth he meaneth the commandements of the firſt and ſecond table: or elſe the mercy and faithfulneſſe that we ought to vſe toward our neighbours.
c Keepe them as a moſt precious iewell.
d Haue them euer in remembrance.
e By this part he comprehendeth the whole body, as by health he meaneth all the benefits promiſed in the Law both corporall and ſpirituall.

9 f Honour the Lord with thy riches, and with the firſt fruits of all thine increaſe.
10 So ſhall thy barnes be filled with abundance, and thy preſſes ſhall g burſt with new wine.
11 ¶ My ſonne, refuſe not the chaſtening of the Lord, neither be grieued with his correction, 12 * For the Lord correcteth him, whom hee loueth, euen as the father doth the childe, in whom he delighteth.
13 Bleſſed is the man that findeth wiſedome, and the man that getteth vnderſtanding.
14 For the marchandiſe thereof is better then the marchandiſe of ſiluer, and the gaine thereof is better then gold.
15 It is more precious then pearles: and all things that thou canſt deſire, are not to be compared vnto her.
16 Length of dayes is in her right hand, h and in her right hand riches and glory.
17 Her wayes are wayes of pleaſure, and all her paths proſperitie.
18 She is a tree i of life to them that lay hold on her, and bleſſed is he that retaineth her.
19 The Lord by wiſedome hath laid the k foundation of the earth, and hath ſtabliſhed the heauens through vnderſtanding.
20 By his knowledge the depths are broken vp, and the cloudes drop downe the dew.
21 My ſonne, let not theſe things depart from thine eyes, but obſerue wiſedome and counſell:
22 So they ſhalbe life to thy ſoule, and grace vnto thy ‖ necke.
23 Then ſhalt thou walke ſafely by the way: and thy foote ſhall not ſtumble.
24 If thou ſleepeſt, thou ſhalt not be afraid: and when thou ſleepeſt, thy ſleepe ſhalbe ſweet.
25 Thou ſhalt not feare for any ſudden feare, neither for the deſtruction of the wicked, when it commeth.
26 For the Lord ſhall be for thine aſſurance, and ſhall preſerue thy foot from taking.
27 ¶ With hold not the good from m the owners thereof, though there be power in thine hand to doe it.
28 Say not vnto thy neighbour, Go and come againe, and to morrow will I giue her, if thou now haue it.
29 ¶ Intend none hurt againſt thy neighbour, ſeeing he doth dwell u without feare by thee.
30 ¶ Striue not with a man cauſeleſſe, when hee hath done thee no harme.
31 ¶ Be not o enuious for the wicked man, neither chuſe any of his wayes.
32 For the froward is abomination vnto the Lord: but his p ſecret is with the righteous.
33 The curſe of the Lord is in the houſe of the wicked: but hee bleſſeth the habitation of the righteous.
34 With the ſcornefull q he ſcorneth, but hee giueth grace vnto the humble.
35 The wiſe ſhall inherit glory: but ſooles diſhonour, though they be exalted.

f As was commanded in the Law. Exod. 23. 19. Deut. 26. 2 and by this they acknowledged that God was the giuer of all things, and that they were ready to beſtow all at his commandement.

2 For I doe giue you a good doctrine: therefore forsake ye not my law.

3 For I was my fathers sonne, tender and deare in the sight of my mother.

4 When hee [b] taught me, and sayd vnto mee, Let thine heart holde fast my words: keepe my commandements, and thou shalt liue.

5 Get wisedome: get vnderstanding: forget not, neither decline from the words of my mouth.

6 Forsake her not, and shee shall keepe thee: loue her and shee shall preserue thee.

7 [c] Wisedome is the beginning: get wisdome therefore: and aboue all thy possession get vnderstanding.

8 Exalt her, and she shall exalt thee: she shall bring thee to honour, if thou imbrace her.

9 Shee shall giue a comely ornament vnto thine head, yea, shee shall giue thee a crowne of glory.

10 ¶ Heare, my sonne: and receiue my words, and the yeeres of thy life shalbe many.

11 I haue [d] taught thee in the way of wisdom, and led thee in the pathes of righteousnesse.

12 When thou goest, thy gate shall not be [e] strait, and when thou runnest, thou shalt not fall.

13 Take hold of instruction, and leaue not: keepe her, for shee is thy life.

14 ¶ Enter not into the way of the wicked, and walke not in the way of euill men.

15 Auoyde it, and goe not by it: turne from it, and passe by.

16 For they cannot [f] sleepe, except they haue done euill, and their sleepe departeth except they cause some to fall.

17 For they eate the bread of [g] wickednesse, and drinke the wine of violence.

18 But the way of the righteous shineth as the light, that [h] shineth more and more vnto the perfite day.

19 The way of the wicked is as the darkenesse: they know not wherein they shall fall.

20 ¶ My sonne, hearken vnto my words, incline thine eare vnto my sayings.

21 Let them not depart from thine eyes, but keepe them in the mids of thine heart.

22 For they are life vnto those that find them, and health vnto all their [i] flesh.

23 Keepe thine heart with all diligence: for thereout commeth [k] life.

24 Put away from the a froward mouth, and put wicked lips farre from thee.

25 Let thine eyes behold the right, and let thine eye lids direct thy way before thee.

26 [l] Ponder the path of thy feet, and let all thy wayes be ordered aright.

27 Turne not to the right hand, nor to the left, but remooue thy foot from euill.

CHAP. V.

3 Whoredome forbidden. 9 And prodigalitie. 15 He willeth a man to liue on his tabour, and to helpe others. 18 To loue his wife. 22 The wicked taken in their owne wickednesse.

MY sonne, hearken vnto my wisedome, and incline thine eare vnto my [l] knowledge,

2 That thou mayest regard counsell, and thy lips obserue knowledge.

3 For the lips [a] of a strange woman drop as an hony combe, and her mouth is more soft then [b] oyle.

4 But the end of her is bitter as wormewood, and sharpe as a two edged sword.

5 Her [c] feet goe downe to death, and her steps take hold on hell.

6 She weigheth not the way of life: her paths are moueable: thou canst not know them.

7 Heare yee mee now therefore, O children, and depart not from the words of my mouth.

8 Keepe thy way farre from her, and come not neere the doore of her house,

9 Least thou giue thine [d] honour vnto others, and thy yeeres to the cruell:

10 Least the stranger should be filled with thy [e] strength, and thy [f] labours be in the house of a stranger.

11 And thou mourne at thine ende, (when thou hast consumed thy flesh and thy body)

12 And say, How haue I hated instruction, and mine heart despised correction!

13 And haue not obeyed the voyce of them that taught mee, nor inclined mine eare to them that instructed me!

14 I was almost brought into all euill in the mids of the Congregation and [g] assembly.

15 ¶ Drinke the water of [h] thy cisterne, and of the riuers out of the mids of thine owne well.

16 Let thy fountaines flow foorth, and the riuers of waters in the streetes.

17 But let them be thine, euen [i] thine onely, and not the strangers with thee.

18 Let thy [k] fountaine be blessed, and reioyce with the wife of thy [l] youth.

19 Let her be as the louing hinde and pleasant roe: let her breasts satisfie thee at all times, and delite in her loue continually.

20 For why shouldest thou [m] delite, my sonne, in a strange woman, or embrace the bosome of a stranger?

21 For the wayes of man are before the [n] eyes of the Lord, and he pondereth all his paths.

22 His owne iniquities shall take the wicked himselfe, and he shall be holden with the coards of his owne sinne.

23 He shall [o] die for fault of instruction, and shall goe astray through his great follie.

CHAP. VI.

1 Instruction for sureties. 6 The slothfull and sluggish is sorted to worke. 12 He describeth the nature of the wicked. 16 The things that God hateth. 20 To obserue the word of God. 24 To flee adulterie.

MY sonne, if thou be surety for thy neighbour, and hast striken hands with the stranger,

2 Thou art [a] snared with the wordes of thy mouth: thou art euen taken with the wordes of thine owne mouth.

3 Doe this now, my Sonne and deliuer thy selfe: seeing thou art come into the hand of thy neighbour, goe, and humble thy selfe, and sollicite thy friends.

4 Giue no sleepe to thine eyes, nor slumber to thine eye lids.

5 Deliuer thy selfe as a Doe from the hand of the hunter, and as a bird from the hand of the fowler.

6 ¶ Goe to [b] the pismire, O sluggard: behold her wayes, and be wise.

7 For shee hauing no guide, gouernour, nor ruler,

8 Prepareth her meat in the summer, and gathereth her foode in haruest.

c He sheweth that we must first begin at Gods word, if so be we will that other things prosper with vs, contrary to the iudgement of the world, which make it their last study, or els care not for it at all.

d Salomon declareth what care his father had to bring him vp in the true feare of God: for this was Dauids protestation.

e Thou shalt walke at liberty without offence.

f Meaning, that to doe euill is more proper and naturall to the wicked, then to sleepe, eate or drinke.

g Gotten by wicked meanes and cruell oppression.

h Signifying, that the godly increase dayly in knowledge and perfection, till they come to full perfection, which is when they shalbe ioyned to their head in the heauens.

i That is, they shall haue health of body: vnder the which all other blessings promised in the law are conteined.

k For as the heart is either pure or corrupt, so it the whole course of mans life.

l Keepe a measure in all thy doings.

e That is, thy strength and goods to her that will haue no pitie vpon thee: as is reade of Samson, and the prodigall sonne.

f The goods gotten by thy trauell.

g Although I was faithfully instructed in the truth, yet had I almost fallen to vtter shame and destruction, notwithstanding my good bringing vp in the assembly of the godly.

h He teacheth vs sobrietie, exhorting vs to liue of our owne labours and to be beneficiall to the godly that want, i Destribute them not to the wicked and infidels, but reserue them for thy selfe, thy family and them that are of the houshold of faith.

k Thy children which shall come of thee in great abundance, shewing that God blesseth marriage, and curseth whoredome.

l Which thou diddest marry in thy youth.

m Or, goe astray with a stranger?

n He declareth that except men doe ioyne to his wife both in heart and in outward conuersation, that he shal not escape the iudgements of God.

o Because he will not giue eare to Gods word and be admonished.

a He forbiddeth vs not to become suretie one for an other, according to the rule of charitie, but that we consider for whom and after what sort, so that the creditour may not be defrauded.

b If the word of God cannot instruct thee, yet learne at the little pismire to labour for thy selfe and not to burden others.

CHAP. VII.

1 An exhortation to wisedome and to the word of God, 5. Which will preserue vs from the harlot, 6 Whose maners are described.

MY sonne, keepe my words, and hide my commandements with thee.
2 Keepe my commandements, and thou shalt

3 Bind them vpon thy fingers, and write them vpon the table of thine heart.
4 Say vnto wisedome, Thou art my sister: and call vnderstanding thy kinswoman.
5 That they may keepe thee from the strange woman, euen from the stranger that is smooth in her words.
6 ¶ b As I was in the window of mine house, I looked thorow my window.
7 And I saw among the fooles, and considered among the children a yong man destitute of vnderstanding.
8 Who passed thorow the streete by her corner, and went toward her house.
9 In the twilight in the euening, when the night began to be t blacke and darke.
10 And behold, there met him a woman with an harlots ‖ behauiour, and ‖ subtill in heart.
11 (Shee d is babling and lowd, whose feete cannot abide in her house.
12 Now she is without, now in the streets, and lieth in wait at euery corner)
13 So she caught him and kissed him, and † with an impudent face said vnto him, 17 I haue perfumed my bed with myrrhe, aloes, and cynamom.

18 Come, let vs take our fill of loue vntill the morning: let vs take our pleasure in daliance.
19 For mine husband is not at home, hee is gone a iourney farre off.
20 He hath taken † with him a bagge of siluer, and will come home at the day appointed.
21 Thus with her great craft she caused him to yeeld, and with her flattering lips she inticed him.
22 And hee followed her straightwayes, as an g oxe that goeth to the slaughter, and h as a foole to the stockes for correction.
23 Till a dart strike thorow his liuer, as a bird hasteth to the snare, not knowing that † he is in danger.
24 ¶ Heare me now therefore, O children, and hearken to the words of my mouth.
25 Let not thine heart decline to her wayes: wander thou not in her paths.

a By this diuersitie of words, hee meaneth that nothing ought to be so deare vnto vs, as the word of God, nor that we look on any thing more, nor mind any thing so much.
b Salomon vseth this parable to declare their folly, that suffer themselues to be abused by harlots.

5 O ye foolish men, vnderstand wisdome, and ye, O fooles, be wise in heart.

6 Giue eare, for I will speake of excellent things, and the opening of my lippes shall teach things that be right.

7 For my mouth shall speake the trueth, and my lippes abhorre wickednesse.

8 All the words of my mouth are righteous: there is no lewdnesse, nor frowardnesse in them.

9 They are all [c] plaine to them that will vnderstand, and straight to them that would finde knowledge.

10 Receiue mine instruction, and not siluer, and knowledge rather then fine gold.

11 For wisedome is better then precious stones: and all pleasures are not to be compared vnto her.

12 I wisedome dwell with [d] prudence, and I find foorth knowledge and counsels.

13 The feare of the Lord is to hate [e] euill, as pride, and arrogancie, and the euill way: and a mouth that speaketh lewd things I doe hate.

14 I haue counsell and wisdome: I am vnderstanding, and I haue strength.

15 By me [f] kings reigne, and princes decree iustice.

16 By me princes rule, and the nobles, and all the iudges of the earth.

17 I loue them that loue mee: and they that seeke me [g] early shall finde me.

18 Riches and honour are with mee; [h] euen durable riches and righteousnesse.

19 My fruit is better then gold, euen then fine gold, and my reuenues better then fine siluer.

20 I cause to walke in the way of righteousnes, and in the midst of the paths of [i] iudgement, 21 That I may cause them that loue me, to inherite substance, and I will fill their treasures.

22 The Lord hath possessed me in the beginning of his way: I was [k] before his works of old.

23 I was set vp from euerlasting, from the beginning, and before the earth.

24 When there were no depths, was I begotten, when there were no fountaines abounding with water.

25 Before the mountaines were seated; and before the hilles, was I begotten.

26 Hee had not yet made the earth, nor the open places, nor the height of the dust in the world.

27 When he prepared the heauens, I was there, when hee set the compasse vpon the deepe:

28 When hee established the cloudes aboue; when hee confirmed the spuntaines of the deepe:

29 When he gaue his decree to the sea, that the waters should not passe his commandement, when hee appointed the foundations of the earth,

30 Then was I with him [m] as a nourisher, and I was dayly his delight, reioycing alway before him.

31 And tooke my [n] solace in the compasse of his earth: and my delight is with the children of men.

32 Therefore now hearken, O children, vnto me: for blessed are they that keepe my wayes.

33 Heare instruction, and be ye wise, and refuse it not: blessed is the man that heareth mee, watching dayly at my gates, and giuing attendance at the posts of my doores.

34 For he that findeth me, findeth life, and shall obtaine fauour of the Lord.

35 But hee that sinneth against me, hurteth his owne soule: and all that hate me, loue death.

c Meaning, that the word of God is easie vnto all that haue a desire vnto it, and which are not blinded by the prince of this world.

d That is, except a man haue wisedome, which is the true knowledge of God, he can neither be prudent nor good counseller.

e So that hee that doeth not hate euill, feareth not God.

f Whereby he declareth that honours, dignitie or riches come not of mans wisedome or industry, but by the prouidence of God.

g That is, studie the word of God diligently, and with a desire to profit.

h Signifying that he chiefly meaneth the spirituall treasures and heauenly riches.

i For there can be no true iustice or iudgement, which is not directed by this wisedome.

k He declareth hereby the diuinitie and eternitie of this wisedome, whichhe insignifieth and prayseth thorow this booke: meaning thereby the eternall Son of God Iesus Christ our Sauiour, whom Saint Iohn calleth the word that was in the beginning, Iohn. 1. 1.

l He declareth the eternitie of the Sonne of God, which is meant by this word Wisedome, who was before all time, and euer present with the Father. In some reade, a craftsmaster, signifying that this Wisedome, euen Christ Iesus, was equall with God his father, and created, preserueth and still worketh with him, as Iohn 5. 17.

m Whereby is declared that the worke of the creation was no paine, but a solace vnto the wisedome of God. n By earth hee meaneth man, which is the worke of God in whom wisedome tooke pleasure: insomuch as for mans sake the diuine wisedome tooke mans nature and dwelt among vs, and filled vs with vnspeakeable treasures: and this is that solace and pastime whereof is here spoken.

CHAP. IX.

2 Wisedome calleth all to her feast. 7 The scorner will not be corrected. 10 The feare of God. 13 The conditions of the harlot.

WIsedome hath built her [a] house, and hewen out her [b] seuen pillars.

2 She hath killed her victuals, drawen her wine, and [c] prepared her table.

3 She hath sent forth her [d] maidens, and crieth vpon the highest places of the citie, saying,

4 Who so is [e] simple, let him come hither, and to him that is destitute of wisedome, she saith,

5 Come, and eate of my [f] meate, and drink of the wine that I haue drawen.

6 Forsake your way, yee foolish, and yee shall liue: and walke in the way of vnderstanding.

7 He that reproueth a scorner, purchaseth to himselfe shame: and he that rebuketh the wicked, getteth him selfe a [g] blot.

8 Rebuke not a [h] scorner, least he hate thee: but rebuke a wise man, and he will loue thee.

9 Giue admonition to the wise, and he will be the wiser: teach a righteous man, and hee will increase in learning.

10 The beginning of wisedome is the feare of the Lord, and the knowledge of holy things, is vnderstanding.

11 For thy dayes shall be multiplied by mee, and the yeeres of thy life shall be augmented.

12 If thou be wise, thou shalt be wise for [k] thy selfe, and if thou be a scorner, thou alone shalt suffer.

13 ¶ A [l] foolish woman is troublesome; she is ignorant and knoweth nothing.

14 But shee sitteth at the doore of her house on a seate in the high places of the citie,

15 To call them that passe by the way, that goe right on their way, saying,

16 Who so is simple let him come hither, and to him that is destitute of wisdome, she saith also,

17 Stollen waters are sweet, and hid bread is pleasant.

18 But he knoweth not, that the dead are there, and that her ghests are in the depth of hell.

a Christ hath prepared him a Church.

b That is, many chiefe Reyes and principall parts of the Church, as were the Patriarkes, Prophets, Apostles, Pastours and Doctours.

c Hee compareth wisedome with great Princes that keepe open house, for all that come.

d Meaning, true preachers, which are not infected with mans wisedome.

e Hee that knoweth his owne ignorance, and is voide of malice.

f By the meat and drinke, is meant the word of God, and the ministration of the Sacraments, whereby God nourisheth his seruants in his house, which is the Church.

g For the wicked will contemne him and abhorre to defame him.

h Meaning them that are incorrigible, which Christ calleth dogs and swine: or he speaketh this in comparison, not that the wicked should not be rebuked, but he sheweth their malice, and the small hope of profit.

i He sheweth what true vnderstanding holy things. k Thou shalt haue the chiefe profit and commoditie thereof. l By the foolish woman, some vnderstand the wicked preachers, who counterfeite the word of God: as appeareth verse 16. which were the words of the true preachers, as verse 4. but their doctrine is but as stollen waters: meaning, that they are but mens traditions, which are more pleasant to the flesh then the word of God, and therefore they themselues boast thereof.

CHAP. X.

In this Chapter, and all that follow, vnto the thirteenth, the wise man exhorteth by diuers sentences, which hee calleth Parables, to follow vertue, and flee vice: and also sheweth what profite commeth of wisedome, and what hinderance proceedeth of foolishnesse.

THE PARABLE OF SALOMON.

A Wise* sonne maketh a glad father: but a foolish sonne is an heauinesse to his mother.

b Though he suffer the iust to want for a time, yet he will send him comfort in due season. ‖ Or, deceitfull.

c When their wickednes shalbe discouered, they shall be as dumbe, and not know what to say.
d Shalbe vile and abhorred both of God and man, contrary to their owne expectation, which thinke to make their name immortall.
‖ Or, surely.
e That beareth a faire countenance, and imagineth mischiefe in his heart, as Chap. 6. 13.
f For the corruption of his heart is knowen by his talke.
* 1. Cor. 13. 4. 1. pet. 4. 8.
g That is, God will shade him out to punish him.
h And so maketh him bold to doe euill, whereas pouerty bridleth the poore from many euill things.

i For they speake trueth, and edifie many by exhortations, admonitions, and counsell. k Meaning, that all worldly things bring care, and sorrow, whereas they that feele the blessings of God, haue none.

l He is but a trouble and griefe to him that fetteth him about any businesse. m The time of their prosperitie shalbe short because of their great fall, though they seeme to liue long. n They enioy in this life by faith and hope, their euerlasting life,

3 The Lord will b not famish the soule of the righteous: but he casteth away the substance of the wicked.
4 A ‖ slouthfull hand maketh poore: but the hand of the diligent maketh rich.
5 He that gathereth in summer, is the sonne of wisdome: but he that sleepeth in harueſt, is the son of confusion.
6 Blessings are vpon the head of the righteous: but iniquitie shall couer the mouth of c the wicked.
7 The memoriall of the iust shalbe blessed: but the name of the wicked shall d rot.
8 The wise in heart will receiue commandements: but the foolish in † talke shalbe beaten.
9 He that walketh vprightly, walketh ‖ boldly: but hee that peruerteth his wayes, shall be knowen.
10 Hee that e winketh with the eye, worketh sorrow, and he that is f foolish in talke, shall be beaten.
11 The mouth of a righteous man is a welspring of life; but iniquity couereth the mouth of the wicked.
12 Hatred stirreth vp contentions: * but loue couereth all trespasses.
13 In the lippes of him that hath vnderstanding, wisdome is found, and g a rod shalbe for the backe of him that is destitute of wisedome.
14 Wise men lay vp knowledge: but the mouth of the foole is a present destruction.
15 The rich mans goods are his h strong city; but the feare of the needy is their pouerty.
16 The labour of the righteous tendeth to life; but the reuenues of the wicked to sinne.
17 He that regardeth instruction is in the way of life; but he that refuseth correction, goeth out of the way.
18 He that dissembleth hatred with lying lips, and he that inuenteth slander, is a foole.
19 In many words there cannot want iniquity; but he that refraineth his lips, is wise.
20 The tongue of the iust man is as fined siluer; but the heart of the wicked is little worth.
21 The lips of the righteous doe i feed many; but fooles shall die for want of wisdome.
22 The blessing of the Lord, it maketh rich, and he doeth adde k no sorrowes with it.
23 It is a pastime to a foole to doe wickedly; but wisdome is vnderstanding to a man.
24 That which the wicked feareth, shall come vpon him: but God will graunt the desire of the righteous.
25 As the whirlewinde passeth, so is the wicked no more; but the righteous is as an euerlasting foundation.
26 As vineger is to the teeth, and as smoke to the eyes, so is the slothfull to them that l send him.
27 The feare of the Lord increaseth the dayes, but the yeeres of the wicked m shalbe diminished.
28 The patient abiding of the righteous shalbe gladnes; but the hope of the wicked shall perish.
29 The way of the Lord is strength to the vpright man; but feare shalbe for the workers of iniquitie.
30 The righteous shall n neuer be remooued: but the wicked shall not dwell in the land.
31 The mouth of the iust shall be fruitfull in wisdome: but the tongue of the froward shall be cut out.
32 The lips of the righteous know what is acceptable: but the mouth of the wicked speaketh froward things.

CHAP. XI.

FAlse a balances are an abomination vnto the Lord: but a perfite † weight pleaseth him.
2 When pride commeth, then commeth b shame: but with the lowly is wisedome.

7 * When a wicked man dieth, his hope perisheth, and the hope of the vniust shall perish.
8 The righteous escapeth out of trouble, and the wicked shall come in his c stead.
9 And hypocrisie with his mouth hurteth his neighbour; but the righteous shalbe deliuered by knowledge.
10 In the prosperitie of the righteous the citie d reioyceth; and when the wicked perish, there is ioy.
11 By the ‖ blessing of the righteous the citie is exalted; but it is subuerted by the mouth of the wicked.
12 Hee that despiseth his neighbour, is destitute of wisedome: but a man of vnderstanding will e keepe silence.
13 He that goeth about as a slanderer, discouereth a secret; but hee that is of a faithfull heart, concealeth a matter.
14 Where no counsell is, the people fall: but where many g counsellers are, there is health.
15 He shall be sore vexed, that is suretie for a h stranger, and he i that hateth suretiship, is sure.
16 A ‖ gracious woman attaineth honor, and the strong men attaine riches.
17 He that is mercifull, k rewardeth his owne soule: but hee that troubleth his owne ‖ flesh, is cruell.
18 The wicked worketh a deceitfull worke: but he that soweth righteousnesse, shall receiue a sure reward.
19 As righteousnesse leadeth to life: so he that followeth euill, seeketh his owne death.
20 They that are of a froward heart, are abomination to the Lord: but they that are vpright in l their way, are his delight.
21 † Though hand ioyne in hand, the wicked shall not be vnpunished: but the seed of the righteous shall escape.
22 As a iewell of golde in a swines snout, so is a faire woman which ‖ lacketh discretion.
23 The desire of the righteous is only good, but the hope of the wicked is indignation.
24 There is that scattereth, m and is more increased, but he that spareth more n then is right, surely commeth to pouertie.
25 The † liberall person shall haue plenty; and he that watereth, shall also haue raine.
26 He that withdraweth the corne, the people will curse him: but blessing shalbe vpon the head of him that o selleth corne.
27 He that seeketh good things, getteth fauour, but he that seeketh euill, it shall come to him.
28 He

6 By d mercy and truth iniquitie shalbe forgiuen, and by the feare of the Lord they depart from euill.

7 When the wayes of a man please the Lord, he will make also his enemies at peace with him.

8 * Better is a little with righteousnesse, then great reuenues without equity.

9 The heart of e man purposeth his way: but the Lord doth direct his steps.

10 A diuine sentence shalbe in the lips of ẏ king: his mouth shall not transgresse in iudgement.

11 * A true waight and balance are of the Lord: and the waighs of the bag are his f worke.

12 It is an abomination to kings to commit wickednesse: for the throne is stablished g by iustice.

13 Righteous lips are the delight of kings, and the king loueth him that speaketh right things.

14 The wrath of a king is as h messengers of death: but a wise man will pacifie it.

15 In the light of the kings countenance is life; and his fauour is i as a cloud of the latter raine.

16 * How much better is it to get wisedome then gold? and to get vnderstanding, is more to be desired then siluer.

17 The path of the righteous is to decline from euill, & he keepeth his soule that keepeth his way.

18 Pride goeth before destruction, and an high mind before the fall.

19 Better it is to be of humble mind with the lowly, then to diuide the spoyles with the proud.

20 He that is wise in his businesse, shall find good; and l he that trusteth in the Lord, he is blessed

21 The wise in heart shall be called prudent; and k the sweetnesse of the lips shall increase doctrine

22 Vnderstanding is a welspring of life vnto them that haue it; and the l instruction of fooles is folly.

23 The heart of the wise guideth his mouth wisely, and addeth doctrine to his lips.

24 Faires wordes are as an hony combe, sweetnes to the soule, and health to the bones.

25 * There is a way that seemeth right vnto man, but the issue thereof are the wayes of death.

26 The person that trauaileth, trauaileth for himselfe: for his mouth † craueth it of him.

27 A wicked man diggeth vp euill, and in his lips is like m burning fire.

28 A froward person soweth strife: and a tale-teller maketh diuision among princes.

29 A wicked man deceiueth his neighbour, and leadeth him into the way that is not good.

30 n He shutteth his eyes to diuise wickednes: he mooueth his lips, and bringeth euill to passe.

31 Age is a crowne of glory, when it is found in the way of o righteousnes.

32 Hee that is slow vnto anger, is better then the mightie man: and hee that ruleth his owne mind, is better then he that winneth a citie.

33 The lot is cast into the lap: but the whole disposition thereof is p of the Lord.

CHAP. XVII.

BEtter is a dry morsell, if peace be with it, then an house full of a sacrifices with strife.

2 * A discreete seruant shall haue rule ouer a lewd sonne, and he shall diuide ẏ b heritage among the brethren.

3 As is the fining pot for siluer, and the fornace for gold, so the Lord trieth the hearts.

4 The wicked giueth heed to false lips, and a liar hearkeneth to the naughty tongue.

5 * Hee that mocketh the poore, reproacheth him that made him; and he that reioyceth at destruction, shall not be vnpunished.

6 Childrens children are the crowne of the elders; and the glory of the children are their fathers.

7 † High talke becommeth not a foole, much lesse a lying talke a prince.

8 A reward is as a stone pleasant in the eyes of them that haue it; it prospereth, whithersoeuer it c turneth.

9 Hee that couereth a transgression, seeketh loue; but hee that repeateth a matter, separateth the d prince.

10 A reproofe entreth more into him that hath vnderstanding, then an hundred stripes into a foole.

11 A seditious person seeketh onely euill, and a cruell e messenger shalbe sent against him.

12 It is better for a man to meet a beare robbed of her whelps, then f a foole in his folly.

13 * Hee that rewardeth euill for good, euill shall not depart from his house.

14 The beginning of strife is as one that openeth the waters; therefore, or the contention be medled with, leaue off.

15 * He that iustifieth the wicked, and he that condemneth the iust, euen they both are abomination to the Lord.

16 Wherefore is there a g price in the hand of the foole to get wisedom, and he hath none heart?

17 A friend loueth at all times, and a h brother is borne for aduersitie.

18 A man destitute of vnderstanding, i toucheth the hand, & becometh surety for his neighbour.

19 He loueth transgression that loueth strife; and hee that exalteth his k gate, seeketh destruction.

20 The froward heart findeth no good; and he that that hath a naughtie tongue, shall fall into euill.

21 He that begetteth a foole, getteth himselfe sorow, and the father of a foole can haue no ioy.

22 * A ioyfull heart causeth good health: but a sorowfull minde drieth the bones.

23 A wicked man taketh a gift out of the [l] bosome to wrest the wayes of iudgement.

24 * Wisedome is in the face of him that hath vnderstanding: but the eyes of a foole are in the [m] corners of the world.

25 A foolish sonne is a griefe vnto his father, and a * heauinesse to her that bare him.

26 Surely it is not good to condemne the iust, nor that the princes should smite such [n] for equitie.

27 He that hath knowledge, spareth his words. and a man of vnderstanding is of an excellent spirit.

28 Euen a foole, (when hee holdeth his peace) is counted wise, and he that stoppeth his lips, prudent.

CHAP. XVIII.

FOr the desire thereof hee will [a] separate himselfe to seeke it, and occupie himselfe in all wisedome.

2 A foole hath no delight in vnderstanding: but that his heart may be [b] discouered.

3 When the wicked commeth, then commeth [c] contempt, and with the vile man reproach.

4 The words of a mans mouth are like deepe [d] waters, and the welspring of wisdome is like a flowing riuer.

5 It is not good to [e] accept the person of the wicked, to cause the righteous to fall in iudgement.

6 A fooles lips come with strife, and his mouth calleth for stripes.

7 A fooles mouth is his owne destruction, and his lips are a snare for his soule.

8 The words of a tale-bearer are as flatterings, and they goe downe into the [f] bowels of the belly.

9 Hee also that is slouthfull in his worke, is euen the brother of him that is a great waster.

10 The name of the Lord is a strong tower: the righteous runneth [g] vnto it, and is exalted.

11 * The rich mans riches are his strong citie: and as an high wall in his imagination.

12 * Before destruction the heart of a man is hautie, and before glory goeth lowlinesse.

13 * Hee that answereth a matter before hee heare it, it is follie and shame vnto him.

14 The spirit of a man will sustaine his infirmitie: but [h] a wounded spirit who can beare it?

15 A wise heart getteth knowledge, and the care of the wise seeketh learning.

16 A mans gift [i] enlargeth him, and leadeth him before great men.

17 [k] He that is first in his owne cause, is iust: then commeth his neighbour and maketh enquirie of him.

18 The lot [l] causeth contentions to cease, and [m] maketh a partition among the mightie.

19 A brother offended is harder to winne then a strong citie, and their contentions are like the [n] barre of a palace.

20 With the fruit of a mans mouth shall his belly be satisfied, and with the increase of his lips shall he be filled.

21 Death and life are in the power of the tongue, and they that [o] loue it, shall eat the fruit thereof.

22 Hee that findeth a [p] wife, findeth a good thing, and receiueth fauour of the Lord.

23 The poore speaketh with prayers: but the rich answereth rougly.

24 A man that hath friends, ought to shew himself friendly: for a friend is neerer [q] then a brother.

CHAP. XIX.

BEtter * is the poore that walketh in his vprightnesse, then he that abuseth his lips, and is a foole.

2 For without knowledge the minde is not good, and he that hasteth with his feet, sinneth.

3 The foolishnes of a man perverteth his way, and his heart fretteth against the Lord.

4 Riches gather many friends: but the poore is separated from his neighbour.

5 * A false witnesse shall not be vnpunished: and he that speaketh lies, shall not escape.

6 Many reuerence the face of the prince, and euery man is friend to him that giueth gifts.

7 All the brethren of the poore doe hate him: how much more will his friends depart farre from him? though he be instant [a] with words, yet they will not.

8 He that possesseth vnderstanding, [b] loueth his owne soule, and keepeth wisedom to find goodnes.

9 A false witnesse shall not be vnpunished: and he that speaketh lies, shall perish.

10 [c] Pleasure is not comely for a foole, much lesse for a seruant to haue rule ouer princes.

11 The discretion of a man deferreth his anger: and his glory is [d] to passe by an offence.

12 * The kings wrath is like the roaring of a lion: but his fauour is like ẽ dew vpon the grasse.

13 * A foolish sonne is the calamitie of his father, * & the contentions of a wife are like a continuall [e] dropping.

14 House and riches are the inheritance of the fathers: but a* prudent wife commeth of the Lord.

15 Slouthfulnesse causeth to fall asleepe, and a deceitfull person shalbe [f] famished.

16 Hee that keepeth the commandement, keepeth his owne soule: but hee that despiseth his wayes, shall die.

17 Hee that hath mercie vpon the poore, lendeth vnto the Lord: and the Lord will recompense him that which he hath giuen.

18 Chasten thy sonne while there is hope, and let not thy soule spare for his murmuring.

19 A man of much anger shall suffer punishment, and though thou [g] deliuer him, yet will his anger come againe.

20 Heare counsell and receiue instruction, that thou mayest be wise in thy latter end.

21 Many diuises are in a [h] mans heart: but the counsell of the Lord shall stand.

22 That that is to be desired of a man, is his [i] goodnesse, and a poore man is better then a liar.

23 The feare of the Lord leadeth [k] to life: and he that is filled therewith, shall continue, and shall not be visited with euill.

24 * The slouthfull hideth his hand in his bosome, and will not put it to his mouth againe.

25 * Smite a scorner, and the [l] foolish will beware: and reproue the prudent, and hee will vnderstand knowledge.

26 Hee that destroyeth his father, or chaseth away away his mother, is a lewd and shamefull childe.

27 My sonne, heare no more the instruction, that causeth to erre from the wordes of knowledge.

28 A wicked witnesse mocketh at iudgement, and the mouth of the wicked [k] swalloweth vp iniquitie.

29 But iudgements are prepared for the scorners, and stripes for the backe of the fooles.

CHAP. XX.

WIne [a] is a mocker, and strong drinke is raging: and whosoeuer is deceiued thereby, is not wise.

2 * The feare of the King is like the roaring of a lyon; hee that prouoketh him vnto anger [b] sinneth against his owne soule.

3 It is a mans honour to cease from strife: but euery foole will be medling.

4 The slouthfull will not plow, because of winter: therefore shall hee begge in summer, but haue nothing.

5 The counsell in the heart of [c] man is like deepe waters; but a man that hath vnderstanding, will draw it out.

6 Many men will boast euery one of his owne goodnesse, but who can find a faithfull man?

7 He that walketh in his integritie, is iust, and blessed shall his children be after him.

8 A king that sitteth in the throne of iudgement, [d] chaseth away all euill with his eyes.

9 * Who can say, I haue made mine heart cleane, I am cleane from my sinne?

10 Diuers † weights, and diuers measures, both [e] these are euen abomination vnto the Lord.

11 A child also is knowen by his doings, whether his worke be pure and right.

12 The Lord hath made both these, euen the eare to heare, and the eye to see.

13 Loue not sleepe, least thou come vnto pouertie; open thine eyes, and thou shalt be satisfied with bread.

14 It is naught, it is naught, saith the buyer; but when he is gone apart, he boasteth.

15 There is gold, and a multitude of precious stones; but the lips of knowledge are a precious iewell.

16 * Take his [f] garment, that is suretie for a stranger, and a pledge of him for the stranger.

17 The bread of deceit is sweete to a man; but afterward his mouth shalbe filled with [g] gauell.

18 Establishthy thoughts by counsell; and by counsell make warre.

19 He that goeth about, as a slanderer, discouereth * secrets; therefore meddle not with him that flattereth with his lips.

20 *He that curseth his father or his mother, his light shall be put out in obscure darkenesse.

21 An heritage is hastily gotten at the beginning, but the end thereof shall not be blessed.

22 Say not thou, * I will recompense euill, but waite vpon the Lord, and he shall saue thee.

23 * Diuers weights are an abomination vnto the Lord, and deceitfull balances are not good.

24 * The steps of man are ruled by the Lord; how can a man then vnderstand his owne way?

25 It is a destruction for a man to [g] deuoure that which is sanctified, and after the vowes to enquire.

26 A wise King scattereth the wicked, and causeth the [h] wheele to turne ouer them.

27 The [i] light of the Lord is the breath of man, and searcheth all the bowels of the bellie.

28 * Mercie and trueth preserue the king: for his throne shalbe established with mercy.

29 The beautie of young men is their strength, and the glory of the aged is the gray head.

30 [k] The blewnesse of the wound serueth to purge the euill, and the stripes within the bowels of the bellie.

CHAP. XXI.

THe * Kings heart is in the hand of the Lord, as the riuers of waters: he turneth it whithersoeuer it pleaseth him.

2 Euery * way of a man is right in his owne eyes: but the Lord pondereth the hearts.

3 * To doe iustice and iudgement is more acceptable to the Lord then sacrifice.

4 A hautie looke, and a proud heart which is the [l] light of the wicked, is sinne.

5 The thoughts of the diligent do surely bring abundance; but [c] whosoeuer is hastie, commeth surely to pouertie.

6 * The gathering of treasures by a deceitfull tongue, is vanitie tossed too and fro of them that seeke death.

7 The [d] robberie of the wicked shall destroy them; for they haue refused to execute iudgement.

8 The way of some is peruerted and strange; but of the pure man, his worke is right.

9 * It is better to dwell in a corner of the house top, then with a contentious woman in a [l] wide house.

10 The soule of the wicked wisheth euill: and his neighbour hath no fauour in his eyes.

11 [e] When the scorner is punished, the foolish is wise, and when one instructeth the wise, he will receiue knowledge.

12 The righteous [f] teacheth the house of the wicked; but God ouerthroweth the wicked for their euill.

13 Hee that stoppeth his eare at the crying of the poore, he shall also crie and not be heard.

14 A [g] gift in secret pacifieth anger, and a gift in the bosome, great wrath.

15 It is ioy to the iust to doe iudgement; but destruction shalbe to the workers of iniquitie.

16 A man that wandreth out of the way of wisedome, shall remaine in the congregation of the dead.

17 He that loueth pastime, shall be a poore man: and he that loueth wine and oyle, shall not be rich.

18 The [h] wicked shall be a ransome for the iust, and the transgressour for the righteous.

19 * It is better to dwell in the wildernesse, then with a contentious and angry woman.

20 In the house of the wise is a pleasant treasure and [i] oyle, but a foolish man deuoureth it.

21 He that followeth after righteousnesse and mercy, shall find life, righteousnesse and glory.

22 A [k] wise man goeth vp into the citie of the mightie, and casteth downe the strength of the confidence thereof.

23 He that keepeth his mouth and his tongue, keepeth his soule from afflictions.

24 Proud, hautie, and [l] scornefull is his name that worketh in his arrogancie wrath.

25 The desire of the slouthfull slayeth him, for his hands refuse to worke.

26 He coueteth euermore greedily: but the righteous giueth and spareth not.

h Fauour them that loue knowledge i He derideth them that inuent vaine excuses, because they would not doe their duetie.
k So God punisheth one time by another, when he suffereth the wicked to fall into the acquaintance of an harlot.
l He is naturally giuen vnto it.
m He sheweth what the end of wisedome is: to wit, to direct vs to the Lord.
n That is, sundry times.

27 The * sacrifice of the wicked is an abomination: how much more when hee bringeth it with a wicked mind?

28 * A false witnesse shall perish: but he that heareth, m speaketh continually.

29 A wicked man hardeneth his face: but the iust, he wil direct his way.

30 There is no wisedome, neither vnderstanding, nor counsell against the Lord.

31 The horse is prepared against the day of battell: but saluation is of the Lord.

CHAP. XXII.

A * Good name is to be chosen aboue great riches, and a louing fauour is aboue siluer and aboue gold.

2 * The rich and poore b meet together, the Lord is the maker of them all.

3 * A prudent man c seeth the plague, and hideth himselfe: but the foolish go on still, and are punished.

4 The reward of humilitie, and the feare of God is riches, and glory, and life.

5 Thornes and snares are in the way of the froward: but he that regardeth his soule, will depart farre from them.

6 Teach a child d in the trade of his way, and when he is old he shall not depart from it.

7 The rich ruleth the poore, and the borower is seruant to the man that lendeth.

8 Hee that soweth iniquitie, shall reape affliction, and the e rod of his anger shall faile.

9 * He that hath a good f eye, he shall be blessed: for he giueth of his bread vnto the poore.

10 Cast out the scorner, and strife shall go out: so contention and reproach shall cease.

11 Hee that loueth pureneſſe of heart for the grace of his lips, the g king shalbe his friend.

12 The eyes of the Lord preserue h knowledge: but hee ouerthroweth the words of the transgressour.

13 The slouthfull man saith, i A lyon is without, I shalbe slaine in the streete.

14 The mouth of strange women is as a deepe pit: he with whom the Lord is angry, k shall fall therein.

15 Foolishnesse is bound l in the heart of a child: but the rod of correction shall driue it away from him.

16 Hee that oppresseth the poore to increase himselfe, and giueth vnto the rich, shall surely come to pouertie.

17 ¶ Encline thine eare, and heare the words of the wise, and apply thine heart vnto my knowledge.

18 For it shall be pleasant, if thou keepe them in thy bellie, and if they be directed together in thy lips.

19 That thy confidence may be in m the Lord, I haue shewed thee this day: thou therefore take heede.

20 Haue not I written vnto thee n three times in counsels and knowledge, 21 That I might shew thee the assurance of the words of trueth, to answer the words of trueth to them that send to thee?

22 Robbe not the poore, because hee is poore, neither oppresse the afflicted † in iudgement.

23 For the Lord * will defend their cause, and spoyle the soule of those that spoyle them.

24 Make o no friendship with an angry man, neither goe with the furious man, 25 Least thou learne his wayes, and receiue destruction to thy soule.

26 Be not thou of them that p touch the hand, nor among them that are suretie for debts.

27 If thou hast nothing to pay, why causeth thou that hee should take thy bed from vnder thee?

28 Thou shalt not * remooue the ancient bounds which thy fathers haue made.

29 Thou seest that a diligent man in his businesse standeth before Kings, and standeth not before the base sort.

CHAP. XXIII.

WHen thou sittest to eate with a ruler, a consider diligently what is before thee,

2 b And put thy knife to thy throate, if thou be a man giuen to the appetite.

3 Be not desirous of his daintie meates: c for it is a deceiuable meat.

4 Trauaile not too much to be rich: but cease from thy d wisedome.

5 Wilt thou cast thine eyes vpon it, which is nothing? for riches taketh her to her wings, as an Eagle, and flieth into the heauen.

6 Eate thou not the bread of him that hath an e euill eye, neither desire his dainty meats.

7 For as though hee thought it in his heart: so will hee say vnto thee, Eate and drinke: but his heart is not with thee.

8 Thou shalt vomit thy f morsels that thou hast eaten, and thou shalt lose thy sweet words.

9 Speake not in the eares of a foole: for hee will despise the wisedome of thy words.

10 * Remooue not the ancient bounds, and enter not into the fields of the fatherlesse.

11 For hee that redeemeth them, is mightie: he will * defend their cause against thee.

12 Apply thine heart to instuction, and thine eares to the words of knowledge.

13 * Withhold not correction from the child: if thou smite him with the rod, he shall not die.

14 Thou shalt smite him with the rod, and shalt deliuer his soule from g hell.

15 My sonne, if thine heart be wise, mine heart shall reioyce, and I also,

16 And my reines shall reioyce, when thy lips speake righteous things.

17 * Let not thine heart be enuious against sinners: but let it be in the feare of the Lord continually.

18 For surely there is an end, h and thy hope shall not be cut off.

19 O thou my sonne, heare, and be wise, and guide thine heart in the i way.

20 Keepe not companie with † drunkards, nor with † gluttons.

21 For the drunkard and the glutton shall be poore, and the sleeper shall be cloathed with ragges.

22 Obey thy father that hath begotten thee, and despise not thy mother when she is old.

23 Buy k the trueth, but sell it not: likewise wisedome, instruction, and vnderstanding.

24 The father of the righteous shall greatly reioyce, and he that begetteth a wise childe, shall haue ioy of him.

strange woman is as a narrow pit.

28 * Also she lieth in wait as for a pray, [m] and she increaseth the transgressors among men.

29 To whom is woe? to whom is sorow? to whom is strife? to whom is murmuring? to whom are wounds without cause? and to whom is the redness of the eyes?

30 Euen to them that tary long at the wine, to them that goe, [n] and seeke mixt wine.

31 Looke not thou vpon the wine, when it is red, and when it sheweth his colour in the cup, or goeth downe pleasantly.

32 In the end thereof it will bite like a serpent, and hurt like a cockatrice.

33 Thine [o] eyes shall looke vpon strange women, and thine heart shall speake lewd things.

34 And thou shalt be as one that sleepeth in the midst of the [p] sea, and as he that sleepeth in the top of the mast.

35 They haue stricken mee, shalt thou say, but I was not sicke: they haue beaten mee, but I knew not, when I awoke: therefore will I [q] seeke it yet still.

CHAP. XXIV.

BE * not thou enuious against euill men, neither desire to be with them.

2 For their heart imagineth destruction, and their lips speake mischiefe.

3 Through wisdome is an house builded, and with vnderstanding it is established.

4 And by knowledge shall the chambers be filled with all precious and pleasant riches.

5 A wise man is strong: for a man of vnderstanding increaseth his strength.

6 * For with counsell thou shalt enterprise thy warre, and in the multitude of them that can giue counsell, is health.

7 Wisedome is high to a foole: therefore hee cannot open his mouth in the [a] gate.

8 Hee that imagineth to doe euill, men shall call him an authour of wickednesse.

9 The wicked thought of a foole is sinne, and the scorner is an abomination vnto men.

10 If thou be [b] faint in the day of aduersitie, thy strength is small.

11 Deliuer them that are drawen [c] to death, and wilt thou not preserue them that are led to be slaine?

12 If thou say, Behold, we knew not of it: he that pondereth the hearts, doeth not hee vnderstand it? and he that keepeth thy soule, knoweth he it not? will he not also recompense euery man according to his workes?

13 My sonne, eate [d] hony, for it is good, and the hony combe, for it is sweet vnto thy mouth.

14 So shall the knowledge of wisedome be vnto thy soule if thou finde it, and there shall be an [ll] end, and thine hope shall not be cut off.

15 Lay no waite, O wicked man, against the house of the righteous, and spoyle not his resting place.

16 For a iust man [e] falleth seuen times, and riseth againe, but the wicked fall into mischiefe.

17 Be thou not glad when thine enemie falleth, and let not thine heart reioyce when hee stumbleth, 18 Least the Lord see it, and it displease him, and he turne his wrath [f] from him.

19 * Fret not thy selfe because of the malicious, neither be enuious at the wicked.

20 For there shall be none end of plagues to the euill man: * the light of the wicked shall be put out.

21 My sonne, feare the Lord, and the King, and meddle not with them that are seditious.

22 For their destruction shall rise suddenly, and who knoweth the ruine [g] of them? both?

23 ALSO THESE THINGS PERTEINE TO THE WISE, It is not good [†] to haue respect of any person in iudgement.

24 Hee that saith to the wicked, * Thou art righteous, him shall the people curse, and the multitude shall abhorre him.

25 But to them that rebuke him, shall be pleasure, and vpon them shall come the blessing of goodnesse.

26 They shall kisse the lips of him that answereth vpright words.

27 Prepare thy worke without, and make readie thy things in the field, [h] and after, build thine house.

28 Be not a witnesse against thy neighbour without cause: for wilt thou deceiue with thy lips?

29 * Say not, I will do to him as he hath done to me, I [i] will recompense euery man according to his worke.

30 I passed by the field of the slouthfull, and by the vineyard of the man destitute of vnderstanding.

31 And lo, it was all growen ouer with thornes, and nettles had couered the face thereof, and the stone wall thereof was broken downe.

32 Then I beheld, and I considered it well: I looked vpon it, and receiued [k] instruction.

33 Yet a little sleepe, [l] a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleepe.

34 So thy pouertie commeth as one that trauelleth by the way, and thy necessitie like an armed man.

CHAP. XXV.

1 THESE ARE ALSO PARABLES of Salomon, which the [a] men of Hezekiah King of Iudah [b] copied out.

THe glory of God is to [c] conceale a thing secret: but the [d] Kings honour is to search out a thing.

3 The heauens in height, and the earth in deepnesse, and [ŷ] kings heart can no man search out.

4 Take the [f] drosse from the siluer, and there shall proceed a vessell for the finer,

5 Take [g] away the wicked from the King, and his throne shalbe established in righteousnes.

6 Boast not thy selfe before the King, and stand not in the place of great men.

7 * For it is better, that it be said vnto thee, Come vp hither, then thou to be put lower in the presence of [ŷ] Prince whom thine eyes haue seene.

8 Goe not foorth hastily to strife, least thou know not what to doe in the end thereof, when thy neighbour hath put thee to shame.

9 Debate thy matter with thy neighbour, and discouer not the secret to another,

10 Least hee that heareth it, put thee to shame, and thine infamie doe not [h] cease.

11 A word spoken in his place, is like apples of gold with pictures of siluer.

13 As the cold of the snow [i] in the time of harvest, so is a faithfull messenger to them that send him; for he refresheth the soule of his masters.

14 A man that boasteth of false liberalitie, is like [k] clouds and wind without raine.

15 A Prince is pacified by staying of [l] anger, and a soft tongue breaketh the [m] bones.

16 If thou haue found hony, eat that is [n] sufficient for thee, least thou be ouerfull, and vomit it.

17 Withdraw thy foote from thy neighbours house, least he be weary of thee, and hate thee.

18 A man that beareth false witnesse against his neighbour, is like an hammer and a sword, and a sharpe arrow.

19 Confidence in an vnfaithfull man in time of trouble, is like a broken tooth & a sliding foot.

20 Hee that taketh away the garment in the cold season, is like vineger powred vpon [o] nitre, or like him that singeth songs to an heauy heart.

21 * If hee that hateth thee be hungry, giue him bread to eat, and if hee be thirstie, giue him water to drinke.

22 For thou shalt lay [p] coales vpon his head, and the Lord shall recompense thee.

23 As the Northwind driueth away the raine, so doeth an angry countenance the slandering tongue.

24 * It is better to dwell in a corner of the house top, then with a contentious woman in a wide house.

25 As are the cold waters to a weary soule, so is good newes from a farre countrey.

26 A righteous man falling downe before the wicked, is like a troubled well and a corrupt spring.

27 It is not good to eate much hony: * so to search their owne glory, is not glory.

28 A man that refraineth not his appetite, is like a city which is [q] broken downe and without walles.

CHAP. XXVI.

AS the snow in the Summer, and as the raine in the Harueſt are not meet, so is honour vnseemely for a foole.

2 As the sparrow by flying, and the swallow by flying escape, so the curse that is causelesse, shal not come.

3 Vnto the horse belongeth a whip, to the asse a bridle, and a rod to the fooles backe.

4 Answere not a foole [a] according to his foolishnesse, least thou also be like him.

5 Answere a foole [b] according to his foolishnesse, least he be wise in his owne † conceit.

6 He that sendeth a message by the hand of a foole, is as hee that cutteth off [c] the feet, [d] and drinketh iniquitie.

7 As they that lift vp the legs of the lame, so is a parable in a fooles mouth.

8 As the closing vp of a precious stone in an heape of stones, so is hee that giueth glory to a foole.

9 As a thorne standing [e] vp in the hand of a drunkard, so is a parable in the mouth of fooles.

10 [f] The Excellent that formed all things, both rewardeth the foole, and rewardeth the transgressours.

11 * As a dog turneth againe to his owne vomit, so a foole turneth to his foolishnesse.

12 Seest thou a man wise in his owne conceit? [g] more hope is of a foole then of him.

13 The slouthfull man saith, [h] A lion is in the way; a lion is in the streetes.

14 As the doore turneth vpon his hinges, so doeth the slouthfull man vpon his bed.

15 * The slouthfull hideth his hand in his bosome, and it grieueth him to put it againe to his mouth.

16 The sluggard is wiser in his owne conceit, then seuen men that can render a reason.

17 Hee that passeth by and meddleth with the strife that belongeth not vnto him, is as one that taketh a dog by the eares.

18 As hee that casteth firebrands, arrowes, and mortall things.

19 So dealeth the deceitfull man with [i] his friend, and saith, Am not I in sport?

20 Without wood the fire is quenched, and without a tale-bearer strife ceaseth.

21 * As the cole maketh burning coales, and wood a fire, so the contentious man is apt to kindle strife.

22 * The words of a tale-bearer are as flatterings, and they go downe into the bowels of the belly.

23 As siluer drosse ouerlaid vpon a potsheard, so are burning lips, and [k] an euill heart.

24 Hee that hateth, will counterfeit with his lips, but in his heart he layeth vp deceit.

25 Though hee speake fauourably, beleeue him not: for there are [l] seuen abominations in his heart.

26 Hatred may be couered by deceit: but the malice thereof shall be discouered in the [m] congregation.

27 * He that diggeth a pit shall fall therein, and he that rolleth a stone, it shall returne vnto him.

28 A false tongue hateth the afflicted, and a flattering mouth causeth ruine.

CHAP. XXVII.

BOast not thy selfe of to [a] morrowe, for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth.

2 Let another man praise thee, and not thine owne mouth: a stranger, and not thine owne lips.

3 * A stone is heauy, and the sand weightie: but a fooles wrath is heauier then them both.

4 Anger is cruell, and wrath is raging: but who can stand before [b] enuie?

5 Open rebuke is better then secret loue.

6 The wounds of a louer are faithfull, and the kisses of an enemie are [c] pleasant.

7 * The person that is full, despiseth an hony combe: but vnto the hungry soule euery bitter thing is sweet.

8 As a bird that wandreth from her nest, so is a man that wandreth from his owne place.

9 As ointment and persume reioyce the heart, so doeth the sweetnesse of a mans friend by hearty counsell.

10 Thine owne friend and thy fathers friend forsake thou not: neither enter into thy brothers [d] house in the day of thy calamitie: for better is a neighbour that is neere, then a brother farre off.

11 My sonne, be wise, and reioyce mine heart, that I may answere him that reproacheth me.

12 [e] A prudent man seeth the plague, and hideth himselfe: but the foolish goe on still, and are punished.

CHAP. XXVIII.

THe wicked a flee when none pursueth: but the righteous are bold as a lion.

2 For the transgression of the land [b] there are many princes thereof: but by a man of vnderstanding and knowledge a realme likewise endureth long.

3 A poore man, if hee oppresse the poore, is like a [a] raging raine that leaueth no food.

4 They that forsake the Law, prayse the wicked: but they that keepe the Law, set themselues against them.

5 Wicked men vnderstand not iudgement: but they that seeke the Lord, vnderstand all things.

6 *Better is the poore that walketh in his vprightnesse, then hee that peruerteth his wayes, though he be rich.

7 He that keepeth the Law, is a childe of vnderstanding: but hee that feedeth the gluttons, shameth his father.

8 He that increaseth his riches by vsurie and interest, gathereth [c] them for him that will be mercifull vnto the poore.

9 He that turneth away his eare from hearing the Law, euen his prayer shallbee [d] abominable.

10 He that causeth the righteous to go astray by an euill way, shall fall into his owne pit, and the vpright shall inherit good things.

11 The rich man is wise in his owne conceit: but the poore that hath vnderstanding, can trie [e] him.

12 *When righteous men reioyce, there is great glory: but when the wicked come vp, the man [f] is tried.

13 He that hideth his sinnes, shall not prosper: but he that confesseth, and forsaketh them, shall haue mercie.

14 Blessed is the man that [g] feareth alway: but he that hardeneth his heart, shall fall into euill.

15 As a roaring lion, and an hungry beare, so is [h] a wicked ruler ouer the poore people.

16 A prince destitute of vnderstanding, is also a great oppressour: but he that hateth couetousnesse, shall prolonge his dayes.

17 A man that doeth violence against the blood of a person, shall flee vnto the graue, and they shall not [i] stay him.

18 He that walketh vprightly shall be saued: but hee that is froward in his wayes, shall once fall.

19 * He that tilleth his land, shallbe satisfied with bread, but he that followeth the idle, shalbe filled with pouertie.

20 A faithfull man shall abound in blessings, and † hee that maketh haste to be rich, shall not be innocent.

21 To haue respect of persons is not good: for that man will transgresse for a piece of [k] bread.

22 A man with a wicked [l] eye hasteth to riches, and knoweth not that pouertie shall come vpon him.

23 He that rebuketh a man, shall finde more fauour at the length, then he that flattereth with his tongue.

24 He that robbeth his father and mother, and saith, It is no transgression, is the companion of a man that destroyeth.

25 Hee that is of a proud heart, stirreth vp strife: but the that trusteth in the Lord, shallbe [m] fat.

26 Hee that trusteth in his owne heart, is a foole: but hee that walketh in wisedome, shalbe deliuered.

27 Hee that giueth vnto the poore, shall not lacke: but he that hideth his eyes, shall haue many curses.

28 * When the wicked rise vp, men hide themselues: but when they perish, the righteous increase.

CHAP. XXIX.

A Man that hardeneth his necke when he is rebuked, shall suddenly be destroyed, and cannot be cured.

2 *When the righteous ‖ are in authority, the people reioyce: but when the wicked beareth rule, the people sigh.

3 A man that loueth wisedome reioyceth his father; but * hee that feedeth harlots wasteth his substance.

4 A king by iudgement maintaineth the countrey: but a man receiuing gifts, destroyeth it.

5 A man that flattereth his neighbour, [a] spreadeth a net for his steps.

6 In the transgression of an euill man is his [b] snare: but the righteous doeth sing and reioyce.

7 The righteous knoweth the cause of the poore: but the wicked regardeth not knowledge.

8 Scornefull men bring a city into a snare: but wise men turne away wrath.

9 If a wise man contend with [c] a foolish man, whether he be angry or laugh, there is no rest.

10 Bloody men hate him that is vpright: but the iust haue care of his soule.

11 A foole powreth out all his minde: but a wise man keepeth it in till afterward.

12 Of a prince that hearkeneth to lies, all his seruants are wicked.

13 * The poore and the vsurer meet together, and the Lord lighteneth both their eyes.

14 A * King that iudgeth the poore in trueth, his throne shall be established for euer.

2 Surely I am more [c] foolish then any man, and haue not the vnderstanding of a man in me.

4 Who hath ascended vp to [d] heauen, and descended? Who hath gathered the wind in his fist? Who hath bound the waters in a garment? Who hath established all the ends of the world? What is his name, and what is his sonnes name, if thou canst tell?

5 * Euery word of God is pure: he is a shield to those that trust in him.

6 ▽ Put nothing vnto his wordes, least hee reproue thee, and thou be found a lyar.

7 Two things haue I required of thee: denie me them not before I die.

8 Remoue farre from mee vanitie and lyes: giue me not pouertie, nor riches: feede mee with foode conuenient for me.

9 Least I be full, and denie thee, and say, [f] Who is the Lord? or least I be poore and steale, and take the Name of my God in vaine.

16 The graue, and the barren wombe, the earth, that cannot be satisfied with water, and the fire that saith not, It is enough.

17 The eye that mocketh his father & despiseth the instruction of his mother, let the rauens [i] of the valley picke it out, and the yong eagles eate it.

18 There be three things hid from mee; yea, foure that I know not:

19 The way of an eagle in the ayre, the way of a serpent vpon a stone, the way of a shippe in the midst of the sea, & the way of a man with a maide.

20 Such is the way also of an adulterous woman: shee eateth and [k] wipeth her mouth, and saith, I haue not commited iniquity.

22 For [l] a seruant when hee reigneth, and a foole when he is filled with meate.

23 For [m] hatefull woman, when she is maried, & for a handmaid that is [m] heire to her mistresse.

ECCLESIASTES, OR THE PREACHER.

THE ARGVMENT.

SAlomon as a Preacher and one that desired to instruct all in the way of saluation, describeth the deceiueable vanities of this world: that man should not be addicted to any thing vnder the sunne, but rather inflamed with the desire of the heauenly life: therefore he confuteth their opinions, which set their felicity either in knowledge, or in pleasures, or in dignitie and riches, shewing that mans true felicitie consisteth in that, that hee is vnited with God, and shall enioy his presence: so that all other things must be reiected, saue in asmuch as they further vs to attaine to this heauenly treasure, which is sure and permanent, and cannot be found in any other saue in God alone.

CHAP. I.

1 All things in this world are full of vanitie, and of none endurance. 13 All mans wisedome is but folie and griefe.

THE wordes of the [a] Preacher, the sonne of Dauid king in Ieruſalem.
2 [b] Vanitie of vanities, ſayth the Preacher: vanitie of vanities, all is vanitie.
3 What remaineth vnto man in all his[c] trauaile, which he ſuffereth vnder ſ sunne?
4 One generation paſſeth, and another generation ſucceedeth: but the earth remaineth for euer.
5 The ſunne riſeth, and the ſunne goeth downe, and draweth to his place where he riſeth.
6 The [e] winde goeth toward the South, and compaſſeth toward the North: the winde goeth round about, and returneth by his circuites.
7 * All the riuers goe into the ſea, yet the ſea is not full: for the riuers goe vnto the place whence they returne, and goe.
8 All things are full of labour: man cannot vtter it: the eye is not ſatiſfied with ſeeing, nor the eare filled with hearing.
9 [g] What is it that hath bin? that ſhall be: and what is it that hath bin done? that which ſhall be done: & there is no new thing vnder the ſunne.
10 Is there any thing, whereof one may ſay, Behold this, it is new? it hath bin already in the old time that was before vs.
11 There is no memory of the former, neither ſhall there be a remembrance of the latter that ſhall be, with them that ſhall come after.
12 ¶ [h] I the Preacher haue beene king ouer Iſrael in Ieruſalem.
13 And I haue giuen mine heart to ſearch and find out wiſdome by all things that are done vnder the heauen: (this ſore trauell hath God giuen to the ſonnes of men, [i] to humble them thereby.)
14 I haue conſidered all the workes that are done vnder the ſunne, and behold, all is vanitie, and vexation of the ſpirit.
15 That which is [k] crooked, can none make ſtreight: & that which faileth, cannot be numbred.
16 I thought in mine heart, and ſayd, Behold, I am become great, and excell in wiſdom all them that haue beene before me in Ieruſalem: and mine heart hath ſeene much wiſedome and knowledge.
17 And I gaue mine heart to know wiſdome and knowledge, [l] madneſſe and fooliſhneſſe: I knew alſo that this is a vexation of the ſpirit.
18 For in the multitude of wiſedome is much [m] griefe: and he that increaſeth knowledge, increaſeth ſorow.

a Salomon is here called a preacher, or one that aſſembleth the people, becauſe he teacheth the true knowledge of God, and how men ought to paſſe their life in this tranſitory world.
b He condemneth the opinions of all men that ſet felicitie in any thing, but in God alone, ſeeing that in this world all things are as vanitie and nothing.
c Salomon doeth not condemne mans labour or diligence, but ſheweth that there is no full contentation in any thing vnder the heauen, nor in any creature, forasmuch as all things are tranſitory.
d One man dieth after another, and the earth remaineth longeſt, euen to the laſt day, which yet is ſubiect to corruption.
e By the ſunne, winde and riuers, he ſheweth that the greateſt labour and longeſt bath an end, and therefore there can be no felicity in this world. * Eccleſ. 40, 11.
f The ſea which compaſſeth all the earth, filleth the veines thereof, the which powre out ſprings and riuers into the ſea againe.
g Hee ſpeaketh of times and ſeaſons, and things done in them, which as they haue bene in times paſt, ſo come they to paſſe againe.

h He prooueth that if any could haue attained to felicitie in this world by labour and ſtudie, hee chiefly ſhould haue obtained it, becauſe he had gifts and graces of God thereunto aboue all other.
i Man of nature hath a deſire to know, and yet is not able to come to the perfection of knowledge, which is the puniſhment of ſinne, to humble man, and to teach him to depend onely vpon God.
k Man is not able by all his diligence to cauſe things to go other wiſe then they doe: neither can hee number l That is, vaine things, but griefe and trouble of conſcience.
m Wiſedome and knowledge cannot be come by without great paine of body and minde: for when a man hath attained to the higheſt, yet is his minde neuer fully content: therefore in this world is no true felicity.

the faults that are committed, much leſſe remedy them. I which ſerued vnto pleaſure, wherein was no commodite,

CHAP. II.

Pleasures, sumptuous buildings, riches and possessions are but vanitie. 24 The wise and the foole haue both one ende touching the bodily death.

I Said in mine heart, Goe to now, I will proue a thee with ioy: therefore take thou pleasure in pleasant things: and behold, this also is vanitie.
2 I said of laughter, Thou art mad: and of ioy, What is this that thou doest?
3 I sought in mine heart † to giue my selfe to wine, and to leade mine heart in b wisedome, and to take hold of folly, till I might see where is that goodnesse of the children of men, which they † enioy vnder the Sunne, the whole number of the dayes of their life.
4 I haue made my great workes: I haue built me houses: I haue planted me vineyards.
5 I haue made me gardens and † orchards, and planted in them trees of all fruit.
6 I haue made me cisternes of water, to water therewith the woods that grow with trees.
7 I haue gotten seruants and maides, and had children borne in the c house: also I had great Possession of beeues and sheepe aboue all that were before me in Ierusalem.
8 I haue gathered vnto mee also siluer and gold, and the chiefe treasures of Kings and prouinces: I haue prouided me men singers, and women singers, and the d delights of the sonnes of men, as a woman e taken captiue, and women taken captiues.
9 And I was great, and increased aboue all that were before me in Ierusalem: also my wis-dome f remained with me.
10 And whatsoeuer mine eyes desired, I withheld it not from them: I withdrew not mine heart from any ioy: for mine heart reioyced in all my labour: and this was my g portiō of all my trauaile.
11 Then I looked on all my works that mine hands had wrought, and on the trauaile that I had laboured to doe: and behold, all is vanitie and vexation of the spirit: and there is no profit vnder the sunne.
12 ¶ And I turned to behold h wisedome, and madnes, and folly; (for who is the man that ‖ will come after the King in things, which men now haue done?)
13 Then i saw that there is profit in wisdome, more then in folly: as the light is more excellent then darkenesse.
14 * For the wise mans i eyes are in his head, but the foole walketh in darkenesse: yet I know also that the same k condition falleth to them all.
15 Then I thought in mine heart, It befalleth vnto me, as it befalleth to the foole. Why therefore doe I then labour to be more wise? And I said in mine heart, that this also is vanitie.
16 For there shall be no remembrance of the wise, nor of the foole l for euer: for that that now is, in the dayes to come, shall all be forgotten. And m how dieth the wise man, as doeth the foole?
17 Therefore I hated life: for the worke that is wrought vnder the Sunne is grieuous vnto me;
for all is vanitie, and vexation of the spirit.
18 I hated also all my labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the Sunne, which I shall leaue to the man that shalbe after me.
19 And who knoweth whether he shalbe wise or foolish? yet shall he haue rule ouer all my labour, wherein I haue trauailed, and wherein I haue shewed my selfe wise vnder the sunne. This is also vanitie.
20 Therefore I went about to make mine heart n abhorre all the labour, wherein I had trauailed
vnder the Sunne.
21 For there is a man whose trauaile is in wise-dome, and in knowledge, and in equitie: yet to a man that hath not trauailed therein, shall he o giue his portion: this also is vanity, and a great griefe.
22 For what hath man of all his trauaile and griefe of his heart, wherein he hath trauailed
vnder the Sunne?
23 For all his dayes are sorowes, and his trauaile griefe: his heart also taketh not rest in the night: which also is vanitie.
24 There is no profit to man, but that he eat, and drinke, and p delight his soule with the profit of his labour: I saw also this, that it was of the hand of God.
25 For who could eat, and who could haste to q outward things more then I?
26 Surely to a man that is good in his sight, God giueth wisdome, and knowledge, and ioy: but to the sinner hee giueth paine to gather, and to heape to giue to him that is good before God:
this also is vanitie, and vexation of the spirit.

CHAP. III.

1 All things haue their time. 14 The workes of God are perfect, and cause vs to feare him. 17 God shall iudge both the iust and vniust.

TO all things there is an a appointed time, and a time to euery purpose vnder the heauen.
2 A time to be borne, and a time to die: a time to plant, and a time to plucke vp that which is planted.
3 A time to slay, and a time to heale: a time to breake downe, and a time to build.
4 A time to weepe, and a time to laugh, a time to mourne, and a time to dance.
5 A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones: a time to embrace, and a time to be farre from embracing.
6 A time to seeke, and a time to lose: a time to keepe, and a time to cast away.
7 A time to rent, and a time to sowe: a time to keepe silence, and a time to speake.
8 A time to loue, and a time to hate: a time of warre, and a time of peace.
9 What profit hath hee that worketh of the thing wherein he trauailleth?
10 I haue seene the trauaile that God hath giuen to the sonnes of men, b to humble them thereby.
11 He hath made euery thing beautifull in his time: also hee hath set the c world in their heart, yet cannot man find out the work that God hath wrought from the beginning euen to the end.
12 I know that there is nothing good in them, but to reioyce, and to doe good in his life.
13 And also that euery man eateth and drink-

This is the d gift of God.

it can none diminish; for God hath done it, that they should feare before him.

d That is, whatsoeuer men take pleasure in.
e Which were the most beautifull of them that were taken in warre, as Iudg. 5. 30. Some vnderstand by these words, no women, but instruments of musicke.
f For all this God did not take his gift of wisedome from mee.
g This was the fruit of all my labour, a certaine pleasure mixt with care, which he calleth vanity in the next verse.
h I beethought with my selfe whether it were better to follow wisedome or mine owne affections and pleasures which he calleth madnes.
‖ Or, compare with the King.
* Prou. 17. 24.
i Hee foreseeth things which the foole can not foresee for lacke of wisedome.
k For both die and are forgotten as verse 16. or they both like haue prosperitie or aduersitie.
l Meaning, in this world.
m He wondereth that men forget a wise man, being dead, all one as they doe a foole.

n That I might seeke the true felicitie which is in God.

o Among other griefes that was not the least, to leaue that which he had gotten by great trauaile, to one that had taken no paine therefore, and whom he knew not whether he were a wise man or a foole.

q Meaning, to pleasures.

a He speaketh of this diuersitie of time for two causes: first to declare that there is nothing to this world perpetuall: next to teach vs not to be grieued, if we haue not all things at once according to our desires, neither enioy them so long as we would wish.

g Meaning, with God, howsoeuer man neglect his duetie.
h And made them pure in their first creation.
i Man is not able by his reason and iudgement to put difference betweene man and beast, as touching those things whereunto both are subiect: for the eye cannot iudge any otherwise of a man being dead, then of a beast, which is dead: yet by the word of God and faith we easily know the diuersitie, as verse 21.
k Meaning, that reason cannot comprehend that which faith beleeueth herein. 1 By the often repetition of this sentence, as Chap. 2. 24. and Chap. 3. 12. 22. Chap. 5. 17. and Chap. 8. 15. he declareth that man by reason can comprehend nothing better in this life, then to vse the gifts of God soberly and comfortably: for to know further, is a speciall gift of God reuealed by his Spirit.

iust and the wicked: for time is g there for euery purpose and for euery worke.

18 I considered in mine heart the state of the children of men, that God had h purged them: yet to see too, they are in themselues as beasts.

19 For the condition of the children of men, and the condition of beasts are euen as one i condition vnto them. As the one dieth, so dieth the other: for they haue al one breath, & there is no excellencie of man aboue the beast: for all is vanity.

20 All go to one place, and all was of the dust, and all shall returne to the dust.

21 Who k knoweth whether the spirit of man ascend vpward, and the spirit of the beast descend downeward to the earth?

22 Therefore I see that there is nothing better then that a man should l reioyce in his affaires, because that is his portion. For who shall bring him to see what shalbe after him.

CHAP. IIII.

a The innocents are oppressed. 4 Mans labours are full of abuse and vanitie. 9 Mans societie is necessarie. 13 A young man poore and wise, is to be preferred to an old King that is a foole.

SO a I turned and considered all the oppressions that are wrought vnder the sunne, and behold, the teares of the oppressed, and none comforteth them, and loe, the strength is of the hand of them that oppresse them, and none comforteth them.

2 Wherefore I praysed the b dead which now are dead, aboue the liuing, which are yet aliue.

3 And I count him c better then them both, which hath not yet beene: for hee hath not seene the euill works which are wrought vnder the sun.

4 Also I beheld all trauaile, and all d perfection of workes, that this is the enuie of a man against his neighbour: this also is vanitie and vexation of spirit.

5 The foole foldeth his hands, and e eateth vp his owne flesh.

6 Better is an handfull with quietnesse, then two handfuls with labour and vexation of spirit.

7 Againe I returned, and sawe vanitie vnder the sunne.

8 There is one alone, and there is not a second, which hath neither sonne nor brother, yet is there none end of all his trauaile, neither can his eye be satisfied with riches: neither doeth he thinke, For whom doe I trauaile and defraud my soule of pleasure? this also is vanitie, & this is an euill trauaile.

9 f Two are better then one: for they haue better wages for their labour.

10 For if they fall, the one will lift vp his fellow: but woe vnto him that is alone: for he falleth, and there is not a second to lift him vp.

11 Also if two sleepe together, then shall they haue heate: but to one how should there be heate?

12 And if one ouercome him, two shall stand against him: and a threefold g cord is not easily broken.

13 Better is a poore and wise childe, then an old and foolish King, which will no more be admonished.

14 For out of the h prison he commeth forth to reigne: when as he that is i borne in his kingdome, is made poore.

15 I beheld all the liuing, which walke vnder the Sunne k with the second childe, which shall stand vp in his place.

16 There is none l end of all the people, nor of all that were before them, and they that come after, shall not reioyce in him: surely this is also vanitie and vexation of spirit.

17 Take heed to thine m foote when thou entrest into the house of God, and be more neere to heare then to giue the sacrifice of n fooles: for they know not that they doe euill.

d He maketh here another discourse with himselfe concerning the tyrannie of them that oppressed the poore.
e Because they are no more subiect to these oppressions.
f Forasmuch as when man is alone, he can neither helpe himselfe nor others, he sheweth that men ought to liue in mutuall societie and consent they may be profitable one to another, and that their things may increase.
g By this prouerbe he declareth how necessary it is, that men should liue in societie.
h That is, from a poore and base estate, or out of trouble, and prison as Ioseph did, Gen. 41. 14.
i Meaning, that is borne a King.

k Which follow and flatter the Kings sonne, or him that shall succeede, to enter into credite with them in hope of gaine.
l They neuer cease by all means to creepe into fauour, but when they obteine not their greedy desires, they and so care no more.
m That is, to heare the words of God.
n Meaning, of the wicked, which thinke to please God with ceremonies, and haue neither faith nor repentance.

thinke themselues absed, as other haue beene in time past for him.

CHAP. V.

a Not to speake lightly, chiefly in Gods matters. 9 The couetous can neuer haue enough. 11 The labourers sleepe is sweete. 14 Man when he dieth, taketh nothing with him. 18 To liue ioyfully, and with a contented mind, is the gift of God.

BE not a rash with thy mouth, nor let thine heart be hastie to vtter a thing before God: for God is in the heauens, and thou art on the earth; therefore let thy words be b few.

2 For as a dreame commeth by the multitude of businesse; so the voyce of a foole is in the multitude of words.

3 * When thou hast vowed a vow to God, defer not to pay it; for he delighteth not in fooles; pay therefore that thou hast c vowed.

4 It is better that thou shouldest not vow, then that thou shouldest vow and not pay it.

5 Suffer not thy mouth to make thy d flesh to sinne; neither say before the e Angel, that this is ignorance; wherefore shall God be angry by thy voyce, and destroy the worke of thine hands?

6 For in the multitude of dreames, and vanities are also many words: but feare thou God.

7 If in a countrey thou seest the oppression of the poore, and the defrauding of iudgement and iustice, be not astonied at the matter: for he that is f higher then the highest, regardeth, and there be higher then they.

8 And the g abundance of the earth is ouer all: the king h also consisteth by the field that is tilled.

9 He that loueth siluer, shall not be satisfied with siluer, and he that loueth riches, shalbe without the fruit thereof: this is also vanitie.

10 When goods increase, they are increased that eate them: and what good commeth to the owners thereof, but the beholding thereof with their eyes.

11 The sleepe of him that trauaileth, is sweete, whether hee eate little or much: but the i sacietie of the rich will not suffer him to sleepe.

12 There is an euill sickenesse that I haue seene vnder the sunne: to wit, riches k reserued to the owners thereof for their euill.

13 And these riches perish by euill trauell, and he begetteth a sonne, and in his l hand is nothing.

14 * As he came foorth of his mothers belly, he shall returne naked to goe as he came, and shall beare away nothing of his labour, which he hath caused to passe by his hand.

15 And this also is an euill sickenesse, that in all points as he came, so shall he goe, and what profit hath he that he hath traueiled for the m winde?

16 Also all his dayes he eateth in n darkenesse with a Either in vowing or in praying: meaning, that we should vse all reuerence to Godward.

b Hee heareth thee not for thy many words sake, or often repetitions, but considereth thy faith and feruent minde.
* Deut. 23. 21.
c He speaketh of vowes, which are approoued by Gods worde, and serue to his glory.
d Cause not thy flesh to sinne by vowing rashly: as they doe which make a vow to liue vnmarried, &c. such like.
e That is, before Gods messenger, when he shall examine thy doing, as though thy ignorance should be a sufficient excuse.
f Meaning, that God will redresse these things, and therefore we must depend vpon him.
g The reuenues of the earth are to be preferred aboue all things which appertaine to this life.
h Kings and Princes cannot maintaine their estate without tillage, which thing commendeth the excellencie of tillage.
i That is, his great abundance of riches or the surfeiting, which commeth by his great feeding.

l He doeth not enioy his fathers riches.

m Meaning, in vaine, and without profit.
n In affliction and griefe of minde.

o Reade Chap. 9. 2.

with much g iese, and in his sorow and anger.

17 Behold then, what I haue seene good, that it is comely to o eate, and to drinke, and to take pleasure in all his labour, wherein he trauaileth vnder the sunne, the whole number of the dayes of his life, which God giueth him: for this is his portion.

18 Also to euery man to whom God hath giuen riches and treasures, and giueth him power to eate thereof, and to take his part, and to enioy his labour: this is the gift of God.

19 Surely hee will not much remember the dayes of his p life, because God answereth to the ioy of his heart.

CHAP. VI.

The miserable estate of him to whom God hath giuen riches, and not the grace to vse them.

THere is an euill, which I saw vnder the sunne, and it is much among men:

2 A man to whom God hath giuen riches and treasures and honour, and hee wanteth nothing for his soule of all that he desireth: but a God giueth him not power to eate thereof, but a strange man shall eat it vp: this is vanitie, and this is an euill sickenesse.

3 If a man beget an hundreth children and liue many yeeres, and the dayes of his yeeres be multiplyed: and his soule be not b satisfied with good things, and he be not c buried, I say that an vntimely fruit is better then he.

4 For d he commeth into vanitie, and goeth into darkenesse: and his name shall be couered with darkenesse.

5 Also he hath not seen the sunne, nor knowen it: therefore this hath more rest then the other.

6 And if he had liued a thousand yeeres twise tolde, and had seene no good, shall not all go to one place?

7 All the labour of man is for his mouth; yet the e soule is not filled.

8 For what hath the wise man more then the foole? what hath the poore that f knoweth how to walke before the liuing?

9 The g sight of the eye is better then to walke in the lusts: this also is vanitie, and vexation of spirit.

10 What is that that hath bene? the name thereof is now named: and it is knowen that it is man: and he cannot striue with him that is h stronger then hee.

CHAP. VII.

Diuers precepts to follow that which is good, and to auoid the contrary.

SVrely there be many things that increase vanitie, and what auaileth it a man?

2 For who knoweth what is a good for man in the life, and in the number of the dayes of the life of his vanitie, seeing hee maketh them as a * shadow? for who can shew vnto man what shall be after him vnder the sunne?

3 * A good name is better then a good ointment, and the day of b death, then the day that one is borne.

4 It is better to goe to the house of c mourning, then to goe to the house of feasting, because this is the end of all men: and the liuing shall lay it to his heart.

5 Anger is better then laughter: for by a sad looke the heart is made better.

6 The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning: but the heart of fooles is in the house of mirth.

7 Better it is to heare the rebuke of a wise man, then that a man should heare the song of fooles.

8 For like the noise of the d thornes vnder the pot, so is the laughter of the foole: this also is vanitie.

9 Surely oppression maketh a wise man e mad; and the reward destroieth the heart.

10 The f end of a thing is better then the beginning thereof, and the patient in spirit is better then the proud in spirit.

11 Be not thou of an hasty spirit to be angry for anger resteth in the bosome of fooles.

12 Say not thou, Why is it that the former daies were better then these? for thou doest not enquire g wisely of this thing.

13 Wisedome is good with an h inheritance, and excellent to them that see the sunne.

14 For man shall rest in the shadow of wisedome, and in the shadow of siluer: but the excellencie of the knowledge of wisedome giueth life to the possessors thereof.

15 Beholde the worke of God; for who can make * straight that which he hath made crooked?

16 In the day of wealth be of good comfort, and in the day of affliction i consider: God also hath made this contrary to that, to the intent that man should find k nothing after him.

17 I haue seene all things in the daies of my vanity: there is a iust man that perisheth in his l iustice, & there is a wicked man that continueth long in his malice.

18 Be not thou iust m ouermuch, neither make thy selfe ouerwise: wherefore shouldest thou be desolate?

19 Be not thou wicked n ouermuch, neither be thou foolish: wherefore shouldest thou perish not in thy time?

20 It is good that thou lay hold on o this: but yet withdraw not thine hand from p that: for he that feareth God shall come forth of them all.

21 Wisedome shall strengthen the wise men more then ten mighty princes that are in the city.

22 * Surely there is no man iust in the earth that doeth good and sinneth not.

23 Giue not thine q heart also to all the words that men speake, least thou doe heare thy seruant cursing thee.

24 For oftentimes also thine heart knoweth that thou likewise hast ‖ cursed others.

25 All this haue I prooued by wisedome: I thought, I will be wise, but it went farre from me.

26 It is farre off, what may r it be? and it is a profound deepenesse, who can find it?

27 I haue compassed about, both I and mine heart to know and to enquire and to search wisdome, and reason, and to know the wickednesse of folly, and the foolishnesse of madnesse.

28 And I find more bitter then death the woman whose heart is as nets and snares, and her hands as bands: he that is good before God, shall be deliuered from her, but the sinner shall be taken by her.

29 Behold, saith the Preacher, this haue I found, seeking one by one to s find the count:

30 And yet my soule seeketh, but I finde it not. I haue found one man of a thousand: but a woman among them all haue I not found.

31 Onely loe, this haue I found, that God hath made man righteous; but they haue sought many t inuentions.

* Chap. 1.15.
i Consider where for God doeth send it, and what may comfort thee.
k That man should be able to controll nothing in his workes.
l Meaning, that cruell tyrants put the godly to death and let the wicked goe free.
m Boast not too much of thine own iustice and wisedome.

CHAP. VIII.

a To obey Princes and Magiſtrates. 17 The workes of God paſſe mans knowledge.

WHo is as the wiſeman? and who knoweth the interpretation of a thing? the wiſedome of a man doth make his face [a] to ſhine: and [b] the ſtrength of his face ſhalbe changed.

2 I aduertiſe thee to take heede to the [c] mouth of the king, and to the word of the oath of God.

3 [d] Haſt not to goe foorth of his ſight: ſtand not in an euill thing: for he will doe whatſoeuer pleaſeth him.

4 Where the worde of the King is, there is power, and who ſhall ſay vnto him, What doeſt thou?

5 He that keepeth the commandement, ſhall know none euill thing, and the heart of the wiſe ſhall know the [e] time, and iudgement.

6 For to euery purpoſe there is a time and iudgement, becauſe the [f] miſerie of man is great vpon him.

7 For he knoweth not that which ſhalbe: for who can tell him when it ſhall be?

8 Man is not Lord [g] ouer the ſpirit to retaine the ſpirit: neither hath hee power in the day of death, nor deliuerance in the battell, neither ſhall wickednes deliuer the poſſeſſors thereof.

9 All this haue I ſeene, and haue giuen mine heart to euery worke which is wrought vnder the ſunne, and I ſaw a time that man ruleth ouer man to his owne [h] hurt.

10 And likewiſe I ſaw the wicked buried, and [i] they returned, and they that came from the holy [k] place, were yet forgotten in the city, where they had done right: this alſo is vanitie.

11 Becauſe ſentence againſt an euill worke is not [l] executed ſpeedily, therefore the heart of the children of men is fully ſet in them to doe euill.

12 Though a ſinner doe euill an hundreth times, and God prolongeth his dayes, yet I know that it ſhall be well with them that feare the Lord, and doe reuerence before him.

13 But it ſhall not be well to the wicked, neither ſhall he prolonge his dayes; he ſhall be like a ſhadow, becauſe he feareth not before God.

14 There is a vanitie, which is done vpon the earth, that there be righteous men to whom it commeth according to [m] the worke of the wicked; and there be wicked men to whom it commeth according to the worke of the iuſt: I thought alſo that this is vanitie.

15 And I prayſed ioy, for there is no goodneſſe to man vnder the ſunne, ſaue [n] to eate and to drinke and to reioyce; for this is adioined to his labour the dayes of his life that God hath giuen him vnder the ſunne.

16 When I applied mine heart to know wiſedome, and to behold the buſineſſe that is done on earth, that neither day nor night the eyes of man take ſleepe.

17 Then I beheld the whole worke of God, that man cannot finde out the worke that is wrought vnder the ſunne; for the which man laboureth to ſeeke it, and cannot finde it; yea, and though the wiſe man thinke to know it, he cannot finde it.

CHAP. IX.

a By no outward thing can man know whom God loueth or hateth. 12 No man knoweth his ende. 16 Wiſedome excelleth ſtrength.

I Haue ſurely giuen mine heart to all this, and to declare all this, that the iuſt and the wiſe, and their workes are in the hand of God: and no man knoweth either loue or [a] hatred of all that is before them.

2 All things come alike to all: and the ſame condition is to the iuſt and to the wicked, to the good and to the pure, and to the polluted, and to him that ſacrificeth, and to him that ſacrificeth not: as is the good, ſo is the ſinner, he that ſweareth, as he that feareth an oath.

3 This is euill among all that is done vnder the ſunne, that there is one [b] condition to all, and alſo the heart of the ſonnes of men is full of euill, and madnes is in their hearts whiles they liue, and after that, they go to the dead.

4 Surely whoſoeuer is ioyned to all the liuing, there is hope: for it is better to a [c] liuing dog, then to a dead lyon.

5 For the liuing knowe that they ſhall die, but the dead know nothing at all: neither haue they any more a reward: for their remembrance is forgotten.

6 Alſo their loue and their hatred, and their enuie is now periſhed, and they haue no more portion for euer, in all that is done vnder the ſunne.

7 Go, eat thy bread with ioy, and drinke thy wine with a chereſull heart: for God now accepteth thy workes.

8 At all times let thy garments be [e] white, and let not oyle be lacking vpon thine head.

9 †* Reioyce with the wife whom thou haſt loued all the dayes of the life of thy vanity, which God hath giuen thee vnder the ſunne all the dayes of thy vanitie: for this is thy portion in the life, and in thy trauaile wherein thou laboureſt vnder the ſunne.

10 All that thine hand ſhall finde to doe, doe it with all thy power: for there is neither worke nor inuention, nor knowledge, nor wiſedome in the graue whither thou goeſt.

11 I returned, and I ſaw vnder the ſunne that the race is not to the ſwift, nor the battell to the ſtrong, nor yet bread to the wiſe, nor alſo riches to men of vnderſtanding, neither yet fauour to men of knowledge; but time and [f] chance commeth to them all.

12 For neither doth man know his [g] time, but as the fiſhes which are taken in an euill net, and as the birds that are caught in the ſnare; ſo are the children of men ſnared in the euill time, when it falleth vpon them ſuddenly.

13 I haue alſo ſeene this wiſedome vnder the ſunne, and it is great vnto mee.

14 A little citie and few men in it, and a great King came againſt it, and compaſſed it about, and builded forts againſt it.

15 And there was found therein a poore and wiſe man, and hee deliuered the citie by his wiſedome, but none remembred this poore man.

16 Then ſayd I, Better is wiſdome then ſtrength; yet the wiſedome of the poore is deſpiſed, and his words are not heard.

17 The words of the wiſe are more heard in quietneſſe, then the cry of him that ruleth among fooles.

18 Better is wiſedome then weapons of warre: but one ſinner deſtroyeth much good.

CHAP. X.

1 The difference of fooliſhneſſe and wiſedome. 11 A ſlaunderer is like a ſerpent that cannot be charmed. 16 Of fooliſh kings and drunken princes. 17 And of good Kings and Princes.

b In outward things, as riches and poueritie, ſickneſſe and health, there is no difference betweene the godly and the wicked: but the difference is that the godly are aſſured by faith of Gods fauour and aſſiſtance.
c He noteth the Epicures and carnall men, which made their belly their god, and had no pleaſure, but in this life, wiſhing rather to be an abiect and vile perſon in this life, then a man of authoritie, and ſo to die, which is meant by the dogge and lyon.

DEad flies cause to stinke, and putrifie the ointment of the apothecarie: so doeth a little folly him that is in estimation for wisedome, and for glory.

2 The heart of a [a] wise man is at his right hand; but the heart of a foole is at his left hand.

3 And also when the foole goeth by the way, his heart faileth, and he [b] telleth vnto all that he is a foole.

4 If the [c] spirit of him that ruleth, rise vp against thee, leaue not thy place; for gentlenes pacifieth great sinnes.

5 There is an euill that I haue seene vnder the sunne, as an [d] errour that proceedeth from the face of him that [e] ruleth.

6 Folly is set in great excellency, and the [e] rich set in the low place.

7 I haue seene seruants on horses, and princes walking as seruants on the ground.

8 * He that diggeth a pit, shall fall into it, & he that breaketh the hedge, a serpent shall bite him.

9 Hee that remooueth stones, shall hurt himselfe thereby, and he that cutteth wood, shalbe in danger thereby.

10 If the yron be blunt, & one hath not whet the edge, he must then put to more [f] strength: but the excellency to direct a thing is wisedome.

11 If the serpent bite, when he is not charmed, no better is a babler.

12 The words of the mouth of a wise man haue grace; but the lips of a foole deuoure himselfe.

13 The beginning of the words of his mouth is foolishnesse, and the latter end of his mouth is wicked madnesse.

14 For the foole multiplieth wordes, saying, Man knoweth not what shalbe; and who can tell him what shalbe after him?

15 The labour of the foolish doth weary him; for he knoweth not to go into the [g] citie.

16 Woe to thee, O land, when thy king is a [h] child, and thy princes [i] eat in the morning.

17 Blessed art thou, O land, when thy King is the sonne [k] of nobles, and thy princes eat in time, for strength and not for drunkennes.

18 By slouthfulnes the roofe of the house goeth to decay, and by the idlenes of the hands the house dropeth thorow.

19 They prepare bread for laughter, and wine comforteth the liuing, but siluer answereth to all.

20 Curse not the king, no not in thy thought, neither curse the rich in thy bed chamber: for the [l] foule of the heauen shall cary the voice, and that which hath wings, shall declare the matter.

CHAP. XI.

1 To be liberall to the poore. 4 Not to doubt of Gods prouidence. 8 All worldly prosperitie is but vanitie. 9 God will iudge all.

CAst thy bread vpon the [a] waters: for after many dayes thou shalt find it.

2 Giue a portion to seuen, and also to eight: for thou knowest not what euill shall be vpon the earth.

3 If the [b] cloudes be full, they will power forth raine vpon the earth: and if the [c] tree doe fall toward the South, or toward the North, in the place that the tree falleth, there it shalbe.

4 He that obserueth the [d] wind shall not sow, and he that regardeth the cloudes, shall not reape.

5 As thou knowest not which is the way of the spirit, nor how the bones do grow in the wombe of her that is with child: so thou knowest not the worke of God that worketh all.

6 In the morning sowe thy seede, and in the euening let not thine hand rest: for thou knowest not whether shall prosper, this or [e] that, or whether both shall be a like good.

7 Surely the light is a pleasant thing: and it is a good thing to the eyes to see the sunne.

8 Though a man liue many yeeres, and in them all he reioyce, yet he shall remember the dayes of [g] darknesse, because they are many, all that commeth is vanitie.

9 [h] Reioyce, O yong man, in thy youth, and let thine heart cheere thee in the dayes of thy youth: and walke in the wayes of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes: but know that for all these things, God will bring thee to iudgement.

10 Therefore take away [i] griefe out of thine heart, and cause euill [k] to depart from thy flesh: for childhood and youth are vanitie.

CHAP. XII.

1 To thinke on God in youth, and not to deferre till age. 7 The soule returneth to God. 11 Wisedome is the gift of God, and consisteth in feuring him and keeping his commandements.

REmember now thy Creator in the dayes of thy youth, whiles the euill daies come not, nor the yeeres approach, wherein thou shalt say, I haue no pleasure in them:

2 Whiles the sunne is not darke, nor the light, nor the moone, nor the starres, nor the [a] cloudes returne after the raine.

3 When the [b] keepers of the house shall tremble, and the [c] strong men shall bow themselues, and the [d] grinders shall cease, because they are few, and they waxe darke that [e] looke out by the windowes:

4 And the [f] doores shall be shut without by the base sound of the [g] grinding, and he shall rise vp at the voyce of the [h] bird: and all the [i] daughters of singing shalbe abased:

5 Also they shall be affraid of the [k] hie thing, and feare shalbe in the way, and the almond tree shall [m] flourish, and the [n] grashopper shall be a burden, and concupiscence shall be driuen away: for man goeth to the house of his age, and the mourners goe about in the streete.

6 Whiles the [o] siluer coard is not lengthened, nor the golden [p] ewer broken, nor the [q] pitcher broken at the [r] well, nor the [s] wheele broken at the [t] cisterne.

7 And dust returne to the earth as it was, and the [u] spirit returne to God that gaue it.

8 Vanity of vanities, saith the Preacher, all is vanitie.

9 And the more wise the Preacher was, the more he taught the people knowledge, and caused them to heare, and searched forth, and prepared many parables.

10 The Preacher sought to find out pleasant words, and an vpright writing, euen the words of trueth.

11 The words of the wise are like goads, and like nailes [x] fastened by the masters of the assemblies, which are giuen by one [y] pastour.

12 And of other things beside these, my sonne, take thou heede: for there is none end in making

AN † EXCELLENT SONG WHICH WAS SALOMONS.

† Ebr. a song of songs: so called because it is the chiefest of those 1005. which Salomon made, as is mentioned, 1. King. 4. 32.

THE ARGVMENT.

In this Song, Salomon by most sweete and comfortable allegories and parables describeth the perfite loue of Iesus Christ, the true Salomon and King of peace, and the faithfull soule or his Church, which he hath sanctified and appointed to be his spouse, holy, chaste, and without reprehension. So that here is declared the singular loue of the bridegrome toward the bride, and his great and excellent benefites wherewith he doeth enrich her of his pure bountie and grace without any of her deserving. Also the earnest affection of the Church which is inflamed with the loue of Christ, desiring to be more and more ioyned to him in loue, and not to be forsaken for any spot or blemish that is in her.

CHAP. I.

a The familiar talke and mysticall communication of the spirituall loue betweene Iesus Christ and his Church. 5 The domesticall enemies that persecute the Church.

LEt b him kisse me with the kisses of his mouth: for thy loue is better then wine.

2 Because of the c sauour of thy good ointments, thy name is as an ointment powred out: therefore the d virgins loue thee.

3 Draw me; we will run after thee; the King hath brought me into his e chambers; wee will reioyce and be glad in thee; we will remember thy loue more then wine; the righteous doe loue thee.

4 I am f blacke, O daughters of Ierusalem, but comely, as the tents of g Kedar, and as the h curtaine of Salomon.

5 Regard yee mee not because I am i blacke; for the k sunne hath looked vpō me. The sonnes of my mother were angry against me: they made me the keeper of ỹ vines; but I m kept not mine own vine.

6 Shew me, n O thou whom my soule loueth, where thou feedest, where thou liest at noone: for why should I be as she that turneth aside to the flockes of o thy companions?

7 p If thou know not, O thou the fairest among women, get thee foorth by the steps of the flocke, and feed thy kids by the tents of the shepheards.

8 I haue compared thee, O my loue, to the troupe of horses in the q charets of Pharaoh.

9 Thy cheekes are comely with rowes of stones, and thy necke with chaines.

10 Wee will make thee borders of golde with floods of siluer.

11 r Whiles the King was at his repast, my spikenard gaue the smell thereof.

12 My wel-beloued is as a bundle of myrrhe vnto me: he shall lie betweene my s breasts.

13 My wel-beloued is as a cluster of camphire vnto me in the vines of Engedy.

14 My loue, behold, thou art t faire; beholde thou art faire; thine eyes are like the doues.

15 My welbeloued, behold, thou art faire, and pleasant; also our u bed is greene.

16 The beames of our house are cedars, our rafters are of firre.

CHAP. II.

3 The Church desireth to rest vnder the shadow of Christ. 8 She heareth his voyce. 14 She is compared to the dune. 15 And the enemyes to the foxes.

I Am the rose of the field, and the lillie of the valleyes.

2 Like a lillie among the thornes, so is my a loue among the daughters.

3 b Like the apple tree among the trees of the forest, so is my welbeloued among the sons of men. I vnder his shadowe had I delite, and sate downe: and his fruit was sweet vnto my mouth.

4 Hee brought mee into the wine cellar, and loue was his banner ouer me.

5 Stay me with flagons, and comfort me with apples; for I am sicke of loue.

6 His left hand is vnder mine head, and his right hand doeth imbrace me.

7 c I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the roes and by the hinds of the field, that ye stir not vp, nor waken my loue, vntill she please.

8 d It is the voyce of my welbeloued: behold, he commeth leaping by the mountains, and skipping by the hils.

9 My welbeloued is like a roe, or a yong hart: loe, he e standeth behind our wall, looking forth of the windowes, shewing himselfe through the f grates.

10 My welbeloued spake and sayd vnto mee, Arise, my loue, my faire one, and come thy way.

11 For behold, g winter is past: the raine is changed, and is gone away.

12 The flowers appeare in the earth: the time of the singing of birds is come, and the voyce of the turtle is heard in our land.

13 The figtree hath brought foorth her yong figs: and the vines with their small grapes haue cast a sauour: arise my loue, my faire one, and come away.

14 My doue, that art in the h holes of the rocke, in the secret places of the staires, shew mee thy sight, let me heare thy voyce: for thy voyce is sweet, and thy sight comely.

15 Take vs the foxes, the i little foxes, which destroy the vines: for our vines haue small grapes.

16 My welbeloued is mine, and I am his: hee feedeth among the lillies.

17 Vntill the day breake, and the shadowes flee away: returne, my welbeloued, and be like a k roe, or a yong hart vpon the mountaines of Bether.

d The faithfull confesse that they cannot come to Christ, except they be drawn.
e Meaning, the secret ioy that is not knowne to the world.
f The Church confesseth her spots and sinne, but hath confidence in the sauour of Christ.
g Kedar was Ishmaels sonne, of whom came the Arabians that dwelt in tents.

o Whom thou hast called to the dignitie of pastours, and they set forth their owne dreames in stead of thy doctrine.
p Christ speaketh to his Church, bidding them that are ignorant, to goe to the pastours to learne.
q For thy spirituall beauty and excellencie, there was no worldly treasure to be compared vnto thee.
r The Church reioyceth that she is admitted to the company of Christ.
s He shall be most deare vnto me. t Christ accepteth his Church, and commendeth her beautie.
u That is, the heart of the faithfull, wherein Christ dwelleth by his Spirit.

a Thus Christ preferreth his Church aboue all other things.
b The spouse testifieth her great desire toward her husband, but her strength faileth her, and therefore she desireth to be comforted, and feit it.
c Christ chargeth them which haue to doe in the Church as it were by a solemne oath, that they trouble not the quietnesse thereof.
d This is spoken of Christ, who tooke vpon him our nature to come to helpe his Church.
e Foralmuch as his substance was hidde vnder the cloake of our flesh.
f So that we cannot haue full knowledge of him in this life.
g That is, sinne and errour is driuen backe by the comming of Christ, which is here described by the spring time, when all things flourish.
h Thou that art allhamed of thy sinnes, come and shew thy selfe vnto me.
i Suppresse the heresikes whiles they are yong, that is, when they begin to shew their malice, and destroy the vine of the Lord.
k The Church desireth Christ to be most ready to helpe her in all dangers.

CHAP. III.

1 The Church desireth to be ioyned inseparably to Christ her husband. 6 Her deliverance out of the wilderness.

a The Church by night, that is in troubles, seeketh to Christ, but is not incontinently heard.
b Shewing that although we be not heard at the first, yet we must still continue in prayer, till we feele comfort.
c Which declareth, that we must seeke vnto all of whom we hope to haue any succour.
d Reade Chap. 2, 7.

1 IN my bed by a night I sought him that my soule loued: I sought him, but I found him not.

2 I will rise therefore now, and go about in the city, by the streets, and by the open places, and will b seeke him that my soule loueth: I sought him, but I found him not.

3 The c watchmen that went about the city, found mee: to whom I sayd, Haue you seene him whom my soule loueth?

4 When I had past a little from them, then I found him whom my soule loued; I tooke hold on him, and left him not, till I had brought him vnto my mothers house, into the chamber of her that conceiued me.

5 d I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the roes and by the hindes of the field, that ye stirre not vp, nor waken my loue vntill he please.

e This is referred to the Church of Israel, which was led by the wildernes fortie yeeres.
† Ebr. powder.
f By the bed is meant the Temple which Salomon made.
g He alludeth to the watch which kept the Temple.
‖ Or, charet.

6 Who is shee that commeth vp out of the e wildernes like pillars of smoake perfumed with myrrhe and incense, and with all the † spices of the marchant?

7 Behold his f bed, which is Salomons; three-score strong men are round about it, of the valiant men of Israel.

8 They all handle the sword, and are expert in warre, euery one hath his sword vpon his thigh for the feare g by night.

9 King Salomon made himselfe a ‖ palace of the trees of Lebanon.

10 He made the pillars thereof of siluer, and the pauement thereof of gold, the hangings thereof of purple, whose middes was paued with the loue of the daughters of Ierusalem.

11 Come foorth, ye h daughters of Zion, and beholde the King Salomon with the i crowne, wherewith his mother crowned him in the day of his mariage, and in the day of the gladnesse of his heart.

h All ye that are of the number of the faithfull.
i Christ become man was crowned by the loue of God with the glorious crowne of his diuinity.

CHAP. IV.

1 The prayses of the Church. 7 She is without blemish in his sight. 9 The loue of Christ towards her.

BEhold, thou art a faire, my loue; behold, thou art faire; thine eyes are like the doues; among thy lockes * thine haire is like the b flocke of goates, which looke downe from the mountaine of Gilead.

a Because Christ delighteth in his Church, he commendeth all that is in her.
* Chap. 6, 4.
b He hath respect to the multitude of the faithfull, which are many in number.

2 They teeth are like a flocke of sheepe in good order, which goe vp from the washing; which euery one bring out twinnes, and none is barren among them.

3 Thy lips are like a threed of scarlet, and thy talke is comely: thy temples are within thy locks as a piece of a pomegranate.

4 Thy necke is as the tower of Dauid built for defence; a thousand shields hang therein, and all the targates of the strong men.

5 Thy two c breasts are as two yong roes that are twinnes, feeding among the lilies.

c Wherein are knowledge and zeale two precious iewels.

6 Vntill the day breake, and the shadowes flie away, I will go into the mountaine of myrrhe, and to the mountaine of incense.

7 Thou art all faire my loue, and there is no spot in thee.

8 d Come with me from Lebanon, my spouse, euen with me from Lebanon, and looke from the top of Amanah, from the top of Shenir, and Hermon, from the dennes of the lions, and from the mountaines of the leopards.

d Christ promiseth his Church to call his faithfull from all the corners of the world.

9 My e sister, my spouse, thou hast wounded mine heart: thou hast wounded mine heart with one of thine f eyes, and with a chaine of thy necke.

10 My sister, my Spouse, how faire is thy loue? how much better is thy loue then wine? and the sauour of thine oyntments then all spices?

11 Thy g lippes, my Spouse, droppe as hony combes: hony and milke are vnder thy tongue, and the sauour of thy garment is as the sauour of Lebanon.

12 My sister, my spouse is as a garden inclosed, as a spring shut vp, and a fountaine sealed vp.

13 Thy plants are as an orchard of pomegranates with sweet fruits, as camphire, spikenard, 14 Euen spikenard, and saffron: calamus, and cynamon, with all the trees of incense, myrrhe and aloes, with all the chiefe spices.

15 h O fountaine of the gardens, O well of liuing waters, and the springs of Lebanon.

16 Arise, O i North, and come, O South, and blow on my garden, that the spices thereof may flow out: let my wellbeloued come to his garden, and eat his pleasant fruit.

e Christ calleth his Church sister, in respect that he had taken the flesh of man.
f In that he made his Church beautifull & rich, he loued his gifts in her.
g Because of thy confession and thankesgiuing.

h The Church confesseth that all her glory and beauty commeth of Christ, who is the true fountaine of all grace.
i See desireth Christ to comfort her, and to powre the graces of his Spirit vpon her, which Spirit is meant by the North and South winde.

CHAP. V.

1 Christ calleth his Church to the participation of all his treasures. 2 She heareth his voyce, 3 She confesseth her vnkindnesse. 10 She praiseth Christ her husband.

I Am come into my a garden, my sister, my spouse, I gathered my myrrhe with my spice: I ate mine hony combe with mine hony, I dranke my wine with my milke: eate, O friends, drinke, and make you merry, O welbeloued.

a The garden signifieth the kingdome of Christ, where he prepareth the banket for his elect.

2 b I sleepe, but mine heart waketh, it is the voyce of my welbeloued that knocketh, saying, Open vnto me, my sister, my loue, my doue, my vndefiled: for mine head is full of dew, and my lockes with the drops of the c night.

b The spouse saith that she is troubled with the cares of worldly things, which is meant by sleeping.
c Declaring the long patience of the Lord toward sinners.

3 I haue put off my d coate, how shall I put it on? I haue washed my feete, how shall I defile them?

d The spouse confesseth her nakednesse, and that of her selfe she hath nothing, or seeing that she is once made cleane, she promiseth not to defile her selfe againe.

4 My wellbeloued put in his hand by the hole of the doore, and † mine heart was affectioned toward him.

† Ebr. my bowels were moued towards him.

5 I rose vp to open to my welbeloued, and mine hands did drop downe myrrhe, and my e fingers pure myrrhe vpon the handles of the barre.

e The spouse which should vnderstand of shall not finish of the things of Christ, if she dwell not in his good gifts.

6 I opened to my welbeloued: but my welbeloued was gone & past: mine heart was gone when he did speake: I sought him, but I could not find him: I called him, but he answered me not.

f The watchmen that were about the city, found me: they smote me, and wounded mee: the watchmen of the walles tooke away my vaile from mee.

7 The f watchmen that went about the city, found me: they smote me, and wounded mee: the watchmen of the walles tooke away my vaile from mee.

8 I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, if you find my welbeloued, that you tell him that I am sicke of loue.

9 h O the faireſt among women, what is thy welbeloued more then other welbeloued? whatis thy welbeloued more then another louer, that thou doest so charge vs?

15 His legges are as pillars of marble set vpon sockets of fine gold: his countenance as Lebanon, excellent as the cedars.

16 His mouth is as sweet things, and he is wholly delectable: this is my welbeloued, and this is my louer, O daughters of Ieruſalem.

17 [k] O the fayreſt among women, whither is thy welbeloued gone? whither is thy welbeloued turned aſide, that we may ſeeke him with thee?

CHAP. VI.

2 The Church aſſureth herſelfe of the loue of Chriſt, 3 The praiſes of the Church. 8 She is but one and vndefiled.

MY welbeloued is gone downe into his [a] garden to the beds of ſpices, to feede in the gardens, and to gather lilies.

2 I am my welbeloueds, and my welbeloued is mine, who feedeth among the lilies.

3 Thou art beautifull, my loue, as [b] Tirzah, comly as Ieruſalem, terrible as an army [w] banners.

4 [c] Turne away thine eyes from me: for they ouercome mee: * thine haire is like a flocke of goats, which looke downe from Gilead.

5 Thy teeth are like a flocke of ſheepe, which goe vp from the waſhing, which euery one bring out twinnes, and none is barren among them.

6 Thy temples are within thy locks as a piece of a pomegranate.

7 There are [d] threeſcore Queenes, & foureſcore concubines, and of the damſels without number.

8 But my doue is alone, and my vndefiled, ſhe is the onely daughter of her mother, and ſhe is deare to her that bare her: the daughters haue ſeene her, and counted her bleſſed: euen the Queenes and the concubines, and they haue praiſed her.

9 [e] Who is ſhe that looketh forth as the morning, faire as the moone, pure as the ſunne, terrible as an army with banners!

10 I went downe to the [f] garden of nuts, to ſee the fruites of the valley, to ſee if the vine budded, and if the pomegranates flouriſhed.

11 [g] I knew nothing, my ſoule ſet me [h] as the charets of my noble people.

12 Returne, returne, O [i] Shulamite, returne: returne that we may behold thee. What ſhall you ſee in the Shulamite, but as the company of an army?

CHAP. VII.

1 The beauty of the Church in all her members. 10 She is aſſured of Chriſts loue toward her.

HOw beautifull are thy [a] goings with ſhoes, O princes daughter! the ioynts of thy thighes are like iewels: the worke of the hand of a cunning workman.

2 Thy nauell is as a round cup that wanteth not liquor: thy belly is as an heap of wheat compaſſed about with lilies.

3 [b] Thy two breaſts are as two yong roes that are twinnes.

4 Thy necke is like a towre of yuory; thine eyes are like the fiſhpooles in Heſhbon by the gate of Bath-rabbim: thy noſe is as the tower of Lebanon which looketh toward Damaſces.

5 Thine head vpon thee is as ſcarlet, and the haire of thine head like purple: the king is tied [c] in the † ſhops.

6 How faire art thou, and how pleaſant art thou, my loue, in pleaſures!

7 This thy ſtature is like a palme tree, and thy breaſts like cluſters.

8 I ſaid, I will goe vp into the palme tree, I will take hold of her boughes: thy breaſtes ſhall now be like the cluſters of the vine: and the ſauour of thy noſe like apples.

9 And the roofe of thy mouth like good wine, which goeth ſtreight to my welbeloued, and cauſeth the lips of the ancient to ſpeake.

10 [d] I am my welbeloueds, and his deſire is toward me.

11 Come my welbeloued, let vs go forth into the field: let vs remaine in the villages.

12 Let vs get vp early to the vines, let vs ſee if the [e] vine flouriſh, whither it hath budded the ſmal grape: or whither the pomegranates flouriſh. there will I giue thee my loue.

13 The mandrakes haue giuen a ſmell, and in our gates are all ſweet things, new and olde: my welbeloued, I haue kept them for thee.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The Church will be taught by Chriſt. 3 She is vpholden by him. 6 The vehement loue wherewith Chriſt loueth her. 11 She is the vine that bringeth forth fruit to the ſpirituall Salomon, which is Iesus Chriſt.

OH [a] that thou wereſt as my brother that ſucked the breaſts of my mother: I would finde thee without, I would kiſſe thee, then they ſhould not deſpiſe [‖] thee.

2 I will lead thee and bring thee into my mothers houſe: there thou ſhalt teach me; and I will cauſe thee to drinke ſpiced wine, and new wine of the pomegranate.

3 [b] His left hand ſhallbe vnder mine head, and his right hand ſhall imbrace me.

4 [c] I charge you, O daughters of Ieruſalem, that you ſtirre not vp, nor waken my loue vntill ſhe pleaſe.

5 (Who is this that commeth vp out of the wildernes, leaning vpon her welbeloued?) I raiſed thee vp vnder an apple tree; there the mother conceiued thee: there ſhe conceiued ŷ bare thee.

6 [d] Set me a ſeale on thine heart, and as a ſignet vpon thine arme: for loue is ſtrong as death: ielouſie is cruell as the graue: the coales thereof are fiery coales, and a vehement flame.

7 Much water cannot quench loue, neither can the floods drowne it: if a man ſhould giue all the ſubſtance of his houſe for loue, they would greatly contemne it.

8 [e] Wee haue a little ſiſter, and ſhee hath no breaſts: what ſhall we do for our ſiſter when ſhe ſhalbe ſpoken for?

9 If ſhe be a wall, we will build vpon her a ſiluer palace: and if ſhe be a doore, we will keepe her in with boards of cedar.

10 [g] I am a wall, and my breſts are as towers: then was I in his eyes as one that findeth peace.

11 [h] Salomon had a vine in Baal-hamon: hee gaue ŷ vineyard vnto keepers: euery one bringeth for the fruit thereof a thouſand pieces of ſiluer.

12 But my vineyard which is mine, is before me: to thee, O Salomon, appertaineth a thouſand pieces of ſiluer, and two hundred to them that keep the fruit thereof.

13 O thou that dwelleſt in the [i] gardens, the companions hearken vnto thy voyce: cauſe me to heare it.

14 O my welbeloued, [k] flee away and be like vnto the roe, or to the yong hart vpon the mountaines of ſpices.

ISAIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

GOD, according to his promise, Deuteron. 18. 15. that hee would neuer leaue his Church destitute of a Prophet, hath from time to time accomplished the same: whose office was not onely to declare vnto the people the things to come, whereof they had a speciall reuelation, but also to interprete and declare the Law, and to apply particularly the doctrine conteined briefly therein, to the vtilitie and profite of these, to whom they thought it chiefly to appertaine, and as the time and state of things required. And principally in the declaration of the Law, they had respect to three things, which were the ground of their doctrine. First, to his doctrine conteined briefly in the two Tables; secondly, to the promises and threatnings of the Law: and thirdly, to the Couenant of grace and reconciliation, grounded vpon our Sauiour Iesus Christ, who is the end of the Law. Wherevnto they neither added nor diminished, but faithfully expounded the sense and meaning thereof. And according as God gaue them vnderstanding of things, they applied the promises particularly for the comfort of the Church and the members thereof, and also denounced the menaces against the enemies of the same; not for any care or regard to the enemies, but to assure the Church of their safegard by the destruction of their enemies. And as touching the doctrine of reconciliation, they haue more clearely intreated it then Moses, and set forth more liuely Iesus Christ, in whom this Couenant of reconciliation was made. In all these things Isaiah did excell all the Prophets, and was most diligent to set out the same, with most vehement admonitions, reprehensions, and consolations; euer applying the doctrine, as hee saw that the disease of the people required. Hee declareth also many notable prophecies which hee had receiued of God, as touching the promise of the Messiah his office, and kingdome. And of the fauour of God toward his Church, the vocation of the Gentiles and their vnion with the Iewes. Which are as most principall points conteined in this booke, and a gathering of his Sermons that hee preached. Which after certaine dayes that they had stood vpon the Temple doore (for the manner of the Prophets was to set vp the summe of their doctrine for certaine dayes, that the people might the better marke it, as Isa. 8. 1. and Habak. 2. 2.) the Priestes tooke it downe, and reserued it among their Registers; and so by Gods prouidence these bookes were preserued as a monument to the Church for euer. As touching his person and time, hee was of the kings stocke (for Amoz his father was brother to Azariah king of Iudah, as the best writers doe agree) and prophecied more then 64 yeeres, from the time of Vzziah vnto the reigne of Manasseh, whose father in law he was (as the Ebrewes write) and of whom hee was put to death. And in reading of the Prophets, this one thing among others is to be obserued, that they speake of things to come as though they were now past, because of the certaintie thereof, and that they could not but come to passe, because God had ordained them in his secret counsell, and so reuealed them to his Prophets.

CHAP. I.

a Isaiah reproueth the Iewes of their ingratitude and stubbornesse, that neither so benefits nor punishments would amend. 11 He sheweth why their sacrifices are reiected, and wherein Gods true seruice standeth. 24 He prophecieth of the destruction of Ierusalem, 25 and of the restitution thereof.

a Vision of Isaiah, the sonne of Amoz, which hee saw b concerning Iudah and Ierusalem, in the dayes of c Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of Iudah.

2 Heare, O d heauens, and hearken, O earth: for the Lord hath said, I haue nourished and brought vp e children, but they haue rebelled against me.

3 The f oxe knoweth his owner, and the asse his masters crib; but Israel hath not knowen; my people hath not vnderstood.

4 Ah, sinfull nation, a people laden with iniquitie; a g seede of the wicked, corrupt children; they haue forsaken the Lord; they haue prouoked the h Holy one of Israel to anger; they are gone backward.

5 Wherefore should ye be i smitten any more? for ye fall away more and more; the whole k head is sicke, and the whole heart is heauie.

6 From the l sole of the foote vnto the head, there is nothing whole therein, but wounds and swelling, and sores full of corruption; they haue not beene wrapped, m nor bound vp, nor mollified with oyle.

7 Your land is waste; your cities are burnt with fire; strangers deuoure your land in your presence, and it is desolate like the ouerthrow of n strangers.

8 And the daughter of o Zion shall remaine like a cottage in a vineyard, like a lodge in a garden of cucumbers, and like a besieged citie.

9 Except the Lord of hoastes p had reserued vnto vs euen a small remnant, wee should haue beene q as Sodom, and should haue beene like vnto Gomorah.

10 Heare the word of the Lord, O r princes of Sodom: hearken vnto the Law of our God, O people of Gomorah.

11 What haue I to doe with the multitude of your sacrifices, saith the Lord? I am full of the burnt offrings of rams, and of the fat of fed beasts: and I s desire not the blood of bullockes, nor of lambes, nor of goats.

12 When ye come to appeare before mee, who a That is, a reuelation or prophecie, which was one of the two meanes whereby God declared himselfe to his seruants in old time, as Num. 12. 6. and therefore the Prophets were called Seers, 1 Sam. 9. 9.

b Isaiah was chiefly sent to Iudah and Ierusalem, but not onely: for in this booke are prophecies concerning other nations also.

c Called also Azariah, 2 Kings 15. 1. of these Kings read 2 King. from Chap. 14. vnto Chap. 21. and 2 Chron. from Chap. 25. vnto Chap. 33.

d Because men were obstinate and insensible, he calleth to the dumbe creatures, which were more prompt to obey Gods word, as Deut. 32. 1.

e Hee declareth his great mercie toward the Iewes so much as hee chose them about all other nations to be his people and children, as Deuteronom. 10. 15. f The most dull and brute beasts doe more acknowledge their duety toward their masters, then my people doe toward mee, of whom they haue receiued benefites without comparison. g They were not onely wicked as were their fathers, but vtterly corrupt, and by their euill example infected others. That is, him that sanctifieth Israel. i What auaileth it to seeke to amend you by punishment, seeing the more I correct you, the more ye rebell?

k By naming the chiefe parts of the body, he signifieth that there was no part of the whole body of the Iewes free from his rods.

l Euery part of the bodie as well the least as the chiefest, was plagued.

m Their plagues were so grieuous that they were incurable, and yet they would not repent.

n Meaning, of them that dwelt farre off, which because they looke for no aduantage of that which remaineth destroy all before them.

o That is, Ierusalem.

p Because that he will euer haue a Church to call vpon his Name.

q All to be destroyed, saue that God of his mercie reserued a little number, Lamentations 3. 22. r Although God commanded these sacrifices for a time, as aydes and exercises of their faith: yet because the people had not faith nor repentance, God detesteth them, Psalme 50. 13. Ieremiah 6. 20. Amos 5. 21, Micah 6. 7.

s That is, all destroyed. t Yee that for your vices deserued as they of Sodom, saue that God of his mercie reserued a little number, Lamentations 3. 22. f Although God commanded these sacrifices for a time, as aydes and exercises of their faith: yet because the people had not faith nor repentance, God detesteth them, Psalme 50. 13. sequired this of your hands to tread in my courts?

13 Bring no mo oblations, t in vaine: incense is an abomination vnto me: I cannot suffer your new moones, nor Sabbath, nor solemne dayes (it is iniquitie) nor solemne assemblies.

14 My soule hateth your u new moones and your appoynted feasts: they are a burden vnto me: I am wearie to beare them.

15 And when you shall stretch out your hands I will hide mine eyes from you: and though yee make many prayers, I will not heare: for your hands are full x of blood.

16 y Wash you, make you cleane, take away the euill of your workes from before mine eyes: cease to doe euill.

17 Learne to z doe well: seeke iudgement, relieue the oppressed: iudge the fatherlesse, and defend the widow.

18 Come now, a and let vs reason together, saith the Lord: though your sinnes were as crimsen, they shall be made b white as snow: though they were red like scarlet, they shalbe as woolle.

19 If yee c consent and obey, ye shall eate the good things of the land.

20 But if ye refuse and be rebellious, ye shalbe deuoured with the sword: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

21 How is the d faithfull citie become an harlot? it was full of iudgement, and iustice lodged therein, but now e they are murtherers.

22 Thy f siluer is become drosse: thy wine is mixt with water.

23 Thy princes are rebellious, and companions of g theeues: euery one loueth gifts, and followeth after rewards: they iudge not the fatherlesse, neither doeth the widowes cause come before them.

24 Therefore saith the Lord God of hoastes, the h Mightie one of Israel, Ah, I will i ease me of mine aduersaries, and auenge mee of mine enemies.

25 Then I will turne mine hand vpon thee, and burne out thy drosse, till it k be pure, and take away all thy tinne.

26 l And I will restore thy Iudges as at the first, and thy councellers as at the beginning; afterward shalt thou be called a citie of righteousnes, and a faithfull citie.

27 Zion shall be redeemed in iudgement, and they that returne in her, in m iustice.

28 And the n destruction of the transgressours and of the sinners shall be together: and they that forsake the Lord, shalbe consumed.

29 For they shalbe confounded for the o okes, which ye haue desired, and ye shall be ashamed of the gardens that ye haue chosen.

30 For ye shall be as an oke, whose leafe fadeth: and as a garden that hath no water.

31 And the strong shall be as p towe, and the maker thereof as a sparke: and they shall both burne together, and none shall quench them.

CHAP. II.

The Church shall be restored by Christ, and the Gentiles called. 6. The punishment of the rebellious and obstinate.

THe word that Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sawe vpon Iudah and Ierusalem,

2 * It a shalbe in the last dayes, that the mountaine of the House of the Lord shall be prepared in the top of the mountaines, and b shall be exalted aboue the hilles, and all nations shall c flow vnto it.

3 And many people shall goe, and say, Come, and let vs goe vp to d the mountaine of the Lord, to the house of the God of Iaakob, and hee will teach vs his wayes, and we will walke in his paths, * for the e Law shall goe foorth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from f Ierusalem.

4 And g he shall iudge among the nations, and h rebuke many people: they shall i breake their swords also into mattocks, and their speares into sythes: nation shall not lift vp a sword against nation, neither shall they learne k to fight any more.

5 O house of Iaakob, come yee, and let vs l walke in the Law of the Lord.

6 Surely thou m hast forsaken thy people, the house of Iaakob, because they are n full of the East maners, and are sorcerers as the Philistims, o and abound with strange children.

7 Their land also was full of p siluer and gold, and there was none end of their treasures: and their land was full of horses, and their charets were infinite.

8 Their land was also full of idoles; they worshipped the worke of their owne handes, which their owne fingers haue made.

9 And a man bowed himselfe, and a man q humbled himselfe; therefore r spare them not.

10 Enter into the rocke, and hide thee in the dust from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his Maiestie.

11 The high looke of man shall be humbled, and the loftinesse of men shall be abased, and the Lord onely shall be exalted in s that day.

12 For the day of the Lord of hoastes is vpon all the proud and hautie, and vpon all that is exalted; and it shalbe made low.

13 Euen vpon all the cedars of Lebanon, that are high and exalted, and vpon all the okes of Bashan.

14 And vpon all the hie t mountaines, and vpon all the hils that are lifted vp.

15 And vpon euery hie tower, and vpon euery strong wall.

16 And vpon u all the ships of Tarshish, and t Without faith and repentance.

u Your sacrifices offered in the new moones and feasts: hee condemneth hereby hypocrites, which thinke to please God with ceremonies, and they themselues are void of faith and mercy.

x He sheweth that where men be giuen to auarice, deceit, crueltie and extortion, which is meant by blood, there God will shew his anger, and not accept them, though they seeme neuer so holy, as Chap. 59. 3.

y By this outward washing, he meaneth the spirituall: exhorting the Iewes to repent and amend their liues.

z This kind of reasoning by the second Table, the Scriptures vse in many places against the hypocrites, who pretend most holines and religion in word but when the charitie and loue toward their brethren should appeare, they declare that they haue neither faith nor religion.

a To know if I doe accuse you without cause.

b Least sinners should pretend any rigour on Gods part, he only willeth them to be pure in heart, and he will forgiue all their sinnes, were they neuer so many or great.

c He sheweth that whatsoeuer aduersitie man endureth, it ought to be attributed to his owne incredulitie and disobedience.

d That is, Ierusalem, which had promised fidelity vnto me, as a wife to her husband.

e Giuen to couetousnes and extortion, which he signifieth before by blood ver. 15

f Whatsoeuer was pure in thee before, is now corrupt, though thou haue an outward shew.

g That is, they maintaine the wicked and the extortioners: and not onely doe not punish them, but are themselues such.

h When God will shew himselfe merciful to his Church, he calleth himselfe, The Holy one of Israel: but when he hath to doe with his enemies, he is called Mightie, as against whom no power is able to resist.

i I will take vengeance of mine aduersaries the Iewes, and so satisfie my desire by punishing them. Which thing yet hee doeth with a griefe, because of his Couenant.

k Least the faithfull among them should be ouercome with his threatning, he addeth this consolation.

l It is onely the worke of God to purifie the heart of man, which thing hee doeth because of his promise, made concerning the salvation of his Church.

m By iustice is meant Gods faithfull promise, which is the cause of the deliuerance of his Church.

n The wicked shall not be partakers of Gods promise Psal. 92, 9

o That is, the trees and pleasant places, where ye commit idolatry, which was forbidden, Deut. 16, 22.

p The false god, wherein ye put your confidence, shalbe consumed as easily as a piece of tow.

a The decree and ordinance of God, touching the restauration of the Church, which is chiefly meant of the time of Christ.

b In an euident place to be seene and discerned.

c When the kingdome of Christ shalbe enlarged by the preaching of the doctrine. Here also is declared the zeale of the children of God, when they are called.

d Alluding to mount Zion, where the visible Church then was.

* Mich. 4. 2.

e Meaning, the whole doctrine of salvation.

f This was accomplished, when the Gospel was first preached in Ierusalem, and from thence went thorow all the world.

g The Lord, which is Christ, shall haue all power giuen him.

h That they may acknowledge their sinnes, and turne to him.

i He sheweth the fruit of the peace, which the Gospell should bring: to wit, that men should doe good one to another, whereas before they were enemies.

k He sheweth not against the vse of weapons and lawfull warre, but sheweth how the hearts of the godly shalbe affected.

l Flee to God and auoide, but shal be persecuted when we are ioyned with our Head Christ Iesus.

m Seeing the Gentiles will be so readie, make you halte and shew them the way to worship God.

n The Prophet seeing the small hope that the Iewes would conuert, complaineth to God, as though he had vtterly forsaken them for their sins.

o Full of the corruptions that reigned chiefly in the East parts.

p They altogether gaue themselues to the fashions of other nations.

q The Prophet first condemned their superstition and idolatry: next their couetousnes, and thirdly their vaine trust in worldly meanes.

r He noteth the nature of the idolaters, which are neuer satisfied in their superstitions.

s Thus the Prophet spake, being inflamed with the zeale of Gods glory, and that he might feare them with Gods iudgements.

t Meaning, as soone as God shall begin to execute his iudgements.

u By hie trees and mountaines are meant them that are proud and lofte, and thinke themselues most strong in this world.

u Hee condemneth their vaine confidence, which they had in strong holdes, and in their rich marchandise, which brought in vaine pleasures, wherewith mens mindes became effeminate.

vpon all pleasant pictures.

17 And the hautinesse of men shall be brought low, and the loftinesse of men shalbe abased, and the Lord shall onely be exalted in that day.

18 And the idoles will he vterly destroy.

19 Then shall they goe * into the holes of the rocks, and into the caues of the earth, from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maiestie, when he shall arise to destroy the earth.

20 At that day shall man cast away his siluer idoles & his golden idoles (which they had made themselues to worship them) x to the mowles, and to the bats.

21 To goe into the holes of the rocks, and into the tops of the ragged rockes from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maiestie, when he shall rise to destroy the earth.

22 Cease you from the man, whose y breath is in his nostrels: for wherein is he to be esteemed?

CHAP. III.

1 For the sinne of the people, God will take away the wise men, and giue them foolish princes. 14 The couetousnesse of the gouernours. 16 The pride of the women.

FOr loe, the Lord God of hoastes will take away from Ierusalem and from Iudah the stay a and the stregth: euen all the stay of bread, and all the stay of water,

2 The strong man, and the man of warre, b the iudge, and the Prophet, the prudent and the aged,

3 The captaine of fiftie, and the honourable, and the counseller, and the cunning artificer, and c eloquent man.

4 And I will appoint d children to be their princes, and babes shall rule ouer them.

5 The people shalbe e oppressed one of another, and euery one by his neighbour: the children shall presume against the ancient, and the vile against the honourable.

6 When euery one shall f take hold of his brother of the house of his father, and say, Thou hast cloathing, thou shalt be our prince, and let this fall be vnder thine hand:

7 In that day he shall g sweare, saying, I cannot be an helper: for there is no bread in mine house, nor cloathing: therefore make me no prince of the people.

8 Doubtlesse Ierusalem is fallen, and Iudah is fallen downe, because their tongue and works are against the Lord, to prouoke the eyes of his glory.

9 The h triall of their countenance testifieth against them, yea, they declare their sinnes, as Sodom: they hide them not. Wo be vnto their soules: for they haue rewarded euill vnto themselues.

10 i Say ye, Surely it shalbe well with the iust: for they shall eate the fruit of their works.

11 Woe be to the wicked, it shalbe euill with him: for ŷ reward of his hands shallbe giuen him.

12 k Children are extortioners of my people, and women haue rule ouer them: O my people, they that leade thee, cause thee to erre, and destroy the way of thy paths.

13 The Lord standeth vp to pleade, yea, hee standeth to iudge the people.

14 The Lord shall enter into iudgement with the l Ancients of his people & the princes thereof: for yee haue eaten vp the vineyard: the spoyle of the poore is in your houses.

15 What haue ye to do that ye beate my people to pieces, m and grinde the faces of the poore, saith the Lord, euen the Lord of hoasts?

16 The Lord also saith, n Because the daughters of Zion are haughty, and walke with o stretched out neckes, and with p wandring eyes, walking and q minsing as they goe, and making a r tinkling with their feet.

17 Therefore shall the Lord make the heads of the daughters of Zion bald, and the Lord shall discouer their secret parts.

18 In that day shall the Lord take away the ornament of the slippers, and the kalles, and the round tyres.

19 The sweet balles, and the bracelets, and the bonnets.

20 * The tyres of the head, and the sloppes, and the headbands, and the tablets, and the earerings,

23 The rings and the mufflers,

22 The coitly apparell and the vailes, and the wimples, and the crisping pinnes.

23 And the glasses and the fine linnen, and the hoods and the s launes.

24 And in stead of sweete sauour, there shalbe stinke, and in stead of a girdle, a rent, and in stead of dressing of the haire, baldnesse, and in stead of a stomacher, a girding of sackecloath, and burning in stead of beauty.

25 Thy men shall fall by the t sword, and thy strength in the battell.

26 Then shall her gates mourne and lament, and she being desolate, shall sit vpon the ground.

CHAP IV.

1 The small remnant of men after the destruction of Ierusalem. 2 The graces of God vpon them that remaine.

AND in that day shall a seuen women take hold of one man, saying, Wee will eate our owne bread, and we will weare our owne garments: onely b let vs be called by thy name, and take away our c reproach.

2 In that day shall the d bud of the Lord be beautifull and glorious, and the fruit of the earth shall be excellent and pleasant for them that are escaped of Israel.

3 Then he that shall be left in Zion, and he that shall remaine in Ierusalem, shalbe called holy, and euery one shall be e written among the liuing in Ierusalem,

4 When the Lord shall wash the filthinesse of the daughters of Zion, and purge the f blood of Ierusalem out of the mids thereof by the spirit of g iudgements, and by the spirit of burning.

5 And the Lord shall create vpon euery place of mount Zion, and vpon the assemblies thereof, h a cloude and smoke by day, and the shining of a flaming fire by night: for vpon all the i glory shall be a defence.

6 And a couering shalbe for a shadow in the day for the heate, and a place of refuge and a couert for the storme k and for the raine.

---

* Hosea 10.8. Luke 23.30. reuel 6.16. and 9. 6.

x They shall cast them into most vile and filthie places, when they perceiue that they are not able to helpe them.

y Cast off your vaine confidence of man, whose life is so fraile, that if his nose be stopped, he is dead, and consider that you haue to doe with God.

a Because they trusted in their abundance and prosperity, he threatneth that they should be taken from them.

b The temporall gouernour and the minister.

c By these he meaneth that God would take away euery thing that was in any estimation, and wherein they had any occasion to vaunt themselues.

d Not onely in age, but in wit, manners, knowledge and strength.

e For lacke of good regiment and order.

f He sheweth that this plague shalbe so horrible, that contrary to the common maner of men, which by nature are ambitious, none shalbe found able or willing to be their gouernour

g Feare shall rather cause him to forsweare himselfe, then to take such a dangerous charge vpon him

h When God shall examine their deeds whereupon they now set an impudent face, he shall finde the marke of their impietie in their forehead

i Be ye that are godly assured that God will defend you in the middes of these troubles. k Because the wicked people were more addict to their princes, then to the commandements of God, he sheweth that he would giue them such princes, by whom they should haue no helpe, but that should be manifest tokens of his wrath, because they should be fooles and effeminate. l Meaning, that the rulers and gouernours had destroyed his Church, and not preserued it, according to their duetie.

m That is, yee shew all cruelty against them.

n He menaceth the people because of the arrogancy and pride of their women, which gaue themselues to all wantonnes and dissolution.

o Which declared their pride.

p As a figure, that they were not chaste.

q Which shewed their wantonnes.

r They delighted them in slippers that did creke, or had little plates sowed vpon them, which tinkled as they went.

s In rehearsing all these things particularly, he sheweth the lightinesse and vanitie of such as cannot be content with comely apparell according to their degree.

t Meaning, that God will not onely punish the women, but their husbands which haue suffered this dissoluteneſſe, and also the common weale, which hath not remedied it.

a When God shall execute this vengeance, there shall not be one man found to be the head to many women, and they contrary to womanly shamefastneſſe, shall seeke vnto men, and offer themselues to any condition.

b Be thou our husband, and let vs be called thy wiues.

c For so they thought it to be without an head and husband.

d He comforteth the Church in this desolation, which shall spring vp like a bud, signifying that Gods grace should be as plentifull toward the faithfull, as though they sprung out of the earth. as Chap. 45 8. Some by the budde of the Lord meane Christ. e He alludeth to the booke of life, whereof read Exod. 32 32 meaning, Gods secret counsell, wherein his elect are predestinate to life euerlasting. f That is, the cruelty, extortion, auarice, and all wickednes. g When things shall be redressed that were amisse. h He alludeth to the pillar of the cloud, Exod. 13. 21. meaning, that Gods fauour and protection should appear in euery place. i The faithfull are called the glory of God, because his image and tokens of his grace shine in them. k God promiseth to be the defence of his Church against all troubles and dangers.

CHAP. V.

1 Vnder the similitude of the vine, he describeth the state of the people. 8 Of their auarice. 11 Their drunkennesse. 13 Of their captiuitie.

NOw will a I sing to my b beloued a song of my beloued to his vineyard, * My beloued had a c vineyard in a very fruitfull hill.

2 And hee hedged it, and gathered out the stones of it, and he planted it with the best plants, d and hee built a tower in the mids thereof, and made a winepresse therein: then hee looked that it should bring forth grapes: but it brought forth e wild grapes.

3 Now therefore, O inhabitants of Ierusalem and men of Iudah, iudge, I pray you, f betweene me and my vineyard.

4 What could I haue done any more to my vineyard that I haue not done vnto it? why haue I looked that it should bring forth grapes, and it bringeth foorth wild grapes?

5 And now I will tell you what I will doe to my vineyard: I g will take away the hedge thereof, and it shall be eaten vp: I will breake the wall thereof, and it shall be troden downe:

6 And I will lay it waste: it shall not be cut, nor digged, but briers and thornes shall grow vp: I will also command the cloudes that they raine no raine vpon it.

7 ¶ Surely the vineyard of the Lord of hoasts is the house of Israel, and the men of Iudah are his pleasant plant, and he looked for h iudgement, but behold oppression: for righteousnesse, but behold i a crying.

8 Woe vnto them that ioyne house to house, and lay field to field, till there be no k place, that ye may be placed by your selues in the mids of the earth.

9 This is in mine l eares, saith the Lord of hoasts. Surely many houses shall be desolate, euen great and faire without inhabitant.

10 For ten acres of vines shall yeeld one m bath, and the seed of an homer shall yeeld an o ephah.

11 ¶ Woe unto them, that p rise vp early to follow drunkennesse, and to them that continue vntill q night, till the wine doe inflame them.

12 And the harpe and viole, timbrel and pipe, and wine are in their feasts: but they regard not the r worke of the Lord, neither consider the worke of his hands.

13 Therefore my people s is gone into captiuitie, because they had t no knowledge, and the glory thereof are men famished, and the multitude thereof is dried vp with thirst.

14 Therefore u hell hath enlarged it selfe, and hath opened his mouth without measure, and their glory, and their multitude, and their pompe, and he that reioyceth among them, shall descend into it.

15 ¶ And man shalbe brought downe, and man shall be humbled, euen the eyes of the proud shall be humbled.

16 And the Lord of hoastes shall be exalted in iudgement, and the holy God shall be sanctified in iustice.

17 Then shall x the lambes feede after their maner, and the strangers shall eate the desolate places of the fat.

18 ¶ Woe vnto them that draw iniquity with y cordes of vanitie, and sinne, as with cart ropes:

19 Which say, z Let him make speed: let him hasten his worke, that wee may see it: and let the counsell of the Holy One of Israel draw neere and come, that we may know it.

20 Woe vnto them that speake good of euill, a and euill of good, which put darknes for light, and light for darkenesse, that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for sowre.

21 Woe vnto them that are b wise in their owne eyes, and prudent in their owne sight.

22 Wo vnto them that are c mighty to drinke wine, and vnto them that are strong to powre in strong drinke:

23 Which iustifie the wicked for a reward, and take away the righteousnesse of the righteous from him.

24 Therefore as the flame of fire deuoureth the stubble, &c as the chaffe is consumed of the flame: so their roote shalbe as rottennesse, and their bud shall rise vp like dust, because they haue cast off the Law of the Lord of hoasts, and contemned the word of the Holy one of Israel.

25 Therefore is the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and he hath stretched out his d hand vpon them, and hath smitten them that the mountaines did tremble: and their carkeises were torne in the middes of the streets, and for all this his wrath was not turned away, but his hand was stretched out still.

26 And he will lift vp a signe f vnto the nations afarre, and will hisse vnto them from the end of the earth: and behold, they shall come hastily with speed.

27 None shall g faint nor fall among them: none shall slumber nor sleep, neither shall the girdle of his loynes be loosed, nor h the latchet of his shooes be broken.

28 Whose arrowes shall be sharpe, and all his bowes bent: his horse hooues shalbe thought like flint, and his wheeles like a whirlewind.

29 His roaring shall be like a lion, and he shall roare like lions whelpes: they shall i roare, and lay hold of the pray: they shall take it away, and none shall deliuer it.

30 And in that day they shall roare vpon them, as the roaring of the sea: and if k they looke vnto the earth, behold darkenesse and sorow, and the light shalbe darkened in their l skie.

CHAP. VI.

1 Isaiah sheweth his vocation by the vision of the diuine maiestie. 9 He sheweth the obstinacie of the people. 11 The destruction of the land. 13 The remnant reserued.

IN the yeere of the death of king Vzziah, a I saw also the Lord sitting vpon an b hie throne, and lifted vp, and the lowe c parts thereof filled the Temple.

2 The d Seraphims stoode vpon it, euery one had sixe wings: with twaine he couered his e face, and with twaine he couered his f feete, and with twaine he did h flie, a The Prophet by this song doth set before the peoples eyes their ingratitude, and Gods mercy.

b That is, to God.
* Ier. 2. 21. mat. 21. 33.
c Meaning that he had planted his Church in a place most plentifull and abundant.
d He spared no diligence nor cost.
e In the seuenth verse he declareth what they were.
f He maketh them iudges in their owne cause, for as much as it was euident that they were the cause of their owne ruine.
g I will take no more care for it: meaning, that he would take from them his word and ministers, and all other comforts, and send them contrary plagues.
h Iudgement and righteousnesse are true fruits of the feare of God, and therefore in the cruell oppressors there is no religion.
i Of them that are oppressed.
k To wit, for the poore to dwell in.
l That is heard the complaint and cry of the poore.
m Which conteineth about ten pottles.
n Which conteineth ten hundreth pottels.
o An Ephah conteineth ten pottels, and is in dry things as much as Bath is in liquors.
p That spare no pain nor diligence to follow their lustes.
q Which are neuer weary of their rioting and excessiue pleasures, but vse all meanes to prouoke to the same.
r They regard not the prouident care of God ouer them, nor for what end he hath created them.
s That is, shall certainly goe: for so the Prophets vse to speake, as though the thing which shall come to passe, were done already.
t Because they would not obey the word of God.
u Meaning, the graue shall swallow vp them that shall die for hunger and thirst, and yet for all this great destruction it shall neuer be satiate.
x God comforteth the poore lambes of his Church, which had bene strangers in other countreys, promising that they should dwell in those places againe, whereof they had bene deprived by the fat and cruell tyrants.
y Which vse all allurements, occasions, and excuses to harden their conscience in sin.
z He sheweth what are the words of the wicked, when they are menaced with Gods iudgements.
a Which are not ashamed of sinne, nor care for honestie, but are growen to a desperate impietie.
b Which are contemners of all doctrine and admonition.
c Which are neuer weary, but shew their strength, and bragge in gluttony and drunkennes.
d Both they and their posterity, so that nothing shall be left.
e He sheweth that God had so sore punished this people, that the dumbe creatures, if they had beene so plagued, would haue bin more sensible, and therefore his plagues must continue, till they begin to feele them.
f Hee will make the Babylonians to come against them as his backe, and to fight vnder his standard.
g They shall be prompt and iustie to execute Gods vengeance.
h The enemy shall haue none impediment
i Whereby is declared the crueley of the enemie.
k The Iewes shall find no succour.
l In the land of Iudah.

a God sheweth not himselfe to man in his maiestie, but according as mans capacitie is able to comprehend him: that is by visible figures, as Iohn Baptist saw the holy Ghost in the forme of a dooue. b As a Iudge ready to giue sentence. c Of his throne. d They were Angels, so called because they were of a fierie colour, to signifie that they burnt in the loue of God, or were light as fire to execute his will. e Signifying, that they were not able to endure the brightnesse of Gods glory. f Whereby was declared that man was not able to see the brightnesse of God in them. g Which thing declareth the prompte obedience of the Angels to execute Gods commandement.

3 And one cried to another, and said, [b] Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hosts: the whole [i] world is full of his glory.

4 And the lintels of the doore cheekes [k] mooued at the voyce of him that cried, and the house was filled with smoke.

5 Then I said, [l] Woe is me: for I am vndone, because I am a man of polluted lips, and I dwell in the mids of a people of polluted lips: for mine eyes haue seene the King, and Lord of hosts.

6 Then flew one of the Seraphims vnto mee with an hot cole in his hand, which he hath taken from the [m] altar with the tongs:

7 And he touched my mouth, and said, Loe, this hath touched my lips, and thine iniquity shall be taken away, and thy [n] sinne shalbe purged.

8 Also I heard the voyce of the Lord, saying, Whom shall I send? and who shall goe for vs? Then I said, Here am I, send me.

9 And he said, Goe, and say vnto this people, [o] Yee shall heare indeed, but yee shall not vnderstand: & ye shall plainely see, and not perceiue.

10 Make the heart of this people fat, make their eares heauy, and shut their eyes, least they see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and vnderstand with their heart, and conuert, and he heale them.

11 Then said I, Lord, [p] how long? And hee answered, Vntill the cities be wasted without inhabitant, and the houses without man, and the land be vtterly desolate.

12 And the Lord haue remooued men farre away, and there be a great desolation in the mids of the land.

13 But yet in it shall be [q] a tenth, and shall returne, and shall be eaten vp as an elme [r] or as an oke, which haue a substance in them, when they cast their leaues: so the holy seed shall be the substance thereof.

[b] This ofr repetition signifieth, that the holy Angels cannot fatisfie themselues in praying God, to teach vs that in all our liues we should giue our selues to the continuall praise of God.

[i] His glory doeth not onely appeare in the heauens, but through all the world, and therefore all creatures are bound to praise him.

[k] Which things were to confirme the Prophet, that it was not the voyce of man: and by the smoke was fignified the blindnesse that should come vpon the Iewes.

[l] He speaketh this for two causes: the one, because hee that was a mortall creature, and therefore had more need to glorifie God then the Angels, did it not: and the other, because the more neere that man approacheth to God, the more doth he know his owne sinne and corruption.

[m] Of the burnt offrings, where the fire neuer went out.

[n] This declareth that man cannot render due obedience to God, till he haue purged vs. [o] Whereby is declared that for the malice of man, God will not immediatly take away his word, but he will cause it to be preached to their condemnation, when as they will not learne thereby to obey his will, & be saued: hereby he exhorteth the ministers to do their duty, and auoydeth to the wicked murmurers, that through their owne malice their heart is hardened, Matt. 13. 14. Act. 28. 26. rom. 11. 8. [p] As he was mooued with the zeale of Gods glory, so was he touched with a charitable affection toward the people. [q] Meaning, the tenth part, or as some write, it was reuealed to Esaiah for the confirmation of his prophecie, that ten Kings should come before their captiuity, as were from Vzziah to Zedekiah. [r] For the fewnes they shall seeme to be eaten vp: yet they shall after flourish as a tree, which in Winter loseth leaues, and seemed to be dead, yet in Summer is fresh and greene.

CHAP. VII.

1 Ierusalem is besieged. 4 Esaiah comforteth the King. 14 Christ is promised.

A Nd in the dayes of * Ahaz, the sonne of Iotham, the sonne of Vzziah king of Iudah, Rezin the king of ‖ Aram [a] came vp, and Pekah the sonne of Remeliah king of Israel, to Ierusalem to fight against it; but he could not ouercome it.

2 And it was told the house of [b] Dauid, saying, Aram is ioyned with [c] Ephraim: therefore his heart was [d] mooued, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the foreſt are mooued by the wind.

3 ¶ Then said the Lord vnto Esaiah, Go foorth now to meete Ahaz (thou and [e] Shear-iashub thy sonne) at the end of the conduit of the vpper poole, in the path of the fullers field,

4 And say vnto him; Take heed, and be still: feare not, neither be faint hearted for the two tailes of these smoking [f] firebrands, for the furious wrath of Rezin and of Aram, and of Remaliahs sonne.

5 Because Aram hath taken wicked counsell against thee, and Ephraim and Remaliahs sonne, saying,

6 Let vs goe vp against Iudah, and let vs waken them vp, and make a breach therein for vs, and set a king in the mids thereof, euen the sonne of [g] Tabeall.

7 Thus saith the Lord God, it shall not stand, neither shall it be.

8 For the head of Aram is Damascus, and the head of Damascus is Rezin: and within fiue and [h] threescore yeere, Ephraim shall be destroyed from being a people.

9 And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliahs sonne. If ye beleeue not, surely ye shall not be established.

10 ¶ And the Lord spake againe vnto Ahaz, saying,

11 Aske [i] a signe for thee of the Lord thy God: aske it either in the depth beneath, or in the height aboue.

12 But Ahaz said, I will not aske, neither will I [k] tempt the Lord.

13 Then he said, Heare you now, O house of Dauid; is it a small thing for you to grieue [l] men, that ye will also grieue my God?

14 Therefore the [m] Lord himselfe will giue you a signe. Behold, a virgine shall conceiue and beare a sonne, and she shall call his name ‖ Immanuell.

15 [n] Butter and hony shall he eate, till he haue knowledge to refuse the euill, and to chuse the good.

16 For afore the childe shall haue knowledge to eschew the euill, and to chuse the good, the land that thou abhorrest, shalbe forsaken of both her kings.

17 The Lord shall bring vpon thee, and vpon thy people, and vpon thy fathers house, the dayes that are not come from the day that [p] Ephraim departed from Iudah) euen the King of [q] Asshur.

18 And in that day shall the Lord hisse for the [r] flie that is at the vttermost parts of the floods of Egypt, and for the Bee which is in the land of Asshur.

19 And they shall come and shall light all in the desolate valleys, and in the holes of the rocks, and vpon all thornie places, and vpon all bushie places.

20 In that day shall the Lord shaue with a rasor that is hired, euen by them beyond the Riuer, by the King of Asshur, the head and the haire of the [s] feet, and it shall consume the beard.

21 And in the same day shall a man [u] nourish a yong kow, and two sheepe.

22 And for the [x] abundance of milke, that they shall giue, hee shall eate butter: for butter and hony shall euery one eate, which is left within the land.

* 2 Kings 16. 5.

‖ Or, Syria.

[a] To wit, the second time: for in the first battell Ahaz was ouercome.

[b] Meaning, the Kings house.

[c] That is, Israel, because that tribe was the greatest, Gen. 48. 19.

[d] For feare.

[e] That is to say, the rest shall returne, which name Esaiah gaue his sonne, to signifie that the rest of the people should returne out of their captiuitie, [f] Which haue but a little smoke and shall quickly be quenched.

[g] Which was an Israelite, and as seemeth, enemy to the house of Dauid.

[h] Counting from the fine and twentieth yeere of the reigne of Vzziah, at what time Amos prophecied this thing, and now Esaiah confirmeth that the Israelites should be led into perpetuall captiuity, which thing came to passe within 12. yeere after that Esaiah did this message.

[i] For the confirmation of this thing, that thine enemies shalbe destroyed and thou preserued.

[k] Not to beleeue God is euen without a signe, is to tempt God, but to refuse a signe when God offereth it for the aid and helpe of our infirmitie, is to rebell against him.

[l] Ye thinke you haue to doe with men, when ye contemne Gods messengers: but it is God against whom you bend your selues.

[m] For Ahaz such as thou art vnworthy, the Lord for his owne promise sake will giue a signe, which shalbe that Christ the Sauiour of his Church, and the effect of all signes and miracles shalbe reuealed.

‖ Or, God with vs, which name can agree to none, but to him that is both God and man.

[n] Meaning, that Christ is not onely God, but man also, because he shalbe nourished as other men, vntill the age of discretion.

[o] Not meaning Christ, but any child: for before a child can come to the yeeres of discretion, the kings of Samaria and Syria shall be destroyed.

[p] Since the time that the twelue Tribes rebelled vnder Roboam.

[q] In whom thou hast put thy trust.

[r] Meaning, the Egyptians: for by reason the country is hot and moist, it is full of flies, as Affyria is full of bees.

[s] Signifying, that no place shall be free from them.

[t] That is, that which is from the belly downeward: meaning, that he would destroy both great and small.

[u] He that before had a great number of cattell, shalbe content with one kow and two sheepe.

[x] The number of men shalbe so small, that a few beasts shalbe able to nourish all abundantly.

23 And at the same day every place, wherein shall be a thousand vines, shall bee at a thousand pieces of silver: so it shall be for the briers and for the thornes.

24 With arrowes and with y bowe shall one come thither: because all the land shall be briers and thornes.

25 But on z all the mountaines, which shall be digged with the mattocke, there shall not come thither the feare of briers and thornes: but they shall be for the sending out of bullockes, and for the treading of sheepe.

y As they that go to seeke wilde beasts among the bushes.
z The mountains contrary to their wont, shalbe tilled by such as shall flee to them for succour.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The captivity of Israel and Iudah by the Assyrians. 6 The infidelitie of the Iewes. 9 The destruction of the Assyrians. 14 Christ the stone of stumbling to the wicked. 19 The word of God must be enquired at.

MOreouer the Lord said vnto me, Take thee a [a] great roll, and write it [b] with a mans pen, Make speed to the spoyle: haste to the pray.

2 Then I tooke vnto me [c] faithfull witnesses to record, Vriah the Priest, and Zechariah the sonne of Ieberechiah.

3 After, I came vnto the [d] Prophetesse, which conceiued, and bare a sonne. Then said the Lord to me, Call his name, ‖ Maher-shalahash-baz.

4 For before the [e] childe shall haue knowledge to cry, My father, and my mother, [f] he shall take away the riches of Damascus, and the spoyle of Samaria, before the King of Assiur.

5 ¶ And the Lord spake yet againe vnto me, saying,

6 Because this people hath refused the waters of [g] Shiloah that runne softly, and reioyce with Rezin, and the sonne of Remaliah,

7 Now therefore, behold, the Lord bringeth vp vpon them the waters of [h] the Riuer mightie and great, euen the King of Assiur with all his glory, and hee shall come vp vpon all their riuers, and go ouer all their bankes.

8 And shall breake into Iudah, and shall ouerflow, and passe through, and shall come vp to the [i] necke, and the stretching out of his wings shall fill the breadth of thy land, O [k] Immanu-el.

9 Gather together on heapes, O ye [l] people, and ye shall be broken in pieces, and hearken all yee of farre countreys: gird your selues, and you shall be broken in pieces: gird your selues, and you shall be broken in pieces.

10 Take counsell together, yet it shall be brought to nought: pronounce a decree, yet shall it not stand: for God is with vs.

11 For the Lord spake thus to mee, in taking [m] of mine hand, and taught me, that I should not walke in the way of this people, saying,

12 Say ye not, A [n] confederacie, to all them to whom this people saith a confederacie, neither feare you [o] their feare, nor be afraid of them.

13 [p] Sanctifie the Lord of hoastes, and let him be your feare, and let him be your dread,

14 And he shall be as a [q] Sanctuarie: but as a a That thou maiest write in great letters, to the intent it may be more easily read.

b Meaning, after the common fashion, because all men might read it.
c Because the thing was of great importance, he tooke these two witnesses, which were of credit with the people, when hee set this vp vpon the doore of the Temple, albeit Vriah was a flattering hypocrite, 2 Kin. 16, 11.
d Meaning, to his wife, and this was done in a vision.

2 The people that [d] walked in darkenesse, haue seene a great [e] light: they that dwelled in the land of the shadow of death, vpon them hath the [f] light shined.

3 Thou hast [g] multiplied the nation, and not increased their ioy: they haue reioyced before thee according to the ioy in haruest, & as men reioyce when they diuide a spoyle.

4 For the [h] yoke of their burthen, and the staffe of their shoulder, and the rod of their oppressour hast thou broken, as in the day of Midian.

5 Surely euery battell of the warriour is with noise, and with tumbling of garments in blood: but this shalbe [i] with burning, and deuoring of fire.

his shoulder, and he shall call his name, Wonderfull, Counseller, The mightie God, The everlasting [k] Father, The prince of peace.

7 The encrease of his gouernment and peace shall haue none end: he shall sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and vpon his kingdome, to order it, and to stablish it with iudgement, and with iustice, from henceforth, euen for euer; [l] the zeale of the Lord of hoasts will performe this.

8 ¶ The Lord hath sent a word into Iaakob, and it hath lighted vpon [m] Israel.

9 And all the people shall know, euen Ephraim, and the inhabitant of Samaria, that say in the pride and presumption of their heart,

10 The [n] brickes are fallen, but we will build it with hewen stones; the wild figge trees are cut downe, but we will change them into cedars.

11 Neuerthelesse, the Lord will raise vp the aduersaries of [o] Rezin against him, and ioyne his enemies together.

12 Aram before and the Philistims behinde, and they shall deuoure Israel with open mouth; yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

13 For the people turneth not vnto him that smiteth them, neither doe they seeke the Lord of hoasts.

14 Therefore will the Lord cut off from Israel head and taile, branch and rush in one day.

15 The ancient and the honourable man, he is the head: and the prophet that teacheth lies, he is the taile.

16 For the leaders of the people cause them to erre: and they that are led by them are deuoured.

17 Therefore shall the Lord haue no pleasure in their yong men, neither will he haue compassion of their fatherlesse and of their widowes: for euery one is an hypocrite and wicked, and euery mouth speaketh follie; yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

18 For wickednesse [p] burneth as a fire; it deuoureth the briers and the thornes, and will kindle in the thicke places of the forest; and they shall mount vp like the lifting vp of smoke.

19 By the wrath of the Lord of hoasts shall the land be darkened, and the people shall be as the meate of the fire; no man shall [q] spare his brother.

20 And he shall snatch at the right hand, and be hungry; and he shall eate on the left hand, and shall not be satisfied: euery one shall eate the [r] flesh of his owne arme.

21 Manasseh Ephraim; and Ephraim Manasseh, and they both shalbe against Iudah; yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

CHAP. X.

1 Of wicked lawmakers. 5 God will punish his people by the Assyrians: and after destroy them. 21 The remnant of Israel shall be saued.

WOe vnto them that decree wicked decrees, and [a] write grieuous things.

2 To keepe backe the poore from iudgement, and to take away the iudgement of the poore of my people, that widowes may be their pray, and that they may spoyle the fatherlesse.

3 What will ye doe now in the day of visitation, and of destruction, which shall come from [b] farre? to whom will yee flee for helpe? and where will ye leaue your glory?

4 [d] Without mee euery one shall fall among them that are bound, and they shall fall downe among the slaine: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

5 ¶ O [e] Asshur, the rodde of my wrath: and the staffe in their hands is mine indignation.

6 I will send [f] him to a dissembling nation, and I will giue him a charge against the people of my wrath to take the spoyle and to take the pray, and to tread them vnder feete like the mire in the streete.

7 But hee thinketh not so, neither doeth his heart esteeme it so: but hee imagineth to destroy and to cut off not a few nations.

8 For he saith, Are not my princes altogether Kings?

9 Is not Calno as [g] Carchemish? Is not Hamath like Arpad? Is not Samaria as Damascus?

10 Like as mine hand hath found the kingdoms of the idoles, seeing their idoles were aboue Ierusalem, and aboue Samaria:

11 Shall not I, as I haue done to Samaria, and to the idoles thereof, so doe to Ierusalem, and to the idoles thereof?

12 ¶ But when the Lord hath accomplished [h] all his worke vpon mount Zion and Ierusalem, I will visite the fruit of the proud heart [i] of the king of Asshur, and his glorious and proud lookes, 13 Because hee said, By the power of mine owne hand haue I done it, and by my wisedome, because I am wise: therefore I haue remooued the borders of the people, and haue spoyled their treasures, and haue pulled downe the inhabitants like a valiant man.

14 And mine hand hath found as a nest the riches of the people, and as one that gathereth egges that are left, so haue I gathered all the earth: and there was none to moue the wing or to open the mouth, or to whisper.

15 Shall the [k] axe boast it selfe against him that heweth therewith? or shall the saw exalt it selfe against him that moueth it? as if the rod should lift vp it selfe against him that taketh it vp, or the staffe should exalt it selfe as it were no wood.

16 Therefore shall the Lord God of hoasts send among his fat men leannesse, and vnder his glory he shall kindle a burning, like the burning of fire.

17 And the light of Israel shalbe as a [l] fire, and the Holy one thereof as a flame, and it shall burne, and deuoure [m] his thorns & his briers in one day:

18 And shall consume the glory of his forest, and of his fruitfull fields both soule [n] and flesh: & he shalbe as the [o] fainting of a standard bearer.

19 And the rest of the trees of his forest shall be few, that a childe may tell them.

20 ¶ And at that day shall the remnant of Israel and such as are escaped of the house of Iaakob, stay no more vpon him that smote them, but shall [p] stay vpon the Lord, the Holy one of Israel in trueth.

21 The remnant shall returne, euen the remnant of Iaakob vnto the mighty God.

22 For though thy people, O Israel, be as the sand of the sea, yet shall the remnant of them returne. The consumption [q] decreed shall ouerflow with righteousnesse.

23 For the Lord God of hoasts shall make the consumption euen [r] determined, in the middes of all the land.

b To wit, from Assyria. c Your riches and authority, that they may be safe, and that ye may receiue them againe.

d Because they haue forsaken me, some shall go into captiuity, and the rest shalbe slaine.
e God calleth for the Assyrians to be the executioners of his vengeance.
f That is, the Assyrians against the Iewes, which are but hypocrites, and in the sixt and seuenth verse is declared the difference of the worke of God, and of the wicked in one very thing and acte: for Gods intention is to chastise them for their amendment, and the Assyrians purpose is to destroy them to enrich themselues: thus in respect of Gods iustice, it is Gods worke, but in respect of their owne malice, it is the worke of the deuill.
g Seeing that I haue ouercome as well one city as another, so that none could resist, shall Ierusalem be able to escape mine hands?
h When he hath sufficiently chastised his people (for he beginneth at his owne house) then will he burne the rods.
i Meaning of Sanherib.
k Here we see that no creature is able to doe any thing, but as God appointeth him, and that they are all but his instruments to doe his worke, though the intentions be diuers, as verse 6.
l Meaning, that God is a light to comfort his people, and a fire to burne his enemies.
m That is, the Assyrians.
n To wit, body and soule vtterly.
o When the battell is lost, and the standard taken.
p This is the end of Gods plague toward his, to bring them to him, and to forsake all trust in others.
q This small number which seemed to be consumed, and yet according to Gods decree is saued shall be sufficient to fill all the world with righteousnesse. r God will destroy this land as he hath determined, and after saue a small portion,

24 Therefore thus saith the Lord God of hoasts, O my people, that dwellest in Zion, be not afraid of Asshur, he shall smite thee with a rod, & shal lift vp his staffe against thee after ẏ maner of [f] Egypt.
25 But yet a very little time, and the wrath shall be consumed, and mine anger in their destruction.
26 And the Lord of hoastes shall rayse vp a scourge for him, according to the plague of [g] Midian in the rocke Oreb: and as his staffe was vpon the [u] Sea, so hee will lift it vp after the maner of Egypt.
27 And at that day shall his burden be taken away from off thy shoulder, and his yoke from off thy necke: and the yoke shalbe destroyed because of [x] the anoynting.
28 He is come to [y] Aiath: he is passed into Migron: at Michmash shall he lay vp his armour.
29 They haue gone ouer the foord: they lodged in the lodging at Geba; Ramah is afraid: Gibeah of Saul is fled away.
30 Lift vp thy voyce, O daughter Gallim: cause Laish to heare, O poore Anathoth.
31 Madmenah is removed; the inhabitants of Gebim haue gathered themselues together.
32 Yet there is a time that he will stay at Nob: hee shall lift vp his hand toward the mount of the daughter Zion, the hill of Ierusalem.
33 Behold, the Lord God of hoasts shall cut off the [z] bough with feare, and they of high stature shalbe cut off, and the high shalbe humbled.
34 And he shall cut away the thicke places of the forest with yron, and Lebanon shall haue a mightie fall.

CHAP. XI.

1 Christ borne of the roote of Iesse. 2 His vertues and kingdome. 6. The fruits of the Gospell. 10 The calling of the Gentiles.

BVt there shall come a [a] rodde foorth of the stocke of Iesse, and a graffe shall grow out of his rootes.
2 And the Spirit of the Lord shall rest vpon him: the Spirit of wisedome and vnderstanding, the Spirit of counsell and strength, the Spirit of knowledge, and of the feare of the Lord.
3 And shall make him prudent in the feare of the Lord; for hee shall not iudge after the sight of his eyes, neither reproue by the hearing of his eares.
4 But with righteousnesse shall hee iudge the poore, and with equitie shall he reproue for the meeke of the earth: and he shall [b] smite the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips shall he slay the wicked.
5 And iustice shall be the girdle of his loynes, and faithfulnesse the girdle of his reines.
6 The [c] wolfe also shall dwell with the lambe, and the leopard shall lye with the kid, and the calfe, and the lyon, and the fat beast together, and a little childe shall leade them.
7 And the kow and the beare shall feede: their yong ones shall lye together: and the lyon shall eate straw like the bullocke.
8 And the sucking childe shall play vpon the hole of the aspe, and the weaned childe shall put his hand vpon the cockatrice hole.
9 Then shall none hurt nor destroy in all the mountaine of my holinesse: for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord, [d] as the waters that couer the sea.
10 And in that day the roote of Iesse, which shall stand vp for a signe vnto the [e] people, the nations shall seeke vnto it, and his [f] rest shall be glorious.
11 And in the same day shall the Lord stretch out his hand [g] againe the second time, to possesse the remnant of his people, (which shalbe left) of Assiur, and of Egypt, and of Pathros, and of Ethiopia, and of Elam, and of Shinear, and of Hamath, and of the yles of the sea.
12 And hee shall set vp a signe to the nations, and assemble the dispersed of Israel, and gather the scattered of Iudah from the foure corners of the world.
13 The hatred also of Ephraim shall depart, and the aduersaries of Iudah shall be cut off; Ephraim shall not enuie [h] Iudah, neither shall Iudah vexe Ephraim:
14 But they shall flee vpon the shoulders of the Philistims toward the West: they shall spoyle them of the East together: Edom and Moab shalbe in the stretching out of their hands, and the children of Ammon in their obedience.
15 The Lord also shall vtterly destroy the [i] tongue of the Egyptians sea, and with his mighty wind shall lift vp his hand [k] ouer the riuer, and shall smite him in his seuen streames, and cause men to walke therein with shooes.
16 And there shalbe a path to the remnant of his people which are left of Assiur, like as it was vnto Israel in the day that hee came vp out of the land of Egypt.

CHAP. XII.

A thanksgiving of the faithfull for the mercies of God.

AND thou [a] shalt say in that day, O Lord, I will praise thee: though thou wast angry with me, thy wrath is turned away, and thou comfortest me.
2 Behold, God is [b] my saluation: I will trust, & will not feare: for the Lord God is [*] my strength and song: he is also become my saluation.
3 Therefore with ioy shall yee [c] draw waters out of the wels of saluation.
4 And yee shall say in that day; * Prayse the Lord: call vpon his Name: declare his workes among the people: make mention of them, for his Name is exalted.
5 Sing vnto the Lord, for he hath done excellent things: this is known in all the world.
6 Cry out, and shout, [d] O inhabitant of Zion: for great is the Holy one of Israel in the midst of thee.

The Medes and Persians shall destroy Babylon.

THe [a] burden of Babel, which Isaiah the sonne of Amoz did see.
2 Lift vp a standard vpon the high mountaine: lift vp the voyce vnto them: wagge the [b] hand, that they may goe into the gates of the nobles.
3 I haue commanded them, that I haue [c] sanctified: and I haue called the mighty to my wrath, and them that reioyce in my glory.

God would smite the strange nations (whom they knew chastised the Israelites as his children, and these others as if that God spare not these that are ignorant, that they must not thinke strange, if he punish them which haue knowledge of his Law, and keepe it not. b To wit, the Medes and Persians. c That is, prepared and appointed to execute my iudgements. c Which willingly goe about to the worke wherevnto I appoint them, but how the wicked doe this, reade Chap. 10. 6.

x Because of the promise made to that kingdome, whereby Christs kingdome was prefigured.
y He describeth by what way the Assyrians should come against Ierusalem, to confirme the faithfull, when it should come to passe, that as their plague was come, so should they be destroyed.
z Feare and destruction shall come vpon Iudah: for the princes and the people shalbe all led away captiues.

a Because the captiuitie of Babylon was a figure of the spirituall captiuity vnder sinne, he sheweth that our true deliuerance must come by Christ: for as David came out of Iudah a man without dignity, so Christ should come of a poore carpenters house as out of a dead stocke, Chap. 53. 2.
b All these properties can agree to none, but onely vnto Christ: for it is he that toucheth the hearts of the faithfull, and mortifieth their concupiscences: and to the wicked he is the sauour of death, and to them that shall perish: so that all the world shall be smitten with his rodde, which is his word.
c Men because of their wicked affections are named by the name of beasts, wherein the like affections reigne: but Christ by his Spirit shall refotate them, and worke in them such mutuall charity, that they shall be like lambes, fauouring and louing one another, and cast off all their cruell affections, Chap. 65, 25.
d It shall be in as great abundance as the waters in the sea.

e He prophecieth of the calling of the Gentiles, f That is, the Church, which he also calleth his rest, Psal 132.14.
g For God first deliuered his people out of Egypt, and now promiseth to deliuer them out of their enemies hands, as from the Parthians, Persians, Caldeans, and them of Antiochia, among whom they were dispersed: and this is chiefly meant of Christ, who calleth his people being dispersed through all the world.
h Here he describeth the consent that shalbe in his Church, and their victory against their enemies.
i Meaning, a corner of the sea, that entreth into the land, and hath the forme of a tongue.
k To wit, Nilus, the great riuer of Egypt, which entreth into the sea with seuen streames.

e He sheweth how the Church shall prayse God, when they are deliuered from their captiuitie.
b Our saluation standeth onely in God, who giueth vs assured confidence, constancy, and occasion to prayse him for the same.
* Exod. 15. 2. Psal. 118. 14.
c The graces of God shalbe so abundant, that ye may receiue them in as great plenty, as waters out of a fountaine that is full.

d Ye that are of the Church.

4 The noise of a multitude is in the mountains like a great people: a tumultuous voyce of the kingdomes of the nations gathered together: the Lord of hoastes numbreth the hoste of the battell.

5 They come from a farre countrey, from the end of the heauen: euen the Lord with the [e] weapons of his wrath to destroy the whole land.

6 Howle [f] you, for the day of the Lord is at hand: it shall come as a destroyer from the Almighty.

7 Therefore shall all hands be weakened, and all mens hearts shall melt.

8 And they shalbe afraid: anguish and sorrow shall take them, and they shall haue paine, as a woman that trauaileth: euery one shalbe amazed at his neighbour, and their faces shalbe like [g] flames of fire.

9 Behold, the day of the Lord commeth, cruell, with wrath and fierce anger to lay the land waste: and he shall destroy the sinners out of it.

10 For the [h] starres of heauen and the planets thereof shall not giue their light: the sunne shalbe darkened in his going forth, and the moone shall not cause her light to shine.

11 And I will visite the wickednesse vpon the [i] world, and their iniquity vpon the wicked, and I will cause the arrogancie of the [k] proud to ceese, and will cast downe the pride of tyrants.

12 I will make a [l] man more precious then fine gold, euen a man aboue the wedge of gold of Ophir.

13 Therefore I will shake the heauen, and the earth shall remooue out of her place in the wrath of the Lord of hoastes, and in the day of his fierce anger.

14 And [m] it shall be as a chased Doe, and as a sheepe that no man taketh vp: euery man shall turne to his owne people, and flee each one to his owne land.

15 Euery one that is found, shall be striken through: and whosoeuer ioyneth himselfe, shall fall by the sword.

16 * Their [n] children also shall be broken in pieces before their eyes: their houses shalbe spoiled, and their wiues rauished.

17 Beholde, I will stirre vp the Medes against them, which shall not regard siluer, nor be desirous of gold.

18 With bowes also shall they destroy the children, and shall haue no compassion vpon the fruit of the wombe, and their eyes shall not spare the children.

19 And Babel the glory of kingdomes, the beauty and pride of the Caldeans, shalbe as the destruction of God * in Sodom and Gomorah.

20 It shall not be inhabited for euer, neither shall it be dwelled in from generation to generation; neither shall the [o] Arabian pitch his tents there, neither shall their shepheards make their folds there.

21 But [p] Zijm shall lodge there, & their houses shalbe full of Ohim: Ostriches shall dwell there, and the Satyrs shall dance there.

22 And Iim shall cry in their palaces, and dragons in their pleasant palaces: and the time thereof is ready to come, and the dayes thereof shal not be prolonged.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The returne of the people from captiuity. 4 The derision of the King of Babylon. 11 The death of the king. 29 The destruction of the Philistims.

FOr a the Lord will haue compassion of Iaakob, and will yet chuse Israel, and cause them to rest in their owne land: and the stranger [b] shall ioyne himselfe vnto them, and they shall cleaue to the house of Iaakob.

2 And the people shall receiue them & bring them to their owne place, and the house of Israel shall possesse them in the land of the Lord, for [c] seruants and handmaydes: and they shall take them prisoners, whose captiues they were, and haue rule ouer their oppressours.

3 ¶ And in that day when the Lord shall giue thee rest from thy sorow, and from thy feare, and from the sore bondage, wherein thou diddest seaue.

4 Then shalt thou take vp this prouerbe against the King of Babel, and say, How hath the oppressour ceased? and the gold thirstie Babel rested?

5 The Lord hath broken the rodde of the wicked, and the sceptre of the rulers:

6 Which smote the people in anger with a continuall plague, and ruled the nations in wrath: if any were persecuted, he did [d] not let.

7 The whole world is at [e] rest and is quiet: they sing for ioy.

8 Also the firre trees reioyced of thee, and the cedars of Lebanon, saying, Since thou art layde downe, no hewer came vp against vs.

9 Hell beneath is mooued for thee to [f] meete thee at thy comming, raysing vp the dead for thee, euen all the princes of the earth, and hath raised from their thrones all the Kings of the nations.

10 All they shall cry and say vnto thee, Art thou become weake also as we? art thou become like vnto vs?

11 Thy pompe is brought down, to the graue, and the sound of the viols: the worme [g] is spred vnder thee, and the wormes couer thee.

12 How art thou fallen from heauen, O [h] Lucifer, sonne of the morning? and cut downe to the ground, which diddest cast loues vpon the nations?

graue, becauſe thou haſt deſtroyed thine owne land, and ſlaine thy people: the ſeed of the wicked ſhall not be renowmed for euer.

21 [n] Prepare a ſlaughter for his children, for the iniquitie of their fathers: let them not riſe vp nor poſſeſſe the land, nor fill the face of the world with enemies.

22 ¶ For I will riſe vp againſt them (ſayth the Lord of hoſts) and will cut off from Babel the name and the remnant, and the ſonne, and the nephew, ſayth the Lord.

23 And I will make it a poſſeſſion to the [‖] hedgehog, and pooles of water, [o] & I will ſweepe it with the beſome of deſtruction, ſayth the Lord of hoaſtes.

24 The Lord of hoaſtes hath ſworne, ſaying, Surely like as I haue purpoſed, ſo ſhall it come to paſſe, and as I haue conſulted, it ſhall ſtand:

25 [p] That I will breake to pieces Aſſhur in my land, and vpon my mountaines will I tread him vnder foote, ſo that his yoke ſhall depart from [p] them, and his burden ſhall he taken from off their ſhoulder.

26 This is the counſell that is conſulted vpon the whole world, and this is the hand ſtretched out ouer all the nations.

A prophecie againſt Moab.

THe [a] burden of Moab, Surely [b] Ar of Moab was deſtroyed, and brought to ſilence in a night: ſurely Kir of Moab was deſtroyed, and brought to ſilence in a night.

2 [c] He ſhall goe vp to the Temple, and to Dibon the hie places to weepe: for [d] Nebo and for Medeba ſhall Moab howle: vpon all [e] their heads ſhall be baldneſſe, and euery beard ſhauen.

3 In their ſtreetes ſhall they be girded with ſackecloath: on the toppes of their houſes, and in their ſtreetes euery one ſhall howle, and come downe with weeping.

4 And Heſhbon ſhall cry, and Elealeh: their voyce ſhall be heard vnto Iahaz: therefore the warriours of Moab ſhall ſhout: the ſoule of euery one ſhall lament in himſelfe.

5 Mine [f] heart ſhall crie for Moab: his fugitiues ſhall flee vnto Zoar, [g] an heifer of three yeere olde: for they ſhall goe vp with weeping by the mounting vp of Luhith; and by the way of Horonaim they [h] ſhall raiſe vp a cry of deſtruction.

6 For the waters of Nimrim ſhall be dried vp; therefore the graſſe is withered, the herbes conſumed, and there was no greene herbe.

7 Therefore what euery man hath left, and their ſubſtance ſhall they beare to the [i] brooke of the willowes.

8 For the cry went round about the borders of Moab, and the howling thereof vnto Eglaim, and the skriking thereof vnto Beer-Elim.

9 Becauſe the waters of Dimon ſhall be full [k] of blood; for I will bring more vpon Dimon, euen lions [l] vpon him that eſcapeth of Moab, and to the remnant of the land.

CHAP. XVI.

The cauſes wherefore the Moabites are deſtroyed.

SEnd [a] yee a lambe to the ruler of the world from the rocke of the wilderneſſe, vnto the mountaine of the daughter Zion.

2 For it ſhall be as a bird that [b] flieth, and a neſt, forſaken: the daughters of Moab ſhall be at the foordes of Amon.

3 Gather a counſel, execute iudgement, [c] make thy ſhadow as the night in the midday; hide them that are chaſed out; bewray not him that is fled.

4 Let my baniſhed dwell with thee; Moab, be thou their couert from the face of the deſtroyer; for the extortioner [d] ſhall ende: the deſtroyer ſhall be conſumed, and the oppreſſour ſhall ceaſe out of the land.

5 And in mercy ſhall the throne be prepared, [e] and he ſhall ſit vpon it in ſtedfaſtneſſe, in the tabernacle of Dauid, iudging, and ſeeking iudgement, and haſting iuſtice.

6 Wee haue heard of the pride of Moab (hee is very proud) euen his pride, and his arrogancie, and his indignation, but his [f] lies ſhall not be ſo.

7 Therefore ſhall Moab howle vnto Moab, euery one ſhall howle, for the foundations of Kir-hareſeth ſhall yee mourne, yet they ſhall be [g] ſtriken.

8 For the vineyards of Heſhbon are cut downe and the vine of Sibmah; [h] the lordes of the heathen haue broken the principall vines thereof, they are come vnto [i] Iaazer; they wandred in the wilderneſſe; her godly branches ſtretched out themſelues, and went ouer the ſea.

9 Therefore will [k] I weepe with the weeping of Iaazar, and of the vine of Sibmah, O Heſhbon, and Elealeh, I will make thee drunke with my teares, becauſe vpon thy ſummer fruits, and vpon thy harueſt [l] a ſhouting is fallen.

10 And gladnes is taken away, and ioy out of the plentifull field; and in the vineyards ſhall be no ſinging nor ſhouting for ioy; the treader ſhall not tread wine in the wine preſſes; I haue cauſed the reioycing to ceaſe.

11 Wherefore, my [m] bowels ſhall ſound like an harpe for Moab, and mine inward parts for Kir-hareſh.

12 And when it ſhall appeare that Moab ſhall be weary of his high places, then ſhall he come to his [n] temple to pray, but he ſhall not preuaile.

13 This is the word that the Lord hath ſpoken againſt Moab ſince that time.

14 And now the Lord hath ſpoken, ſaying, n He calleth to the Medes and Perſians, and all thoſe that ſhould execute Gods vengeance.

1 A prophecie of the destruction of Damascus and Ephraim, 7 Calamitie moueth to repentance.

THe a burden of b Damascus. Behold, Damascus is taken away from being a citie, for it shall be a ruinous heape.

2 The cities of c Aroer shall be forsaken: they shall be for the flockes; for they shall lie there, and none shall make them afraide.

3 The munition also shall cease from d Ephraim, and the kingdome from Damascus, and the remnant of Aram shall be as the e glory of the children of Israel, saith the Lord of hoasts.

4 And in that day the glory of f Iaakob shall be impouerished, and the fatnes of his flesh shall be made cleane.

5 And it shalbe as when the harueſt man gathereth g the corne, and reapeth the eares with his arme, and he shalbe as he that gathereth the eares in the valley of h Rephaim.

6 Yet a gathering of grapes shall i be left in it; as the shaking of an oliue tree, two or three berries are in the top of the vpmost boughes, and foure or fiue in the high branches of the fruite thereof, saith the Lord God of Israel.

7 At that day shall a man looke to his k maker, and his eyes shall looke to the holy one of Israel.

8 And hee shall not looke to the altars, the workes of his owne hands, neither shall he looke to those things which his owne fingers haue made, as groues and images.

9 In that day shall the cities of their strength be as the forsaking of boughes & branches, which l they did forsake, because of the children of Israel, and there shall be desolation.

10 Because thou hast forgotten the God of thy saluation, and hast not remembred the God of thy strength, therefore shalt thou set pleasant plants, and shalt graffe strange m vine branches.

11 In the day shalt thou make thy plant to grow, and in the morning shalt thou make thy seede to flourish; but the harueſt shall be gone in the day n of possession, and there shall be desperate sorrow.

12 o Ah, the multitude of many people, they shall make a sound like the noise of the sea: for the noyse of the people shall make a sound like the noyse of mighties waters.

13 The people shall make a sound like the noyse of many waters: but God shall p rebuke thē, and they shall flee farre off, and shall be chased as the chaffe of the mountaines before the winde, and as a rouling thing before the whirlewinde.

14 And loe, in the euening there is q trouble; but afore the morning it is gone. This is the portion of them that spoyle vs, and the lot of them that robbe vs.

a Read Chap. 13. 1. b The chiefe citie of Syria.
c It was a countrey of Syria by the riuer Arnon.
d It seemeth that the Prophet would comforth the Church in declaring the destruction of these two kings of Syria and Israel, when as they had conspired the ouerthrow of Iudah.
e The ten tribes gloried in their multitude and alliance with other nations: therefore he saith that they shall be brought downe, and the Syrians also.
f Meaning, of the ten tribes, which boasted themselues of their nobilitie, prosperitie, strength and multitude.
g As the abundance of corne, doth not feare the harueſt men that should cut it downe: so more shall the multitude of Israel make the enemies to stricke, whom God shall appoint to destroy them.
h Which valley was plentifull and fertile.
i Because God would haue his couenant stable, he promiseth to reserue some of this people aid to bring them to repentance.
k He sheweth that Gods corrections euer bring forth some fruite, and cause his to turne from their sinnes, and to humble themselues to him.
l As the Cananites left their cities, when God did place the Israelites there, so the cities of Israel shall no more be albe to defend their inhabitants then bushes, when God shall send the enemie to plague them.
m Which are excellent, and brought out of other countreyes.
n As the Lord threateth the wicked in his Law, Leuit. 26 16.
o The Prophet lamenteth, considering the horrible plague that was prepared against Israel by the Assyrians, which were infinite in number, and gathered of many nations.
p Hee addeth this for the consolation of the faithfull which were in Israel.
q Hee compareth the enemies the Assyrians to a tempest, which riseth ouer night, and in the morning is gone.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Of the enemies of the Church, 7 And of the vocation of the Gentiles.

OH, the a land shadowing with wings, which is beyond the riuers of Ethiopia.

2 Sending ambassadours by the sea, euen in vessels of b reedes vpon the waters, saying, c Goe yee swift messengers, to a nation that is scattered abroad, and spoyled, vnto a terrible d people from their beginning euen hitherto; a nation by little and little euen troden vnder foot: whose land the e floods haue spoyled.

3 All yee the inhabitants of the world, and dwellers in the earth, shall see when f hee setteth vp a signe in the mountaines, and when he bloweth the trumpet, ye shall heare.

4 For so the Lord said vnto mee, I will g rest and behold in my tabernacle, as h the heate drying vp the raine, and as a cloud of dew in the heat of harueſt.

5 For afore the harueſt, when the floure, is finished, and the fruit is riping in the floure, then hee shall cut downe the branches with hookes, and shall take away, and cut off the bouges:

6 They shall be left together vnto the fowles of the mountaines, and to the i beasts of the earth, for the foule shall summer vpon it, and euery beast of the earth shall winter vpon it.

7 At that time shall a k present be brought vnto the Lord of hoasts (a people that is scattered abroad, and spoyled, and of a terrible people from their beginning hitherto, a nation by little and little euen troden vnder foot, whose land the riuers haue spoyled) to the place of the name of the Lord of hoastes, euen the mount Zion.

a Hee meaneth that part of Ethiopia, which lieth toward the sea, which was so full of ships that the sailes (which he compareth to wings) seemed to shadow the sea.
b Which in those countreyes were great, insomuch as they made ships of them for swiftnesse.
c This may be taken that they sent others to comfort the Iewes, and to promise them helpe against their enemies, and so the Lord did threaten to take away their strength, that the Iewes should not trust therein: or that they did solicite the Egyptians, and promised them aide to goe against Iuda.
d To wit, the Iewes, who because of Gods plagues, made all other nations afraid of the him, as God threatned, Deut. 28 37.
e Meaning the Assyrians, as chap 8, 7.
f When the Lord prepareth to fight against the Ethiopians.
g I will stay a while from punishing the wicked.
h Which two seasons are most profitable for the riping of fruites, whereby hee meaneth, that hee will seeme to fauour them, and giue them abundance for a time, but hee will suddenly cut them off.
i Not onely men shall consume them, but the brutish beastes.
k Meaning, that God will pitie his Church, and receiue the little remnant as an offring vnto himselfe.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The destruction of the Egyptians by the Assyrians. 18 Of their conuersion to the Lord.

THe a burden of Egypt. Behold, the Lord b rideth vpon a swift cloud, and shall come into Egypt, and the idoles of Egypt shalbe mooued at his presence, and the heart of Egypt shall melt in the midst of her.

2 And I will set the Egyptians against the Egyptians: so euery one shall c fight against his brother, and euery one against his neighbour, citie against citie, and kingdome against kingdome.

3 And the d spirit of Egypt shall faile in the midst of her, and I will destroy their counsell, and they shall seeke at the idoles, and at the sorcerers, and at them that haue spirits of diuination, and at the soothsayers.

4 And I will deliuer the Egyptians into the hand of the cruell lords, and a mightie king shall rule ouer them, saith the Lord God of hoasts.

5 Then the waters of the sea shall e faile, and the riuer shall be dried vp, and wasted.

6 And the f riuers shall goe farre away: the riuers of defence shall be emptied and dried vp: the reedes and flags shall be cut downe.

a Reade Chap. 13. 1.
b Because the Egyptians trusted in the defence of their countrey, in the multitude of their idoles, and in the valiantnesse of their men, the Lord sheweth that hee will come ouer all their munitions in a swift cloud, and that their idoles shall tremble at his comming, and that mens hearts shall faint.
c As he caused the Amorites, Moabites and Idumeans to kill one another, when they came to destroy the Church of God 2 Chron 20. 22. chap 49. 26.
d Meaning their policie and wisedome.
e Hee sheweth that the sea and Nilus their great riuer, whereby they thought themselues most sure, should not be able to defend them from his anger, but that hee would send the Assyrians among them, that should keepe them vnder as flues.

g The Ebrew word is mouth, whereby they meane the spring out of the which the water gusheth as out of a mouth. h The Scriptures vse to describe the destruction of a countrey by taking away of the commodities thereof, as by vines, flesh, fish, and such other things, whereby countreyes are enriched.

i Called also Tanes a famous citie vpon Nilus.

k He noteth the flatterers of Pharaoh: who perswaded the king that he was wise, and noble, and that his house was most ancient, and so he flattered himselfe, saying, I am wise. l Or, Memphis, others Alexandria, and now called the great Cairo.

m The principall vpholders thereof are the chiefest cause of their destruction.

n For the spirit of wisedome he hath made them drunken and giddie with the spirit of error.

p Neither the great nor the small the strong nor the weake.

b Considering that through their occasion the Iewes made not God their defence: but put their trust in them, and were therefore now punished, they shall feare least the like light vpon them.

q Shall make one confession of faith with the people of God: by the speech of Canaan, meaning, the language wherein God was then serued.

r Shall renounce their superstitions, and protest to serue God aright.

s Meaning, of fixe cities fiue should serue God, and the fixt remaine in their wickednes: and so of the fixt part there should be but one lott.

t There shall be euident tigues and tokens, that Gods religion is there: which maner of speech is taken of the Patriarkes, and ancient times, when God hath not as yet appointed the place, and full maner how he would be worshipped.

u This declareth that this prophesie should be accomplished in the time of Christ.

x By these ceremonies hee comprehendeth the spirituall service vnder Christ.

y By these two nations, which were then chiefe enemies o. the Church, he sheweth that the Gentiles and the Iewes should be ioyned together in one faith and religion, and should be all one fold vnder Christ their Shepheard.

7 The grasse in the riuer, and at the g head of the riuers, and all that groweth by the riuer shall wither, and be driuen away, and be no more.

8 The fishers also shall b mourne, and all they that cast angle into the riuer, shall lament, and they that spread their net vpon the waters, shall be weakened.

9 Moreouer, they that worke in flaxe of diuers sorts, shalbe confounded, and they that weaue nets.

10 For their nets shall be broken, and all they that make ponds shalbe heauie in heart.

11 Surely the princes of i Zoan are fooles: the counsell of the wise counsellers of Pharaoh, is become foolish: how say yee vnto Pharaoh, I k am the sonne of the wise? I am the sonne of the ancient kings?

12 Where are now thy wise men, that they may tell thee, or may know what the Lord of hoastes hath determined against Egypt?

13 The princes of Zoan are become fooles: the princes of Noph are deceiued, they haue deceiued Egypt, euen the m corners of the tribes thereof.

14 The Lord hath mingled among them the spirit n of errours: and they haue caused Egypt to erre in euery worke thereof, as a drunken man erreth in his vomit.

15 Neither shall there be any worke in Egypt, which the head may o doe, nor the tayle, the branch nor the rush.

16 In that day shall Egypt be like vnto women: for it shall be afraide and feare because of the mooving of the hand of the Lord of hoastes, which he shaketh ouer it.

17 And the land of Iudah shalbe a feare p vnto Egypt: euery one that maketh mention of it, shall be afraide thereat, because of the counsell of the Lord of hoastes, which he hath determined vpon it.

18 In that day shall fiue cities in the land of Egypt q speake the language of Canaan, and shall r sweare by the Lord of hoasts: one shall be called the cicie of s destruction.

19 In that day shall the altar of the Lord be in the mids of the land of Egypt, and t a pillar by the border thereof vnto the Lord.

20 And it shalbe for a signe and for a witnesse vnto the Lord of hoastes in the land of Egypt: for they shall cry vnto the Lord, because of the oppressours, and he shall send them u a Sauiour, and a great man, and shall deliuer them.

21 And the Lord shalbe knowen of the Egyptians, and the Egyptians shall know the Lord in that day, and doe x sacrifice & oblation, and shall vow vowes vnto the Lord, and performe them.

22 So the Lord shall smite Egypt, he shall smite and heale it: for he shall returne vnto the Lord, & he shalbe intreated of them and shall heale them.

23 In that day shall there be a path from y Egypt to Asshur, and Asshur shall come into Egypt, and Egypt into Asshur: so the Egyptians shall worship with Asshur.

24 In that day shall Israel be the third with Egypt and Asshur: euen a blessing in the mids of the Land.

25 For the Lord of hoasts shall blesse it, saying, Blessed be my people Egypt and Asshur, the worke of mine hands, and Israel mine inheritance.

CHAP. XX.

a The three yeeres captiuity of Egypt and Ethiopia described by the three yeeres going naked of Isaiah.

IN the yeere that a Tartan came to b Ashdod, (when c Sargon king of Asshur sent him) and had fought against Ashdod, and taken it.

2 At the same time spake the Lord by the hand of Isaiah the sonne of Amoz, saying, Goe, and loose the d sackecloath from thy loynes, and put off thy shooe from thy foot: And he did so, walking naked and barefoote.

3 And the Lord sayd, Like as my seruant Isaiah hath walked naked and barefoote three yeeres as a signe and wonder vpon Egypt, and Ethiopia,

4 So shall the king of Asshur take away the captiuitie of Egypt, and the captiuitie of Ethiopia, both yong men and old men, naked and barefoote, with their buttockes vncouered, to the shame of Egypt.

5 And they shall feare, and be ashamed of e Ethiopia their expectation, and of Egypt their f glorie.

6 Then shall the inhabitants of this g yle say in that day, Behold, such is our expectation, whither wee fledde for helpe to be deliuered from the king of Asshur, and how shall we be deliuered?

1 Of the destruction of Babylon by the Persians and Medes, 11 The vision of Iaumea, 13 and of Arabia.

THE burden of the a desert sea. As the whirlewinds in the South vse to passe from the wilderneſſe, so shall it b come from the horrible land.

2 A grieuous vision was shewed vnto mee, The c Transgressour against a transgressour, and the destroyer against a destroyer. Goe vp d Elam, besiege Media: I haue caused all the mourning e thereof to cease.

3 Therefore are my f loynes filled with sorow, sorowes haue taken me as the sorowes of a woman that trauaileth: I was bowed downe when I heard it, and I was amazed when I saw it.

4 Mine heart failed: fearefulneſſe troubled me: the night g of my pleasures hath hee turned into feare vnto me.

5 Prepare thou the table: watch in the watch tower: eat, drinke: h arise, ye princes, anoynt the shielde:

6 For thus hath the i Lord sayd vnto me, Goe, set a watchman, to tell what he seeth.

7 And hee saw a charet with two horsemen: k a charet of an asse, and a charet of a camell: and he hearkened and tooke diligent heede.

8 And hee cryed, A l lion: my lord, I stand continually vpon the watch towre in the day time, and I am set in my watch euery night:

9 And beholde, this mans charet commeth with two horsemen. And m he answered and sayd, * Babel is fallen: it is fallen, and all the images of her gods hath he broken vnto the ground.

10 O n my threshing, and the † corne of my floore. That which I haue heard of the Lord of hoasts the God of Israel, haue I shewed vnto you.

11 ¶ The burden of o Dumah, he calleth vnto a Who was captaine of Sanecherib, 2. King. 18. 17.

b A citie of the Philistims.
c The Ebrewes writ that Sanecherib was fo called.
d Which signifieth that the Prophet did lament the miserie that he saw prepared, before the three yeeres that he went naked and barefooted.

e In whose ayde they trusted.
f Of whom they boasted and gloried.
g Meaning, Iudea, which was compassed about with their enemies, as an yle with waters.

a On the sea side betweene Iudea and Caldea was a wildernesse, whereby he meaneth Caldea.
b That is, the ruine of Babylon by the Medes and Persians.
c The Assyrians and Caldeans, which had destroyed other nations, shall be ouercome of the Medes and Persians: and this he prophecied an hundred yeere before it came to passe. d By Elam he meaneth the Persians.
e Because they shall finde no succour, they shall mourne no more, nor I haue caused mourning, whom Babylon had afflicted.
f This the Prophet speaketh in the person of the Babylonians.
g He prophecieth the death of Belshazzar, as Dan. 5. 30. who in the mids of his pleasures was destroyed.
h While they are eating and drinking, they shall be commanded to runne to their weapons

i To wit, in a vision by the spirit of prophecie. k Meaning warre, and others that carried the baggage. l Meaning Darius, which ouercame Babylon. m The watchman whom Isaiah set vp, told him who came toward Babylon, and the Angel declared that it should be destroyed: all this was done in a vision. * Ier. 51. 8. Reuel. 14. 8. n Meaning Babylon. † Ebr. sonne. o Which was a citie of the Ishmaelites, and was so named of Dumah, Gene. 25. 14.

p A mountaine of the Idumeans.

q He describeth the vnquietnes of the people of Dumah, who were night and day in feare of their enemies, and euer ran to and fro to enquire newes.

r For feare, the Arabians shall flee into the woods, and he appointeth what way they shall take.

s Signifying, that for feare they shall not tary to eat nor drinke.

t He appointeth them respite for one yeere only, and then they should be destroyed.

u Reade Chap. 16. 14. x Which was the name of a people of Arabia: and by the horrible destruction of all these nations, he teacheth the Iewes that there is no place for refuge or to escape Gods wrath, but onely to remaine in his Church, and to liue in his feare.

a Meaning, Iudea, which was compassed about with mountaines, and was called the valley of visions, because of the Prophets, which were alwayes there, whom they named Seers.

b He speaketh to Ierusalem, whose inhabitants were fled vp to the house tops for feare of their enemies.

c Which wait wont to be full of people and ioy.

d But for hunger.

e And led into captiuity.

f Which haue fled from other places to Ierusalem for succour.

g Hee threweth what is the duety of the godly, when Gods plagues hang ouer the Church, and especially of the ministers. Ierem. 9. 1.

h That is, the shoures of the enemies whom God had appointed to destroy the city.

i He putteth them in minde how God deliuered them once from Sanherib, who brought the Persians and Cyrenians with him, that they might by returning to God auoyde that great plague which they should els suffer by Nebuchad-nezzar. k The secret place wherey armour was: to wit, in the house of the forest, 1. King 7 2. l Ye fortified the ruinous places which were neglected in time of peace: meaning, the whole City, and the City of David, which was within the compasse of the other. m Either to put downe such as might hurt, or else to know what men they were able to make. n To prouide if need should be of water. o To God that made Ierusalem, that is, they trusted more in these worldly meanes, then in God,

THE burden of the a valley of vision. What b aileth thee now that thou art wholly gone vp vnto the house tops?

2 Thou that art full of c noyse, a citie full of brute, a ioyous citie, thy slaine men shall not be slaine d with sword, nor die in battell.

3 All thy princes shall flee together from the bowe: they shalbe e bound: all that shalbe found in thee, shalbe bound together, which haue fled from f farre.

4 Therefore sayd I, Turne away from me, I will weep g bitterly: labour not to comfort me for the destruction of the daughter of my people.

5 For it is a day of trouble, and of ruine, and of perplexitie by the Lord God of hoastes in the valley of vision, breaking downe the citie: and a h crying vnto the mountaines.

6 ¶ And Elam i bare the quiuer in a mans charet with horsemen, and Kir vncouered the shield.

7 And thy chiefe valleyes were full of charets, and the horsemen set themselues in aray against the gate.

8 And he discouered the k couering of Iudah: and thou diddest looke in that day to the armour of the house of the forest.

9 And yee haue seene l the breaches of the city of Dauid: for they were many, and ye gathered the waters of the lower pooles.

10 And yee numbred the houses m of Ierusalem, and the houses haue yee broken downe to fortifie the wall.

11 And haue also made a ditch betweene the two walles, for the n waters of the old poole, and haue not looked vnto the maker o thereof, neither had respect vnto him that formed it of old.

12 And in that day did the Lord God of hoasts call vnto weeping and mourning, and to baldnes and girding with sackecloath.

13 And behold, ioy and gladnes, slaying oxen and killing sheepe, eating flesh, and drinking wine, p eating and drinking, for to morow we shall die.

14 And it was declared in the eares of the Lord of hoasts, Surely this iniquity shall not be purged from you, till ye die, sayth the Lord God of hoasts.

15 Thus sayth the Lord God of hoasts, Goe, get thee to that q treasurer, to Shebna, the steward of the house, and say, 16 What hast thou to doe here? and whom hast thou r here? that thou shouldest here hewe thee out a sepulchre, as he that heweth out his sepulchre in a hie place, or that graueth an habitation s for himselfe in a rocke?

17 Behold, the Lord will cary thee away with a great captiuity, and will surely couer thee.

18 Hee will surely rolle and turne thee like a ball in a large countrey: there shalt thou die, and there the charets of thy glory shalbe the t shame of the lords house.

19 And I will driue thee from thy station, and out of thy dwelling will he destroy thee.

20 And in that day will I u call my seruant Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah, 21 And with thy garments will I cloathe him, and with thy girdle will I strengthen him: thy power also will I commit into his hand, and hee shall be a father of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the house of Iudah.

22 And the x key of the house of Dauid will I lay vpon his shoulder: so hee shall open, and no man shall shut: and he shall shut, and no man shall open.

23 And I will fasten him as a y naile in a sure place, and he shall be for the throne of glory to his fathers house.

24 And they shall hang vpon him all the glory of his fathers house, euen of the nephewes and posterity z all small vessels, from the vessels of the cups, euen to all the instruments of musicke.

25 In that day saith the Lord of hoasts, shall the a naile that is fastened in the sure place, depart and shalbe broken and fall, and the burden that was vpon it, shalbe cut off: for the Lord hath spoken it.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Hee prophecieth of the destruction of Ierusalem by Nebuchadnezzar. 15 A threatning against Shebna. 20 To whose office Eliakim is preserued.

p In stead of repentance ye were ioyfull and made great cheere, consuming the admonitions of the Prophets, saying, Let vs eate and drinke, for our Prophets say, that wee shall die to morow.

q Because the Ebrew word doeth also signifie one that doeth nourish and cherish, there are of the learned that thinke that this wicked man did nourish secret friendship with the Assyrians and Egyptians to betray the Church, and to prouide for himselfe against all dangers: in the meane season he packt craftily, and gat of the best offices into his hand vnder Hezekiah, euer aspiring to the highest.

r Meaning, that hee was a stranger, and came vp of nothing.

s Whereas hee thought to make his name immortall by his famous sepulchre, he died most miserably among the Assyrians.

t Signifying, that whatsoeuer dignitie the wicked attaine vnto, at length it will turne to the shame of those princes, by whom they are preferred.

u To be reward againe, one of the which office hee had beene put, by the craft of Shebna.

x I will commit vnto him the full charge and gouernement of the kings house.

y I will establish him, and confirme him in his office: of this phrase, reade Ezra, 9 9.

z Meaning, that both small and great that shall come of Eliakim, shall haue prayse and glory by his faithfull office.

a Hee meaneth Shebna, who in mans iudgement should neuer haue fallen.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 A prophecie against Tyrus, 17 A promise that it shall be restored.

THE a burden of Tyrus. Howle yee shippes of b Tarshish: for c it is destroyed, so that there is none house: none shall come from the land of d Chittim: it is e reuealed vnto them.

2 Be still, ye that dwell in the yles: the marchants of Zidon, and such as passe ouer the sea, haue f replenished thee.

3 The g seede of Nilus growing by the abundance of waters, and the harueft of the riuer was her reuenues, and she was a mart of the nations.

4 Be ashamed, thou Zidon: for the h sea hath spoken, euen the strength of the sea, saying, I haue not i trauailed, nor brought forth children, neither c Tyrus is destroyed by Nebuchadnezzar.

d By Chittim they meant all the yles and countreyes westward from Palestina.

e All men know of this destruction.

f Haue haunted thee, and enriched thee.

g Meaning, the corne of Egypt, which was sedde by the ouerflowing of Nilus.

nourished yong men, nor brought vp virgins.

5 When the fame commeth to the Egyptians, they shall be [k] sory, concerning the rumour of Tyrus.

6 Goe you ouer to [l] Tarshish; howle, ye that dwell in the yles.

7 Is not this that your glorious city? her antiquitie is of ancient dayes: her owne feete shall leade her afarre off to be a sojourner.

8 Who hath decreed this against Tyrus (that [m] crowneth men) whose marchants are princes? whose chapmen are the nobles of the world?

9 The Lord of hoasts hath decreed this, to stain the pride of all glory, and to bring to contempt all them that be glorious in the earth.

10 Passe through thy land like a flood to the [n] daughter of Tarshish: there is no more strength.

11 He stretched out his hand vpon the sea: he shooke the kingdomes: the Lord hath giuen a commaundement concerning the place of marchandise, to destroy the power thereof.

12 And he sayd, Thou shalt no more reioyce when thou art oppressed, [o] O virgin [p] daughter of Zion; rise vp, goe ouer vnto Chittim; yet there thou shalt haue no rest.

13 Behold the land of the Caldeans; this was no people; [q] Asshur founded it by the inhabitants of the wildernesse, they set vp the towers thereof; they raised the palaces thereof, and hee [r] brought it to ruine.

14 Howle yee shippes of Tarshish, for your [s] strength is destroyed.

15 And in that day shall Tyrus be forgotten seuentie yeeres (according to the yeeres of one King) at the end of [t] seuentie yeeres shall Tyrus [u] sing as an harlot.

16 Take an harpe and go about the city (thou harlot: that hast beene forgotten) [x] make sweete melody, sing moe songs that thou mayest be remembred.

17 And at the ende of seuenty yeeres shall the Lord visit Tyrus, and she shall returne to her [y] wages, and shall commit fornication with all the kingdomes of the earth, that are in the world.

18 Yet her occupying and her wages shall be [z] holy vnto the Lord: it shall not be layd vp nor kept in store, but her marchandise shall be for them that dwell before the Lord, to eate sufficiently, and to haue durable cloathing.

CHAP. XXIIII.

A prophecie of the curse of God for the sinnes of the people, 13 A remnant reserued shall praise the Lord.

BEhold, the Lord maketh the [a] earth empty, and hee maketh it waste: hee turneth it vpside downe, and scatereth abroad the inhabitants thereof.

2 And there shall be like people, like [b] Priest, and like seruant, like master, like mayde, like mistresse, like buyer, like seller, like lender, like borrower, like giuer, like taker to vsury.

3 The earth shall be cleane emptied, and vtterly spoyled: for the Lord hath spoken this word.

4 The earth lamenteth and fadeth away, the world is feebled, and decayed: the proud people of the earth are weakened.

5 The earth [c] also deceiueth, because of the inhabitants thereof: for they transgressed the lawes: they changed the ordinances, and brake the euerlasting Couenant.

6 Therefore hath the [d] curse deuoured the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are desolate. Wherefore the inhabitants of the land are [e] burned vp, and few men are left.

7 The wine faileth, the vine hath no might: all that were of merry heart, doe mourne.

8 The mirth of tabrets ceaseth: the noyse of them that reioyce, endeth: the ioy of the harpe ceaseth.

9 They shall not drinke wine with mirth: strong drinke shalbe bitter to them that drinke it.

10 The citie of [f] vanitie is broken downe: euery house is shut vp, that no man may come in.

11 There is a crying for wine in the streetes: all ioy is darkened: the [g] mirth of the world is gone away.

12 In the cities is left desolation, and the gate is smitten with destruction.

13 ¶ Surely thus shall it be in the mids of the earth, among the people, [h] as the shaking of an oliue tree, and as the grapes when the vintage is ended.

14 They shall lift vp their voyce: they shall shout for the magnificence of the Lord: they shall reioyce from [i] the sea.

15 Wherefore prayse yee the Lord in the valleyes, euen the Name of the Lord God of Israel, in the yles of the sea.

16 From the vttermost part of the earth wee haue heard prayses, euen glory to the [k] iust, and I sayd, I My leanneſſe, my leanneſſe, woe is me: the transgressours haue offended: yea the transgressours haue grieuously offended.

17 Feare, and the pit, and the snare are vpon thee, O inhabitant of the earth.

18 And hee that fleeth from the noyse of the feare, shall fall into the pit: and he that commeth vp out of the pit, shalbe taken in the snare: for the [m] windowes from on high are open, and the foundations of the earth doe shake.

19 The earth is vtterly broken downe: the earth is cleane dissolued: the earth is mooued exceedingly.

20 The earth shall reele to and fro like a drunken man, and shalbe remooued like a tent, and the iniquity thereof shall be heauie vpon it: so that it shall fall, and rise no more.

21 ¶ And [n] in that day shall the Lord [o] visit the hoast aboue that is on high, euen the kings of the world that are vpon the earth.

22 And they shall be gathered together as the prisoners in the pit: and they shallbe shut vp in the prison, and after many daies shall they be [o] visited.

23 [p] Then the moone shalbe abashed, and the sunne ashamed, when the Lord of hosts shall reigne in mount Zion and in Ierusalem: and glory shall be before his ancient men.

h Because these two countreyes were ioyned in league together.

l Tyrus willeth other marchants to giue to Cilicia, and to come no more there.

m Who maketh her marchants like princes.

n Thy strength will no more serue thee: therefore flee to other countreys for succour.

o For Tyrus was neuer touched nor afflicted before.

p Because Tyrus was build by them of Zidon.

q The Caldeans which dwelt in tents in the wilderness, were gathered by the Assyrians into cities.

r The people of the Caldeans destroyed the Assyrians: whereby the Prophet meaneth, that seeing the Caldeans were able to ouercome the Assyrians, which were so great a nation, much more shall these two nations of Caldea and Assyria be able to ouerthrow Tyrus.

s That is, Tyrus by whom yeare enriched.

t Tyrus shall lie destroyed seuentie yeeres, which he calleth the reigne of one King, or a mans age.

u Shall vse all craft and subtiltie to entise man againe vnto her.

x She shall labour by all meanes to recouer her first credit: as an harlot when she is.

y Though she haue beene chastised of the Lord, yet she shall returne to her olde wicked practises, and for gaine shall giue herselfe to all mens lusts like an harlot.

z He sheweth that God by the preaching of the Gospell will call Tyrus to repentance, and turne her heart from auarice and filthy gaine, vnto the true worshipping of God, and liberalitie toward his Saints.

a This prophecie is as a conclusion of that which hath beene threatned to the Iewes, and other nations from the 13 Chap. and therefore by the earth he meaneth those lands which were before named.

b Because this was a name of dignitie and office, it was also applied to them, which were not of Aarons family, and so signifieth also a man of dignity as 2 Sam. 8.18. and 20.25. 1. Chron. 18.17. and by these words the Prophet signifieth an horrible confusion, where there shall be neither religion, order, nor policy, Hosea 4.9.

c That is, rendreth not her fruit for the sinne of the people, whom the earth deceiued of their nourriture, because they deceiued God of his honour.

d Written in the Law, as Leuit 26. 14. Deut. 28, 16. thus the Prophets vsed to apply particularly the menaces and promises, which are generall in the Law.

e With heate and drought, or els that they were consumed with the fire of Gods wrath.

f Which as it was without order, so now should it be brought to desolation and confusion: and this was not onely meant of Ierusalem, but of all the other wicked cities.

g Because they did not vse Gods benefit aright, their pleasures should faile, and they fall to mourning.

h He comforteth the faithfull, declaring that in this great desolation the Lord will assemble his Church which shall prayse his Name, as Chap. 10.22.

i From the vtmost coasts of the world, where the Gospel shall be preached, as verse 16.

k Meaning, to God, who will publish his Gospel thorow all the world.

l I am consumed with care, considering the affliction of the Church, both by forreine enemies, and domesticall. Some reade, my secret, my secret; that is, it was reuealed to the Prophet, that the good should be preserued, and the wicked destroyed.

m Meaning, that Gods wrath and vengeance should be ouer and vnder them: so that they should not escape no more then they did at Noahs flood.

n There is no power so high or mightie, but God will visit him with his rods.

o Not with his rods, as verse 21. but shall be comforted and restore his Church, the glory thereof shall so shine, and his ministers (which are called his ancient men) that the sunne and the moone shalbe darke, in comparison thereof.

p When God shall

CHAP. XXV.

A thanksgiuing to God in that that he sheweth himselfe iudge of the world, by punishing the wicked, and maintaining the godly.

O Lord, thou[a] art my God: I will exalt thee, I will praise thy Name: for thou hast done wonderfull things according to the counsels of old, with a stable trueth.

2 For thou hast made of a [b] city an heape, of a strong city, a ruine: euen the palace [c] of strangers of a city, it shall neuer be built.

3 Therefore shall the [d] mighty people giue glory vnto thee: the city of the strong nations shall feare thee.

4 For thou hast beene a strength vnto the poore, euen a strength to the needy in his trouble, a refuge against the tempest, a shadow against the heate: for the blast [e] of the mighty is like a storme against the wall.

5 Thou shalt bring downe the noyse of the strangers, [f] as the heate in a drie place; hee will bring downe the song of the mighty, as the heate in the shadow of a cloud.

6 And in this [h] mountaine shall the Lord of hoastes make vnto all people a feast of fat things, euen a feast of fined wines, and of fat things full of marow, of wines fined and purified.

7 And he will destroy in this mountaine [i] the couering that couereth all people, and the vaile that is spread vpon all nations.

8 • He will destroy death for euer: and the Lord God will [k] wipe away the teares from all faces, and the rebuke of his people will he take away out of all the earth: for the Lord hath spoken it.

9 And in that day shall men say, Loe, this is our God: we haue wayted for him, and hee will saue vs. This is the Lord, we haue wayted for him, we will reioyce and be ioyfull in his saluation.

10 For in this mountaine shall the hand of the Lord rest, and [l] Moab shalbe threshed vnder him, euen as straw is threshed in [m] Madmenah.

11 And he shall stretch out his hand in the middest of them (as hee that swimmeth stretcheth them out to swimme) and with the strength of his hands shall he bring downe their pride.

12 The defence also of the height of thy walles shall he bring downe and lay low, and cast them to the ground, euen vnto the dust.

a Thus the Prophet giueth thanks to God, because he will bring vnder subiection these nations by his corrections, and make them of his Church, which before were his enemies.

b Not onely of Ierusalem, but also of these other cities which haue bin thine enemies.

c That is, a place whereas all vagabounds may liue without danger, and as it were at ease, as in a palace.

d The arrogant and proud, which before would not know thee, shall by thy corrections feare and glorifie thee.

e The rage of the wicked is furious, till God breake the force thereof.

f Meaning, that as the heate is abated by the raine, so shall God bring downe the rage of the wicked.

g As a cloud shadoweth from the heate of the sunne, so shall God asswage the reioycing of the wicked against the godly.

h To wit, in Zion, whereby he meaneth his Church, which should vnder Christ be allemuled of the Iewes and the Gentiles, and is here described vnder the figure of a costly banket, at Matt 22.2. kept backe from Christ. With perfit ioy. Reue. 7.17. and 21.4.

i Meaning, that ignorance and blindnes, whereby we are Church.

k He will take away all occasion of sorow and sill his l By Moab are meant all the enemies of his m There were two cities of this name one in Iudah, 1. Chro. 2.49 and another in the land of Moab, Iere. 48. 2. which seemeth to haue bin a pleasurall place of corne, Chap. 10 31.

CHAP. XXVI.

A song of the faithfull, wherein is declared, in what consisteth the saluation of the Church; and wherein they ought to trust.

IN that day shall [a] this song be sung in the land of Iudah, Wee haue a strong citie: [b] saluation shall God set for walles and bulwarks.

2 [c] Open ye the gates that the righteous nation, which keepeth the truth, may enter in.

3 By an assured [d] purpose wilt thou preserue perfect peace, because they trusted in thee.

4 Trust in the Lord for euer: for in the Lord God is [e] strength for euermore.

5 For he will bring downe them that dwell on hie: e the hie city hee will abase: euen vnto the ground will he cast it down, and bring it vnto dust.

6 The foote shall tread it downe, euen the feete of the [f] poore, and the steps of the needy.

a This song was made to comfort the faithfull when their captiuitie should come, assuring them also of their deliuerance, for the which they should sing this song.

b Gods protection and defence shalbe sufficient for vs.

c He assureth the godly to returne after the captiuity to Ierusalem.

d Thou hast decreed so and thy purpose cannot be changed.

e There is no power so hie that can let God when he will deliuer his.

f God will set the poore afflicted ouer the power of the wicked,

7 The way of the iust is righteousnes: thou wilt make equall the righteous path of the iust.

8 Also wee, O Lord, haue wayted for thee in the way of thy [g] iudgements: the desire of our soule is to thy Name, and to the remembrance of thee.

9 With my soule [h] haue I desired thee in the night, and with my spirit within me will I seeke thee in the morning: for seeing thy iudgements are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world shall learne [i] righteousnes.

10 Let mercy [k] be shewed to the wicked, yet he will not learne righteousnes: in the land of vprightnes will he do wickedly, and will not behold the maiesty of the Lord.

11 O Lord, they will not beholde thine high hand: but they shall see it, and be confounded with [l] the zeale of the people, and the fire of thine [l] enemies shall deuoure them.

12 Lord vnto vs thou wilt ordaine peace: for thou also hast wrought all our works for vs.

13 O Lord our God, other [m] lords beside thee, haue ruled vs, but wee will remember thee onely, and thy Name.

14 The [n] dead shall not liue, neither shall the dead arise, because thou hast visited and scattered them, and destroyed all their memory.

15 Thou hast increased o the nation, O Lord: thou hast increased the nation: thou art made glorious, thou hast enlarged all the coasts of the earth.

16 Lord, in trouble haue they [p] visited thee: they powred out a prayer when thy chastening was vpon them.

17 Like as a woman with child, that draweth neere to the trauaile, is in sorow, and crieth in her paines, so haue we beene in thy [q] fight, O Lord.

18 Wee haue conceiued, wee haue borne in paine, as though we should haue brought foorth [r] wind: there was no help in the earth, neither did the inhabitants of [s] the world fall.

19 ¶ [t] Thy dead men shall liue: euen with my body shall they rise. Awake and sing, ye that dwell in dust: for thy [u] dew is as the dew of herbes, and the earth shall cast out the dead.

20 Come, my people: [x] enter thou into thy chambers, and shut thy doores after thee: hide thy selfe for a very little while, vntill the indignation passe ouer.

21 For lo, the Lord commeth out of his place, to visit the iniquity of the inhabitants of the earth vpon them: and the earth shall disclose her vblood, and shall no more hide her slaine.

g We haue constantly abode in the aduersities wherewith thou had afflicted vs.

h Meaning, that by afflictions men shall learne to feare God.

i The wicked though God shew them cuident signes of his grace, shalbe neuer the better.

k Through enuy and indignation against thy people.

l The fire and vengeance, where with thou dost destroy thine enemies.

m The Babylonians, which haue not gouerned according to thy word.

n Meaning, that the dead shall not be able, euen in this life shall haue the beginning of euerlasting death.

o To wit, the company of the faithfull by the calling of the Gentiles.

p That is, the faithfull by thy rods were moued to pray vnto thee for deliuerance.

q To wit, in extreme sorow.

r Our sorowes had come end, neither did we enioy the comfort that we looked for.

s The wicked and men without religion were not destroyed.

t He comforteth the faithfull in their affliction, shewing them that euen in death they shall haue life: and that they, should most certainely rise to glory, the contrary whereof shall come to the wicked, as vers. 14.

u As heatbe dead in winter flourish againe by the raine in the spring time: so they that lie in the dust, shall rise vp to ioy, when they feele the dew of Gods grace.

x He exhorteth the faithfull to be patient in their afflictions, and to wait vpon Gods worke.

y The earth shall vomite and cast out the innocent blood, which it hath drunke, that it may crie for vengeance against the wicked.

CHAP. XXVII.

A prophecie against the kingdome of Satan. 2 And of the ioy of the Church for their deliuerance.

IN that [a] day the Lord with his sore and great and mighty [b] sword shall visite Liuiathan, that piercing serpent, euen Liuiathan, that crooked serpent, and he shall slay the dragon that is in the sea.

2 In that day sing of the vineyard [c] of redde wine.

3 I the Lord doe keepe it: I will water it euery moment, least any assaile it, I will keepe it night and day.

a At the time appointed.

b That is, by his mighty power and by his word. He prophecieth here of the destruction of Satan and his kingdome vnder the name of Liuiathan, Assur, and Egypt.

c Meaning, of the best wine, which this vineyard, that is, the Church, should bring forth, as most agreeable to the Lord.

4 Anger [d] is not in mee: who would set the briers and the thorns against me in battell? I would go thorow them, I would burne them together.

5 Or will he [e] feele my strength, that he may make peace with me, and be at one with me?

6 [f] Hereafter Iaakob shall take roote: Israel shall flourish and grow: and the world shalbe filled with fruit.

7 Hath hee smitten [g] him, as he smote those that smote him? or is he slaine according to the slaughter of them that were slaine by him?

8 In [h] measure in the branches thereof wilt thou contend with it, when hee bloweth with his rough wind in the day of the East winde.

9 By this therefore shall the iniquity of Iaakob be purged, and this is all the [i] fruit, the taking away of his sin: when he shall make all the stones of the altars, as chalke stones broken in pieces, that the groues and images may not stand vp.

10 Yet the [k] defenced city shalbe desolate, and the habitation shalbe forsaken, and left like a wildernes. There shall the calfe feed, & there shal he lie and consume the branches thereof.

11 When the boughs of it are dry, they shalbe broken; the [l] women come and set them on fire; for it is a people of none vnderstanding; therefore he that made them shall not haue compassion of them, and he that formed them, shall haue no mercy on them.

12 And in that day shall the Lord thresh from the chanell of the [m] riuer vnto the riuer of Egypt, and ye shalbe gathered, one by one, O children of Israel.

13 In that day also shall the great trumpe be [n] blowen, and they shall come, which perished in the land of Assiur, and they that were chased into the land of Egypt, and they shall worship the Lord in the holy Mount at Ierusalem.

d Therefore he will destroy the kingdome of Satan, because he loueth his Church for his owne mercies sake, and cannot be angry with it, but wisheth that he may powre his anger vpon the wicked infidels, whom he meaneth by briers and thornes.

e He marueileth that Israel will not come by gentlenesse, except God make them to feele his rods, and so bring them vnto him.

f Though I afflict and diminish my people for a time, yet shall the root spring againe and bring foorth in great aboundance.

g Hee sheweth that God punisheth his in mercy, and his enemies in iustice.

h That is, thou wilt not destroy the root of thy Church, though the branches thereof seeme to perish by the sharp wind of affliction.

i He sheweth that there is no true repentance, nor full reconciliation to God, till the heart be purged from all idolatry, and the monuments thereof be destroyed.

k Notwithstanding his fauour that he will shew them after, yet Ierusalem shalbe destroyed, and grasse for camell shall grow in it.

l God shall not haue need of mighty enemies: for the very women shall doe it to their great shame.

m He shall destroy all from Euphrates to Nilus: for some fled roward Egypt, thinking to haue escaped.

n In the time of Cyrus, by whom they should be deliuered: but this was chiefly accomplished vnder Christ.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Against the pride and drunkennes of Israel. 9 The vnreuwardnes of them that should learne the word of God. 24 God doeth all things in time and place.

WOe to the [a] crowne of pride, the drunkards of Ephraim, for his glorious beauty shalbe a fading floure, which is vpon the head of the [b] valley of them that be fatte, and are ouercome with wine.

2 Beholde, the Lord hath a mightie and [c] strong hoste like a tempest of haile, and a whirlewind that ouerthroweth, like a tempest of mightie waters that ouerflowe, which throw to the ground mightily.

3 They shalbe troden vnder foot, euen the crown and the pride of the drunkards of Ephraim.

4 For his glorious beautie shall be a fading floure, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fatte, and as [d] the hasty fruite afore Summer, which when hee that looketh vpon it seeth it, while it is in his hand, he eateth it.

5 In that day shall the Lord of hoastes be for a crowne of glory, and for a diademe of beauty vnto the [e] residue of his people.

6 And for a spirit of iudgement to him that sitteth in iudgement, and for strength vnto them that turne away the battell to the gate.

7 But [g] they haue erred because of wine, and are out of the way by strong drinke: the Priest and the prophet haue erred by strong drinke; they are swallowed vp with wine; they haue gone astray through strong drinke; they faile in vision: they stumble in iudgement.

8 For all their tables are full of filthy vomiting; no place is cleane.

9 [h] Whom shall hee teach knowledge? and whom shall hee make to vnderstand the things that hee heareth? them that are weaned from the milke, and drawen from the brests.

10 For [i] precept must be vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a little, and there a little.

11 For with a [k] stammering tongue, and with a strange language shall he speake vnto this people.

12 Vnto whom [l] hee sayd, m This is the rest: [n] giue rest vnto him that is weary, and this is the refreshing, but they would not heare.

13 Therefore shall the word of the [o] Lord be vnto them precept vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a little, and there a little: that they may go and fall backward, and be broken, and be snared, and be taken.

14 Wherefore heare the word of the Lord, ye [p] scornefull men, that rule this people, which is at Ierusalem.

15 Because ye haue said, We haue made a [q] couenant with death, and with hell are wee at agreement: though a scourge runne ouer, and passe thorow, it shall not come at vs: for we haue made [r] falshood our refuge, and vnder vanitie are wee hidde, 16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will lay in Zion a stone, a [s] tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation, He that beleeueth, [t] shall not make haste.

17 Iudgement also will I lay to the rule, and [u] righteousnes to the balance, and the [x] haile shall sweepe away the vaine confidence, and the waters shall ouerflow [x] the secret place.

18 And your couenant with death shalbe disanulled, and your agreement with hell shall not stand: when a scourge shall runne ouer and passe thorow, then shall ye be troden downe by it.

19 When it passeth ouer, it shall take you away: for it shall passe thorow euery morning in the day and in the night, and there shalbe onely [y] feare, to make you to vnderstand the hearing.

20 For the bed is [z] streigth, that it cannot suffice, and the couering narrow, that one cannot wrape himselfe.

21 For the Lord shall stand as in mount [a] Perazim: he shallbe wroth as in the valley [b] of Gibeon, that he may do his worke, his strange worke, and bring to passe his acte, his strange acte.

22 Now therefore be no mockers, least your bonds increase: for I haue heard of the Lord of hoastes a consumption, euen determined vpon the whole earth.

23 Hearken ye, and heare my voyce: hearken ye, and heare my speach.

a Meaning, the proud kingdome of the Israelites, which were drunken with worldly prosperity.

b Because the Israelites for the most part dwelt in plentifull valleys, he meaneth hereby the valley of them that had abundance of worldly prosperity, and were as it were crowned therewith as with garlands.

c He seemeth to meane the Assyrians, by whom the ten tribes were caried away.

d Which is not of long continuance, but is soone ripe and soone eaten.

e Signifying, that the faithfull, which put not their trust in any worldly prosperity, but made God their glory, shalbe preserued.

f He will giue counsell to the gouernour, & strength to the captaine, to driue the enemies in at their owne gates.

g Meaning, the hypocrites which were among them, and were altogether corrupt in life and doctrine, which is here meant by drunkennes and vomiting.

h For there was none that was able to vnderstand any good doctrine: but were fooles in and as vnmeet as yong babes.

i They must haue one thing oftimes told.

k Let one teach what he can, yet they shall no more vnderstand him, then if he spoke in a strange language.

l That is, the Prophet, whom God should send m This is the doctrine, wherewith ye ought to stay and rest.

n Shew to them that are weary and haue need of rest, what is the true rest.

o Because they will not receiue the word of God, when it is offred, it commeth of their owne malice, if after then hearts be so hardned, that they care not for it, as before, Chap. 6.9.

p They thought they had shifts to auoyd Gods iudgements, and that they could escape though all other perished.

q Though the prophets condemned their idoles and vaine trust of falshood and vanity, yet the wicked thought in themselues that they would trust in these things.

r That is, Christ, by whom all the building must be tried and vpholden. Psal. 118.22. matth. 21,42. acts 4,11. rom 9,33. 1.pet. 2,6.

s He shallbe quiet, and seeke none other remedies, but iudgement and iustice shall discouer their vaine confidence, which they kept secret to themselues.

t Terrour and destruction shall make you to learne that, which exhortations and gentlenes could not bring you vnto.

u Your affliction shalbe so sore, that you are not able to endure it.

24 Doeth the plow-man plow all the day, to sowe; doeth he open, and breake the clots of his ground?

25 When he hath made it e plaine, will he not then sow the fitches, and sow cummin, and cast in wheate by measure, and the appointed barley and rye in their place?

26 For his God doth instruct him to haue discretion, and doeth teach him.

27 For fitches shall not be threshed with a threshing instrument, neither shal a cart wheele be turned about vpon the cummin; but the fitches are beaten out with a staffe, and cummin with a rod.

28 Bread corne when it is threshed, hee doeth not alway thresh it, neither doeth the wheele of his cart still make a noyse, neither wil he breake it with the teeth thereof.

29 This also commeth from the Lord of hoasts, which is wonderfull in counsell, and excellent in workes.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 A prophecie against Ierusalem. 13 The vengeance of God on them that follow the traditions of men.

AHa altar, altar of the citie that Dauid dwelt in: adde yeere vnto yeere: b let them kill lambes.

2 But I will bring the altar into distresse, and there shall be heauinesse and sorow, and it shall be vnto me like c an altar.

3 And I will besiege thee as a circle, and fight against thee on a mount, and will cast vp ramparts against thee.

4 So shalt thou be humbled, and shalt speake out of the d ground, and thy speech shall be as out of the dust: thy voyce also shall be out of the ground like him that hath a spirit of diuination, and thy talking shall whisper out of the dust.

5 Moreouer, the multitude of thy e strangers shall be like small dust, and the multitude of strong men shall be as chaffe that passeth away: and it shalbe in a moment, euen suddenly.

6 Thou shalt be visited of the Lord of hoastes with thunder, and shaking, and a great noyse, a whirlewinde, and a tempest, and a flame of a deuouring fire.

7 And the f multitude of all the nations that fight against the altar, shalbe as a dreame or vision by night: euen all they that make the warre against it, and strong holds against it, and lay siege vnto it.

8 And it shall be like as an hungry man dreameth, and behold, g he eateth: and when he awaketh, his soule is emptie: or like as a thirstie man dreameth, and loe, he is drinking, and when he awaketh, behold, he is faint, and his soule longeth: so shall the multitude of all nations be that fight against mount Zion.

9 h Stay your selues and wonder: they are blinde, and make you blinde: they are drunken, but not with wine: they stagger, but not by strong drinke.

10 For the Lord hath coured you with a spirit of slumber, and hath shut vp your eyes: the Prophet, and your chiefe Seers hath hee couered.

11 And the vision of them all is become vnto you, as the wordes of a booke that is sealed vp, which they deliuer to one that can reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. Then shall hee say, I cannot; for it is sealed.

12 And the booke is giuen vnto him that can not reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. And he shall say, I cannot reade.

13 Therefore the Lord said, Because this people k come neere vnto me with their mouth, and honour me with their lips, but haue remoued their heart ferre from me, and their l feare toward mee was taught by the precept of men.

14 Therefore behold, I will againe doe a marueilous worke in this people, euen a marueilous worke, and a wonder: for the wisedome of their wise men shall m perish, and the vnderstanding of their prudent men shallbe hid.

15 Woe vnto them that n seeke deepe to hide their counsell from the Lord: for their works are in darknesse, and they say, Who seeth vs? and who knoweth vs?

16 Your turning of deuises shall it not be esteemed o as the potters clay? for shall the worke say of him that made it, Hee made mee not? or the thing formed, say of him that fashioned it, Hee had none vnderstanding?

17 Is it not yet but a little while, and Lebanon shallbe p turned into Carmel? and Carmel shall be counted as a forest?

18 And in that day shall the deafe heare the words of the booke, and the eyes of the blind shall see out of obscuritie, and out of darkenesse.

19 The meeke in the Lord shall receiue ioy againe, and the poore men shall reioyce in the Holy one of Israel.

20 For the cruell man shall cease, and the scornfull shall be consumed: and all that hasted to iniquitie, shalbe cut off:

21 Which made a man to sinne in the q word, and tooke him in a snare: which reproued them in the gate, and made the iust to fall without cause.

22 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord vnto the house of Iaakob, euen hee that redeemed Abraham: Iaakob shall not now be confounded, neither now shall his face be pale.

23 But when he seeth his children, the worke of mine hands, in the mids of him, they shall sanctifie my Name, and sanctifie the Holy one of Iaakob, and shall feare the God of Israel.

24 Then they that erred in spirit, r shall haue vnderstanding, and they that murmured, shall learne doctrine.

CHAP. XXX.

1 He reproueth the Iewes, which in their aduersitie vsed their owne counsels, 2 and sought helpe of the Egyptians, 10 despising the Prophets. 16 Therefore he sheweth what destruction shall come vpon them, 18 but offereth mercie to the repentant.

WOe to the a rebellious children, sayeth the Lord, that take counsell, but not of mee, and b couer with a couering, but not by my spirit, that they may lay sinne vpon sinne:

2 Which walke foorth to goe downe into Egypt (and haue not asked at my mouth) to strengthen themselues with the strength of Pharaoh, and trust in the shadow of Egypt.

3 But the strength of Pharaoh shall be your shame, and the trust in the shadow of Egypt your confusion.

4 For his c princes were at Zoan, and his ambassadours came vnto Hanes.

5 They shallbe all ashamed of the people that cannot profit them, nor helpe, nor do them good, but shallbe a shame and also a reproach.

e As the plowman hath his appointed time, and diuers instruments for his labour, so hath the Lord for his vengeance: for he punisheth some at one time, and some at another, some after one sort, and some after another, so that his chosen seed is beaten and tried, but not broken, as are the wicked.

a The Ebewe word Ariel signifieth the lyon of God, and signifieth the Altar, because the altar seemed to deuoure the sacrifice that was offred to God, as Ezek. 43. 16.

b Your vaine confidence in your sacrifices shall not last long.

c Your citie shall be full of blood, as an altar whereon they sacrifice.

d They speach shall be no more so loftie, but abased and low as the very charmers, which are in low places, and whisper, so that their voyce can scarce be heard.

e Thine hired souldiers in whom thou trustest, shall be destroyed as dust or chaffe in a whirlewinde.

f The enemies that I will bring to destroy thee, and that which thou makest thy vaine trust, shall come as vnwares, euen as a dreame in the night. Some reade, as if this were a comfort to the Church for the destruction of their enemies.

g That is, hee thinketh that he eateth.

h Muse hereon as long as ye list, yet shall ye find nothing but occasion to be astonied: for your Prophets are blinde, and therefore cannot direct you.

i Meaning, that it is all alike, either to reade, or not to reade, except God open the heart to vnderstand.

k Because they are hypocrites and not sincere in heart, as Matt. 23. 8.

l That is, their religion was learned by mans doctrine, & not by my word.

m Meaning, that where as God is not worshipped according to his word, both magistrates and ministers are but fooles and without vnderstanding.

n To is spoken of them, which in heart despised Gods word, and mocked at the admonitions, but outwardly bare a good face.

o For all your craft saith the Lord, you cannot be able to escape mine hands no more then the clay, that is in the potters hands, hath power to deliuer it selfe.

p Shall there not be a change of all things? and Carmel that is a plentiful place in respect of that it shall be then, may be taken as a forest, as Chap. 32. 15. and thus hee speaketh to comfort the faithfull.

q They that went about to find faults with the Prophets words, and would not obey admonitions, but would inuangle them and bring them into danger.

r Signifying, that except God giue vnderstanding, and knowledge, man cannot but still erre and murmure against him.

a Who contrary to their promise take not me for their refuge, and contrary to my commandement seeke helpe at strangers.

b They seeke shifts to cloke their doings, and not godly meanes.

c The chiefe of Israel went into Egypt in ambassie to seeke helpe, and abode at these cities.

6 ¶ The d burden of the beasts of the South, in a land of trouble and anguish, from whence shall come the yong and old lyon, the viper and fiery flying serpent against them that shall beare their riches vpon the shoulders of the colts, and their treasures vpon the bounches of the camels, to a people that cannot profit.

7 For the Egyptians are vanitie, and they shall helpe in vaine. Therefore haue I cryed vato e her, Their strength f is to sit still.

8 Now goe, and write g it before them in a table, and note it in a booke, that it may be for the h last day for euer and euer:

9 That it is a rebellious people, lying children, and children that would not i heare the Law of the Lord.

10 Which say vnto the Seers, See not: and to the Prophets, Prophecie not vnto vs right things: but speake flattering things vnto vs: prophecie k errours.

11 Depart out of the way: goe aside out of the path: cause the Holy one of Israel to cease from vs.

12 Therefore thus saith the Holy one of Israel, Because you haue cast off this word, and trust in l violence, and wickednes, and stay therevpon, 13 Therefore this iniquitie shalbe vnto you as a breach that falleth, or a swelling in an hie wall, whose breaking commeth suddenly in a moment.

14 And the breaking thereof is like the breaking of a potters pot, which is broken without pity, and in the breaking thereof is not found m a sheard to take fire out of the hearth, or to take water out of the pit.

15 For thus saith the n Lord God, the Holy one of Israel, In rest and quietnesse shall ye be saued: in quietnesse and in confidence shall be your strength, but ye would not.

16 For ye haue said, No, but we will flee away vpon o horses. Therefore shall ye flee. We will ride vpon the swiftest. Therefore shall your persecuters be swifter.

17 A thousand at one shall flee at the rebuke of one: at the rebuke of fiue shall ye flee, till ye be left as a ship mast vpon the p top of a mountaine, and as a beaken vpon an hill.

18 Yet therefore will the Lord wait, that hee may haue q mercy vpon you, and therefore will he be exalted, that he may haue compassion vpon you: for the Lord is the God of r iudgement. Blessed are all they that wait for him.

19 Sure[ly] a people shall dwell in Zion, and in Ierusa[lem], thou shalt weepe no more: he will certainely haue mercie vpon thee at the voyce of thy cry: when hee heareth thee, he will answere thee.

20 And when the Lord hath giuen you the bread of aduersitie, and the water of affliction, thy raine shall be no more kept backe, but thine eyes shall see thy ‖ raine.

21 And thine eares shall heare a word behind thee, saying, This is the way, walke ye in it, when thou turnest to the right hand, and when thou turnest to the left.

22 And ye shall s pollute the couering of the images of siluer, and the rich ornament of thine images of gold, and cast them away as a menstruous cloath, and thou shalt say vnto it, t Get thee hence.

23 Then shall hee giue raine vnto thy seede, when thou shalt sowe the ground, and bread of the increase of the earth, and it shall be fat and aboundant: in that day shall thy cattell be fed in large pastures.

24 The oxen also and the young asses, that till the ground, shall eate cleane prouender, which is winnowed with the shouell and with the fanne.

25 And vpon euery hie x mountaine, and vpon euery hie hill shall there be riuers, and streames of waters, in the day of the great slaughter, when the towers shall fall.

26 Moreouer, the light of the moone shall be as the light of the y Sunne, and the light of the Sunne shall be seuen fold, and like the light of seuen dayes in the day that the Lord shall binde vp the breach of his people, and heale the stroke of their wound.

27 Behold, z the Name of the Lord commeth from farre, his face is burning, and the burden thereof is heauie, his lips are full of indignation, and his tongue is as a deuouring fire.

28 And his spirit is as a riuer that ouerfloweth vpto the necke: it diuideth asunder, to fanne the nations with the fanne of a vanitie, and there shall be a bridle to cause them to erre in the iawes of the people.

29 But there shall be a song vnto you as in the b night, when a solemne feast is kept, and gladnesse of heart, as he that commeth with a pipe to goe vnto the mount of the Lord, to the Mightie one of Israel.

30 And the Lord shall cause his glorious voyce to be heard, and shall declare the lighting downe of his arme with the anger of his countenance, and flame of a deuouring fire, with scattering and tempest, and hailestones.

31 For with the voyce of the Lord shall Assiur be destroyed, which smote with the c rod.

32 And in euery place that the staffe shall passe, it shall d cleaue fast, which the Lord shall lay vpon him with tabrets and hearps and with battels, and lifting vp of hands shall he fight against it.

33 For e Tophet is prepared of old; it is euen prepared for the b King; he hath made it deepe and large: the burning thereof is fire and much wood; the breath of the Lord, like a riuer of brimstone, doeth kindle it.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 How cursed they that forsake God, and seeke for the helpe of men.

WOe vnto them that a goe downe into Egypt for helpe, and stay vpon horses, and trust in charets, because they are many, and in horsemen, because they be very strong; but they looke not vnto the Holy one of Israel, nor b seeke vnto the Lord.

2 But he yet his c wisest; therefore he will bring euill, & not turne backe his word, but he will arise against the house of the wicked, and against the helpe of them that worke vanitie.

3 Now the Egyptians are men and not God, and their horses flesh, and not spirit; and when the Lord shall stretch out his hand, the d helper

d That is, a heauy sentence or prophecie against the beasts that caried their treasures into Egypt, by the wildernes, which was South from Iudah, signifying that if the beasts should not be spared, the men should be punished much more grieuously.
e To wit, to Ierusalem.
f And not to come to and flie to feeble helpe.
g That is, this prophecie.
h That it may be a witnesse against them for all posterities.
i He sheweth what was the cause of their destruction, and bringeth also all miserie to man: to wit, because they would not heare the word of God, but delighted to be flattered, and led in errour.
k Threaten vs not by the Word of God, neither be so rigorous, nor talke vnto vs in the Name of the Lord, as Ier. 11, 21.
l Meaning, in their stubburnnes against God and the admonitions of his Prophets.
m Signifying, that the destruction of the wicked shall be without recouery.
n Oft times by his Prophets he put you in remembrance of this, that you should onely depend on him.
o We will not vse to escape by our horses.
p Whereas all the trees are cut downe saue two or three to make masts.
q He commendeth the great mercies of God, who with patience waiteth to call sinners to repentance.
r Not onely in punishing, but in vsing moderation in the same, as Ier. 30, 11. and 46, 28.
‖ Or, instruction. s God shall direct all thy wayes, and appoint thee how to goe either hither or thither.
t Ye shall cast away your idoles, which you haue made of gold, and siluer, with all that belongeth vnto them, as a most filthy thing, and polluted.
u Shewing, that there can be no true repentance, except both in heart and deed we shew our selues enemies to idolatry.

x By these diuers maners of speach he sheweth that the felicitie of the Church shallbe so great, that none is able sufficiently to expresse it.
y When the Church shallbe restored, the glory thereof shall passe seuen times the brightnesse of the Sunne: for by the Sunne and Moone, which are two excellent creatures, he sheweth what shallbe the glory of the children of God in the kingdome of Christ.
z This threatning is against the Assyrians the chiefe enemies of the people of God.
a To driue them to no hing: and thus God confoundeth the wicked by that meanes, whereby he cleanseth his.
b Ye shall reioyce at the destruction of your enemies, as they that sing for ioy of the solemne feast, which began in the euening.
c Gods plague.
d It shall destroy.
e With ioy and assurance of the victory.
f Against Babel: meaning the Assyrians and Babylonians.

g Here it is taken for hell, where the wicked are tormented.
h So that their estate or degree cannot exempt the wicked.

a There were two speciall causes, why the Israelites should not ioyne amitie with the Egyptians: first, because the Lord had commanded them neuer to returne thither, Deut. 17, 16. and 28, 68. shall fall, and he that is holpen shall fall, and they shall altogether faile.

4 For thus hath the Lord spoken vnto me, As the lion or lions whelpe roareth vpon his pray, against whom if a multitude of shepheards be called, he will not be afraid at their voyce: neither will humble himselfe at their noyse: so shall the Lord of hosts come [e] down to fight for mount Zion, and for the hill thereof.

5 As birds that flie, so shall the Lord of hoasts defend Ierusalem by defending and deliuering, by passing through and preseruing it.

6 O ye children of Israel, turne againe, in as much as ye are [f] sunken deepe in rebellion.

7 For in that day euery man shall [g] cast out his idoles of siluer, and his idols of gold, which your hands haue made you, euen a sinne.

8 [h] Then shall Asshur fall by the sword, not of man, neither shall the sword of man deuoure him, and hee shall flee from the sword, and his young men shall faint.

9 And he shall goe for feare to his [i] towre, and his princes shalbe afraid of the standard, saith the Lord, whose [k] fire is in Zion, and his fornace in Ierusalem.

[e] He sheweth the Iewes, that if they would put their trust in him, he is so able, that none can resist his power: and so carefull ouer them, as a bird ouer her young, which euer flyeth about them for their defence: which similitude the scripture vseth in diuers places, as Deut. 32. 11. mat. 23. 37.

[f] He toucheth their conscience, that they might earnestly seeke their grieuous sinnes, and sorowfully repent. for as much as now they are almost drowned and past recouery.

[g] By these fruits your repentance shalbe knowen, as Chap. 2. 18.

[h] When your repentance appeareth. i This was accomplished soone after when Sancherips armie was discomfited, and he fled to his castle in Niueueh for succour. k To destroy his enemies.

CHAP. XXXII

The conditions of good rulers and officers described by the gouernment of Hezekiah, who was the figure of Christ.

BEhold, [a] a King shall reigne in iustice, and the princes shall [b] rule in iudgement.

2 And that man shall be as an hiding place from the wind, and as a refuge for the tempest, as riuers of water in a dry place, and as the shadow of a great rocke in [c] a weary land.

3 The eyes of [d] the seeing shall not be shut, and the eares of them that heare, shall hearken.

4 And the heart of the foolish shall vnderstand knowledge, and the tongue of the stutters shalbe ready to speake distinctly.

5 A [e] niggard shall no more be called liberall, nor the churle rich.

6 But the niggard will speake of niggardnes, and his heart will worke iniquitie, and do wickedly, and speake falsely against the Lord, to make emptie the hungry soule, and to cause the drinke of the thirstie to faile.

7 For the weapons of the churle are wicked: he deuiseth wicked counsels to vndoe the poore with lying words, and to speake against the poore in iudgement.

8 But the liberall man will deuise of liberall things, and he will continue his liberalitie.

9 ¶ Rise vp ye women that are at ease: heare my voyce, ye careles daughters, hearken to my words.

10 Ye women that are careleste, shalbe in feare & aboue a yeere in dayes, [k] for the vintage shall faile, and the gatherings shall come no more.

11 Yee women, that are at ease, be astonied: feare, O ye careleste women: put off the clothes, make bare, and gird sackcloath vpon the loynes, 12 Men shall lament for the [l] teares, euen for the pleasant fields, and for the fruitfull vine.

13 Vpon the land of my people shall growe thornes and briers: yea, vpon all the houses of ioy in the city of reioycing,

14 Because the palace shalbe forsaken, and the [l] noyse of the city shalbe left: the towre and fortresse shall be dennes for euer, and the delight of wild asses, and a pasture for flocks, 15 Vntill the [k] Spirit be powred vpon vs from aboue, and the wildernes become a fruitfull field, and the [l] plenteous field be counted as a forest.

16 And iudgement shall dwell in the desert, and iustice shall remaine in the fruitfull field.

17 And the worke of iustice shalbe peace, euen the worke of iustice and quietnesse, and assurance for euer.

18 And my people shall dwell in the habernacle of peace, and in sure dwellings, and in safe resting places, 19 When it haileth, it shall fall on the forest, and the [m] citie shalbe in the low place.

20 Blessed are ye [n] that sowe vpon all waters, and [o] driue thither the feet of the oxe & the asse.

[a] This prophecie is of Hezekiah, who was a figure of Christ: and therefore it ought chiefly to be referred to him.

[b] By iudgement and iustice is meant an vpright gouernment, both in policie, and religion.

[c] Where men are weary with trauelling for lacke of water.

[d] He promiseth to giue the true light, which is the pure doctrine of Gods word, and vnderstanding, and zeale of the same, are contrary to the threatnings against the wicked, Chap. 6. 9. and 29 10.

[e] Vice shall no more be called vertue, nor vertue esteemed by power and riches.

[f] His prophecieth of such calamitie to come, that they will not spare the women & children, and therefore willeth them to take heed and prouide.

[g] Meaning, that the affliction should continue long, and when one yeere were past, yet they should looke for new plagues.

[h] God will take from you the meanes and occasions, which made you to contemne him: to wit, abundance of worldly goods. i By the teares hee meaneth the pleasfull fields, whereby men are nourished as children with the teate: or, the mothers for sorow and heauinesse shall lacke milke.

[k] Or, multitude.

[l] That is, when the Church shall be restored, that the Prophets, after they haue denounced Gods iudgements against the wicked, vse to comfort the godly, least they should faint.

[l] The field which is now fruitfull, shalbe but as a barren forest in comparison of that it shall be then, as Chap 29. 17. which shall be fulfilled in Christs time, for then they that were before as the barren wildernes, being regenerate shalbe fruitfull, and they that had some beginning of godlinesse, shall bring foorth fruits in such abundance, that their former iuste shall seeme but as wildernes, where no fruits were. m They shall not need to build it in high places for feare of the enemie: for God will defend it, and turne away the stormes from hurting of their commodities. n That is, vpon fat ground and well watered, which bringeth foorth in abundance, or in places which before were couered with waters, and now made dry for your vses. o The fields shall be so tanke, that they shall send out their cattell to eate vp the first croppe, which abundance shall be signes of Gods loue and fauour toward them.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The destruction of them by whom God hath punished his Church.

WOe to thee that [a] spoylest, and wast not spoyled: and doest wickedly, and they did not wickedly against thee: when thou shalt [b] cease to spoyle, thou shalt be spoyled: when thou shalt make an end of doing wickedly, [c] they shall doe wickedly against thee.

2 [d] O Lord, haue mercy vpon vs, wee haue waited for thee: be thou, which wast [e] their arme in the morning, our helpe also in time of trouble.

3 At the noise of the tumult, the [f] people fled: at thine [g] exalting the nations were scattered.

4 And your spoyle shall be gathered like the gathering of [h] caterpillers: and [i] he shall goe against him like the leaping of grashoppers.

5 The Lord is exalted: for hee dwelleth on hie: he hath filled Zion with iudgement & iustice.

6 And there shall be stabilitie of [k] the times, strength, saluation, wisedome, and knowledge: for the feare of the Lord shalbe his treasure.

7 Behold, [l] their messengers shall cry without, & the [m] ambassadours of peace shal weep bitterly.

8 The [n] pathes are waste: the way faring man ceaseth: he hath broken the couenant: he hath contemned the cities: he regardeth no man.

9 The earth mourneth and fainteth: Lebanon is ashamed, and hewen downe: [o] Sharon is like a wildernes, and Bashan is shaken and Carmel.

10 Now will I [p] arise, saith the Lord: now will I be exalted, now will I lift vp my selfe.

11 [q] Ye shall conceiue chaffe, and bring forth stubble: the fire of your breath shall deuoure you.

12 And the people shall be as the burning of

[a] Meaning, the enemies of the Church, as were the Caldeans and Assyrians, but chiefly of Sanecherib, but not onely.

[b] When thine appointed time shall come that God shall take away thy power: and that which thou hast wrongfully gotten, shalbe giuen to others, as Amos 5. 11.

[c] The Caldeans shall do like to the Assyrians, as the Assyrians did to Israel, and the Medes and Persians shall do the same to the Caldeans.

[d] He declareth hereby what is the chiefe refuge of the faithfull, when troubles come, to pray and seeke helpe of God.

[f] That is, the Assyrians fled before the armie of the Caldeans, or the Caldeans for feare of the Medes and Persians.

[g] When thou, O Lord, didst lift vp thine armie to punish thine enemies. h Yet that as caterpillers destroyed with your number the whole world, shall haue no strength to resist your enemies the Caldeans: but shall be scattered on an heape and destroyed. i Meaning, the Medes and Persians against the Caldeans. k That is, in the dayes of Hezekiah. l Sent from Sanecherib. m Whom they of Ierusalem sent to intreat of peace. n Those are the words of the ambassadours, when they returned from Sanecherib. o Which was a plentifull countrey, meaning, that Sanecherib would destroy all. p To helpe and deliuer my Church. q This is spoken against the enemies, who thought all was their owne: but he sheweth that their enterprise shalbe in vaine, and that the fire which they had kindled for others, should consume them.

lime: and as the thornes cut vp, shall they be burnt in the fire.

13 Heare, yee that are r farre off, what I haue done, and ye that are neere, know my power.

14 The s sinners in Zion are afraid: a feare is come vpon the hypocrites: who among vs shall dwell with the deuouring fire, who among vs shall dwell with the euerlasting burnings?

15 Hee that walketh in iustice, and speaketh righteous things, r. fusing gaine of oppression, shaking his hands from taking of gifts, stopping his eares from hearing of blood, and shutting his eyes from seeing euill, 16 He shall dwell on t high; his defence shall be the munitions of rocks: bread shalbe giuen him, and his waters shalbe sure.

17 Thine eyes shall u see the King in his glory: they shall behold the x land farre off.

18 Thine heart y shall meditate feare, Where is the scribe? where is the receiuer? where is hee that counted the towers?

19 Thou shalt not see a fierce people, a people of a darke speach, that thou canst not perceiue, and of a stammering tongue that thou canst not vnderstand.

20 Looke vpon Zion the citie of our solemne feasts: thine eyes shall see Ierusalem a quiet habitation, a tabernacle that cannot be remooued: and the stakes thereof can neuer be taken away, neither shall any of the cords thereof be broken.

21 For surely there the mightie Lord will be vnto vs, as a place z of floods, and broad riuers, whereby shall passe no ship with oares, neither shall great ship passe thereby.

22 For the Lord is our iudge, the Lord is our law-giuer: the Lord is our King, he will saue vs.

23 Thy a cords are loosed: they could not well strengthen their mast, neither could they spread the saile: then shall the b pray be deuided for a great spoyle: yea, the lame shal take away the pray.

24 And none inhabitant shall say, I am sicke: the people that dwell therein, shall haue their iniquitie forgiuen.

CHAP. XXXIV

1 Hee sheweth that God punisheth the wicked for the loue that he beareth toward his Church.

COme neere, ye a nations and heare, & hearken, ye people: let the earth heare and all that is therein, the world and all that proceedeth thereof.

2 For the indignation of the Lord is vpon all nations, and his wrath vpon all their armies: he hath b destroyed them and deliuered them to the slaughter.

3 And their slaine shall be cast out, and their stinke shall come vp out of their bodies, and the mountaines shalbe melted with their blood.

4 And all the hoaste of heauen c shalbe dissolued, and the heauen shalbe folden like a booke: and all their hoastes shall fall as the leafe falleth from the vine, and as it falleth from the figtree.

5 For my sword shalbe d drunken in the heauen: behold, it shall come downe vpon Edom, euen vpon the people of e my curse to iudgement.

6 The sword of the Lord is filled with blood: it is made fat with the fat and with ŷ blood of the flambes and the goats, with the fat of the kidneis of the rams: for the Lord hath a sacrifice f in Bozrah, and a great slaughter in the land of Edom.

7 And the g vnicorne shall come downe with them, and the heifers with the bulles, and their land shall be drunken with blood, and their duft made fat with fatnesse.

8 For it is the day of the Lords vengeance, and the yeere of recompense for the iudgement of Zion.

9 And the riuers thereof shall be turned into pitch, and the duft thereof into h brimstone, and the land thereof shalbe burning pitch.

10 It shall not be quenched night nor day: the smoke thereof shall go vp euermore: it shalbe desolate from generation to generation; none shall passe through it for euer.

11 But the pelicane k and the hedgehog shall possesse it, and the great owle, and the rauen shall dwel in it, and he shall stretch out vpon it the line of l vanitie, and the stones of emptinesse

12 m The nobles thereof shall call to the kingdome, and there shalbe none, and all the princes thereof shalbe as nothing.

13 And it shall bring forth thornes in the palaces thereof, nettles, and thistles in the strong holds thereof, and it shalbe an habitation for dragons, and a court for ostriches.

14 There shall n meet also Ziim and Iim, and the Satyre shall crie to his fellow, and the scrich-owle shall rest there, and shall finde for her selfe a quiet dwelling.

15 There o shall the owle make her nest, and lay and hatch, and gather them vnder her shadow: there shall the vultures also be gathered, euery one with her make.

16 Seeke in the p booke of the Lord, and reade: none of q these shall faile, none shall want her make: for r his mouth hath commanded, and his very spirit hath gathered them.

17 And he hath cast the s lot for them, and his hand hath deuided vnto them by line: they shall possesse it for euer: from generation to generation shall they dwell in it.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 The great ioy of them that beleeue in Christ. 3 Their office which preach the Gospel. 8 The fruits that follow thereof.

THe a desert and the wilderneſſe shall reioyce, and the waste ground shalbe glad and flourish as the rose.

2 It shall flourish abundantly, and shall greatly reioyce also and ioy: the glory of Lebanon shall be giuen vnto it: the beauty of b Carmel, and of Sharon, they shall c see the glory of the Lord, and the excellencie of our God.

3 d Strengthen the weake hands, and comfort the feeble knees.

4 Say vnto them that are fearefull, Be you strong, feare not: behold, your God commeth with e vengeance: euen God with a recompense, he will come and saue you.

5 Then shall the eyes of the f blind be lightened, and the eares of the deafe be opened.

6 Then shall the lame man leape as an hart, and the dumbe mans tongue shall sing: for in the g wildernesse shall waters breake out, and riuers in the desert.

r His vengeance shall be so great, that all the world shall talke thereof.

s Which doe not beleeue the words of the Prophets, and the assurance of their deliuerance.

t Meaning, that God will be a sure defence to all them that liue according to his word.

u They shall see Hezekiah deliuered from his enemies, and restored to honour and glory.

x They shalbe no more shut in as they were of Sinacherib, but go where it pleaseth them.

y Before that this liberty commeth, thou shalt thinke that thou art in great danger: for the enemie shall so sharply assaile you, that one shall crie, where is the clerke that writeth the names of them that are taxed? another, Where is the receiuer? an other shall cry for him that valueth the rich houses, but God shall deliuer you from this seare.

z Let vs be content with this small riuer of Shiloah, and not desire the great streames and riuers, whereby the enemies may bring in ships and destroy vs.

a He derideth the Assyrians and enemies of the Church, declaring their destruction as they that perish by shipwracke.

b Hee comforteth the Church, and sheweth that they shalbe enriched with all benefits both of body and soule.

a He prophecieth of the destruction of the Edomites, and other nations which were enemies to the Church

b God hath determined in his counsell, and hath giuen sentence for their destruction.

c He speaketh this in respect of mans iudgement, who in great feare and horrible troubles, thinketh that heauen and earth perishe.

d I haue determined in my secret counsell, and in the heauens to destroy them till my sword be weary with shedding of blood.

e They had an opinion of holinesse, because they came of the Patriarke Iehak, but in effect were accursed of God, and enemies vnto his Church, as the Papists are.

f That is, both of young and old, poore and rich of his enemies.

g That famous citie shalbe consumed as a sacrifice burnt to ashes.

h The mighty and rich shalbe aswell destroyed as the inferiours.

i He alludeth to the destruction of Sodome and Gomorah, Gen. 19. 24.

k Reade Chap. 13. 21. and Zeph. 2. 14.

l In vaine shall any man go about to build it againe.

m Meaning, there shalbe neither order nor policie, nor feare of common-weale.

n Reade Chap. 13. 21.

o Signifying, that Idumea should be an horrible desolation and barren wildernesse.

p That is, in the Law where such curses are threatned against the wicked.

q To wit, beastes and foules.

r That is, the mouth of the Lord.

s He hath giuen the beastes and foules Idumea for an inheritance.

a He prophecieth of the full restauration of the Church both of the Iewes and Gentiles vnder Christ, which shall be fully accomplished at the last day: albeit as yet it is compared to a desert and wildernesse.

b The Church which was before compared to a barren wilderness, shall by Christ be made most plenteous and beautifull.

c He sheweth that the presence of God is the cause that the Church doth bring forth fruit and flourish.

d He willeth all exhort and strengthen to encourage one another, and specially the ministers to the weake that they may patiently abide the comming of God, which is at hand.

e To destroy your enemies.

f When the knowledge of Christ is reuealed.

g They that were barren and destitute of the graces of God, shall haue them giuen by Christ.

7 And the drie ground shalbe as a poole, and the thirstie as springs of water: in the habitation of dragons, where they lay, shall be a place for reeds and rushes.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Sancherib sendeth Rabshakeh to besiege Ierusalem. 15 His blasphemies against God.

NOw [a] in the [b] fourteenth yeere of King Hezekiah, Sancherib King of Asshur came vp against all the strong cities of Iudah, and tooke them.

2 And the King of Asshur sent Rabshakeh from Lachish toward Ierusalem vnto king Hezekiah, with a great hoast, & he stood by the conduit of the vpper poole in the path of the fullers field.

3 Then came foorth vnto him Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the [c] steward of the house, and Shebna [d] the chancellour, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder.

4 And [e] Rabshakeh said vnto them, Tell you Hezekiah, I pray you, Thus saith the great king, the King of Asshur, What confidence is this, wherein thou trustest?

5 I say, [f] Surely I gaue eloquence, but counsell and strength are for the warre: on whom then doest thou trust, that thou rebellest against me?

6 Loe, thou trustest in this broken staffe of reede, on Egypt, wherevpon if a man leane, it will goe into his hand, and pearce it: so is [g] Pharaoh King of Egypt vnto all that trust in him.

7 But if thou say vnto me, We trust in the Lord our God, is not that hee, whose hie places and whose altars Hezekiah tooke downe, and said to Iudah and to Ierusalem, Ye shall worship before this altar?

8 Now therefore giue hostages to my Lord the king of Asshur, and I will giue thee two thousand horses, if thou be able on thy part to set riders vpon them.

9 For how canst thou ‖ despise any captaine of the [h] least of my lords seruants? and put thy trust on Egypt for charets and for horsemen?

10 And am I now come vp without the Lord to this land to destroy it? The Lord sayd vnto me, [i] Goe vp against this land and destroy it.

11 ¶ Then said Eliakim, and Shebna and Ioah vnto Rabshakeh, [k] Speake, I pray thee, to thy seruants in the Aramites language (for we vnderstand it) and talke not with vs in the Iewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

12 Then said Rabshakeh, Hath my master sent mee to thy master, and to thee, to speake these wordes, and not to the men that sit on the wall? that they may eate their owne doung, and drinke their owne † pisse with you?

13 So Rabshakeh stood, and cried with a loud voyce in the Iewes language, and said, Heare the words of the great King, of the King of Asshur.

14 Thus saith the king, Let not Hezekiah deceiue you: for he shall not be able to deliuer you.

15 Neither let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Lord, saying, The Lord will surely deliuer vs: this citie shall not be giuen ouer into the hand of the king of Asshur.

16 Hearken not to Hezekiah: for thus sayth the king of Asshur, Make [l] appointment with me, and come out to me, that euery man may eate of his owne vine, and euery man of his owne figtree, and drinke euery man the water of his owne well,

17 Till I come and bring you to a land like your owne land, euen a land of wheate and wine, a land of bread and vineyardes, 18 Least Hezekiah deceiue you, saying, The Lord will deliuer vs. Hath any of the gods of the nations deliuered his land out of the hand of the king of Asshur?

19 Where is the god of [m] Hamath, and of Arpad? where is the god of Sepharuaim? or how haue they deliuered Samaria out of my hand?

20 Who is hee among all the gods of these lands, that hath deliuered their countrey out of mine hand, that the Lord should deliuer Ierusalem out of mine hand?

21 Then they [n] kept silence, and answered him not a worde: for the kings commandement was, saying, Answere him not.

22 Then came Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the steward of the house, and Shebna the chancellor, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder, vnto Hezekiah with rent cloathes, and tolde him the wordes of Rabshakeh.

a This historie is rehearsed because it is as a seale and confirmation of the doctrine afore, both for the threatnings and promises: to wit, that God would suffer his Church to be afflicted, but at length would send deliuerance.
b When he had abolished superstition, and idolatry, and restored religion, yet God would exercise his Church to trie their faith and patience.
c For he was now restored to his office, as Esaiah had prophecied, Chap. 22 20.
d This declareth that there were few godly to be found in the kings house, when he was driuen to send this wicked man in such a weightie matter.
e Sancheribs chiefe captaine.
f He speaketh this in the person of Hezekiah, falsly charging him that he put his trust in his wit and eloquence, whereas his onely confidence was in the Lord.
g Satan laboured to pull the godly King from one vaine confidence to another: to wit, from trust in the Egyptians, whose power was weake and would deceiue them, to yeeld himselfe to the Assyrians, and so not to hope for any helpe of God. ‖ Or, turne backe. h He reprocheth Hezekiah his small power, which is notable to resist one of Sinecheribs least captaines. i Thus the wicked to deceiue vs, will pretend the Name of the Lord: but we must trie the spirits, whether they be of God or no. k They were afraid, least by his words, he should haue stirred vp the people against the King, and also pretended to grow to some appoyntment with him.

† Ebr. the water of their feet.

l The Ebrew word signifieth blessing, or hereby this wicked captaine would haue perswaded the people, that their condition should be better vnder Sancherib then vnder Hezekiah.
m That is, of Antiochia in Syria, of the which these two other cities also were: whereby we see how euery towne had his peculiar idole, and how the wicked make God an idole, because they do not vnderstand that God maketh them his scourges, and punisheth cities for sinne.
n Not that they did not shew by euident signes that they did detest his blasphemie: for they had now rent their cloathes, but they knew it was in vaine to vse long reasoning with this infidell, whose rage they should haue so much more prouoked.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 Hezekiah asketh counsell of Isaiah, who promiseth him the victorie. 10 The blasphemie of Sancherib. 16 Hezekiahs prayer. 36 The armie of Sancherib is slaine of the Angel. 38 And he himselfe of his owne sonnes.

AND * when the King Hezekiah heard it, hee [a] rent his cloathes, and put on sackecloath and came into the house of the Lord.

2 And hee sent Eliakim the steward of the house, and Shebna the chancellor, with the Elders of the Priests, cloathed in sackecloath vnto [b] Isaiah the Prophet, the sonne of Amoz.

3 And hee said vnto him, Thus saith Hezekiah, This day is a [c] day of tribulation and of rebuke and blasphemie: for the children are come to the [c] birth, and there is no strength to bring foorth.

4 If so be the Lord thy God hath [d] heard the words of Rabshakeh, whom the King of Asshur his master hath sent to raile on the liuing God, and to reproach him with words, which the Lord thy God hath heard, then [e] lift thou vp thy prayer for the remnant that are left.

5 So the seruants of the King Hezekiah came to Isaiah.

6 And Isaiah said vnto them, Thus say vnto your master, Thus saith the Lord, Be not afraid of the wordes that thou hast heard, wherewith the seruants of the King of Asshur haue blasphemed me.

f Of the Egyptians and Ethiopians, that shall come and fight against him.
g Which was a citie toward Egypt, thinking thereby to haue stayed the force of his enemies.

h Thus God would haue him to vtter a most horrible blasphemie before his destruction: as to call the authour of all trueth, a deceiuer: some gather hereby that Shebnah had disclosed vnto Sanherib the answere that Isaiah sent to the king.
i Which was a citie of the Medes.
k Called also Charre a citie in Mesopotamia, whence Abraham came after his fathers death.

l He grounderh his prayer on Gods promise, who promised to heare them from betweene the Cherubims.
m Meaning, the ten tribes.
n He declareth for what cause he prayed, that they might be deliuered: to wit, that God might be glorified thereby through all the world.
o Whom God had chosen to himselfe as a chaste virgin, and ouer whom he had care to preserue her from the lusts of the tyrant, as a father would haue ouer his daughter.
p Declaring hereby that they that are enemies to Gods Church, fight against him whose quarrell his Church onely maintaineth.
q He boasteth of his policie, in that that he can finde meanes to nourish his army; and of his power in that that his army is so great, that it is able to drie vp whole riuers, and to destroy the waters which the Iewes had closed in.

7 Behold, I will send a blast vpon him, and he shall heare a f noise, and returne to his owne land, and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his owne land.

8 ¶ So Rabshakeh returned, and found the King of Asshur fighting against g Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachish.

9 Hee heard also men say of Tirhakah, King of Ethiopia, Beholde, he is come out to fight against thee: and when hee heard it, hee sent other messengers to Hezekiah, saying,

10 Thus shall ye speake to Hezekiah King of Iudah, saying, Let not thy God h deceiue thee, in whom thou trustest, saying, Ierusalem shall not be giuen into the hand of the King of Asshur.

11 Behold, thou hast heard what the Kings of Asshur haue done to all landes in destroying them, and shalt thou be deliuered?

12 Haue the gods of the nations deliuered them, which my fathers haue destroyed? as i Gozan, and k Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden, which were at Telassar?

13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the King of Arpad, and the King of the citie of Sepharuaim, Hena, and Iuah?

14 ¶ So Hezekiah receiued the letter of the hand of the messengers, and read it, and hee went vp into the house of the Lord, and Hezekiah spread it before the Lord.

15 And Hezekiah prayed vnto the Lord, saying,

16 O Lord of hosts, God of Israel, which l dwelleth betweene the Cherubims, thou art very God alone ouer all the kingdomes of the earth: thou hast made the heauen and the earth.

17 Encline thine eare, O Lord, and heare: open thine eyes, O Lord, and see, and heare all the words of Sanherib, who hath sent to blaspheme the liuing God.

18 Trueth it is, O Lord, that the Kings of Asshur haue destroyed all lands and m their countrey, 19 And haue cast their gods in the fire: for they were no gods, but the worke of mens hands, euen wood or stone: therefore they destroyed them.

20 Now therefore, O Lord our God, saue thou vs out of his hand, that n all the kingdomes of the earth may know, that thou onely art the Lord.

21 ¶ Then Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sent vnto Hezekiah, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Because thou hast prayed vnto me, concerning Sanherib king of Asshur, 22 This is the word that the Lord hath spoken against him, The o virgin, the daughter of Zion, hath despised thee, and laughed thee to scorne: thee daughter of Ierusalem hath shaken her head at thee.

23 Whom hast thou railed on and blasphemed? and against whom hast thou exalted thy voyce, and lifted vp thine eyes on high? euen against the P holy One of Israel

24 By thy seruants hast thou railed on the Lord, and said, By the multitude of my charets I am come vp to the top of the mountaines to the sides of Lebanon, and will cut downe the hie cedars thereof, and the faire firre trees thereof, and I will goe vp to the heights of his top, and to the forest of his fruitfull places.

25 I haue digged, q and drunke the waters, and with the plant of my feete haue I dried all the riuers closed in.

26 Hast thou not heard how I haue of olde time made it, r and haue formed it long agoe? and should I now bring it, that it should be destroyed, and laid on ruinous heapes, as cities defenced?

27 Whose inhabitants haue t small power, and are afraid and confounded: they are like the grasse of the field and greene herbe, or grasse on ŷ house tops, or corne blasted f afore it be growen:

28 But I know thy dwelling, and thy r going out, and thy comming in, and thy furie against mee.

29 Because thou rageest against me, and thy tumult is come vp vnto mine eares, therefore will I put mine u hooke in thy nostrels, and my bridle in thy lips, and will bring thee backe againe the same way thou x camest.

30 And this shall be a y signe vnto thee, O Hezekiah, Thou shalt eate this yeere such as groweth of it selfe: and the z second yeere such things as grow without sowing: and in the third yeere, sow ye and reape, and plant vineyards, and eate the fruite thereof.

31 And a the remnant that is escaped of the house of Iudah, shall againe take root downward and beare fruit vpward.

32 For out of Ierusalem shall goe a remnant, and they that escape out of mount Zion: the zeale of the Lord of hosts shall doe this.

33 Therefore thus saith the Lord concerning the King of Asshur, He shall not enter into this citie, nor shoot an arrow there, nor come before it with shield, nor cast a mount against it.

34 By the same way that he came, he shall returne, and not come into this citie, saith the Lord.

35 For I will defend this citie to saue it, for mine owne sake, and for my seruant b Dauids sake.

36 ¶ * Then the Angel of the Lord went out, and smote in the campe of Asshur an hundreth foure score, and fiue thousand: so when they arose early in the morning, behold, they were all dead corpses.

37 So Saneherib king of Asshur departed, and went away and returned and dwelt at c Nineueh.

38 And as he was in the Temple worshipping of Nisroch his god, Adramelech and Sharezer his sonnes * slewe him with the sword, and they escaped into the land of ‖ Ararat: and d Esarhaddon his sonne reigned in his stead.

r Signifying, that God made not his Church to destroy it, but to preserue it: and therefore he saith that he formed it of old, euen in his eternall counsell which cannot be changed.
† Ebr. are short in hand.
t He sheweth that the state and power of most flourishing cities endureth but a moment in respect of the Church, which shall remaine for euer, because God is the maintainer thereof.
u Meaning, his counsels and enterprises.
x Because Saneherib shewed himselfe as a deuouring fish and furious beast, he vseth these similitudes, to teach how he will take him and guide him.
x Thou shalt lose thy labour.
y God giueth signes after two sorts: some goe before the thing, as the signes that Moses wrought in Egypt, which were for the confirmation of their faith: and some go after the thing, as the sacrifice, which they were commanded to make three dayes after their departure: and these latter are to keepe the benefits of God in our remembrance: of the which sort this here is.
z He promiseth that for two yeeres the ground of it selfe should feede them.

3 And ſayd, I beſeech thee, Lord, remember now how I haue walked before thee in trueth, and with a perfit heart, and haue done that which is good in thy ſight: and Hezekiah wept ſore.

4 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord to Iſaiah, ſaying,

5 Goe, and ſay vnto Hezekiah, Thus ſaith the Lord God of Dauid thy father, I haue heard thy prayer, and ſeene thy teares: behold, I will adde vnto thy dayes fiftéene yeeres.

6 And I will deliuer thee & out of the hand of the king of Aſſhur, and this citie: for I will defend this citie.

7 And d this ſigne ſhalt thou haue of the Lord, that the Lord will doe this thing that he hath ſpoken,

8 Behold, I will bring againe the ſhadow of the degrees (whereby it is gone downe in the diall of Anaz by the e ſunne) ten degrees backward: ſo the ſunne returned by ten degrees, by the which degrees it was gone downe.

9 f The writing of Hezekiah king of Iudah, when he had beene ſicke, and was recouered of his ſickeneſſe.

10 I ſayd in the g cutting off of my dayes, I ſhall goe to the gates of the graue: I am depriued of the reſidue of my yeeres.

11 I ſaid, h I ſhall not ſee the Lord, euen the Lord in the land of the liuing: I ſhall ſee man no more among the inhabitants of the world.

12 Mine habitation is departed, and is remooued from me, like a ſhepheards tent: I haue cut off like a weauer my life: he will cut me off from the height: from day k to night, thou wilt make an ende of me.

13 I reckoned l to the morning: but he brake all my bones like a lyon, from day to night wilt thou make an ende of me.

14 Like a crane or a ſwallow, ſo did I m chatter: I did mourne as a doue: mine eyes were lift vp on high: O Lord, n it hath oppreſſed mee, comfort me.

15 What ſhall I ſay, o for he hath ſaid it to me, and he hath done it: I ſhall walke p weakely all my yeares in the bitterneſſe of my ſoule.

16 O Lord, q to them that ouerliue them, and to all that are in them, the life of my ſpirit ſhall be known, that thou cauſedſt me to r ſleepe and haſt giuen life to me.

17 Behold, for f felicitie I had bitter griefe, but it was thy pleaſure to deliuer my ſoule from the pit of corruption: for thou haſt caſt all my ſinnes behind thy backe.

18 For t the graue cannot confeſſe thee: death cannot praiſe thee: they that goe downe into the pit, cannot hope for thy trueth.

19 But the liuing, the liuing, he ſhall confeſſe thee, as I doe this day: the father to the x children ſhall declare thy trueth.

20 The Lord was ready to ſaue mee: therefore wee will ſing my ſong, all the dayes of our life in the houſe of the Lord.

21 Then ſaid Iſaiah, Take a lumpe of dry figs and z lay it vpon the boile, and he ſhall recouer.

22 Alſo Hezekiah a had ſaid, What is the ſigne, that I ſhall goe vp into the houſe of the Lord?

CHAP. XXXIX.

Hezekiah is reproued becauſe hee ſhewed his treaſures vnto the ambaſſadours of Babylon.

AT* the ſame time, a Merodach Baladan, the ſonne of Baladan, King of Babel, ſent b letters, and a preſent to Hezekiah: for he had heard that he had beene ſicke, and was recouered.

2 And Hezekiah was c glad of them, and ſhewed them the houſe of the treaſures, the ſiluer, and the golde, and the ſpices, and the precious ointment, and all the houſe of his armour, and all that was found in his treaſures: there was nothing in his houſe, nor in all his kingdome that Hezekiah ſhewed them not.

3 Then came Iſaiah the Prophet vnto King Hezekiah, and ſayd vnto him, What ſayd theſe men? and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiah ſaid, They are come from a farre countrey vnto me, from Babel.

4 Then ſayd hee, What haue d they ſeene in thine houſe? And Hezekiah anſwered, All that is in mine houſe haue they ſeene; there is nothing among my treaſures, that I haue not ſhewed them.

5 And Iſaiah ſayd to Hezekiah, Heare the word of the Lord of hoaſtes,

6 Behold, the dayes come, that all that is in thine houſe, and which thy fathers haue laid vp in ſtore vntill this day, ſhalbe e caried to Babel: nothing ſhall be left, ſaith the Lord.

7 And of thy ſonnes, that ſhall proceede out of thee, and which thou ſhalt beget, ſhall they take away, and they ſhalbe f eunuches in the palace of the King of Babel.

8 g Then ſaid Hezekiah to Iſaiah, The word of the Lord is good, which thou haſt ſpoken; and he ſayd, Yet let there be peace, and trueth in my dayes.

g At what time it was tolde me that I ſhould die.

h I ſhall no more praiſe the Lord here in this Temple among the faithfull: thus God ſuffereth his deareſt children to want his conſolation for a time, that his grace afterward may the more appeare when they feele their owne weakeneſſe.

n To wit, ſorow and griefe both of body and mind: o God hath declared by his Prophet that I ſhall die, and therefore I will yeeld vnto him. p I ſhall haue no releaſe, but continuall ſorowes while I liue. q They that ſhall ouerliue the men that are now aliue, and all they that are in theſe yeeres ſhall acknowledge this benefite. r That after that thou hadſt condemned me to death, thou reſtoreddſt me to life. s Whereas I thought to haue liued in reſt and eaſe being deliuered from mine enemie. t I had griefe vpon griefe. t He eſteemeth more the remiſſion of his ſinnes, and Gods fauour then a thouſand liues. u For as much as God hath placed man in this world to glorifie him, the godly take it as a ſigne of his wrath, when their dayes were ſhortened, either becauſe that they ſeemed vnworthy for their ſinnes to liue longer in his ſeruice, or for their zeale to Gods glory, ſeeing that there are ſo few in earth, that do regard it, as Pſal. 63. and 115. 17.

x All poſterity ſhall acknowledge, and the fathers according to their duety toward their children ſhall inſtruct them in thy graces, and mercies toward me.

i The voyce of God which spake to the Prophet Isaiah.
k Meaning, all mans wisedome and naturall powers. Iames 1, 10. 1. pet. 1, 24.
l The spirit of God shall discouer the vanitie in all that seeme to haue any excellencie of themselues.
m Though considering the frailtie of mans nature many of the Iewes should perish, and so not be partakers of this deliuerance, yet Gods promise should be fulfilled, and they that remained, should feele the fruite thereof.
n To publish this benefite through all the world.
o He sheweth at one word the perfection of all mens felicitie, which is to haue Gods presence.
p His power shall be sufficient without helpe of any other, and shall haue all meanes in himselfe to bring his will to passe.
q He shall shew his care and fauour ouer them that are weake and tender.
r Declaring that as God onely hath all power, so doeth he vse the same for the defence and maintenance of his Church.
s He sheweth Gods infinite wisdome for the same end and purpose.
t He speaketh all this to the intent that they should neither feare man nor put their trust in any, saue onely in God.
u Hereby he armeth them against the idolatries, wherewith they should be tempted in Babylon.
x He sheweth the rage of the idolaters, seeing that the poore that haue not to suffice their owne necessities, will defraude themselues to serue their idoles.
y Haue ye not the word of God, which plainely condemneth idolatry?
z Can you not learne by the visible creatures whom God hath made to serue your vse, that you should not serue them nor worship them?

6 A i voyce sayd, Crie. And he said, What shall I cry? All flesh is grasse, and all the k grace thereof is as the floure of the field.

7 The grasse withereth, the floure fadeth, because the l Spirit of the Lord bloweth vpon it: surely the people is grasse.

8 The grasse withereth, the floure fadeth: but the m word of our God shall stand for euer.

9 ¶ O Zion, that bringest good tidings, get thee vp into the high n mountaine: O Ierusalem, that bringest good tidings, lift vp thy voyce with strength: lift it vp, be not afraid: say vnto the cities of Iudah, Behold o your God.

10 Behold, the Lord God will come with power, and p his arme shall rule for him: behold, his reward is with him, and his worke before him.

11 He shall feede his flocke like a shepheard: he shall gather the lambs with his arme, and cary them in his bosome, and shall guide them with q young.

12 Who hath measured the waters in his r fist? and counted heauen with the span, and comprehended the dust of the earth in a measure? and weighed the mountaines in a weight, and the hills in a balance?

13 Who hath instructed the spirit of the Lord? or was s his counseller, or taught him?

14 Of whom tooke he counsell, and who instructed him and taught him in the way of iudgment? or taught him knowledge, and shewed vnto him the way of vnderstanding?

15 Behold, the nations are as a drop of a bucket, and are counted as the dust of the balance: behold, he taketh away the yles as a litle dust.

16 And Lebanon is not sufficient for fire, nor the beasts thereof sufficient for a burnt offering.

17 All nations before him are as t nothing, and they are counted to him, lesse then nothing, and vanitie.

18 To whom then u will yee liken God? or what similitude will ye set vp vnto him?

20 Doth not x the poore chuse out a tree that will not rot, for an oblation? he seeketh also vnto him a cunning workeman, to prepare an image that shall not be mooued.

21 Know ye nothing? haue ye not heard? y it hath it not beene told you from the beginning? haue ye not vnderstood it by the z foundation of the earth?

22 He sitteth vpon the circle of the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are as grashoppers, hee stretcheth out the heauens as a curtaine, and spreadeth them out as a tent to dwell in.

23 Hee bringeth the princes to nothing, and maketh the iudges of the earth as vanitie, 24 As though they were not planted, as though they were not sowen, as though their stocke tooke no roote in the earth: for hee did euen a blow vpon them, and they withered, and the whirlewinde will take them away as stubble.

25 To whom now will yee liken mee, that I should be like him, saith the Holy one?

26 Lift vp your eyes on high, and behold who hath created these things, and bringeth b out their armies by number, and calleth them all by names: by the greatnesse of his power & mighty strength nothing faileth.

27 Why sayest thou, O Iaakob, and speakest O Israel, c My way is hid from the Lord, and my iudgement is passed ouer of my God?

28 Knowest thou not? or hast thou not heard, that the euerlasting God, the Lord hath created the d ends of the earth? he neither fainteth, nor is weary: there is no searching of his e vnderstanding.

29 But he giueth strength vnto him that fainteth, and vnto him that hath no strength, he encreaseth power.

30 f Euen the young men shall faint, and be weary, and the young men shall stumble and fall.

31 But they that waite vpon the Lord, shall renew their strength: they shall lift vp the wings, as the eagles: they shall runne, and not be weary, and they shall walke and not faint.

men of Israel: I will helpe thee, saith the Lord, and thy redeemer the holy One of Israel.

15 Behold, I will make thee a roler, and a new threshing instrument hauing teeth: thou shalt thresh the [n] mountaines, and bring them to powder, and shalt make the hilles as chasse.

16 Thou shalt fanne them, and the wind shall carry them away, and the whirlewind shall scatter them: and thou shalt reioyce in the Lord, and shalt glory in the holy One of Israel.

17 When [o] the poore and the needy seeke water, & there is none (their tongue faileth for thirst: I the Lord will heare them: I the God of Israel will not forsake them:)

18 I will open riuers in the tops of the hilles, and fountaines in the mids of the valleyes: I will make the wilderneſſe as a poole of water, and the waſte [p] land as ſprings of water.

19 I will ſet in the wilderneſſe the cedar, the Shittah tree, and the myrrhe tree, and the pine tree, and I will ſet in the wilderneſſe the firre tree, the elme and the boxe tree together.

20 Therefore let them ſee and know, and let them conſider and vnderſtand together that the hand of the Lord hath done this, and the holy One of Iſrael [q] hath created it.

21 [r] Stand to your cauſe, ſaith the Lord: bring forth your ſtrong reaſons ſaith [ſ] King of Iaakob.

22 Let them bring them foorth, and let them tell vs what ſhall come, let them ſhewe the former things what they be, that we may conſider them, and know the latter end of them: either declare vs things for to come.

23 Shew the things that are to come hereafter, that we may know that ye are gods: yea, doe good or do euill, that we may declare it, and behold it together.

24 Behold, yee are of no value, and your making is of nought: man hath [t] choſen an abomination by them.

25 ¶ I haue raiſed vp [u] from the North, and he ſhall come: from the Eaſt ſunne ſhall he [x] call vpon my name, and ſhall come vpon [x] princes as vpon clay, & as the potter treadeth mire vnder the foot.

26 Who hath declared from the beginning, that we may know? or before time, that we may ſay, Hee is righteous? Surely there is none that ſheweth: ſurely there is none that declareth: ſurely there is none that heareth [y] your words.

27 I am the firſt, that ſaith to Zion, Beholde, behold [z] them: and I will giue to Ieruſalem [a] one that ſhall bring good tidings.

28 But when [b] I beheld, there was none: and when I enquired of them, there was no counſeller, and when I demanded of them, they anſwered not a word.

29 Behold, they are all vanitie: their worke is of nothing, their images are wind and confuſion.

n I will make thee able to deſtroy all thine enemies, be they neuer ſo mightie: and this chiefly is referred to the kingdome of Chriſt.

o That is, they that ſhalbe afflicted in the captiuitie of Babylon.

p God will rather change the order of nature then they ſhould want any thing, that cry to him by true faith in their miſeries: declaring to them hereby that they ſhall lacke nothing by the way, when they returne from Babylon.

q That is, hath appointed and determined that it ſhall come to paſſe.

r He bideth the idolaters to propoſe their religion, and to bring foorth their idoles, that they may be tried whether they know all things, and can do all things: which if they cannot doe, he concludeth that they are no gods, but wicked idoles.

ſ So that a man cannot make an idole, but he muſt do that which God deteſteth and abhorreth: for hee ſheweth his owne deuiſes and forſaketh the Lord.

t Meaning, the Chaldeans.

u That is, Cyrus, who ſhall doe all things in my name & by my direction: whereby hee meaneth that both their captiuitie, and deliuerance ſhall be ordered by Gods prouidence and appointment.

x Both of the Chaldeans and others.

y Meaning, that none of the Gentiles gods can worke any of theſe things.

z That is, the Iſraelites which returne from the captiuitie.

a To wit, a continuall ſucceſſion of Prophets and miniſters.

b When I looked whether the idoles could doe theſe things I found that they had neither wiſedome nor power to doe any thing: therefore he concludeth that all are wicked, that truſt in ſuch vanities.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The obedience and humilitie of Chriſt. 6 Why hee was ſent into the world. 11 The vocation of the Gentiles.

a That is, Chriſt, who in reſpect of his manhood is called here ſeruant.

BEholde, a my ſeruant: [b] I will ſtay vpon him: mine elect, in whom my ſoule [c] delighteth: I haue put my Spirit vpon him: hee ſhall bring foorth [d] iudgement to the Gentiles.

2 He ſhall not [e] cry, nor lift vp, nor cauſe his voyce to be heard in the ſtreete.

3 A [f] bruiſed reede ſhall he not breake, and the ſmoking [g] flaxe ſhall he not quench: he ſhall bring foorth iudgement in [h] truth.

4 He ſhall not faile nor be diſcouraged till he haue [i] ſet iudgement in the earth: and the [k] yles ſhall wait for his Law.

5 Thus ſaith God the Lord (hee that created the heauens and ſpread them abroad: hee that ſtretched foorth the earth, and the buds thereof, hee that giueth breath vnto the people vpon it, and ſpirit to them that walke therein)

6 I the Lord haue called thee in [l] righteouſneſſe, and will hold [m] thine hand, and I will keepe thee, and giue thee for a [n] couenant of the people, and for a light of the Gentiles,

7 That thou mayeſt open the eyes of the blind, and bring out the priſoners from the priſon; and them that ſit in darkeneſſe, out of the priſon houſe.

8 I am the Lord, this is my Name, and my [o] glory will I not giue to another, neither my praiſe to grauen images.

9 Behold, the former things are [p] come to paſſe, and new things doe I declare; before they come forth, I tell you of them.

10 Sing vnto the Lord a new ſong, and his praiſe from the end of the earth; ye that go downe to the ſea, and all that is therein; the yles and the inhabitants thereof.

11 Let the wilderneſſe and the cities thereof lift vp their voyce, the townes that [q] Kedar doeth inhabite; let the inhabitants of the rockes ſing, let them ſhout from the top of the mountaines.

12 Let them giue glory vnto the Lord, and declare his praiſe in the yles.

13 The Lord ſhall goe forth as a [r] gyant; hee ſhall ſtirre vp his courage like a man of warre: he ſhall ſhout and cry, and ſhall preuaile againſt his enemies.

14 I haue a long time holden my peace: I haue beene ſtill and refrained my ſelfe; now will I cry like a [ſ] trauelling woman: I will deſtroy and deuoure at once.

15 I will make waſte mountaines, and hils, and drie vp all their hearbs, and I will make the floods ylands, and I will drie vp the pooles.

16 ¶ And I will bring the [t] blind by a way, that they knew not, and lead them by pathes that they haue not knowen: I will make darkeneſſe light before them, and crooked things ſtreight. Theſe things will I doe vnto them, and not forſake them.

17 They ſhall be turned backe: they ſhall be greatly aſhamed, that truſt in grauen images, and ſay to the molten images, Ye are our gods.

18 ¶ Heare, yee deafe: and ye blind, regarde, that ye may ſee.

19 Who is blind but my [u] ſeruant? or deafe as my [x] meſſenger, that I ſent? who is blinde as the [y] perfite, and blind as the Lords ſeruant?

20 Seeing many things, but thou keepeſt them not? opening the eares, but he heareth not?

b He ſhall declare himſelfe gouernor ouer the Gentiles, and call them by his worde, and rule them by his Spirit.

c His comming ſhall not be with pompe and noyſe, as earthly princes.

d He will not hurt the weake and feeble, but ſupport and comfort them.

e Meaning, the weeke of a lampe, or candle which is almoſt out, but he will cheriſh it and ſnuffe it, that it may ſhine brighter.

f Although hee ſauour the weake, yet will hee not ſpare the wicked, but will iudge them according to truth and equitie.

g Till he haue ſet all things in good order.

h The Gentiles ſhal be deſtroyed to receiue his doctrine.

i Meaning, vnto a lawfull and iuſt vocation.

k To aſſiſt and guide thee.

l As him, by whom the promiſe made to all nations in Abraham ſhall be fulfilled.

m I will not ſuffer my glory to be diminiſhed: which I ſhould doe if I were not faithfull in performing the ſame, and the idolaters thereby would exoult their idoles aboue me.

n As in time paſt I haue beene true in my promiſes, ſo will I be in time to come.

o Meaning, the Arabians, vnder whom hee comprehendeth all the people of the Eaſt.

p He ſheweth the zeale of the Lord, and his power in the confuſion of his Church; I will haſte to execute my vengeance, which I haue ſo long deferred as a woman that deſireth to be deliuered, when ſhee is in trauell.

q That is, my poore people which are in perplexitie and care.

r To wit, Iſrael, which ſhould haue moſt light because of my Law.

ſ The Prieſt to whom my word is committed, which ſhould not onely beare it himſelfe, but cauſe others to heare it.

t As the Prieſtes and Prophets that ſhould be light to others?

21 The Lord is willing for his righteousnesse sake, that he may magnifie the Law and exalt it.

22 But this people is [z] robbed and spoyled, and shallbe all snared in dungeons, and they shallbe hid in prison houses; they shallbe for a pray, and none shall deliuer: a spoyle, and none shall say, a Restore.

23 Who among you shall hearken to this, and take heede, and heare for [b] afterwards?

24 Who gaue Iaakob for a spoyle, & Israel to the robbers? Did not the Lord, because we haue sinned against him? for they would not walke in his wayes, neither be obedient vnto his Law.

25 Therefore hee hath powred vpon him his fierce wrath, and the strength of battell; and it set him on fire round about, and he knew not, and it burned him vp, yet he considered not.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 The Lord comforteth his people. Hee promiseth deliuerance to the Iewes. 11 There is no God but one alone.

BVt now thus saith the Lord, [a] that created thee, O Iaakob: and he that formed thee, O Israel, [b] Feare not: for I haue redeemed thee: I haue called thee by thy name, thou art mine.

2 When thou passest through the [c] waters, I will be with thee, and through the floods, that they doe not ouerflow thee. When thou walkest through the very fire, thou shalt not be burnt, neither shall the flame kindle vpon thee.

3 For I am the Lord thy God, the holy one of Israel, thy Sauiour: I gaue [d] Egypt for thy ransome, Ethiopia, and Seba for thee.

4 Because thou wast precious in my sight, and thou wast honourable, and I loued thee, therefore will I giue [e] man for thee, and people for thy sake.

5 Feare not, for I am with thee: I will bring thy seed from the [f] East, and gather thee from the West.

6 I will say to the North, Giue: and to the South, Keepe not backe: bring my sonnes from farre, & my daughters from the ends of the earth.

7 Euery one shall be called by my [g] Name: for I created him for my glory, formed him and made him.

8 I will bring foorth the blinde people, and they shall haue eyes, and the deafe, and they shall haue eares

9 Let all the nations be gathered [h] together, and let the people be assembled: who among them can declare this, and shew vs former things? let them bring forth their [i] witnesses, that they may be iustified; but let them [k] heare, and say, It is trueth.

10 You [l] are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my [m] seruant, whom I haue chosen: therefore yee shall know and beleeue mee, and yee shall vnderstand that I am: before mee there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me.

11 I, euen I am the Lord, and beside me there is no Sauiour.

12 I haue declared, and I haue saued, and I haue shewed, when there was no strange god among you: therefore you are my witnesses, sayeth the Lord, that I am God.

13 Yea, before the day was, I am, and there is none that can deliuer out of mine hand: I will do it, and who shall let it?

14 Thus saith the Lord your Redeemer, the holy one of Israel, For your sake I haue sent to Babel, and [n] brought it downe: they are all fugitiues, and the Caldeans cry in [o] the ships.

15 I am the Lord your holy one, the creator of Israel, your King.

16 Thus sayth the Lord which maketh a way in [p] the Sea, and a path in the mighty [q] waters.

17 When he [r] bringeth out the [s] charet and horse, the armie and the power lie together, and shall not rise, they are extinct, and quenched as towe.

18 Remember ye not the former things, neither regard the things of olde.

19 Behold, I do a new thing: now shall it come forth: shall you not know it? I will euen make a way in the [t] desert, and floods in the wildernesse.

20 The wilde [u] beasts shall honour mee, the dragons and the ostriches, because I gaue water in the desert, and floods in the wildernesse to giue drinke to my people, euen to mine elect.

21 This people haue I formed for my selfe: they shall shew forth my prayse.

22 And thou hast not [x] called vpon mee, O Iaakob, but thou hast [y] wearied me, O Israel.

23 Thou [z] hast not brought mee the sheepe of thy burnt offrings, neither hast thou honored me with thy sacrifices. I haue not caused thee to serue with an offering nor wearied thee with incense.

24 Thou boughtest me no sweet [a] sauour with money, neither hast thou made mee drunke with the fat of thy sacrifices, but thou hast made me to [b] serue with thy sinnes, and wearied me with thine iniquities.

25 I, euen I am hee that putteth away thine iniquities for mine owne sake, and will not remember thy sinnes.

26 Put me in [c] remembrance: let vs be iudged together: count thou that thou mayst be iustified.

27 Thy [d] first father hath sinned, and thy [e] teachers haue transgressed against me.

28 Therefore I haue [f] prophaned the rulers of the Sanctuary, and haue made Iaakob a curse, and Israel a reproach.

z Because they will not acknowledge this beneft of the Lord, who is ready to deliuer them, he suffereth them to be spoyled of their enemies through their owne fault and incredulitie.

a There shallbe none to succour them, or to will the enemie to restore that which hee hath spoyled.

b Meaning, Gods wrath.

a After these threatnings he promiseth deliuerance to his Church, because hee hath degenerate them, adopted them, and called them.

b When thou feelt dangers and conspiracies on all sides, remember this benefit and the loue of thy God, and it shall encourage thee.

c By Water and fire he meaneth all kind of troubles and perils.

d I turned Sancheribs power against these countries, and made them to suffer that affliction which thou shouldest haue done, and so were as the payment of thy ransome, chap. 37. 9.

e I will not spare any man, rather then thou shouldest perish, for God more esteemeth one of his faithfull, then all the wicked in the world.

f He prophecieth of their deliuerance from the captiuity of Babylon, and so of the calling of the vniuersall Church, alluding to that which is written, Deut. 30, 3.

g Meaning, that he could not be vnmindfull of them, except he would neglect his owne Name and glory.

h Signifying, that no power can resist him in doing this miraculous worke, nor all their idoles are able to doe the like, as Chap. 41, 22.

i To prooue that the things which are spoken of them, are true.

k Shewing, that the malice of the wicked hindreth them in the knowledge of the truth, because they will not heare when God speaketh by his word.

l The Prophets and people to whom I haue giuen my Law.

q When the Israelites passed through Iorden, Iosh. 3, 17.

t Meaning, that their deliuerance out of Babylon should be more famous then that from Egypt was, Ier. 23, 7. hag. 2, 10. 2 Cor. 5, 17. reuel. 21, 5. 7.

u They shall haue such abundance of all things as they returne home, euen in the drie and barren places, that the very beasts shall feele my benefits, and shall acknowledge them: much more men ought to be thankfull for the same.

x Thou hast not worshipped mee as thou oughtest to haue done.

y Because thou hast not willingly receiued that which I did command thee, thou diddest grieue me.

z Meaning, in true faith and obedience.

YEt now heare, O Iaakob my seruant, and Israel, whom I haue chosen.

2 Thus saith the Lord, that made thee, and formed [a] thee from the wombe: hee will helpe thee. Feare not, O Iaakob, my seruant, and thou righteous [b] whom I haue chosen.

e By this diuersity of speech hee meaneth one thing, that is, that the people shall be holy and receiue the true religion of God, as Psal 87.5.

f I am alwayes like my self, that is, mercifull toward my Church, and most able to maintaine it, as Chap. 41.4. and 48. 12. reuel. 1.17. and 22.13.

g And appoint them that shall deliuer the Church.

h That is, declare vnto me how I ought to proceed herein.

i God calleth the Israelites ancient, because he preferred them to all other in his eternall election.

k Meaning, their idoles.

l Reade Chap. 43. 10.

m Whatsoeuer they beitow vpon their idoles, to make them to seeme glorious.

n That is, the idolaters seeing their idoles blinde, must needs be witnesses of their owne blindnesse, and feeling that they are not able to helpe them, must confesse that they haue no power.

o Meaning, that whatsoeuer is made by the hand of man, if it be esteemed as God, is most detestable.

p Whereby appeareth their blasphemy, which call images the bookes of the laitie, seeing that they are not onely here called vnprofitable, but Chap. 41.24. abominable, and Jeremie calleth them the worke of errours. Ier. 10.15. Habakkuk, a lying teacher 2.18.

q That is, which by any way consent either to the making or worshipping. r Signifying, that the multitude shall not then saue the idolaters, when God will take vengeance, although they excuse themselues thereby among men. s He describeth the raging affection of the idolaters, which forget their owne necessities to set foorth their deuotion towards their idoles. t To place it in some Temple. u Hee setteth foorth the obstinacie and malice of the idolaters, which though they see by dayly experience that their idoles are no better then the rest of the matter whereof they are made, yet they refuse the one part, and make a god of the other, as the Papists make their cake god, and the rest of their idoles. x That is, be either maketh a table or trenchers. y The Prophet giueth here an answere to all them ỹ wonder how it is possible that any should be so blinde to commit soh abomination, saying, that God hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their hearts. † Ebr. inuisch.

e Shall he called by the name of Iaakob: and another shall subscribe with his hand vnto the Lord, and name himselfe by the name of Israel.

6 Thus saith the Lord the King of Israel and his redeemer, the Lord of hoastes, I am the first, and I am the last, and without me is there no God.

7 And who is like mee, that shall a call and shall declare it, and set b it in order before me, since I appointed the c ancient people? and what is at hand, and what things are to come? let d them shew vnto them.

8 Feare yee not, neither be afraid: haue not I told thee of olde, and haue declared it? e you are euen my witnesses, whether there be a God beside me, and that there is no God that I know not.

9 All they that make an image, are vanitie, and f their delectable things shall nothing profit: and they are their owne witnesses, g that they see not nor know: therefore they shall be confounded.

10 Who hath made a h god, or molten an image, that is i profitable for nothing?

11 Beholde, all that are of the k fellowship thereof, shall be confounded: for the workemen themselues are men: let them all be gathered together, and l stand vp, yet they shall feare, and be confounded together.

12 The smith taketh an instrument, and worketh in the coles, and fashioneth it with hammers, and worketh it with the strength of his armes; yea, he is m an hungred, and his strength faileth; he drinketh no water, and is faint.

13 The carpenter stretcheth out a line; he fashioneth it with a red threed, he plaineth it, and he puttrayeth it with the compasse, and maketh it after the figure of a man, and according to the beautie of a man, that it may remaine in n an house.

14 Hee will hew him downe cedars, and take the pine tree and the oke, and taketh courage among the trees of the foreſt; hee planteth a firre tree, and the raine doeth nourish it.

15 And man burneth thereof, for hee will take thereof, and o warme himselfe: he also kindleth it, and baketh bread, yet hee maketh a god, and worshippeth it; hee maketh it an idole, and boweth vnto it.

16 Hee burneth the halfe thereof euen in the fire, and vpon the halfe thereof hee p eateth flesh; he rosteth the roste, and is satisfied; also he warmeth himselfe and saith, Aha, I am warme, I haue beene at the fire.

17 And the residue thereof hee maketh a god, euen his idole; he boweth vnto it, and worshippeth and prayeth vnto it, and saith, Deliuer mee; for thou art my god.

18 They haue not knowen, nor vnderstood: for God hath shut their eyes that they cannot see, and their hearts, that they cannot vnderstand.

19 And none † considereth in his heart, neither is there knowledge nor vnderstanding to say, I haue burnt halfe of it, euen in the fire, and haue baked bread also vpon the coales thereof: I haue rosted flesh, and eaten it, and shall I make the residue thereof an abomination? shall I bowe to the stocke of a tree?

20 He feedeth q of ashes; a seduced heart hath deceiued him, that hee cannot deliuer his soule, nor say, Is there not a lie in my right hand?

21 r Remember these (O Iaakob and Israel) for thou art my seruant: I haue formed thee, thou art my seruant: O Israel forget me not.

22 I haue put away thy transgressions like a cloud, and thy sinnes as a mist, turne vnto mee, for I haue redeemed thee.

23 s Reioyce yee heauens; for the Lord hath done it; shout, ye lower parts of the earth; braste foorth into prayses, yee mountaines, O foreſt and euery tree therein: for the Lord hath redeemed Iaakob, and will be glorified in Israel.

24 Thus saith the Lord thy redeemer, and hee that formed thee from the wombe, I am the Lord that made all things, that spread out the heauens alone, and stretched out the earth by my selfe.

25 I destroy the t tokens of the soothsayers, and make them that coniecture, fooles, and turne the wise men backeward, and make their knowledge foolishnesse.

26 ¶ He confirmeth the word of his u seruant, and performeth the counsell of his messengers, saying to Ierusalem, Thou shalt be inhabited: and to the cities of Iudah, Yee shall be built vp, and I will repaire the decaied places thereof.

27 He saith to the x deepe, Be drie, and I will drie vp the floods.

28 He saith to y Cyrus, Thou art my shepheard, and he shall performe all my desire: saying also to Ierusalem, Thou shalt be built, and to the Temple, Thy foundation shall be surely layd.

q He is abused as one that would eate ashes, thinking to satisfie his hunger.

r Shewing that mans heart is most inclined to idolatrie, and therefore hee warneth his people by these examples, that they should not cleaue to any but to the liuing God, when they should be among the idolaters.

s He sheweth that the worke of the Lord toward his people shall be so great, that the insensible creatures shall be moued therewith.

t He armeth them against the soothsayers of Babylon, which would haue borne them in hand, that they knew by the starres, that God would not deliuer them, and that Babylon should stand.

u Of Isaiah and the rest of his Prophets, whi h did assure the Church of Gods fauour and deliuerance.

x He sheweth that Gods worke should be no lesse notable in this their deliuerance, then when hee brought them out of Egypt, therow the sea.

y To assure them of their deliuerance, hee nameth the person by whom it should be, more then an hundreth yeere before he was borne.

CHAP. XLV.

1 The deliuerance of the people by Cyrus. 9 God is iust in all his workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

THus saith the Lord vnto a Cyrus his b anoynted, whose right hand I haue holden to c subdue nations before him; therefore will I weaken the loynes of kings, and open the doores before him, and the gates shall not be shut.

2 I will go before thee, and make the d crooked straight: I will breake the brasen doores, and burst the yron barres.

3 And I will giue thee the treasures of darknesse, and the things hid in secret places, that thou mayest e know that I am the Lord which call thee by thy name, euen the God of Israel.

4 For Iaakob my seruants f sake, and Israel mine elect, I will euen call thee by thy name, and name thee, though thou hast not knowen me.

5 I am the Lord, and there is none other; there is no God besides mee: I g girded thee, though thou hast not knowen me,

6 That they may know from the rising of the sunne, and from the West, that there is none besides me. I am the Lord, and there is none other.

7 I forme the h light, and create darknesse: I a To assure the Iewes of their deliuerance against the great tentations that they should abide, he nameth the person and the meanes.

b Because Cyrus should execute the office of a deliuerer, God called him his anoynted for a time, but afterward another sort then he called Dauid.

c To guide him in the deliuerance of my people.

d I will take away all impediments and lets.

e Vnderstand Cyrus did know God to worship him aright, but he had a certaine particular knowledge as prophane men may haue of his power, and so was compelled to deliuer Gods people.

make peace, and create euill: I the Lord doe all these things.

8 Ye heauens send the dewe from above, and let the clouds drop downe [i] righteousnes: let the earth open, and let saluation and iustice growe foorth: let it bring them foorth together: I the Lord haue [k] created him.

9 [l] Woe be vnto him that striueth with his maker, the potsheard with the potsheards of the earth: shall the clay say to him that fashioneth it, What makest thou? or thy worke, [m] It hath none hands?

10 Woe vnto him that sayeth to his father, What hast thou begotten? or to his mother, What hast thou brought forth?

11 Thus saith the Lord, the onely one of Israel, and his maker, Aske me [n] of things to come concerning my sonnes, and concerning the workes of mine hands: command you me.

12 I haue made the earth, and created man vpon it: I, whose hands haue spread out the heauens, I haue euen commaunded all their [o] armie.

13 I haue raised [p] him vp in righteousnes, and I will direct all his wayes: hee shall build my citie, and he shall let go my captiues, not for [q] price nor reward, saith the Lord of hostes.

14 Thus sayeth the Lord, The labour [r] of Egypt, and the merchandise of Ethiopia, and of the Sabeans, men of stature shall come vnto thee, and they shall be [s] thine: they shall follow thee, and shall goe in chaines: they shall fall downe before thee, and make supplication vnto thee, saying, Surely God is in thee, and there is none other God besides.

15 Verely, thou O God [t] hidest thy selfe, O God, the Sauiour of Israel.

16 All they shallbe ashamed and also confounded: they shall goe to confusion together, that are the makers of images.

17 But Israel shall be saued in the Lord, with an euerlasting saluation: ye shall not be ashamed nor confounded world without end.

18 For thus sayth the Lord (that created heauen, God himselfe that formed the earth, and made it: he that prepared it, he created it not in vaine: he formed it to be [u] inhabited) I am the Lord, and there is none other.

19 I haue not spoken in secret, neither [x] in a place of darkenes in the earth: I said not in vaine vnto the seede of Iaakob, Seeke you mee: I the Lord doe speake righteousnes, and declare righteous things.

20 Assemble your selues, and come: drawe neere together, [y] yee abiect of the Gentiles: they haue no knowledge, that set vp the wood of their idole, and pray vnto a god, that cannot saue them.

21 Tell ye and bring them, and let them take counsel together, who hath declared this from the beginning, or hath told it of old? Haue not I the Lord? and there is none other God beside mee, a iust God, and a Sauiour: there is none beside me.

22 Looke vnto me, and yee shall be saued: all [z] the endes of the earth shallbe saued: for I am God, and there is none other.

23 I haue sworne by my selfe: the word is gone out of my mouth in [a] righteousnesse, and shall not returne, That euery [b] knee shall bowe vnto mee, and euery tongue shall sweare by me.

24 Surely [c] hee shall say, In the Lord haue I righteousnesse and strength: he shall come vnto him, and all that [d] prouoke him shalbe ashamed.

25 The whole seede of Israel shalbe iustified, and glorie in the Lord.

i Hee comforteth the Iewes, as if hee would say, Though when ye looke to the heauens and earth for succour, yee see nothing now but signes of Gods wrath, yet will I cause them to bring foorth most certaine tokens of your deliuerance, and of the performance of my promise: which is meant by righteousnesse.

k I haue appointed Cyrus to this vse and purpose.

l Hereby hee bridleth their impatiencie, which in aduersitie and trouble murmure against God, and will not tary his pleasure: willing that man should match with his like, and not contend against God.

m That is, it is not perfectly made.

n Instead of murmuring, humble your selues, and aske what yee will for the consolation of my children, and you shall be sure of it, as yee are of these things which are at your commandement. Some reade it with an interrogation, and make it the application of the similitude.

o That is, the starres.

p To wit, Cyrus, that I may shew by him the faithfulnesse of my promise in deliuering my people.

q Meaning, freely and without ransome, or any grieuous condition.

r These people were tributaries to the Persians, and so king Artashasthe gaue this money toward the building of the Temple, Ezra. 7.27.

s Whereas before they were thine enemies, they shall now honour thee, and thou shalt rule them: which was accomplished in the time of Christ.

t Hereby hee exhorteth the Iewes to patience, though their deliuerance be deferred for a time: shewing that they should not repent their long patience, but the wicked and idolaters shall be destroyed.

u To wit, of man, but chiefly of his Church.

x As doe the false gods, which giue vncertaine answeres.

y All yee Idolaters which though you seeme to haue neuer so much worldly dignitie, yet in Gods sight you are vile and abiect.

z He calleth the idolaters to repentance, willing them to looke vnto him with the eye of faith.

a That is, that the thing which I haue promised shall be faithfully performed.

b The knowledge of God and the true worship, ping shall be throw all the world, Rom. 14. 11. Phil. 2. 10. whereby he signifieth that wee must not onely serue God in heart, but declare the same also by outward profession.

c Meaning, the faithfull shall feele and confesse this.

d All the contemners of God.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The destruction of Babylon and of their idoles. 3 Hee calleth the Iewes to the consideration of his workes.

BEl is bowed downe: [a] Nebo is fallen; their idoles were vpon the [b] beasts, and vpon the cattel; they which did beare you, were laden with a wearie burden.

2 [c] They are bowed downe, and fallen together; for they could not rid them of the burden, and their d soule is gone into captiuitie.

3 Heare ye me, O house of Iaakob, and all that remaine of the house of Israel, which are [e] borne of mee from the wombe, and brought vp of mee from the birth.

4 Therefore vnto olde age, I the same, euen I will beare you vntill the hoare haires: I haue made you: I will also beare you, and I will carie you, [f] and I will deliuer you.

5 ¶ To whom will ye make me like, or make me equall, or [g] compare me that I should be like him?

6 They draw gold out of the bag, and weigh siluer in the balance, and hire a goldsmith to make a god of it, and they bowe downe and worship it.

7 They beare it vpon the shoulders: they carry him and set him in his place: so doth he stand, and cannot remooue from his place. Though one cry vnto him, yet can he not answere, nor deliuer him out of his tribulation.

8 Remember this, and be ashamed: bring it againe to [h] mind, O you transgressers.

9 Remember the former things of olde: for I am God, and there is none other God, and there is nothing like me.

10 Which declare the last thing from the beginning; and from of olde, the things that were not done, saying, My counsell shall stand, and I will doe whatsoeuer I will.

11 I call a [i] bird from the East, and the man of my [k] counsell from farre: as I haue spoken, so will I bring it to passe: I haue purposed it, and I will doe it.

12 Heare mee yee stubburne hearted, that are farre from [l] iustice.

13 I bring [m] neere my iustice; it shall not be farre off, and my saluation shall not tarie: for I will giue saluation in Zion, and my glorie vnto Israel.

a These were the chiefe idoles of Babylon.

b Because they were of gold and siluer, the Medes and Persians carried them away.

c The beasts that caried the idoles, fell downe vnder their burden.

d He declareth the idoles, which had neither soule nor sense.

e He sheweth the difference betweene the idoles and the true God: for they must be caried of others, but God himselfe carieth his, as Deut. 32. 11.

f Seeing I haue begotten you, I will nourish and preserue you for euer.

g The people of God, fearing their owne calamities, and the flourishing estate of the Babylonians, should be tempted to thinke that their God was not so mightie as the idoles of their enemies: therefore he describeth the originall of all the idols to make them to be abhorred of all men: shewing that the most that can be spoken in their commendation, is but to prouoke them vile, Baruch. 6. 25.

h Become wise, meaning, that all idolaters are without wit or sense, like mad men.

i That is, Cyrus, who shall come as swift as a birde, and fight against Baby'on.

k Him by whom I haue appointed to execute that, which I haue determined.

l Which by your incredulitie would let the performance of my promise.

m He sheweth that mans incredulitie cannot abolish the promise of God, Rom. 3. 3.

CHAP. XLVII.

The destruction of Babylon, and the causes wherefore.

COme downe and sit in the dust: O [a] virgine, daughter Babel, sit on the ground: there is no throne, a Which hast liued in wealth and wantonnesse, and hast not yet beene ouercome by any enemie, b Thy gouernement shall be taken from thee.

c Thou shalt be brought to moſt vile seruitude: for to turne the mill was the office of slaues.
d The things wherein she setteth her greatest pride, shallibe made vile, euen from the head to the foot.
e I will vse no humanity nor pity toward thee.
f The Israelites shall confesse that the Lord doth thus for his Churches sake.
g For very shame, and hide my selfe.
h They abused Gods iudgements, thinking that he punished the Israelites, because he would vtterly cast them off, and therefore he stead of pitying their misery, thou diddest increase it.
i So that thy punishment shallbe so great as is possible to be imagined.
k Thou diddest trioke that thine owne wisedome and policy would haue saued thee, l He derideth their vaine confidence, that put their truſt in any thing but in God, condemning alſo such vaine scienceer, which serue to no vſe, but to delude the people, and to bring them from depending onely on God.
m They shall vtterly perish & no part of them remaine.
n They shall flee euery one to that place, which hee thought by his speculations to be moſt sure: but that shall deceiue them.

b throne, O daughter of the Caldeans; for thou shalt no more be called, Tender and delicate.

2 Take the mill stones, and c grinde meale; loose thy lockes: d make bare the feete: vncouer the leg, and passe thorow the floods.

3 Thy filthines shalbe discouered, and thy shame shalbe seene: I will take vengeance, and I will not meet thee as a e man.

4 f Our redeemer, the Lord of hoaſtes is his Name, the holy One of Israel.

5 g Sit still, and get thee into darkneſſe, O daughter of the Caldeans; for thou shalt no more be called, The lady of kingdomes.

6 I was wroth with my people: I haue polluted mine inheritance, and giuen them into thine hand, thou didſt shew them no h mercy, but thou didſt lay thy very heauy yoke vpon the ancient.

7 And thou saideſt, I shalbe a lady for euer, so that thou diſt not set thy minde to these things, neither didſt thou remember ỹ latter end thereof.

8 Therefore now heare, thou that art giuen to pleasures, and dwelleſt careleſſe, She saith in her heart, I am and none els: I shall not sit as a widow, neither shall know the losse of children.

9 But these two things shall come to thee suddenly on one day, the losse of children and widowhood; they shall come vpon thee in their i perfection, for the multitude of thy diuinarions, and for the great abundance of thine inchanters.

10 For thou hast trusted in thy wickednesse; thou hast said, None seeth me. Thy k wisdome and thy knowledge, they haue causſed thee to rebel, and thou hast said in thine heart, I am, and none els.

11 Therefore shall euill come vpon thee, and thou shalt not know the morning thereof; destruction shall fall vpon thee; which thou shalt not be able to put away: destruction shall come vpon thee suddenly, or thou beware.

12 Stand now among thine inchanters, and in the multitude of thy soothsayers (with whome thou hast l wearied thy selfe from thy youth) if so be thou mayeſt haue profit, or if so be thou maieſt haue strength.

13 Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counsels: let now the astrologers, the starre gazers, and prognosticators stand vp, and saue thee from these things that shall come vpon thee.

14 Behold, they shall be as stubble: the fire shall burne them; they shall not deliuer their owne liues from the power of the flame: there shalbe no coales m to warme at, nor light to sit by.

15 Thus shall they serue thee, with whom thou hast wearied thee, euen thy merchants from thy youth; euery one shal wander to his owne n quarter: none shall saue thee.

CHAP. XLVIII.

x The hypocriſie of the Iewes is reproued. 12 The Lord alone will be worshipped. 20 Of their deliuerance out of Babylon.

HEare yee this, O house of Iaakob, which are a called by the name of Israel, and are come out of b the waters of Iudah: which sweare by the name of the Lord, and make mention of the God of Israel, but not in trueth nor in righteousneſſe.

2 For they are called of the holy citie, and stay themselues c vpon the God of Israel, whoſe Name is the Lord of hoaſtes.

3 I haue declared the former things of old, and they went out of my mouth, and I shewed them: I did them suddenly, and they came to passe.

4 Because I knew that x thou art obſtinate, and thy necke is an yron sinew, and thy brow braſe.

5 Therefore I haue declared it to thee of old: before it came to passe, I shewed it thee, leſt thou shouldeſt say, Mine idole hath done them, and my carued image, and my molten image hath commanded them.

6 Thou hast heard, behold all this, and will not yee g declare it? I haue shewed thee new things, euen now, and hid things, which thou knewest not.

7 They are created now, and not of olde, and euen before this thou heardeſt them not, leaſt thou shouldeſt say, Behold, I h knew them.

8 Yet thou heardeſt them not, neither diddeſt know them, neither yet was thine eare opened of olde; for I knew that thou wouldeſt grieuously transgreſſe: therefore haue I called thee a transgreſſour from the i wombe.

9 For my Names sake will I defer my wrath, and for my praiſe, will I refraine it from thee, k that I cut thee not off.

10 Behold, I haue fined thee, but l not as siluer: I haue m chosen thee in the fornace of affliction.

11 For mine owne sake, for mine owne sake will I doe it; for how should my Name n be polluted? o surely I will not giue my glorie vnto another.

12 Heare me, O Iaakob and Israel, my called, p I am, I am the first, and I am the last.

13 Surely mine hand hath laid the foundation of the earth, and my right hand hath spanned the heauens: when I cal them, q they ſtand vp together.

14 All you, assemble your selues, and heare: which among them hath declared these things? The Lord hath loued r him; he will do his will in Babel, and his arme shalbe against the Chaldeans.

15 I, euen I haue spoken it, and I haue called him, I haue brought him, and his way shal prosper.

16 Come neere vnto me: heare ye this: I haue not spoken it in secret from the s beginning from the time that the thing was, I was there, and now the Lord God and his Spirit hath t sent me.

17 Thus saith the Lord thy redeemer, the Holy one of Israel, I am the Lord thy God, which teach thee u to profite, and leade thee by the way that thou shouldeſt goe.

18 Oh, that thou hadſt hearkened to my commandements! then had thy prosperitie bin as the flood, and thy righteousnes as the waues of the sea.

19 Thy seed also ha I beene as the sand, and the fruite of thy body like the grauell thereof: his x name should not haue bene cut off nor destroyed before me.

20 y Goe yee out of Babel: flee yee from the Chaldeans with a voyce of ioy: tell and declare this: shew it forth to the end of the earth: say ye, The Lord hath redeemed his seruant Iaakob.

21 And they z were not thirſtie: he led them thorow the wilderneſſe; hee causſed the waters to flow out of the rocke for them; for he claue the rocke and the water gushed out.

22 There is no a peace, saith the Lord, vnto the wicked.

a He detecteth their hypocriſie which vaunted themselues to be Israelites, and were not so indeede.
b Meaning the fountaine and ſtocke.
c They make a shew as though they would haue none other God, d Hee sheweth that they could not accuse him in any thing, forasmuch as he had performed whatsoeuer he had promiſed.

e I haue done for thee more then I promiſed, that thy vnthankfulnesse and impudencie might haue beene ouercome.
f How thou shouldeſt be deliuered out of Babylon.
g Will ye not acknowledge this my benefit, and declare it vnto others?

h Shewing that mans arrogancie is the cause why God doth not declare all things at once, leaſt they ſhould attribute this knowledge to their owne wiſedome.
i From the time that I brought thee out of Egypt: for that deliuerance was as the birth of the Church.
k As it was my free mercy that I did chose thee: so is it my free mercy that must saue thee.
l For I had respect to thy weakeneſſe and infirmitie: for in siluer there is some pureneſſe, but in thee there is nothing but drosſe.
m I tooke thee out of the fornace where thou shouldeſt haue beene consumed.
n God inuyeth the saluation of his with his owne honour: for that they cannot periſh, but his glorie ſhould be diminiſhed, as Deut. 32.27.
o Reade Chap. 42.8.
p Reade Chap. 44.4.
q To obey me, and to doe whatsoeuer I commande them.
r Meaning, Cyrus, whom he had chosen to destroy Babylon.
s Since the time that I declared my selfe to your fathers.
t Thus the Prophet speaketh for himſelfe, and to assure them of these things.
u What things ſhall doe thee good; and forewarneth them the great ioy that he as easie to deliuer them, as hee did their fathers out of Egypt. a Thus hee speaketh hypocrites ſhould not abuse Gods promiſe, in whom was neither faith nor repentance, as Chap. 57.21.

x That is, the prosperous estate of Israel. y After that he had deliuered them the great ioy that ſhall come of their deliuerance. z Hee sheweth that it ſhall be as easie to deliuer them, as hee did their fathers out of Egypt.

6 Christ is the saluation of all that beleeue, and will deliuer them from the tyranny of their enemies.

HEare yee me, O yles, and hearken,yee people from farre. The Lord hath called [a] me from the wombe,and made mention of my name from my mothers belly.

2 And he hath made my mouth like a sharpe [e] sword : vnder the shadow of his hand hath he [d] hid me, and made me a chosen shaft, and hid me in his quiuer,

3 And sayd vnto me,Thou art my seruant [e] Israel, for I will be glorious in thee.

4 And I sayd , I haue laboured in vaine : I haue spent my strength in vaine and for nothing; but my iudgment is with the Lord, and my worke with my God.

5 And now sayeth the Lord that formed me from ſ wombe to be his seruant , that I may bring Iaakob againe to him (though Israel be not gathered , g yet shall I be glorious in the eyes of the Lord; and my God shalbe my strength)

6 And hee sayd, It is a small thing that thou shouldest be my seruant to raise vp the tribes of Iaakob, and to restore the desolations of Israel : I will also giue [h] thee for a light of the Gentiles, that thou mayest be my saluation vnto the end of the world.

7 Thus saith the Lord the redeemer of Israel, and his holy One , to him that is despised in soule, to a nation that is abhorred , to a [i] seruant of rulers , Kings shall see , and [k] arise, and princes shall worship , because of the Lord , that is faithfull : and the holy One of Israel , which hath chosen thee.

8 Thus sayth the Lord, [l] In an acceptable time haue I heard thee, and in a day of saluation haue I helped thee : and I will preserue thee,and will giue [m] thee for a couenant of ſ people , that thou maiest raise vp the [n] earth,and obtaine the inheritance of the desolate heritages :

9 That thou mayest say to the [o] prisoners, Goe foorth ; and to them that are in darkenesse, Shew your selues ; they shall feede in the wayes, and their [p] pastures shall be in all the tops of the hilles.

10 They shall not be hungry,neither shall they be thirsty, neither shall the heate smite them, nor the sunne; for he that hath compassion [q] on them, shall leade them; euen to the springs of water shall he driue them.

11 And I will make all my mountaines , as a way, and my paths shall be exalted.

12 Behold , these shall come from farre : and loe, these from the North and from the West,and these from the land of [r] Sinim.

13 Reioyce , O [s] heauens ; and be ioyfull , O earth ; braſt forth into prayse , O mountaines; for God hath comforted his people , and will haue mercy vpon his afflicted.

14 But Zion sayd , The Lord hath [t] forsaken me, and my Lord hath forgotten me.

15 Can a woman forget her child,and not haue compassion on the sonne of her wombe ? though they should forget, yet will I not forget thee.

16 Behold, I haue grauen thee vpon the palme of mine [u] handes : thy [x] walls are euer in my sight.

17 Thy builders make [y] haste : thy destroyers and they that make thee waste , are departed from thee.

18 Lift vp thine eyes round about and behold: all these gather themselues together and come to thee : as I liue, sayth the Lord , thou shalt surely [z] put them all vpon thee as a garment , and gird thy selfe with them like a bride.

19 For thy desolations, and thy waste places, and thy land destroyed, shall surely be now narow for them that shall dwell in it , and they that did deuoure thee, shall be farre away.

20 The children of thy barrennesse shall say againe in thine eares, The place is straite for mee: giue place to me that I may dwell.

21 Then shalt thou say in thine heart , Who hath begotten mee these , seeing I am barren and desolate, a captiue and a wanderer to and fro ? and who hath nourished them? behold , I was left alone ; whence are these ?

22 Thus sayth the Lord God , Behold , I will lift vp mine hand to the [a] Gentiles , and set vp my standart to the people, and they shall bring thy sonnes in their armes : and thy daughters shall be caried vpon their shoulders.

23 And Kings [b] shall be thy nursing fathers, and Queenes shall be thy nurses : they shall worship thee with their faces toward the earth , and licke vp the [c] dust of thy feete : and thou shalt know that I am the Lord : for they shall not be ashamed that waite for me.

24 Shall the pray be [d] taken from the mighties or the iuſt captiuity deliuered ?

25 But thus saith the Lord , [e] Euen the captinitie of the mighty shall be taken away : and the pray of the tyrant shall be deliuered : for I will contend with him that contendeth with thee , and I will saue thy children, 26 And will feede them that spoyle thee,with [f] their owne flesh , and they shall be drunken with their owne blood , as with sweete wine ; and all flesh shall know that I the Lord I am thy Sauiour and thy Redeemer, the mighti one of Iaakob.

CHAP. L.

1 The Iewes forsaken for a time. 2 Yet the power of God is not diminished. 5 Christs obedience and victory.

THus sayth the Lord , Where is that [a] bill of your mothers diuorcement , [b] whom I haue cast off ? or who is the creditour [c] to whom I sold you , Behold , for your iniquities are ye sold, and because of your transgressions is your mother forsaken.

2 [d] Wherefore came I , and there was no man ? I called , and none answered : is mine hand so [e] shortened , that it cannot helpe ? or haue I no power to deliuer ? Behold , at my rebuke I dry vp the sea ; I make the floods desert ; their fish rotteth for want of water, and dieth for thirst.

3 I cloathe the heauens with darkenesse , and make a [f] sacke their couering.

4 The Lord God hath giuen [g] mee a tongue of the learned , that I should know to minister a word in time to him that is [h] weary ; he will raise a This is spoken in the person of Christ , to assure the faithfull that these promises should come to passe : for they were all made in him, and in him should be performed.

b This is meant of the time that Christ should be manifested to the world , as Psal.2,7.
c By the sword and shaft , be signifieth the vertue and efficacie of Carists doctrine.
d God hath taken me to his protection and defence : this chiefly is meant of Christ , and may also be applied to the ministers of his word.
e By Israelis meant Christ , and all the body of the faithfull , as the members , and their head.
f Thus Christ in his members complaineth , that his labour and preaching take none effect , yet hee is contented that his doings are approoued of God.
g Though the Iewes refuse my doctrine , yet God will approone my ministery.
h To declare my Gospel to the Gentiles , Chap.42,6. Acts 13,47. Luk. 2.32
i Meaning , the Iewes , whom tyrants kept in bondage.
k The benefit of their deliuerance shall be so great, that great and small shall acknowledge it , and reuerence God for it.
l Thus he speaketh of his Church when he would shew his mercie toward it, 2.Cor.6.1.
m Meaning, Christ alone.
n Signifying , that before Christ renew the earth by his word , there is nothing but confusion and disorder.
o To them that are in the prison of sinne and death.
p Being in Christs protection, they shalbe safe against all dangers, and free from the feare of the enemies.
q Meaning, that these should be nothing in their way from Babylon that should hinder or hurt them : but this is accomplished spiritually.
r Meaning, the South countrey, to shat Christ shalldeliuer his from all the parts of the world.
s Reade Chap.44.23.
t Hee obiecteth what the faithfull might say in their long affliction , and answereth thereunto to comfort them, with a most proper similitude, and full of consolation.

u Because I would not forget thee.
x Meaning , the good order of policie,and discipline.
y I haue a continuall care to build thee vp againe , and to destroy thine enemies.
z Hee sheweth what are the ornaments of the Church : to haue many children, which are assembled by the word of God , and gouerned by his Spirit.
a He sheweth that Christ will not onely gather this great number of the Iewes , but also of the Gentiles.
b Meaning , that Kings shabe conuerted to the Gospel , and beleeue their power and authoritie for the preseruation of the Church.
c Being ioyned with the Church, they shall humble themselues to Christ their head , and giue him all honour.
d He maketh this as an obiection , as though the Caldeans were strong, and had them in iust possession.
e This is the answere to their obiection , that none is stronger then the Lord , neither hath a more iust title vnto them.
f I will cause them to destroy one another , as Iudg.7,22 2.Chron.20,22. Chap.19,2.

a Meaning , that he had not forsaken her , but through her owne occasion , as Hose.2,2.
b Which should declare that I haue put her off : meaning , they could shew none.
c Signifying , that he solde them not for any debt or pouerty , but that they solde themselues to sinnes to buy their owne lustes and pleasures.
d He came by his Prophets and ministers , but they would not beleeue e Am I not as able to helpe you , as I haue holpen you fathers of olde,when I dryed vp the red Sea,and killed the fish in the riuers, and also afterward in Iordan ?
f As I did in Egypt in token of my displeasure, Exod.10.21.
g The Prophet doth represent here the Person and charge of them that are iustly called to the ministery of Gods word.
h To him that is oppressed by affliction and misery.

me vp in the morning, in the morning he will waken mine eares to heare, i as the learned.

i As they that are taught, and made meet by him.

5 The Lord God hath opened mine eare, and I was not rebellious, neither turned I backe.

k I did not shrinke from God for any persecution or calamity whereby he sheweth that the true ministers of God can looke for none other recompense of the wicked, but after this sort, and also what is their comfort.

6 I gaue my backe vnto the k smiters, and my cheekes to the nippers: I hidde not my face from shame and spitting.

l Shewing that it is a rare thing that any should obey aright Gods true ministers, though they labour to bring them from hell to heauen.

7 For the Lord God will helpe me, therefore shall I not be confounded: therefore haue I set my face like a flint, and I know that I shall not be ashamed.

m You haue sought consolation by your owne deuises, and haue refused the light, and consolation which God hath offered: therefore ye shall remaine in sorow, and not be comforted.

8 He is neere that iustifieth me: who will contend with me? Let vs stand together: who is mine aduersary? let him come neere to me.

9 Behold, the Lord God will helpe me: who is he that can condemne me? lo, they shall waxe old as a garment: the moth shall eate them vp.

10 l Who is among you that feareth the Lord? Let him heare the voyce of his seruant: he that walketh in darkenesse and hath no light, let him trust in the name of the Lord, and stay vpon his God.

11 Behold, all you kindle m a fire, and are compassed about with sparkes: walke in the light of your fire, and in the sparkes that ye haue kindled. This shall ye haue of mine hand: ye shall lie downe in sorow.

CHAP. LI.

1 To trust in God alone by Abrahams example. 7 Not to feare men. 17 The great affliction of Ierusalem, 22 and her deliuerance.

HEare me a ye that follow after righteousnes, and yee that seeke the Lord: looke vnto the b rocke, whence you are hewen, and to the hole of the pit whence ye are digged.

2 Consider Abraham your father, and Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone, and blessed him and increased him.

3 Surely the Lord shall comfort Zion: he shall comfort all her desolations, and he shall make her desert c like Eden, and her wildernes like the garden of the Lord: ioy and gladnesse shall be found therein: praise, and the voyce of singing.

4 Hearken yee vnto me my people, and giue eare vnto me, O my people: for a d Law shall proceed from me, & I will bring forth my iudgement for the light of the people.

5 My e righteousnes is neere: my saluation goeth forth, and mine f armes shall iudge the people: the yles shall wait for me, and shall trust vnto mine arme.

6 Lift vp your eyes to the heauens, and looke vpon the earth beneath; for the g heauens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall waxe olde like a garment, and they that dwell therein, shall perish in like maner; but my saluation shall be for euer, and my righteousnes shall not be abolished.

7 Hearken vnto me ye that know righteousnesse, the people in whose heart is my Law. Feare ye not the reproach of men, neither be ye afraid of their rebukes.

8 For the moth shall eate them vp like a garment, and the worme shall eate them like woll: but my righteousnes shall be for euer, and my saluation from generation to generation.

9 Rise vp, Rise vp, and put on strength, O arme of the Lord: rise vp as h in the olde time in the generations of the world. Art not thou the same, that hath cut i Rahab, and wounded the k dragon?

10 Art not thou the same, which hath dried the Sea, euen the waters of the great deepe, making the depth of the sea a way for the redeemed to passe ouer?

11 Therefore the redeemed of the Lord shall l returne, and come with ioy vnto Zion, and euerlasting ioy shalbe vpon their head: they shall obtaine ioy and gladnes, and sorow and mourning shall flee away.

12 I, euen I am he that comfort you. Who are thou, that thou shouldest feare a mortall man, and the sonne of man, which shalbe made as grasse?

13 And forgettest the Lord thy maker, that hath spred out the heauens, and laid the foundations of the earth? and hast feared continually all the day, because of the rage of the oppressour, which is ready to destroy? Where is now the rage of the oppressour?

14 The captiue m hasteth to be loosed, and that hee should not die in the pit, nor that his bread should faile.

15 And I am the Lord thy God that diuided the sea, when his wawes roared; the Lord of hoasts is his Name.

16 And I haue put my words in thy n mouth, and haue defended thee in the shadowe of mine hand, that I may plant the o heauens, and lay the foundation of the earth, and say vnto Zion, Thou art my people.

17 Awake, awake, and stand vp, O Ierusalem, which hast drunke at the hand of the Lord the p cup of his wrath: thou hast drunken the dregs of the cup of trembling, and wrung them out.

18 There is none to guide her among all her sonnes, whom she hath brought foorth: there is none that taketh her by the hand of all the sonnes that she hath brought vp.

19 These two q things are come vnto thee: who will lament thee? desolation and destruction and famine, and the sword: by whom shall I comfort thee?

20 Thy sonnes haue fainted, and lie at the head of all the streetes as a wilde bull in a net, and are full of the wrath of the Lord, and rebuke of thy God.

21 Therefore heare now this, thou miserable and drunken, but r not with wine.

22 Thus saith thy Lord God, euen God that pleadeth the cause of his people, Behold, I haue taken out of thine hand the cup of trembling, euen the dregges of the cup of my wrath; thou shalt drinke it no more.

23 But I will put it into their hand that spoyle thee; which haue sayd to thy soule, Bow downe that we may goe ouer, and thou hast laid thy body as the ground, and as the streetes to them that went ouer.

CHAP. LII.

1 A consolation to the people of God, 7 Of the messengers thereof.

ARise, arise; put on thy strength, O Zion: put on the garments of thy beauty, O Ierusalem, the holy Citie: for henceforth there shall no a more come into thee the vncircumcised and the vncleane.

2 Shake thy selfe from the b dust, arise, and sit downe, O Ierusalem: loose the bands of thy neck, O thou captiue daughter, Zion.

3 For thus say eth the Lord, Yee were solde

a He sheweth that the true ministers of God can looke for none other recompense of the wicked, but after this sort, and also what is their comfort.

b He sheweth them in remembrance of this great benefit for their deliuerance out of Egypt, that thereby they might learne to trust in him constantly.

i Meaning, Egypt, Psal. 87. 4.

k To wit, Pharaoh. Ezek. 29. 3.

n He comforteth them by the shortnesse of their banishment: for in seuenty yeeres they were restored, and the greatest empire of the world destroyed.

n Meaning, of Esaias, and of all true ministers, who are defended by his protection.

o That all things may be restored in heauen and earth, Ephes. 1. 10.

p Thou hast beene iustly punished and sufficiently, as Chap. 40. 2. & this punishment in the elect is by measure, and according as God giueth grace to beare it: but in the reprobate it is the iust vengeance of God to driue them to an insensiblenes and madnesse, as Iere. 25. 15. 16.

q Whereof the one is outward, as of the things that come to the body, as war, and famine, and the other is inward, and apperteineth to the minde that is, to be without comfort: therefore he saith, How shall thou be comforted?

r But with trouble and feare.

a No wicked tyrant, which shall subuert Gods true religion and oppresse the conscience.

b Put off the garments of sorow and heauines, and put on the apparell of ioy and gladnesse.

for [c] nought: therefore shall ye be redeemed without money.

4 For thus sayth the Lord God, My people went d downe aforetime into Egypt to soiourne there, and Asshur [e] oppressed them without cause.

5 Now therefore what haue I heere, saith the Lord, that my people is taken away for nought; & they that rule ouer them, make them to howle, sayth the Lord? and my Name all the day continually is [f] blaspheméd?

6 Therefore my people shall know my Name: therefore they shall know in that day, that I am hee that doe speake: behold, it is I.

7 How g beautifull vpon the mountaines are the feete of him, that declareth and publisheth peace! that declareth good tidings, and publisheth saluation, saying vnto Zion, Thy God reigneth!

8 [h] The voyce of thy watchmen shall be heard; they shall lift vp their voyce, and shout together: for they shall see eye to eye, when the Lord shall bring again Zion.

9 O yee desolate places of Ierusalem, be glad and reioyce together, for the Lord hath comforted his people: he hath redeemed Ierusalem.

10 The Lord hath made i bare his holy arme in the sight of all the Gentiles, and all the ends of the earth shall see the saluation of our God.

11 [k] Depart, depart ye: goe ye out from thence, and touch no vncleane thing, go out of the mids of her, be ye cleane, that l beare the vessels of the Lord.

12 For ye shall not go out [m] with haste, nor depart by fleeing away: but the Lord will go before you, and ỹ God of Israel will gather you together.

13 Behold, my [n] seruant shall prosper: he shallbe exalted and extolled, and be very hie.

14 As many were astonied at thee (his visage was so [o] deformed of men, and his forme of the sonnes of men) so [p] shall he sprinkle many nations: the Kings shall shut their [q] mouthes at him: for that which had not bin told them, shall they see, and that which they had not heard, shall they [r] vnderstand.

4 Surely, hee hath borne our infirmities, and caried [t] our sorowes; yet wee did iudge him as plagued and smitten of God, and humbled.

5 But he was wounded for our transgressions: he was broken for our iniquities: the [u] chastisement of our peace was vpon him, and with his stripes are we healed.

6 All we like sheep haue gone astray: we haue turned euery one to his owne way, and the Lord hath laid vpon him the [i] iniquity of vs all.

7 Hee was oppressed, and hee was afflicted, yet did he not [k] open his mouth: hee is brought as a sheepe to the slaughter, and as a sheepe before her shearer is dumbe, so hee opened not his mouth.

8 Hee was taken out from [l] prison, and from iudgement: [m] and who shall declare his age? for he was cut out of the land of the liuing: for the transgression of my people was he plagued.

9 [n] And he made his graue with the wicked, and with the rich in his death, though hee had done no wickednes, neither was any deceit in his mouth.

10 Yet the Lord would breake him and make him subiect to infirmities: when [o] he shal make his soule an offering for sinne, he shall see his seed and shall prolong his dayes, and the will of the Lord shall prosper in his hand.

11 Hee shall see of the [p] trauell of his soule, and shalbe satisfied, by his knowledge shall my [q] righteous seruant iustifie many: for he shall beare their iniquities.

12 Therefore will I giue him a portion with the great, and hee shall diuide the spoyle with the strong, because [r] he hath powred out his soule vnto death; and he was counted with the transgressours, and he bare the sinne [s] of many, and prayed for the trespassers.

a The Prophet sheweth that very few shall receiue this their preaching of Christ, and of their deliuerance by him, Iohn 12.38. rom. 10. 16.

b Meaning, that none can beleeue, but whose hearts God toucheth with the vertue of his holy Spirit.

c The Babylonians paid nothing to me for you: therefore I will take you againe without ransome.

d When Iaakob went thither in time of famine.

e The Egyptians might pretende some cause to oppresse my people because they went thither, and remained among them, but the Assyrians haue no title to excuse their tyranny by: and therefore will I punish them more then I did the Egyptians.

f To writ, by the wicked, which thinke that I haue no power to deliuer them.

g Signifying, that the ioy and good tidings of their deliuerance should make their affliction in the meane time more easie: but this is chiefly meant of the spirituall ioy, as Nahum. 1 15. rom. 10. 15.

h The Prophets which are thy watchmen, shall publish this thy deliuerance: this was begun vnder Zerubbabel, Ezra, and Nehemiah, but was accomplished vnder Christ.

i As ready to smite his enemies, and to deliuer his people.

k He warneth the faithfull not to pollute themselues with the superstitions of the Babylonians, as Chap. 48. 20. 2. Cor. 6. 17. l For the time is at hand that the Priests and Leuites chiefly (and so ỹ rem all the people, which shalbe as the Leuites in this office) shall cary home the vessels of the Temple which Nebuchad-nezzar had taken away. m As your fathers did out of Egypt. n Meaning Christ, by whom our spirituall deliuerance should be wrought, whereof this was a figure. o In the corrupt iudgement of man, Christ in his person was not esteemed. p He shall spread his word through many nations. q In signe of reuerence, and as being astonished at his excellency. r By the preaching of the Gospel.

f That is, the punishment due to our sinnes: for the which he hath both suffered and made satisfaction, Mat. 8. 17. 1. pet. 2. 24.

g We iudged euill, thinking that he was punished for his owne sinnes, and not for ours.

h He was chastised for our reconciliation, 2. Cor. 5. 21.

i Meaning, the punishment of our iniquity, and not the fault it selfe.

k But willingly and patiently obeyed his fathers appointement, Mat. 26. 63. acts 8. 32.

l From the cresse and graue, after that he was condemned.

m Though he died for sinne, yet after his resurrection he shall liue for euer: and this his death is to restore life to his members, Rom. 6. 9.

n God the Father deliuered him into the hands of the wicked, and to the powers of the world to do with him what they would.

o Christ by offring vp himselfe shall for euer. p That is, the fruit and effect of his labour, which is the saluation of his Church. q Christ shal iustifie by faith through his word, whereas Moses could not iustifie by the law. r Because he humbled himselfe, therefore he shalbe extolled to glory. Phi. 2. 7 8. &c. to vers. 11. s That is, of all that beleeue in him.

CHAP. LIV.

1 Moe of the Gentiles shall beleeue the Gospel then of the Iewes. 7 God leaueth his for a time, to whom afterward hee sheweth mercy.

REioyce, O [a] barren that diddest not beare: breake forth into ioy and reioyce, thou that diddest not trauaile with child; for the [b] desolate hath moe children then the married wife, sayth the Lord.

2 [c] Enlarge the place of thy tents, and let them spread out the curtains of thine habitations: spare not: stretch out thy cords, and make fast thy stakes.

3 For thou shalt increase on the right hand and on the left, and thy seed shall possesse the Gentiles, and dwell in the desolate cities.

4 Feare not: for thou shalt not be ashamed, neither shalt thou be confounded: for thou shalt not be put to shame: yea, thou shalt forget the shame of thy d youth, and shalt not remember the reproach of thy [e] widowhood any more.

5 For hee that [f] made thee, is thine husband, (whose name is the Lord of hoastes) and thy redeemer the holy One of Israel, shall be called the g His glory shall shine through the whole World, which seemed before to be shut vp in Iudea.

God of the whole g world.

6 For the Lord hath called thee, being as a woman forsaken, and afflicted in spirit, and as a h yong wife when thou wast refused, saith thy God.

h As a wife which wast forsaken in thy youth.

7 For a little while haue I forsaken thee, but with great compassion will I gather thee.

8 For a moment in mine anger, I hid my face from thee for a little season, but with euerlasting mercie haue I had compassion on thee, saith the Lord thy redeemer.

i As sure as the promise that I made to Noah, that the waters should no more ouerflow the earth.

9 For this is vnto me as the i waters of Noah, for as I haue sworne that the waters of Noah should no more goe ouer the earth, so haue I sworne that I would not be angry with thee, nor rebuke thee.

10 For the mountaines shall remooue, and the hilles shall fall downe; but my mercie shall not depart from thee, neither shall the couenant of my peace fall away, saith the Lord, that hath compassion on thee.

11 O thou afflicted and tossed with tempest, that hast no comfort, behold, I will lay thy stones with the k carbuncle, and lay thy foundation with saphirs, k Hereby he declareth the excellent estate of the Church vnder Christ.

l Or, iasper, or pearle.

12 And I will make thy windowes of l emerauds, and thy gates shining stones, and all thy borders of pleasant stones.

13 And all thy children shalbe l taught of the Lord, and much peace shalbe to thy children.

l By the hearing of his word and inward mooning of his spirit.

14 In m righteousnesse shalt thou be established, and be farre from oppression; for thou shalt not feare it: and from feare; for it shall not come neere thee.

m In stabilitie and sureuesse, so that it shall stand for euer.

15 Behold, the enemie shall gather himselfe, but without n me: whosoeuer shall gather himselfe in thee, o against thee, shall fall.

n And therefore shall not preuaile.

o Meaning, the domesticall enemies of the Church, as are the hypocrites.

16 Behold, I haue created the p smith that bloweth the coales in the fire, and him that bringeth foorth an instrument for his worke, and I haue created the destroyer to destroy.

p Signifying hereby, that man can doe nothing, but so farre as God giueth power: for seeing that all are his creatures, he must needs gouerne and guid them.

17 But all the weapons that are made against thee, shall not prosper: and euery tongue that shall rise against thee in iudgement, thou shalt condemne. This is the heritage of the Lords seruants, and their righteousnesse is of me, saith the Lord.

CHAP. LV.

1 An exhortation to come to Christ. 8 Gods counsels are not as mans. 12 The ioy of the faithfull.

HO, euery one that a thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and ye that haue b no siluer, come, buy and eate: come, I say, buy c wine and milke without siluer and without money.

a Christ by proposing his graces and gifts to his Church, exempteth the hypocrites which are full with their imagined workes, and the Epicures, which are full with their worldly lusts, and forthirst not after these waters.

b Signifying, that Gods benefits can not be bought for money.

c By waters, wine, milke and bread, he meaneth all things necessary to the spirituall life, as these are necessary to this corporall life.

2 Wherefore doe ye lay out siluer, and not for bread? d and your labour without being satisfied? hearken diligently vnto me, and eate that which is good, and let your soule delight in e fatenesse.

d He reproueth their ingratitude, which refuse those things that God offereth willingly, and in the meane time spare neither cost nor labour to obtaine those which are nothing profitable. e You shall be fed abundantly.

3 Encline your eares, and come vnto mee: heare, and your soule shall liue, and I will make an euerlasting couenant with you, euen the f sure mercies of Dauid.

f The same couenant which through my mercie I ratified and confirmed to Dauid, that it should be eternall. 2. Sam. 7. 13. Actes 13. 34.

4 Behold, I gaue g him for a witnesse to the people, for a prince and a master vnto the people.

g Meaning Christ, of whom Dauid was a figure.

5 Behold, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, h and a nation that knew not thee, shall runne vnto thee because of the Lord thy God, and the Holy one of Israel: for he hath glorified thee.

h To with the Gentiles, which before thou didst not receiue to be thy people.

6 Seeke ye the Lord while he may i be found: call ye vpon him while he is neere.

i When he offereth himselfe by the preaching of his word.

7 Let the wicked k forsake his wayes, and the vnrighteous his owne imaginations, and returne vnto the Lord, and hee will haue mercy vpon him; and to our God, for hee is very ready to forgiue.

k Hereby he shewerth that repentance l must be ioyned with faith and how we cannot call vpon God aright, except the fruites of our faith appeare.

8 For my l thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your wayes my wayes, saith the Lord.

l Although you are not soone reconciled one to another, and iudge me by your selues, yet I am most easie to be reconciled, yea, I offer my mercies to you.

9 For as the heauens are higher then the earth, so are my wayes higer then your wayes, and my thoughts aboue your thoughts.

m If these small things haue their effect, as daily experience sheweth, much more shall my promise which I haue made and confirmed, bring to passe the things which I haue spoken for your deliuerance.

10 Surely as the raine commeth downe, and the snow from heauen, and returneth not thither but watereth the earth, and maketh it to bring forth and bud, that it may giue seed to the sower, and bread vnto him that eateth, n Reade Chap. 44. 23. and 49. 13.

11 So shall my m word be, that goeth out of my mouth: it shall not returne vnto me voyd, but it shall accomplish that which I will, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it.

o To set forth his glory.

12 Therefore ye shall goe out with ioy, and be led foorth with peace; the n mountaines and the hils shall breake foorth before you into ioy, and all the trees of the field shall clap their hands.

p Of Gods deliuerance, and that he will neuer forsake his Church.

13 For thornes there shall grow three trees, for nettles shall grow the myrthe tree, and it shall be to the Lord o for a name, and for an euerlasting p signe that shall not be taken away.

CHAP. LVI.

1 An exhortation to iudgement and iustice. 10 Against shepheards that deuoure their flocke.

THus saith the Lord, a Keepe iudgement and doe iustice, for my saluation is at hand to come, and my b righteousnes to be reuealed.

a God sheweth what he requireth of them after that he hath deliuered them: to wit, the workes of charitie whereby true faith is declared.

b Which I will declare toward you, and powre into your hearts by my Spirit.

2 Blessed is the man that doeth this, and the sonne of man which layeth hold on it; hee that keepeth the c Sabbath, and polluteth it not, and keepeth his hand from doing any euill.

c Vnder the Sabbath he comprehendeth the whole seruice of God and true religion.

3 And let not the sonne of the stranger, which d is ioyned to the Lord, speake and say, The Lord hath surely separated me from his people; neither let the Eunuch say, Behold, I am a dry tree.

d Let none thinke himselfe vnmeete to receiue the graces of the Lord: for the Lord will take away all imperfections, and will forsake none which will keepe his true religion, and beleeue in him.

4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the Eunuches that keepe my Sabbaths, and chuse the thing that pleaseth me, and take hold of my couenant,

5 Euen vnto them will I giue in mine e House and within my wals, a place, and a f name better then of the sonnes and of the daughters; I will giue them an euerlasting name, that shall not be put out.

e Meaning, in his Church.

6 Also the strangers that cleaue vnto the Lord, to serue him, and to loue the Name of the Lord, and to be his seruants; euery one that keepeth the Sabbath, and polluteth it not, and embraceth my couenant, f They shall be called after my people, and be of the same religion: yea, vnder Christ the dignitie of the faithfull shalbe greater then the Iewes were at that time.

7 Them will I bring also to mine holy mountaine, and make them ioyfull in mine House of prayer; their burnt g offerings and their sacrifices shall be accepted vpon mine altar: for mine

g Hereby he meaneth the spirituall seruice of God, to whom the faithfull offer continuall thankesgiuing, yea themselues and all that they haue, as a liuely and acceptable sacrifice.

h Not onely for the Iewes, but for all others, Matth. 21. 13.

i Meaning, the enemies of the Church, as the Babylonians, Assyrians, &c. thus he speaketh to feare the hypocrites, and to assure the faithfull that when this commeth, they may know it was told them before.

k He sheweth that this affliction shall come through the fault of the gouernours, prophets, and pastors, whose ignorance, negligence, auarice, and obstinacie prouoked Gods wrath against them.

house shall be called an house of prayer for h all people.

8 The Lord God saith, which gathereth the scattered of Israel, Yet will I gather to them those that are to be gathered to them.

9 All ye i beasts of the field, come to deuoure, euen all ye beasts of the forest.

10 Their k watchmen are all blind: they haue no knowledge: they are all dumbe dogs: they can not barke: they lie and sleepe, and delight in sleeping.

11 And these greedy dogs can neuer haue enough: and these shepheards cannot vnderstand: for they all looke to their owne way, euery one for his aduantage, and for his owne purpose.

12 Come, I will bring wine, and wee will fill our selues with strong drinke, and to l morow shalbe as this day, and much more abundant.

l We are well yet, and to morrow shall be better: therefore let vs not feare the plagues before they come: thus the wicked contemned the admonitions and exhortations which were made them in the Name of God.

CHAP. LVII.

1 God taketh away the good, that hee should not see the horrible plagues to come. 3 Of the wicked idolaters, 9 and their vaine confidence.

THe righteous perisheth, and no man considereth it in heart: and mercifull men are taken away, and no man vnderstandeth that the righteous is taken away a from the euill to come.

a From the plague that is at hand, and also because God will punish the wicked.

2 b Peace shall come: they shall rest in their beds, euery one that walketh before him.

b The soule of the righteous shalbe in ioy, and their body shall rest in the graue vnto the time of the resurrection, because they walked before the Lord.

3 But you c witches children, come hither, the seed of the adulterer and of the whore.

c He threateneth the wicked hypocrites, who vnder the pretence of the name of Gods people, derided Gods word and his promises, boasting openly that they were the children of Abraham, but: because they were not faithfull and obedient as Abraham was, he calleth them bastards, and the children of forcerers, which forsooke God, and fledde to wicked meanes for succour. d Reade Leuit. 18. 21. 2 King. 23. 10.

4 On whom haue ye iested? vpon whom haue ye gaped and thrust out your tongue? are not ye rebellious children, and a false seed?

5 Inflamed with idoles vnder euery greene tree? and sacrificing the d children in the valleys vnder the tops of the rocks?

6 Thy portion is in the smoothe stones e of the riuer; they, they are thy lot: euen to them hast thou powred a drinke offering: thou hast offered a sacrifice. Should I delight in f these?

e Meaning, euery place was polluted with their idolatry: or euery faire stone that they found, they made an idole of it.

7 Thou hast made thy g bed vpon a very hie mountaine: thou wentest vp thither, euen thither wentest thou to offer sacrifice.

f In the sacrifices which you offring before these idoles, thought you did serue God.

8 Behind the h doores also and posts hast thou set vp thy remembrance: for thou hast discouered thy selfe to another then mee, and wentest vp, and diddest i enlarge thy bed, and make a couenant betweene thee and them, and louedst their bed in euery place where thou sawest it.

g To wit, thine altars in an open place, like an impudent harlot, that careth not for the sight of her husband.

h In stead of setting vp the word of God in the open places on the posts & doores to haue it in remembrance, Deut. 6. 9. and 11. 20. thou hast set vp figures and markes of thine idolatry in euery place.

i That is, diddest increase thine idolatrie more and more.

9 Thou wentest k to the kings with oyle, and diddest increase thine oyntments, and send thy messengers farre off, and diddest humble thy selfe vnto hell.

k Thou diddest seeke the fauour of the Assyrians by gifts and presents to helpe thee against the Egyptians: and when they failed thou foughtest to the Babylonians, and more and more diddest torment thy selfe.

10 Thou weariedst thy selfe in thy manifold iourneys, yet saydest thou not, l There is no hope: thou m hast found life by thine hand, therefore l Although thou sawest all thy labors to be in vaine, yet wouldest thou neuer acknowledge thy fault, and leaue off.

m Hee derideth their vnprofitable diligence, which thought to haue made all sure, and yet were deceiued.

thou wast not grieued.

11 And whom diddest thou reuerence or feare, seeing thou hast n lied vnto me, and hast not remembred me, neither set thy mind thereon? is it not because I holde my peace, and that of long o time? therefore thou fearest not me.

n Broken promise with me.

o Meaning, that the wicked abuse Gods lenitie, and growe to further wickednesse.

12 I will declare thy righteousnesse p and thy workes, and they shall not profit thee.

p That is, thy naughtinesse, idolatries, and impieties which the wicked call Gods seruice: thus he deriseth their q hypocrisie.

13 When thou cryest, let them that thou hast gathered together, deliuer thee: but the wind r shall take them all away: vanitie shall pull them away: but he that trusteth in me shall inherite the land, and shall possesse mine holy Mountaine.

q Meaning, the Assyrians and others, whose helpe they looked for.

r God shall say to Darius and Cyrus.

14 s And he shall say, Cast vp, cast vp: prepare the way: take vp the stumbling blocks out of the way of my people.

15 For thus saith he that is hie and excellent, hee that inhabiteth the eternitie, whose Name is the Holy one, I dwell in the high and holy place: with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit to reuiue the spirit of the humble, and to giue life to them that are of a contrite heart.

16 For I will not contend for euer: neither will I be alwaies wroth, t for the spirit should faile before me: and I haue made the breath.

t I will not vse my power against fraile man, whose life is but a blast.

17 For his t wicked couetousnesse I am angry with him, and haue smitten him: I hid me, and was angry, yet hee went away, and turned after the way of his owne heart.

t That is, for the vices and faults of the people, which is meant here by couetousnesse.

18 I haue seene his waies, and will u heale him: I will leade him also, and restore comfort vnto him, and to those that lament him.

u Though they were obstinate, yet I did not withdraw my mercie from them.

19 I create the x fruit of the lips, to be peace: peace vnto them that are y farre off, and to them that are neere, saith the Lord: for I will heale him.

x That is, I frame the speach and words of my messengers which shall bring peace.

y As well to him that is in captiuitie as to him that remaineth at home.

20 But the wicked are like the raging sea, that can z not rest, whose waters cast vp myre and dirt.

z Their euill conscience doth euer torment them, and neuer haue rest, Reade Chap. 28. 12.

21 There is no peace, saith my God, to the wicked.

CHAP. LVIII.

1 The office of Gods ministers. 2 The workes of the hypocrites. 6 The fast of the faithfull. 13 Of the true Sabbath.

CRie a aloude, spare not; lift vp thy voyce like a trumpet, and shew my people their transgression, and to the house of Iaakob their sinnes.

a The Lord thus speaketh to the Prophet, willing him to vse all diligence and feueritie to rebuke the hypocrites.

2 Yet they b seeke me daily, and will know my waies, euen as a nation that did righteously, and had not forsaken the statutes of their God: they aske of me the ordinances of iustice: they will draw neere vnto God, saying,

b They will seeme to worship me and haue outward holinesse.

3 c Wherefore haue we fasted, and thou seest it not? we haue punished our selues, and thou regardest it not. Beholde, in the day of your fast you will seeke d your will, and require all your debts.

c He setteth forth the malice and disdaine of the hypocrites, which grudge against God, if their workes be not accepted.

d Thus he conuinceth the hypocrisies by the second table, and by their duety toward their neighbour, that they haue neither faith nor your fasting and pray-

4 Behold, ye fast to striue and debate, and to smite with the fist of wickednesse: ye shall not fast as ye doe to day, to make your voyce to be e heard aboue.

e So long as you vse contention and oppression, yours shall not be heard,

5 Is it such a fast that I haue chosen, that a man should afflict his soule for a day, and to bow religion.

downe his head, as a bul-rush, and to lie downe in sackecloath and ashes? wilt thou call this a fasting, or an acceptable day to the Lord?

6 Is not this the fasting that I haue chosen? to loose the bands of wickednesse, to take off the heauy burdens, and to let the oppressed goe free, and that ye breake euery f yoke?

7 Is it not to deale thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poore that wander, vnto thine house? when thou seest the naked, that thou couer him, and hide not thy selfe from g thine owne flesh?

8 Then shall thy h light breake foorth as the morning, and thine health shall grow speedily: thy i righteousnes shall goe before thee, and the glory of the Lord shall embrace thee.

9 Then shall thou call, and the Lord shall answere: thou shalt cry, and he shall say, Here I am: if thou take away from the mids of thee the yoke, the putting foorth of the k finger, and wicked speaking:

10 If thou l powre out thy soule to the hungry, and refresh the troubled soule: then shall thy light spring out in the m darkenesse, and thy darknesse shallbe as the noone day.

11 And the Lord shall guide thee continually, and satisfie thy soule in drought, and make fat thy bones: and thou shalt be like a watered garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters faile not.

12 And they shall be of thee, that shall build the olde n waste places: thou shalt raise vp the foundations for many generations, and thou shalt be called the repairer of the breach, and the restorer of the paths to dwell in.

13 If thou o turne away thy foote from the Sabbath, from doing thy will on mine Holy day, and call the Sabbath a delight to consecrate it, as glorious to the Lord, and shalt honour him, not doing thine owne wayes, nor seeking thine owne will, nor speaking a vaine word, 14 Then shalt thou delight in the Lord, and I will cause thee to mount vpon the high places of the earth, and feed thee with the heritage of Iaakob thy father: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

CHAP. LIX.

1 The wicked perish through their owne iniquities. 12 The confession of sinnes. 16 God alone will preserue his Church though all men faile.

BEhold, * the Lords hand is not shortened, that it cannot saue: neither is his eare heauie, that it cannot heare.

2 But * your iniquities haue separated betweene you and your God, and your sinnes haue hid his face from you, that he will not heare.

3 For your handes are defiled with a blood, and your fingers with iniquitie: your lips haue spoken lies, and your tongue hath murmured iniquitie.

4 No man calleth for iustice: no man b contendeth for trueth: they trust in vanity, and speake vaine things: they conceiue mischiefe, and c bring forth iniquitie.

5 They hatch cockatrice d egges, and weaue the spiders e web: hee that eateth of their egges, dieth, and that which is trode vpon, breaketh out into a serpent.

6 Their webs shalbe no garment, neither shall they couer themselues with their labors: for their workes are workes of iniquities, and the worke of cruelnie is in their hands.

7 Their feete runne to euill, and they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughts are wicked thoughts: desolation and destruction is in their paths.

8 The way of peace they know not, and there is none equitie in their goings: they haue made them crooked paths: whosoeuer goeth therein, shall not know peace.

9 Therefore is f iudgement farre from vs, neither doeth g iustice come neere vnto vs: we wait for light, but lo, it is darkenesse: for brightnes, but we walke in darkenesse.

10 We grope for the wall like the h blind, and we grope as one without eyes: we stumble at the noone day as in the twilight: we are in solitary places, as dead men.

11 We roare all like i beares, and mourne like doues: wee looke for equitie, but there is none: for health, but it is farre from vs.

12 For our trespasses are many before thee, and our k sinnes testifie against vs: for our trespasses are with vs, and we know our iniquities.

13 In trespassing and lying against the Lord, and we haue departed away from our God, and haue spoken of cruelty and rebellion, conceiuing and vttering out of the heart l false matters.

14 Therefore m iudgement is turned backeward, and iustice standeth farre off: for trueth is fallen in the street, and equity cannot enter.

15 Yea, trueth faileth, and he that refraineth from euill, maketh himselfe a pray: and when the Lord saw it, it displeased him, that there was no iudgement.

16 And when hee saw that there was no man, hee wondered that none would offer himselfe: o Therefore his arme did p saue it, and his righteousnes it selfe did sustaine it.

17 For he put on righteousnesse, as an habergion, and an q helmet of saluation vpon his head, and hee put on the garments of vengeance for cloathing, and was clad with zeale as a cloke.

18 As to make recompence, as to requite the furie of the aduersaries with a recompence to his enemies: he will fully repayre the r ylands.

19 So shall they feare the Name of the Lord from the West, and his glory from the rising of the Sunne, for the enemy shall s come like a flood, but the Spirit of the Lord shall chase him away.

20 And the Redeemer shall come vnto Zion, and vnto t them that turne from iniquitie in Iaakob, saith the Lord.

21 And I will make this my Couenant with them, saith the Lord, My Spirit that is vpon thee, and my words, which I haue put in thy mouth, u shall not depart out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy seede, nor out of the mouth of the seed of thy seed, saith the Lord, from henceforth euen for euer.

CHAP. LX.

3 The Gentiles shall come to the knowledge of the Gospel. 8 They shall come to the Church in abundance. 16 They shall haue abundance though they suffer for a time.

ARise, O Ierusalem; be bright, for thy a light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen vpon thee.

2 For beholde, darkenesse shall couer the b earth, and grosse darkenesse the people; but the f That ye leaue off all your extortions.

g For in him thou seest thy selfe as in a glasse.

h That is, the prosperous estate wherewith God will blesse thee.

i The testimony of thy goodnesse shall appeare before God and man.

k Whereby is meant all maner of iniurie.

l That is, haue compassion on their miseries.

m Thine aduersities shalbe turned into prosperity.

n Signifying, that of the Iewes should come such as should build against the ruines of Ierusalem and Iudea: but chiefly this is meant of the spirituall Ierusalem, whose builders were the Apostles.

o If thou refraine thy selfe from thy wicked works.

* Num. 11 23. chap 50, 2.

* Ieyem. 5, 25.

a Reade Chap. 1, 15.

b All men winke at the iniuries and oppressions, and none go about to remedie them.

c According to their wicked deuices, they hurt their neighbours.

d Whatsoeuer commeth from them is poyson, and bringeth death.

e They are profitable to no purpose.

f That is, Gods vengeance to punish our enemies.

g Gods protection to defend vs.

h We are altogether destitute of counsell, and can finde no end of our miseries.

i We expresse our sorowes by outward signes, some more, some lesse.

k This confession is generall to the Church, to obtaine remission of sinnes, and the Prophets did not exempt themselues from the same.

l To wit, against our neighbours.

m There is neither iustice, nor vprightnesse among men.

n The wicked will destroy him.

o Meaning, to doe iustice, and to remedie the things that were so farre out of order.

p That is, his Church: or his arme did helpe it selfe, and did not seeke ayde of any other.

q Signifying, that God hath all meanes at hand to deliuer his Church and to punish their enemies.

r To wit, your enemies, which dwell in diuers places, and beyond the sea.

s He sheweth that there shalbe great affliction in the Church, but God will euer deliuer his.

t Whereby hee declareth that the true deliuerance from sinne and Satan belongeth to none, but to the children of God, whom he sustaineth.

u Because the doctrine is made profitable by the vertue of the Spirit, he joyneth the one with the other, and promiseth to giue them both to his Church for euer.

a The time of thy prosperitie and felicitie: where as speaking of Babylon, he commanded her to goe downe, Chap. 47, 1.

b Signifying, that all men are in darkenesse till God giue them the light of his Spirit, and that this light shineth to none, but to those that are in his Church.

Lord shall arise vpon thee, and his glory shall be seene vpon thee.

3 And the Gentiles shall walke in [c] thy light, and Kings at the brightnesse of thy rising vp.

4 Lift vp thine eyes round about, and behold: all [d] these are gathered, and come to thee: thy sonnes shall come from farre, and thy daughters shalbe nourished at thy side.

5 Then thou shalt see and shine: thine heart shalbe astonied [e] and enlarged, because the multitude of the sea shall be conuerted vnto thee, and the riches of the Gentiles shall come vnto thee.

6 The [f] multitude of camels shall couer thee: and the dromedaries of Midian and of Ephah: all they of Sheba shall come: they shall bring golde and incense, and shew foorth the praises of the Lord.

7 All the sheepe of [g] Kedar shall be gathered vnto thee: the rams of Nebaioth shall serue thee: they shall come vp to be accepted vpon mine [h] altar: and I will beautifie the house of my glory.

8 Who are these [i] that flie like a cloude, and as the doues to their windowes?

9 Surely the yles shall wait for mee, and the [k] ships of Tarshish, as at the beginning, that they may bring thy sonnes from farre, and their siluer and their gold with them vnto the Name of the Lord thy God, and to the Holy one of Israel, because he hath glorified thee.

10 And the sonnes of strangers shall build vp thy walles, and their [l] Kings shall minister vnto thee: for in my wrath I smote thee, but in my mercy I had compassion on thee.

11 Therefore thy gates shall be open continually: neither day nor night shall they be shut, that men may bring vnto thee the riches of the Gentiles, and that their kings may be brought.

12 For the nation and the [m] kingdome, that will not serue thee, shall perish: and those nations shalbe vtterly destroyed.

13 The [n] glory of Lebanon shall come vnto thee, the firre tree, the elme and the boxe tree together, to beautifie the place of my Sanctuary: for I will glorifie the place of my [o] feet.

14 The sonnes also of them that afflicted thee, shall come and bow vnto thee: and all they that despised thee, shall fall [p] downe at the soles of thy feete: and they shall call thee, The citie of the Lord Zion of the Holy one of Israel.

15 Whereas thou hast beene forsaken and hated, so that no man went by thee, I will make thee an eternall glory, and a ioy from generation to generation.

16 Thou shalt also sucke the milke of the Gentiles, and shalt sucke the [q] breasts of Kings: and thou shalt know, that I the Lord am thy Sauiour, and thy Redeemer, the mightie one of Iaakob.

17 For brasse will I bring gold, and for yron will I bring siluer, and for wood brasse, and for stones yron. I will also make thy gouernement [r] peace, and thine exactours righteousnesse.

18 Violence shall no more be heard of in thy land, neither desolation, nor destruction within thy borders: but thou shalt [s] call saluation, thy walles, and praise, thy gates.

19 Thou shalt haue no more Sunne to shinne by day, neither shall the brightnesse of the [t] Moone shine vnto thee: for the Lord shall be thine euerlasting light, and thy God, thy glory.

20 Thy Sunne shall neuer goe downe, neither shall thy Moone be hid: for the Lord shall be thine euerlasting light, and the dayes of thy sorow shalbe ended.

21 Thy people also shalbe all righteous: they shall possesse the land for euer, the [u] graffe of my planting shall be the worke of mine hands, that I may be glorified.

22 A little one shall become as a [x] thousand, and a small one as a strong nation: I the Lord will hasten it in due time.

CHAP. LXI.

1 He prophecieth that Christ shall be anoynted, and sent to preach. 10 The ioy of the faithfull.

THe * Spirit of the Lord God is vpon mee, therefore hath the Lord anoynted mee: he hath sent mee to preach good tidings vnto the poore, to bind vp the [b] broken hearted, to preach libertie to the [c] captiues, and to them that are bound, the opening of the prison,

2 To preach the [d] acceptable yeere of the Lord, and the day of [e] vengeance of our God, to comfort all that mourne,

3 To appoynt vnto them that mourne in Zion, and to giue vnto them beautie for [f] ashes, the oyle of ioy for mourning, the garment of gladnesse for the spirit of heauinesse, that they might be called [g] trees of righteousnes, the planting of the Lord, that he might be glorified.

4 And they shall build the old waste places, and raise vp the former desolations, and they shall repaire the cities that were desolate and waste through many [h] generations.

5 And the strangers shall [i] stand and feede your sheepe, and the sonnes of the strangers shall be your plowmen, and dressers of your vines.

6 But yee shall be named the [k] Priestes of the Lord, and men shall say vnto you, The ministers of our God: Ye shall eate the [l] riches of the Gentiles, and shalbe exalted with their glory.

7 For your shame, you shall receiue [m] double, and for confusion, [n] they shall reioyce in [o] their portion: for in their land they shall possesse the [p] double: euerlasting ioy shalbe vnto them.

8 For I the Lord loue iudgement, and hate [q] robberie for burnt offering, & I will direct their worke in trueth, and I will make an euerlasting couenant with them.

9 And [r] their seed shalbe knowen among the Gentiles, and their buddes among the people. All that see them, shall know them, that they are the seed which the Lord hath blessed.

10 [s] I will greatly reioyce in the Lord, and my soule shall be ioyfull in my God: for he hath cloathed me with the garments of saluation, and couered mee with the robe of righteousnesse: he hath decked me like a bridegrome, & as a bride tyreth her selfe with her iewels.

11 For as the earth bringeth foorth her bud, and as the garden causeth to grow that which is sowen in it: so the Lord God will cause righteousnes to grow, and praise before all the heathen.

---

e Meaning, that Iudea should be as the morning starre, and that the Gentiles should receiue light of her.

d An infinite number from all countreys, as chap. 49. 18.

e For ioy, as the heart is drawen in for sorow.

f Meaning, that euery one shall honour the Lord with that wherewith he is able: signifying, that it is no true seruing of God, except we offer our selues to serue his glory, and all that we haue.

g That is, the Arabians, that haue great abundance of cattell.

h Because the Altar was a figure of Christ, Hebr. 13. 10. he sheweth that nothing can be acceptable to him, which is not offered to him by this Altar, who was both the offering and the altar it selfe.

i Shewing, what great number shall come to the Church, and with what great diligence and zeale.

k The Gentiles shalbe now enemies, shall become friends and setters foorth of the Church.

l Meaning, Cyrus and his successors, but chiefly this is accomplished in them that serue Christ, being conuerted by his Gospel.

m He sheweth that God hath giuen all power and authority here in earth for the vse of his Church: and that they which will not serue and profite the same, shall be destroyed.

n There is no thing so excellent which shall not serue to the necessitie of the Church.

o Signifying, that Gods Maiestie is not included in the Temple, which is but the place for his feete, that we may learne to rise vp to the heauens. p To worship their head Christ, by obeying his doctrine. q Both hie and low shall be ready to helpe and succour thee. r Thy gouernours shall loue thee, and seeke thy wealth and prosperitie. s Meaning, not a temporall felicitie, but a spirituall, which is fulfilled in Christs kingdome.

t Signifying, that all worldely meanes shall cease, and that Christ shalbe all in all. as Reuel 21. 23. and 22. 5.

u The children of the Church.

x Meaning, that the Church should be miraculously multiplied.

* Luke 4. 18.

a This appertaineth to all the Prophets and ministers of God, but chiefly to Christ, of whose abundant graces euery one receiueth according as it pleaseth him to distribute.

b To them that are liuely touched with the feeling of their sinnes.

c Which are in the bondage of sinne.

d The time when it pleased God to shew his good fauour to man, which S. Paul calleth the fulnesse of time, Gal. 4. 4.

e For when God deliuereth his Church, he punisheth his enemies.

f Which was the signe of mourning.

g Trees that bring forth good fruits, as Matt. 3. 8.

h That is, for a long time.

i They shalbe ready to serue you in all your necessities.

k This is accomplished in the time of Christ, by whom all the faithfull are made Priests and Kings, 1. Pet. 2. 9. Reuel. 1. 6. and 5. 10. 1 Reuel. Chap. 6. 11. 16.

m Abundant recompence as this word is vsed. Chap. 40. 2.

n That is, the Iewes.

o To wit, of the Gentiles.

p Whereas the Gentiles had dominion ouer the Iewes in times past, now they shall haue double authoritie ouer them, and possesse twise so much.

q I will not receiue their offerings which are extortioners, deceiuers, hypocrites, or that depriue mee of my glory.

r That is of the Church.

s He sheweth what shall be the affection, when they feele this their deliuerance.

CHAP. LXII.

1 The great desire that the Prophet had for Christs comming. 6 The diligence of the Pastours to preach.

FOr Zions sake I will not [a] holde my tongue, and for Ierusalems sake I will not rest, vntill the righteousnesse thereof breake foorth as the [b] light, and saluation thereof as a burning lampe.

2 And the Gentiles shall see thy righteousnes, and all Kings thy glory: and thou shalt be called by [c] a new name, which the mouth of the Lord shall name.

3 Thou shalt also be a [d] crowne of glory in the hand of the Lord, and a royall diademe in the hand of thy God.

4 It shall no more be said vnto thee, [e] Forsaken, neither shall it be said any more to thy land, Desolate, but thou shalt be called ‖ Hephzi-bah, and thy land ‖ Beulah: for the Lord delighteth in thee, and thy land shalt haue an [f] husband.

5 For as a young man marieth a virgin, so shall thy sonnes [g] marry thee: and as a bridegrome is glad of the bride, so shall thy God reioyce ouer thee.

6 I haue set [h] watchmen vpon thy walles, O Ierusalem, which all the day and all the night continually shall not cease: ye that are mindfull of the Lord, keepe not silence,

7 And giue him no rest, till he repaire, and vntill he set vp Ierusalem the [k] praise of the world.

8 The Lord hath sworne by his right hand and by his strong arme, Surely I will no more giue thy corne to be meat for thine enemies, and surely the sonnes of the strangers shall not drinke thy wine, for the which thou hast laboured.

9 But they that haue gathered it, shall eat it, and praise the Lord, and the gatherers thereof shall drinke it in the courts of my Sanctuary.

10 [l] Goe through, goe through the gates: prepare you the way for the people: cast vp, cast vp the way, and gather out the stones, and set vp a standart for the people.

11 Beholde, the Lord hath proclaimed vnto the ends of the world, [m] tell the daughter Zion, Behold, thy Sauiour commeth: Behold, his wages is with him, and [n] his worke is before him.

12 And they shall call them, The holy people, the redeemed of the Lord, and thou shalt be named, A [o] citie sought out and not forsaken.

a The Prophet saith that he will neuer cease to declare vnto the people the good tidings of their deliuerance.
b Till they haue full deliuerance: and this the Prophet speaketh to encourage all other ministers to be feruent in setting forth of Gods mercies toward his Church.
c Thou shalt haue a more excellent fame then thou hast had hitherto.
d He shall esteeme thee as deare and precious as a king doeth his crowne.
e Thou shalt no more be contemned as a woman forsaken of her husband.
‖ Or, my delight is in her.
§ Or, married.
f That it may be replenished with children.
g Forasmuch as they confesse one faith and religion with thee, they are in the same bond of marriage with thee, and they are called the children of the Church, in asmuch as Christ maketh her plentifull so bring forth children vnto him.
h Prophets, Pastours, and Ministers.
i He exhorteth the Ministers neuer to cease to call vpon God by prayer for the deliuerance of his Church, and to teach others to doe the same.
k For the restauration whereof all the world shall praise him.
l Signifying the great number that should come to the Church, and what meanes he would prepare for the restitution of the same, as Chap. 57.14.
m Ye Prophets and Ministers shew the people of this their deliuerance: which was chiefly meant of our Sauiour by Christ, Zach. 9.9. matt. 21.5.
n He shall haue all power to bring his purpose to passe, as Chap 40.10.
o That is, one ouer whom God hath had a singular care to recouer her when she was lost, CHAP. LXIII.

1 God shall destroy his enemies for his Churches sake. 7 Gods benefits toward his Church.

WHo is this that commeth [a] from Edom, with red garments from Bozrah? hee is glorious in his apparell, and walketh in his great strength. [b] I speake in righteousnes, and am mighty to saue.

2 [c] Wherefore is thine apparell red, & thy garments like him that treadeth in the wine presse?

a This prophecie is against the Idumeans and enemies which persecuted the Church, on whom God will take vengeance, and is here set forth all bloody after that he hath destroyed them in Bozrah, the chiefe citie of the Idumeans: for these were their greatest enemies, & vnder the title of circumcision and the kindred of Abraham, claimed to themselues the chiefe religion, and hated the true worshippers, Psal. 137.7.
b God answereth them that asked this question, Who is this? &c. and saith, Yee see now performed in deed the vengeance which my Prophets threatned.
c Another question, to the which the Lord answereth.

3 I haue troden the wine-presse alone, and of all people there was none with mee: for I will tread them in mine anger, and tread them vnder foote in my wrath, and their blood shall be sprinkled vpon my garments, and I will staine all my raiment.

4 For the day of vengeance is in mine heart, and the [d] yeere of my redeemed is come.

5 And I looked, and there was none to helpe, and I wondred that there was none to vphold: therefore mine owne [e] arme helped mee, and my wrath it selfe sustained me.

6 Therefore I will tread downe the people in my wrath, and make them [f] drunken in mine indignation, and will bring downe their strength to the earth.

7 I will [g] remember the mercie of the Lord, and the prayses of the Lord, according vnto all that the Lord hath giuen vs, and for the great goodnesse toward the house of Israel, which hee hath giuen them according to his tender loue, and according to his great mercies.

8 For hee said, Surely they are my [h] people, children that will not lie: so hee was their Sauiour.

9 In all their troubles hee was [i] troubled, and the Angel [k] of his presence saued them: in his loue and in his mercie he redeemed them, and hee bare them and caried them alwayes continually.

10 But they rebelled and vexed his holy Spirit: therefore was he turned to be their enemie, and he fought against them.

11 Then he [l] remembred the old time of Moses and his people, saying, Where is hee that brought them vp out of the sea with the [m] shepheard of his sheepe? Where is hee that put his holy Spirit within [n] him?

12 He led them by the right hand of Moses with his owne glorious arme, dividing the water before them, to make himselfe an euerlasting Name.

13 Hee ledde them through the deepe, as an [o] horse in the wildernesse, that they should not stumble.

14 As the beast goeth downe into the valley, the Spirit of the Lord gaue them rest: so diddest thou leade thy people, to make thy selfe a glorious Name.

15 [p] Looke downe from heauen, and behold from the dwelling place of thine holinesse, and of thy glory. Where is thy [q] zeale & thy strength, the multitude of thy mercies, and of thy compassions? they are restrained from [r] me.

16 Doubtlesse thou art our Father: though [s] Abraham be ignorant of vs, and Israel know vs not, yet thou, O Lord, art our Father, and our redeemer: thy Name is for euer.

17 O Lord, why hast [t] thou made vs to erre from thy wayes? and hardened our heart from thy feare? Returne for thy [u] seruants sake, and for the tribes of thine inheritance.

CHAP. LXIIII.

1 The Prophet prayeth for the sinnes of the people. 6 Mans righteousnesse is like a filthy cloath.

a The Prophet continueth his prayer, desiring God to declare his loue toward his Church by miracles, and mighty power, as he did in mount Sinai.

b Meaning, the raire, haile, fire, thunder and lightnings.

c S. Paul vseth the same kinde of admiration, 1. Cor. 2. 9. marueiling at Gods great beauefite shewed to his Church, by the preaching of the Gospel.

d Thou shewedst fauour toward our fathers, when they trusted in thee, and walked after thy Commandements.

e They confidered thy great mercies.

f That is, in thy mercies, which be called the ways of the Lord.

g Thou wilt haue pitie vpon vs.

h We are iustly punished and brought into captiuitie, because we haue prouoked thee to anger, and abough we would excuse our selues, yet our righteousnes, and best vertues are before thee as vile cloutes, or (as some reade) like the menstruous clothes of a woman.

i Albeit, O Lord, thy iust iudgement thou mayest vtterly destroy vs as the potter may his pot, yet we appeale to thy mercies, whereby it hath pleased thee to adopt vs to be thy children.

OH, that thou wouldest a breake the heauens, and come downe, and that the mountaines might melt at thy presence!

2 As the melting fire burned, as the fire caused b the waters to boile, (that thou mightest declare thy Name to thine aduersaries) the people did tremble at thy presence.

3 When thou diddest terrible things, which we looked not for, thou camest downe, and the mountaines melted at thy presence.

4 For since the beginning of the world, they haue not c heard nor vnderstood with the eare, neither hath the eie seene another God beside thee, which doth so to him that waiteth for him.

5 Thou diddest meet him, d that reioyced in thee, & did iustly: they remembred thee in thy e waies: behold, thou art angry, for we haue sinned: yet in f them is continuance, and we g shall be saued.

6 But we haue all beene as an vncleane thing, and all our h righteousnes is as filthy cloutes, and we all doe fade like a leafe, and our iniquities like the winde haue taken vs away.

7 And there is none that calleth vpon thy Name, neither that stirreth vp himselfe to take hold of thee: for thou hast hid thy face from vs, and hast consumed vs because of our iniquities.

8 But now, O Lord, thou art our Father: we are the i clay, and thou art our potter, and we all are the worke of thine hands.

9 Be not angry, O Lord, k aboue measure, neither remember iniquitie for euer: Loe, we beseech thee, behold, we are all thy people.

10 l Thine holy cities lie waste: Zion is a wilderneſſe, and Ierusalem a desert.

11 The house of our Sanctuarie, and of our glory, m where our fathers praised thee, is burnt vp with fire, and all our pleasant things are wasted.

12 Wilt thou holde thy selfe still n at these things, O Lord? wilt thou holde thy peace and afflict vs aboue measure?

IEREMIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet Ieremiah borne in the citie of Anathoth in the countrey of Beniamin, was the sonne of Hilkiah, whom some thinke to be he that found out the booke of the Law, and gaue it to Iosiah. This Prophet had excellent gifts of God, and most euident reuelations of prophecie, so that by the commandement of the Lord he beganne very yong to prophecie, that is, in the thirteenth yeere of Iosiah, and continued eighteene yeere vnder the sayd King, and three moneths vnder Iehoahaz, and vnder Iehoiakim eleuen yeeres, and three moneths vnder Iehoiachin, and vnder Zedekiah eleuen yeeres, vnto the time that they were caried away into Babylon. So that this time amounteth to aboue fourtie yeere, besides the time that he prophecied after the captiuitie. In this booke hee declareth with teares, and lamentation, the destruction of Ierusalem, and the captiuitie of the people, for their idolatrie, couetousnesse, subtiltie, crueltie, excesse, rebellion, and contempt of Gods word, and for the consolation of the Church reuealeth the iust time of their deliuerance. And here chiefly are to be considered three things. First the rebellion of the wicked, which waxe more stubborne and obstinate, when the Prophets doe admonish them most plainely of their destruction. Next how the Prophets and Ministers of God ought not to be discouraged in their vocation, though they be persecuted and rigorously handled of the wicked for Gods cause. And thirdly though God shew his iust iudgement against the wicked, yet will he euer shew himselfe a preseruer of his Church, and when all meanes seeme to mans iudgement to be abolished, then will he declare himselfe victorious in preseruing his.

CHAP. I.

1 In what time Ieremiah prophecied. 6 Hee acknowledgeth his imperfection, and is strengthened of the Lord. 11 The Lord sheweth him the destruction of Ierusalem. 17 He commandeth him to preach his word without feare.

a That is, the sermons and prophecies.
b Which is thought to be he that found the booke of the Law vnder king Iosiah, 2. Kin. 22. 8.
c This was a citie about three miles distant from Ierusalem, and belonged to the Priests, the sonnes of Aaron, Iosh. 21. 18.
d This is spoken to confirme his vocation and office, forasmuch as he did not presume of himselfe to preach and prophecie, but was called thereunto by God.
e Meaning, the nephew of Iosiah: for Iehoahaz was his father, who reigned but three moneths, and therefore is not mentioned, no more is Ioachin that reigned no longer. f Of the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah, who was also called Mattaniah, and at this time the Iewes were caried away into Babylon by Nebuchad-nezzar. g The scripture vseth this manner of speech, to declare that God hath appointed his ministers to their offices before they were borne, as Isa. 49. 1. Gal. 1. 15. h For Ieremiah did not onely prophecie against the Iewes, but also against the Egyptians, Babylonians, Moabites and other nations. i Considering the great iudgements of God, which according to his threatning should come vpon the world, he was moued with a certaine compassion on the one side to pitie them that should thus perish, and on the other side by the infirmitie of mans nature, knowing how hard a thing it was to enterprise such a charge, as Isa. 6. 11. Exod. 3. 11. and 4. 1.

THe a words of Ieremiah the sonne of b Hilkiah one of the Priests that were at c Anathoth in the land of Beniamin.

2 To whom the d word of the Lord came in the dayes of Iosiah the sonne of Amon King of Iudah in the thirteenth yeere of his reigne:

3 And also in the dayes of Iehoiakim the e sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah vnto the end of the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah, the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, euen vnto the carying away of Ierusalem captiue in the fift f moneth.

4 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Before I g formed thee in the wombe, I knew thee, and before thou camest out of the wombe, I sanctified thee, and ordained thee to be a Prophet vnto the h nations.

6 Then sayd I, i Oh, Lord God, behold, I can not speake, for I am a childe.

7 But the Lord sayd vnto me, Say not, I am a childe: for thou shalt goe to all that I shall send thee, and whatsoeuer I command thee, shalt thou speake.

8 Be not afraid of their faces; for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

9 Then the Lord stretched out his hand, and k touched my mouth, and the Lord sayd vnto me, Behold, I haue put my words in thy mouth.

10 Beholde, this day haue I set thee ouer the l nations, and ouer the kingdomes, to plucke vp, and to roote out, and to destroy, and throw downe, to build, and to plant.

11 After this the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, Ieremiah, what seest thou? And I sayd, I see a m rod of an almond tree.

12 Then sayd the Lord vnto mee, Thou hast seene aright: for I will hasten my word to performe it.

13 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me the second time, saying, What seest thou? And I sayd, I see a seething n pot looking out of the North.

14 Then sayd the Lord vnto me, Out of the o North shall a plague be spread vpon all the inhabitants of the land.

15 For loe, I will call all the families of the kingdomes of the North, saith the Lord, and they shall come, and euery one shall set his throne in the entring of the gates of Ierusalem, and on all the walles thereof round about, and in all the cities of Iudah.

16 And I will declare vnto them my p iudgements touching all the wickednesse of them that haue forsaken mee, and haue burnt incense vnto other gods, and worshipped the workes of their owne hands.

17 Thou therefore trusse vp thy loynes, and arise and speake vnto them all that I commaund thee:

k Which declareth that God maketh them meete, and sufficeth them, whom he calleth to set forth his glory: giuing them all meanes necessary for the same, Exod. 4. 12. Isa. 6. 7.
l Hee sheweth what is the authoritie of Gods true ministers, which by his word haue power to beate downe whatsoeuer lifteth it selfe vp against God: and to plant and assure the humble, and such as giue themselues to the obedience of Gods word, 2. Cor. 10. 4. Hebr. 4. 12. and these are the keyes which Christ hath left to loose, and binde, Matt. 18. 18.
m He ioyneth the signe with the word, for a more ample confirmation: signifying by the rod of the Almond tree, which first budded, the battle comming of the Babylonians against the Iewes.
n Signifying, that the Caldeans, and Assyrians should be as a pot to seethe the Iewes which boiled in their pleasures and lust. o Syria and Assyria were Northward in respect of Ierusalem, which were the Caldeans dominion. p I will giue them charge and power to execute my vengeance against the idolaters which haue forsaken me for their idoles, thee;

thee: be not afraid of their faces, least I q destroy thee before them.

18 For I, behold, I this day haue made thee a defenced citie, and an r yron pillar and walles of brasse against the whole land, against the Kings of Iudah, and against the Princes thereof, against the Priests thereof, and against the people of the land.

19 For they shall fight against thee, but they shall not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, say th the Lord.

20 For of old time I haue broken thy yoke, and burst thy bonds, and thou saiddest, I will no more transgresse, but like an harlot thou runnest about vpon all hie hils, and vnder all greene trees.

21 Yet I had planted thee a noble vine, whose † plants were all naturall: how then art thou turned vnto me into the plants of a strange vine?

22 Though thou wash thee with g nitre, and take thee much sope, yet thine iniquitie is marked before me, saith the Lord God.

23 How canst thou say, I am not polluted, neither haue I h followed Baalim? behold thy wayes in the valley, and know what thou hast done: thou art like a swift i dromedarie, that runneth by his wayes.

24 And as a wilde k asse vsed to the wildernes that snuffeth vp the winde by occasion at her pleasure: who can turne her backe? all they that seeke her, will not wearie themselues, but will finde her in her l moneth.

25 Keepe thou thy foote from m barenesse, and thy throat from thirst: but thou saidst desperately, No, for I haue loued strangers, and them will I follow.

26 As the n theefe is asshamed when he is found, so is the house of Israel asshamed, they, their kings, their princes and their priests, and their prophets,

27 Saying to a tree, Thou art my o father, and to a stone, Thou hast begotten me; for they haue turned their backe vnto me, and not their face: but in the time of their trouble they will say, Arise and helpe vs.

28 But where are thy gods, that thou hast made thee? let them arise, if they can helpe thee

13 For my people haue committed two euils: they haue forsaken mee the fountaine of liuing waters, to digge them pits, euen broken pits that can holde no water.

14 Is Israel a u seruant, or is hee borne in the house? why then is he spoiled?

15 The x Lions roared vpon him and yelled, and they haue made his land waste: his cities are burnt without y an inhabitant.

16 Also the children of z Noph and Tahapanes haue a broken crine head.

17 Hast not thou procured this vnto thy selfe, because thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, when he b led thee by the way?

18 And what hast thou now to doe in the way of c Egypt? to drinke the water of Nilus? or what makest thou in the way of Assiur? to drinke the water of the d Riuer?

19 Thine owne wickednesse shall e correct thee, and thy turnings backe shall reproue thee: know therefore and behold, that it is an euill thing, and bitter, that thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, and that my feare is not in thee, saith the Lord God of hoastes.

CHAP. II.

a God rehearseth his benefits done vnto the Iewes. 5 Against the priests and false prophets. 12 The Iewes are destroyed because they forsake God.

MOreouer the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Goe and cry in the eares of Ierusalem, saying, Thus sayth the Lord, I remember thee, with the a kindnesse of thy youth and the loue of thy marriage, when thou wentest after me in the wildernesse b in a land that was not sowen.

3 Israel was as a thing c hallowed vnto the Lord, and his first fruits: all they d that eate it, shall offend: euill shall come vpon them, saith the Lord.

4 Heare ye the word of the Lord, O house of Iaakob, and all the families of the house of Israel.

5 Thus sayth the Lord, What iniquitie haue your fathers found in mee, that they are gone e farre from me, and haue walked after vanitie, and are become f vaine?

6 For they said not, Where is the Lord that brought vs vp out of the land of Egypt, that led vs through the wildernesse, through a desert, and waste land, through a drie land, and by g the shadowe of death, by a land that no man passed through, and where no man dwelt?

7 And I brought you into a plentifull countrey, to eat the fruit thereof, and the commodities of the same: but when ye entred, ye defiled h my land, and made mine heritage an abomination.

8 The Priests said not, i Where is the Lord? and they that should minister the k Law, knewe me not: the l pastours also offended against mee, and the prophets prophecied in m Baal, and went after things that did not profite.

9 Wherefore I will yet n plead with you, saith the Lord, and I will plead with your childrens children.

10 For go ye to the yles of o Chittim, and beholde, and send vnto p Kedar, and take diligent heed, and see whether there be such things.

11 Hath any nation changed their gods, which yet are no gods? but my people haue changed their q glory, for that which doeth not r profite.

12 O yee s heauens, be astonied at this: be afraid and vtterly confounded, saith the Lord.

q Which declareth that Gods vengeance is prepared against them, which dare not execute their diuety faithfully, either for feare of man, or for any other cause, 1. Cor. 9, 16.

r Signifying, on the one part, that the more that Satan and the world helpe them to stir vp, the more they will be to serue God to his glorie, whatsoeuer danger depend thereon, Isa. 50, 7. Ezek. 3, 8.

a According to that grace and fauour which I shewed thee from the beginning, when I did first chuse thee to be my people, and married thee to my selfe, Ezek. 16, 8.

b When I had deliuered thee out of Egypt.

m That is, spake vain things, and brought the people from the true worship of God to serue idoles: for by Baal, which was the chiefe idole of the Moabites, are meant all idoles.

n Signifying that hee would not as hee might, straightway condemne them, but sheweth them by euident examples their great ingratitude, that they might be ashamed and repent.

o Meaning, the Grecians and Italians.

p Vnto Arabia.

q That is, God which is their glory, and who maketh them glorious aboue all other people, reproouing the Iewes that they were lesse diligent to serue the true God, then were the idolaters to honour their vanities.

r Meaning, the idoles which were their destruction. Psal. 106, 36.

s He sheweth that the insensible creatures abhorre his vile ingratitude, and as it were tremble for feare of Gods great iudgements against the same.

t Signifying, that when men forsake Gods word, which is the fountaine of life, they forsake God himselfe, and so fall to their owne inuentions, and vaine confidence, and procure to themselues destruction, Iona. 2, 8. Zecha. 10, 1.

u Haue I ordered them like seruants and not like deare ly beloued children? Exod. 4, 22. therefore it is their fault only, if the enemy spoile them.

x The Babylonians, Caldeans, and Assyrians.

y Not one shall be left to dwell there.

z That is, the Egyptians: for these were two great cities in Egypt.

h Meaning, that hypocrites denie that they worship the idoles, but that they honour God in them, and therefore they call their doings, Gods seruice.

i Hee compareth the idolaters to these beasts, because they neuer cease running to and fro: for both valleys and hils are full of their idolatry.

k He compareth the idolaters to a wilde asse: for she can neuer be tamed nor yet wearied: for as she runneth she can take her wind at euery occasion.

m Hereby he warneth them that they should not go into strange countries to seeke helpe: for they should but spend their labour, and hurt themselues, which is here meant by the bare foot and thirst. Isa. 57, 10.

n As a theefe will not acknowledge his fault, till he be taken with the deed, and ready to be punished, so they will not confesse their idolatrie, till the plagues due to the same light vpon them.

o Meaning, that idolaters spoyle God of his honour: and whereas he hath taught to call him the father of all flesh, they attribute this title to their idoles.

p Thou thoughtest that thy gods of blocks and stones could haue holpen thee, because they were many in number and present in euery place: but now lee vs see whether either their multitude, or their presence can deliuer thee from my plague, Chap. 11. 13.

q As though I did you iniurie in punishing you, seeing that your faults are so euident.

r That is, you haue killed your Prophets, that exhorted you to repentance, as Zechariah, Isaiah, &c.

s Haue I not giuen them abundance of all things?

t But vehemently in our owne power and policie.

u With strangers.

x The Prophets and the faithfull are slaine in euery corner of your countrey.

y For the Assyrians had taken away the ten tribes out of Israel, and destroyed Iudah euen vnto Ierusalem: and the Egyptians in the time of thy trouble: for according p to the number of thy cities, are thy gods, O Iudah.

29 Wherefore will q ye pleade with mee? yee all haue rebelled against me, saith the Lord.

30 I haue smitten your children in vaine, they receiued no correction: your r owne sword hath deuoured your Prophets like a destroying lyon.

31 O generation, take heed to the word of the Lord: haue I beene as a s wildernesse vnto Israel? or a land of darknesse? Wherefore saith my people then, We are lords, t wee will come no more vnto thee?

32 Can a maid forget her ornament, or a bride her attire? yet my people haue forgotten mee, dayes without number.

33 Why doest thou prepare thy way, to u seeke amitie? euen therefore will I teach thee, that thy wayes are wickednesse.

34 Also in thy x wings is found the blood of the soules of the poore innocents: I haue not found it in holes, but vpon all these places.

35 Yet thou sayest, Because I am guiltlesse, surely his wrath shall turne from me: behold, I will enter with thee into iudgement, because thou sayest, I haue not sinned.

36 Why runnest thou about so much to change thy ways? for thou shalt be confounded of Egypt, y as thou art confounded of Assiur.

37 For thou shalt go foorth from thence, and thine hands vpon z thine head, because the Lord hath reiected thy confidence, and thou shalt not prosper thereby.

slew Iosiah, and vexed the Iewes in sundry sorts. z In as 2. Sam. 13. 19.

CHAP. III.

God calleth his people vnto repentance. 14 He promiseth the restitution of his Church. 20 He reproueth Iudah and Israel, comparing them to a woman disobedient to her husband.

THey a say, If a man put away his wife, & she goe from him, and become another mans, shall hee returne againe vnto her? shall not this land b be polluted? but thou hast played the harlot with many c louers: yet d turne againe to me, saith the Lord.

2 Lift vp thine eyes vnto the high places, and behold, where thou hast not played the harlot: thou hast sit waiting for them in the waies, as the e Arabian in the wildernesse: and thou hast polluted the land with thy whoredoms, and with thy malice.

3 Therefore the showres haue beene restrained, and the f latter raine came not, and thou haddest a g whores forehead: thou wouldest not be ashamed.

4 Diddest thou not still cry h vnto me, Thou art my father, and the guide of my youth?

5 Will he keepe his anger for euer? will hee reserue it to the end? thus hast thou spoken, but thou doest euill, euen more and more.

6 The Lord said also vnto me, in the dayes of Iosiah the King, Hast thou seene what this rebell i Israel hath done? for shee hath gone vp vpon euery hie mountaine, and vnder euery greene tree, and there played the harlot.

7 And I sayd, when shee had done all this, Turne thou vnto me: but she returned not, as her rebellious sister Iudah saw.

8 When I saw, how that by all occasions rebellious Israel had played the harlot, I cast k her away, and gaue her a bill of diuorcement: yet her rebellious sister Iudah was not afrayd, but shee went also and played the harlot.

9 So that for the l lightnes of her whoredome she hath euen defiled the land: for she hath committed fornication with stones and stockes.

10 Neuertheless for all this, her rebellious sister Iudah hath not returned vnto mee with m her whole heart, but fainedly, saith the Lord.

11 And the Lord said vnto mee, The rebellious Israel hath n iustified her selfe more then the rebellious Iudah.

12 Goe and cry these words toward o the North, and say, Thou disobedient Israel, returne, sayth the Lord, and I will not let my wrath fall vpon you: for I am mercifull, sayth the Lord, and I will not alway keepe mine anger.

13 But know thine iniquitie: for thou hast rebelled against the Lord thy God, and hast p scattered thy wayes to the strange gods vnder euery greene tree, but yee would not obey my voyce, sayth the Lord.

14 O yee disobedient children, turne againe, saith the Lord, for I am your Lord, and I will take you one of a citie, and two of a tribe, and will bring you to Zion,

15 And I will giue you pastours according to mine heart, which shall feed you with knowledge and vnderstanding.

16 Moreouer, when yee be increased and multiplied in the land, in those dayes, saith the Lord, they shall say no more, The q Arke of the couenant of the Lord: for it shall come no more to minde, neither shall they remember it, neither shall they visite it, for that shall be no more done.

17 At that time they shall call Ierusalem, r The throne of the Lord, and all the nations shall be gathered vnto it, euen to the Name of the Lord in Ierusalem: and thencefoorth they shall followe no more the hardnesse of their wicked heart.

18 In those dayes the house of Iudah shall walke with the house of Israel, and they shall come together out of the land of the s North, into the land that I haue giuen for an inheritance vnto your fathers.

19 But I said, How did I take thee for children, and giue thee a pleasant land, euen the glorious heritage of the armies of the heathen, and say, Thou shalt call me, saying, My father, and shalt not turne from me?

20 But as a woman rebelleth against her t husband: so haue ye rebelled against me, O house of Israel, sayth the Lord.

21 u A voyce was heard vpon the high places, weeping, and supplications of the children of Israel: for they haue peruerted their way, and forgotten the Lord their God.

22 O ye disobedient children, returne, and I will heale your rebellions. x Behold, wee come vnto thee, for thou art the Lord our God.

23 Truely the hope of the hilles is but vaine, nor the multitude of mountaines: but in the Lord our God is the health of Israel.

24 For confusion hath deuoured our y fathers labours, from our youth, their sheepe and their bullockes, their sonnes and their daughters.

25 We lie downe in our confusion, and our shame k And gaue her into the hands of the Assyrians.

l The Ebrew word may either signifie lightnesse and wantonnesse, or noise and brute.

m Iudah fained for a time that she did returne, as vnder Iosiah and other good kings, but she was neuer truely touched, or wholly reformed, as appeared when occasion was offered by any wicked prince.

n Israel hath not declared herselfe so wicked as Iudah, which yet hath had more admonitions and examples to call thee to repentance.

o whereas the Israelites were now kept in captiuity by the Assyrians, to whom hee promiseth mercy, if they will repent.

p There was no way, which thou diddest not haunt to seeke after the idoles, and to trot a pilgrimage.

q This is to be vnderstood of the comming of Christ: for then they shall not seeke the Lord by ceremonies, and all figures shall cease.

r Meaning, the Church, where the Lord will be present to the worlds end, Matth. 28. 20.

s According as it is written, Deut. 24. 4.

b If he take such one to wife againe.

c That is, with idoles, and with them whom thou hast put thy confidence in.

d And I will not cast thee off, but receiue thee, according to my mercy.

e Which dwelleth in tents and waiteth for them that passe by to spoyle them.

f As God threatened by his Law, Deut. 28, 24.

g Thou wouldest neuer be ashamed of thine actes and repent: and this impudencie is common to idolaters, which will not giue off, though they be neuer so manifestly conuicted.

h He sheweth that the wicked in their miseries will cry vnto God and vse outward prayer as the godly doe, but because they turne not from their euill, they are not heard, Isa. 58. 3. &c.

i Meaning, the ten tribes.

z They iustifie not themselues, or say that they would follow their fathers, but condemne their wicked doings and desire shame covereth vs: z for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, we and our fathers from our youth, euen vnto this day, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord our God.

forgiuenesse of the same, as Ezra. 9. 7. Psal. 106. 6. Isa. 64. 6.

CHAP. IIII.

1 True repentance. 4 How exhorteth to the circumcision of the heart. 5 The destruction of Iudah is prophecied for the malice of their hearts. 19 The Prophet lamenteth it.

a That is, wholly, and without hypocrisie, Ioel. 2. 12. not dissembling to turne and serue God as they doe which serue him by halfes, as Hose. 7. 16.

b Thou shalt detest the name of idoles, Psal. 16. 4. and shalt with reuerence sweare by the liuing God, when thine oath may aduance Gods glory, and profite others: and here, by sweating hee meaneth the true religion of God.

c He willeth them to pluck vp the impietie and wicked affection and worldly respects out of their heart, that the true seede of Gods word may be sowen therein. Hose. 10. 12. and this is the true circumcision of the heart, Deut. 10. 16 Rom. 2. 29. col. 2. 11.

d He warneth them of the great dangers that shall come vpon them by the Caldeans, except they repent and turne to the Lord.

e He speaketh this to admonish them of the great danger when euery man shall prepare to saue himselfe, but it shall be too late, a King. 25. 4.

f Meaning, Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babylon, 2. King. 24. 1.

g That is, the false prophets, which shall prophecied peace and securitie.

h By the false prophets, which promised peace and tranquilitie: and thus thou hast punished their rebellious abhominations by causing them to hearken vnto lies which would not beleeue thy word, whereby he meaneth chaffe. i Meaning that Nebuchad nezzar should come as suddenly, as a cloud that is carried with the wind. m This is spoken in the person of all the people, who in their affliction should crie thus. n Which was a city in the vtmost border of Israel Northward toward Babylon, o Which was in the mid way betweene Dan and Ierusalem.

A Israel, if thou returne, a returne vnto mee, saith the Lord: and if thou put away thine abominations out of my sight, then shalt thou not remooue.

2 And thou shalt b sweare, The Lord liueth in trueth, in iudgement, and in righteousnesse, and the nations shall be blessed in him, and shall glorie in him.

3 For thus saith the Lord to the men of Iudah, and to Ierusalem,

4 Breake vp c your fallow ground, and sow not among the thornes: be circumcised to the Lord, and take away the foreskins of your hearts, ye men of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem, least my wrath come foorth like fire, and burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednesse of your inuentions.

5 d Declare in Iudah, and shew forth in Ierusalem, and say, Blow the trumpet in the land: cry, and gather together, and say, Assemble your selues, and let vs goe into strong cities.

6 Set vp the e standart in Zion: e prepare to flie, and stay not: for I will bring a plague from the North, and a great destruction.

7 The f lion is come vp from his den, and the destroyer of the Gentiles is departed, and gone foorth of his place to lay thy land waste, and thy cities shallbe destroyed without an inhabitant.

8 Wherefore girde you with sackcloath: lament, and howle, for the fierce wrath of the Lord is not turned backe from vs.

9 And in that day, saith the Lord, the heart of the king shall perish, and the heart of the princes and the Priests shall be astonished, and the g Prophets shall wonder.

10 Then said I, Ah, Lord God, surely thou hast h deceiued this people, and Ierusalem, saying, Ye shall haue peace, and the sword pearceth vnto the heart.

11 At that time shall it be said to this people and to Ierusalem, A dry i winde in the hie places of the wildernesse commeth toward the daughter of my people, but neither k to fanne nor to cleanse.

12 A mightie wind shall come vnto me from those places, and now will I also giue sentence vpon them.

13 Behold, hee shall come vp as the l clouds, and his charets shallbe as a tempest: his horses are lighter then eagles. m Woe vnto vs, for wee are destroyed.

14 O Ierusalem, wash thine heart from wickednesse, that thou mayest be saued: how long shall thy wicked thoughts remaine within thee?

15 For a voyce declareth from n Dan, and publisheth affliction from mount o Ephraim.

16 Make ye mention of the heathen, and publish in Ierusalem, Behold, the scoutes come from a farre countrey, and cry out against the cities of Iudah.

17 They haue compassed her about as the watchmen of the p field, because it hath prouoked me vnto wrath, saith the Lord.

18 Thy wayes and thine inuentions haue procured thee these things, such is thy wickednesse: therefore it shall be bitter, therefore it shall pierce vnto thine heart.

19 My belly, my q belly, I am pained, euen at the very heart: mine heart is troubled within me: I cannot be still: for my soule hath heard ſ sound of the trumpet, and the alarme of the battell.

20 Destruction vpon destruction is cryed, for the whole land is wasted, suddenly are my r tents destroyed, and my curtaines in a moment.

21 How long shall I see the standart, and heare the sound of the trumpet?

22 For my people is foolish, they haue not knowen me: they are foolish children, and haue none vnderstanding: t they are wise to doe euill, but to doe well they haue no knowledge.

23 I haue looked vpon the earth, and loe, it was without forme and u voide: and to the heauens, and they had no light.

24 I beheld the mountaines: and loe, they trembled, and all the hils shooke.

25 I beheld, and loe there was no man, and all the birds of the heauen were departed.

26 I beheld, and loe, the fruitfull place was a wildernesse, and all the cities thereof were broken downe at the presence of the Lord, and by his fierce wrath.

27 For thus hath the Lord sayd, The whole land shallbe desolate: yet will I u not make a full ende.

28 Therefore shall the earth mourne, and the heauens aboue shall be darkened, because I haue pronounced it: I haue thought it, and will not repent, neither will I turne backe from it.

29 The whole citie shall flee, for the noise of the horsemen and bowmen: they shall goe into thickets, and climbe vp vpon the rockes: euery citie shallbe forsaken, and not a man dwell therein.

30 And when thou shalt be destroyed, what wilt thou doe? Though thou x cloatheſt thy selfe with scarlet, though thou deckeſt thee with ornaments of golde, though thou paintest thy face with colours, yet shalt thou trimme thy selfe in vaine: for thy louers will abhorre thee and seeke thy life.

31 For I haue heard a noyse as of a woman trauailing, or as one labouring of her first child, euen the voyce of the daughter Zion that sigheth and stretcheth out her hands: y woe is me now: for my soule fainteth because of the murtherers.

CHAP. V.

1 In Iudah no righteous man is found, neither among the people nor the rulers. 15 Wherefore Iudah is destroyed of the Caldeans.

R Vnne to and fro by the streets of Ierusalem, and behold now, and know, and inquire in the open places thereof, if yee can finde a man, or if there be any that executeth iudgement, and seeketh the trueth, and I will spare a it.

2 For though they say, The b Lord liueth, yet doe they sweare falsly.

p Which keepe the fruits so straitly, that nothing can come in nor out: so should the Babylonians compasse Iudah.

q He sheweth that the true ministers are liuely touched with the calamities of the Church: so that all the parts of their body feele the griefe of their heart, albeit with zeale to Gods glory they pronounce his iudgements against the people.

r Meaning, the cities, which were as easily cast downe as a tent.

s Their wisedome and policie rend to their owne destruction, and pulled them from God.

t By these manet of speeches hee sheweth the horrible destruction that should come vpon the land, and also condemneth the obstinacie of the people, who repent not at the feare of these terrible tidings, seeing that the insensible creatures are mooued therewith, as if the order of nature should be changed, Isa. 13. 10. and 24. 23. Eze. 32. 7. Ioel. 2. 31. and 3. 15.

u But for his mercies sake, he will reserue himselfe a residue to be his Church, and to praise him in earth, Isa. 2. 9.

x Neither thy ceremonies nor ornaments of golde, though thou paintest thy face with colours, yet shalt thou trimme thy selfe in vaine: for thy louers will abhorre thee and seeke thy life.

c Doeth not thou loue vprightnesse and faithfull dealing?
d Thou hast oftentimes punished them, but all is in vaine, Isa. 9.13.

e He speaketh this to the reproach of them which should generne and teach others, and yet are farther out of the way then the simple people.
f Meaning, Nebuchad-nezzar and his armie.

g He sheweth that to sweare by my thing then by God, is to forsake him.

* Ezek.22.11.

h He commandeth the Babylonians and enemies to destroy them.
i Reade Chap.4.27.

k Because they gaue no credite to the words of his Prophets, as Isa. 28.15.
l Their words shall be of none effect, but vaine.
m They are not sent of the Lord, and therefore that which they threaten to vs, shall come vpon them.
n Meaning, Ieremiah.
o To wit, the Babylonians and Caldeans.

p Who shall kill many with their arrowes.

q Here the Lord declareth his vnspeakeable fauour toward his Church as Chap.4.27.
* Chap 16.10.
r Meaning, the Prophet Ieremiah.

3 O Lord, are not thine eyes vpon the c trueth? thou hast d striken them, but they haue not sorowed: thou hast consumed them, but they haue refused to receiue correction: they haue made their faces harder then a stone, and haue refused to returne.

4 Therefore I sayd, Surely they are poore, they are foolish, for they know not the way of the Lord, nor the iudgement of their God.

5 I will get me vnto the e great men, and will speake vnto them: for they haue knowen the way of the Lord, and the iudgement of their God: but these haue altogether broken the yoke, and burst the bonds.

6 Wherefore a flyon out of the forest shall slay them, and a wolfe of the wildernesse shall destroy them: a leopard shall watch ouer their cities: euery one that goeth out thence, shall be torne in pieces, because their trespasses are many, and their rebellions are increased.

7 How should I spare thee for this? thy children haue forsaken me, and g sworne by them that are no gods: though I fed them to the full, yet they committed adulterie, and assembled themselues by companies in the harlots houses.

8 They rose vp in the morning like fed horses for euery man* neyed after his neighbours wife.

9 Shall I not visite for these things, saith the Lord? shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

10 h Climbe vp vpon their walles, and destroy them, but make not a full end: i take away their batlements, for they are not the Lords.

11 For the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue grieuously trespassed against me, saith the Lord.

12 They haue k denied the Lord, and sayd, It is not hee, neither shall the plague come vpon vs, neither shall we see sword nor famine.

13 And the Prophets shallbe as l wind, and the word is m not in them: thus shall it come vnto them.

14 Wherefore thus sayth the Lord God of hoastes, Because yee speake such words, beholde, I will put my words into n thy mouth, like a fire, and this people shall be as wood, and it shall deuoure them.

15 Loe, I will bring a nation vpon you o from farre, O house of Israel, saith the Lord, which is a mightie nation, and an ancient nation, a nation whose language thou knowest not, neither vnderstandest what they say.

16 Whose quiuer is as an p open sepulchre: they are all very strong.

17 And they shall eate thine harueft and thy bread: they shall deuoure thy sonnes and thy daughters: they shall eate vp thy sheepe and thy bullockes: they shall eate thy vines and thy figge trees: they shall destroy with the sword thy fenced cities, wherein thou diddest trust.

18 Neuertheless, at those dayes, saith the Lord, I will not make a full end of q you.

19 And when r yee shall say, Wherefore doth the Lord our God doe these things vnto vs? then shalt r thou answere them, Like as yee haue forsaken mee and serued strange gods in your land, so shall yee serue strangers in a land that is not yours.

20 Declare this in the house of Iaakob, and publish it in Iudah, saying, 21 Heare now this, O foolish people, & † without vnderstanding which haue * eyes and see not, which haue eares and heare not.

22 Feare yee not mee, saith the Lord? or will ye not be afraid at my presence, which haue placed the sand for the* bounds of the sea by the perpetuall decree that it cannot passe it, and though the waues thereof rage, yet can they not preuaile, though they roare, yet can they not passe ouer it?

23 But this people hath an vnfaithfull and rebellious heart: they are departed and gone.

24 For they say not in their heart, Let vs now feare the Lord our God, that giueth raine both early and late in due season: he reserueth vnto vs the appointed weekes of the harueft.

25 Yet your s iniquities haue turned away these things, and your sinnes haue hindred good things from you.

26 For among my people are found wicked persons, that lay waite as hee that setteth snares: they haue made a pit, to catch men.

27 As a cage is full of birds, so are their houses full of deceit: thereby they are become great and waxen rich.

28 They are waxen fat and shining: they doe ouerpasse the deeds of the wicked: * they execute no iudgement, no not the iudgement of the fatherlesse: yet they t prosper, though they execute no iudgement for the poore.

29 Shall I not visite for these things, saith the Lord? or shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

30 An horrible and filthy thing is committed in the land.

31 The u prophets prophecie lyes, and the priests‖ receiue gifts in their hands, and my people delite therein. What will yee then doe in the end thereof?

O Yee children of a Beniamin, prepare to flee out of the middes of Ierusalem, and blow the trumpet in b Tekoa: set vp a standart vpon c Bethhaccerem: for a plague appeareth out of the North and great destruction.

2 I haue compared the daughter of Zion to d a beautifull and daintie woman.

3 The Pastors with their flockes e shall come vnto her: they shall pitch their tents round about by her, and euery one shall feed in his place.

4 f Prepare warre against her: arise, and let vs goe vp toward the South: woe vnto vs: for the day declineth, and the shadowes of the euening are stretched out.

5 Arise, and let vs goe vp by night, and destroy her palaces.

6 For thus hath the Lord of hoastes said, Hew downe wood, and cast a mount against Ierusalem: this citie must be visited; all oppression is in the midst of it.

7 As the fountaine casteth out her waters, so shee casteth out her malice; g crueltie and spoyle is continually heard in her before me, with sorow and strokes.

as a land that none inhabiteth.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, They shall gather as a vine, the residue of Israel; turne i backe thine hand as the grape gatherer into the baskets.

10 Vnto whom shall I speake, and admonish that they may heare? behold, their eares are k vncircumcised, and they cannot hearken; beholde, the word of the Lord is vnto them as a reproach; they haue no delite in it.

11 Therefore I am full of the wrath of the Lord; I am weary with holding it; l I will powre it out vpon the m children in the street, and likewise vpon the assembly of the yong men; for the husband shall euen be taken with the wife, and the aged with him that is full of dayes.

12 And their houses with their lands, and wiues also shall be turned vnto strangers, for I will stretch out mine hand vpon the inhabitants of the land, saith the Lord.

13 For from the least of them, euen vnto the greatest of them, euery one is giuen vnto couetousnes, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, they all deale falsly.

14 They haue healed also the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweet words, saying, n Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

15 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, no, neither could they haue any shame; therefore they shall fall among the † slaine; when I shall visite them, they shallbe cast downe, saith the Lord.

16 Thus saith the Lord, Stand in the wayes and behold, and aske for the o olde way, which is the good way, and walke therein, and ye shall find rest for your soules; but they sayd, We will not walke therein.

17 Also I set p watchmen ouer you, which said, Take heed to the sound of the trumpet, but they said, We will not take heed.

18 Heare therefore, ye q Gentiles, and thou Congregation know what is among them.

19 Heare, O earth, behold, I will cause a plague to come vpon this people, euen the fruit of their owne imaginations; because they haue not taken heed vnto my wordes, nor to my Law, but cast it off.

20 To what purpose bringest thou mee r incense from Sheba, and sweet calamus from a farre countrey? Your burnt offerings are not pleasant, nor your sacrifices sweete vnto me.

21 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will lay stumbling blockes before this people, and the fathers and the sonnes together shall fall vpon them: the neighbour and his friend shall perish.

22 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, a people commeth from the s North countrey, and a great nation shall arise from the sides of the earth.

23 With bow and shield shall they be weapoued: they are cruell and will haue no compassion: their voyce roareth like the sea, & they ride vpon horses well appointed, like men of warre against thee, O daughter Zion.

24 We haue heard their fame, and our hands waxe t feeble: sorow is come vpon vs, as the sorow of a woman in trauaile.

25 Goe not forth into the field, nor walke by the way: for the sword of the enemy and feare is on euery side.

26 O daughter of my people, gird thee with sackcloath, and wallow thy selfe in the ashes: make lamentation, and bitter mourning as for thine onely sonne: for the destroyer shall suddenly come vpon vs.

27 I haue set u thee for a defence and fortresse among my people, that thou mayest know and try their wayes.

28 They are all rebellious traitours, walking craftily; they are brasse and yron, they all are destroyers.

29 The x bellowes are burnt; the lead is consumed in the fire; the founder melteth in vaine; for the wicked are not taken away.

30 They shall call them reprobate siluer, because the Lord hath reiected them.

CHAP. VII.

1 Ieremiah is commanded to shew vnto the people the wordes of God, which trusteth in the outward seruice of the Temple. 13 The euils that shall come to the Iewes, for the despising of their Prophets. 21 Sacrifices doth not the Lord chiefly vequire of the Iewes, but that they should obey his word.

THe wordes that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Stand in the gate of the Lords house, and cry this word there, and say, Heare the word of the Lord, all yee of Iudah that enter in at these gates to worship the Lord.

3 Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, the God of Israel, * Amend your wayes and your workes, and I will let you dwell in this place.

4 Trust not in a lying words, saying, The Temple of the Lord, the Temple of the Lord, this is the Temple of the Lord.

5 For if you amende and redresse your wayes and your workes; if you execute iudgement betweene a man and his neighbour,

6 And oppresse not the stranger, the fatherlesse, and the widow, and shed no innocent blood in this place, neither walke after other gods to your destruction,

7 Then b will I let you dwell in this place in the land that I gaue vnto your fathers for euer and euer.

8 Behold, you trust in lying words, that cannot profit.

9 Will you steale, murder, and commit adulterie, and sweare falsly, and burne incense vnto Baal, and walke after other gods whom ye know not?

10 And come and stand before mee in this House, whereupon my Name is called, and say, We are deliuered, though wee haue done all these abominations?

11 Is this house become c a denne of theeues whereupon my Name is called before your eyes? Behold, euen I see it, saith the Lord.

12 But goe ye now vnto my place which was in Shilo, d where I set my Name at the beginning, and beholde, what I did to it for the wickednesse of my people Israel.

13 Therefore now because yee haue done all these workes, saith the Lord, (and I e rose vp early and spake vnto you: but when I spake, yee would not heare me, neither when I called, would f ye answere.)

14 Therefore will I doe vnto this house, wherevpon my Name is called, wherein also yee trust: euen vnto the place that I gaue to you, and to your fathers, as I haue done vnto Shilo.

15 And I will cast g you out of my sight, as I haue cast out all your brethren, euen the whole seed of Ephraim.

16 Therefore thou shalt not h pray for this people, neither lift vp cry or prayer for them, neither intreat me, for I will not heare thee.

17 Seest thou not what they do in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem?

18 The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead the dough to make cakes to i the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offrings vnto other gods, that they may prouoke me vnto anger.

19 Doe they prouoke me to anger, sayth the Lord, and not themselues to the confusion of their owne faces?

20 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, mine anger and my wrath shall be powred vpon this place, vpon man and vpon beast, and vpon the tree of the field, and vpon the fruit of the ground, and it shall burne and not be quenched.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Put your burnt offrings vnto your sacrifices, and eat the flesh.

22 For k I spake not vnto your fathers, nor commaunded them, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offrings and sacrifices.

23 But this thing commanded I them, saying, Obey my voyce, and I will be your God, and yee shall be my people: and walke ye in all the wayes which I haue commaunded you, that it may be well vnto you.

24 But they would not obey, nor incline their eare, but went after the counsels and the stubburnnesse of their wicked heart, and went backward and not forward.

25 Since the day that your fathers came vp out of the land of Egypt, vnto l this day, I haue euen sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, m rising vp early euery day, and sending them.

26 Yet would they not heare mee, nor encline their eare, but hardened their necke, and did worse then their fathers.

27 Therefore shalt thou speake all these words vnto them, but they n will not heare thee: thou shalt also cry vnto them, but they will not answere thee.

28 But thou shalt say vnto them, This is a nation that heareth not the voyce of the Lord their God, nor receiueth discipline: trueth is perished, and is cleane gone out of their mouth.

29 Cut off thine o haire, O Ierusalem, and cast it away, and take vp a complaint on the hie places: for the Lord hath reiected and forsaken the generation of his p wrath.

30 For the children of Iudah haue done euill in my sight, sayth the Lord: they haue set their abominations in the House, wherevpon my Name is called to pollute it.

31 And they haue built the hie place of q Topheth, which is in the valley of Ben-Hinnom to burne their sonnes and their daughters in the fire, which I r commanded them not, neither came it in mine heart.

32 Therefore behold, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that it shall no more be called Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of slaughter: for they shall bury in Topheth till there be no place.

33 And the carkeises of this people shall be meate for the foules of the heauen, and for the beasts of the earth, and none shall fray them away.

34 * Then I will cause to cease from the cities of Iudah, and from the streetes of Ierusalem the voyce of mirth, and the voyces of gladnesse, the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride: for the land shall be desolate.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of the Iewes. 4 The Lord moueth the people to amendment. 10 He reprehendeth the lying doctrine and the couetousnesse of the Prophets & Priests.

AT that time, sayth the Lord, they shall bring out the bones of the kings of Iudah, and the bones of their Princes, and the bones of the Priests, and the bones of the Prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Ierusalem out of their a graues.

2 And they shall spread them before the sunne, and the moone, and all the hoast of heauen, whom they haue loued, and whom they haue serued, and whom they haue followed, and whom they haue sought, and whom they haue worshipped: they shall not be gathered nor be buried, but shall be as doung vpon the earth.

3 And death shall be desired b rather then life of all the residue that remaineth of this wicked familie, which remaine in all the places where I haue scattered them, sayeth the Lord of hoastes.

4 Thou shalt say vnto them also, Thus sayth the Lord, Shall they c fall, and not arise? shall he turne away and not turne againe?

13 I will surely consume them, saith the Lord: there shalbe no grapes on the vine, nor figs on the figtree, and the leafe shall fade, and the things that I haue giuen them shall depart from them.

14 Way doe we stay? assemble you selues, and let vs enter into the strong cities, and let vs be quiet there: for the Lord our God hath put vs to silence, and giuen vs waters with [k] gall to drinke, because we haue sinned against the Lord.

15 * Wee looked for peace, but no good came, and for a time of health, and behold troubles.

16 The neying of his horses was heard from Dan, the whole land trembled at the noise of the neying of his strong horses: for they are come, and haue deuoured the land with all that is in it, the city, and those that dwell therein.

17 For behold, I will [m] send serpents and cockatrices among you, which will not be charmed, and they shall sting you, saith the Lord.

18 I would haue comforted my selfe against sorow, but mine heart is heauy in me.

19 Behold, the voyce of the cry of the daughter of my people for feare of them of a farre country, is not the Lord in Zion? is not her king in her: Why [o] haue they prouoked mee to anger with their grauen images, and with the vanities of a strang- god?

20 The [p] haruest is past, the Summer is ended, and we are not holpen.

21 I am [q] sore vexed for the hurt of the daughter of my people, I am heauy, and astonishment hath taken me.

22 Is there no balme [r] at Gilead? is there no Physician there? Why then is not the health of the daughter of my people recouered?

7 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord of hosts, Behold, I will [a] melt them, and trye them: for what should I else doe for the daughter of my people?

8 Their tongue * is as an arrow shot out, and speaketh deceite: one speaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in his heart he layeth wait for him.

9 Shall I not visit them for these things, saith the Lord? or shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

10 Vpon the [t] mountaines will I take vp a weeping and a lamentation, and vpon the faire places of the wildernes a mourning, because they are burnt vp, so that none can passe thorow them, neither can men heare the voyce of the flocke: both the foule of the aire, and the beast are fled away and gone.

11 And I will make Ierusalem an heape, and a den of dragons, & I will make the cities of Iudah waste without an inhabitant.

12 Who is [u] wise to vnderstand this? and to whom the mouth of the Lord hath spoken, euen he shall declare it. Why doth the land perish, and is burnt vp like a wildernesse, that none passeth thorow?

13 And the Lord saith, because they haue forsaken my Law, which I set before them, and haue not obeyed my voyce, neither walked thereafter,

14 But haue walked after the stubburnnesse of their owne heart, and after Baalims, which [l] their fathers taught them,

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will feed this people with wormewood, and giue them waters of gall [m] to drinke:

16 I will scatter them also among the heathen, whom neither they nor their fathers haue known, and I will send a sword after them, till I haue consumed them.

14 Therefore will I doe vnto this house, wherupon my Name is called, wherein also yee trust; euen vnto the place that I gaue to you, and to your fathers, as I haue done vnto Shilo.

15 And I will cast g you out of my sight, as I haue cast out all your brethren, euen the whole seed of Ephraim.

16 Therefore thou shalt not h pray for this people, neither lift vp cry or prayer for them, neither intreat me, for I will not heare thee.

17 Seest thou not what they do in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem?

18 The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead the dough to make cakes to i the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offrings vnto other gods, that they may prouoke me vnto anger.

19 Doe they prouoke me to anger, sayth the Lord, and not themselues to the confusion of their owne faces?

20 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, mine anger and my wrath shall be powred vpon this place, vpon man and vpon beast, and vpon the tree of the field, and vpon the fruit of the ground, and it shall burne and not be quenched.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Put your burnt offrings vnto your sacrifices, and eat the flesh.

22 For k I spake not vnto your fathers, nor commaunded them, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offrings and sacrifices.

23 But this thing commanded I them, saying, Obey my voyce, and I will be your God, and yee shall be my people: and walke ye in all the wayes which I haue commaunded you, that it may be well vnto you.

24 But they would not obey, nor incline their eare, but went after the counsels and the stubburnnesse of their wicked heart, and went backward and not forward.

25 Since the day that your fathers came vp out of the land of Egypt, vnto l this day, I haue euen sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, m rising vp early euery day, and sending them.

26 Yet would they not heare mee, nor encline their eare, but hardened their necke, and did worse then their fathers.

27 Therefore shalt thou speake all these words vnto them, but they n will not heare thee: thou shalt also cry vnto them, but they will not answere thee.

28 But thou shalt say vnto them, This is a nation that heareth not the voyce of the Lord their God, nor receiueth discipline: trueth is perished, and is cleane gone out of their mouth.

29 Cut off thine o haire, O Ierusalem, and cast it away, and take vp a complaint on the hie places: for the Lord hath reiected and forsaken the generation of his p wrath.

30 For the children of Iudah haue done euill in my sight, sayth the Lord: they haue set their abominations in the House, wherevpon my Name is called to pollute it.

31 And they haue built the hie place of q Topheth, which is in the valley of Ben-Hinnom to burne their sonnes and their daughters in the fire, which I r commanded them not, neither came it in mine heart.

32 Therefore behold, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that it shall no more be called Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of slaughter: for they shall bury in Topheth till there be no place.

33 And the carkeises of this people shall be meate for the soules of the heauen, and for the beasts of the earth, and none shall fray them away.

34 *Then I will cause to cease from the cities of Iudah, and from the streetes of Ierusalem the voyce of mirth, and the voyces of gladnesse, the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride: for the land shall be desolate.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of the Iewes. 4 The Lord mocketh the people to amendment. 10 He reprehendeth the lying doctrine and the couetousnesse of the Prophets & Priests.

AT that time, sayth the Lord, they shall bring out the bones of the kings of Iudah, and the bones of their Princes, and the bones of the Priests, and the bones of the Prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Ierusalem out of their a graues.

2 And they shall spread them before the sunne, and the moone, and all the hoast of heauen, whom they haue loued, and whom they haue serued, and whom they haue followed, and whom they haue sought, and whom they haue worshipped: they shall not be gathered nor be buried, but shall be as doung vpon the earth.

3 And death shall be desired b rather then life of all the residue that remaineth of this wicked familie, which remaine in all the places where I haue scattered them, sayeth the Lord of hoastes.

4 Thou shalt say vnto them also, Thus sayth the Lord, Shall they c fall, and not arise? shall he turne away and not turne againe?

5 Wherefore is this people of Ierusalem turned backe by a perpetuall rebellion? they haue themselues to deceit, and would not returne.

6 I hearkened and heard, but none spake aright: no man repented him of his wickednesse, saying, What haue I done? euery d one turned to their race, as the horse rusheth into the battell.

7 Euen the storke in the ayre knoweth her appointed times, and the turtle, and the crane and the swallow obserue the time of their comming, but my people knoweth not the e iudgement of the Lord.

8 How doe ye say, We are wise, and the Law f of the Lord is with vs? Loe, certainely in vaine made he it, the pen of the scribes is in vaine.

9 The g wise men are ashamed: they are afraid and taken: loe, they haue reiected the word of the Lord, and what wisedome is in them?

10 Therefore will I giue their wiues vnto others, and their fields to them that shall possesse them: * for euery one from the least euen vnto the greatest is giuen to coueteousnesse, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, euery one dealeth fally.

11 For they haue healed the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete wordes, saying, h Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

12 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, neither could they haue any shame: therefore shall they fall among the slaine: when I shall visit them, they shall be cast downe, sayeth the Lord.

CHAP. X.

a The constellations of the starres are not to be feared. 5 The weaknesse of idols. 6 Of the power of God. 21 Their Pastours are become brute beasties.

HEare yee the word of the Lord that he speaketh vnto you, O house of Israel.

2 Thus saith the Lord, Learne not the way of the heathen, and be not afraid for the [a] signes of heauen, though the heathen be afraid of such.

3 For the [b] customes of the people are vaine: for one cutteth a tree out of the forest (which is the worke of the hands of the carpenter) with the axe.

4 And another decketh it [c] with siluer, and with golde: they fasten it with nailes and hammers, that it fall not.

5 The idoles stand vp as the palme tree, but speake not: they are borne because they cannot go: feare them not, for they cannot doe euill, neither can they doe good.

6 There is none like vnto thee, O Lord: [d] thou art great, and thy Name is great in power.

7 Who would not feare thee, O king of nations? for to thee appertaineth the dominion: for among all the wise men of the Gentiles, and in all their kingdomes there is none like thee.

8 But altogether they dote, and are foolish: for the stocke is a [e] doctrine of vanitie.

9 Siluer plates are brought from Tarshish, and gold [f] from Vphaz, for the worke of the workeman, and the hands of the founder: the blew silke and the purple is their cloathing: all these things are made by cunning men.

10 But the Lord is the God of truth: he is the liuing God, and an euerlasting King: at his anger the earth shall tremble, and the nations cannot abide his wrath.

11 (Thus shall you say vnto them, The gods [g] that haue not made the heauens and the earth, shall perish from the earth, and from vnder these heauens.)

12 He hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisedome, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion.

13 Hee giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and hee causeth the clouds to ascend from the ends of the earth: hee turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treasures

14 Euery man is a [h] beast by his owne knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image; for his melting is but falshood, and there is no breath therein.

15 They are vanitie, and the worke of errors: in the time of their visitation they shall perish.

16 The [i] portion of Iakob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hosts is his Name.

17 [k] Gather vp thy wares out of the land, O thou that dwellest in the strong place.

18 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, at this time I will throw as with a sling the inhabitants of the land, and will trouble them, and they shall find it so.

19 Wo is me for my destruction, and my grieuous plague: but I thought, Yet it [l] is my sorow, and I will beare it.

20 [m] My Tabernacle is destroyed, and all my cords are broken: my children are gone from me, and are not: there is none to spread out my tent any more, and to set vp my curtaines.

21 For the Pastours [n] are become beasties, and haue not sought the Lord, therefore haue they none vnderstanding: and all the flockes of their pastures are scattered.

22 Behold, the noise of the bruit is come, and a great commotion out of the [o] North countrey, to make the cities of Iudah desolate, and a denne of dragons.

23 O Lord, I know that [p] the way of man is not in himselfe, neither is it in man to walke and to direct his steps.

24 O Lord, correct mee, but with [q] iudgement, not in thine anger, least thou bring me to nothing.

25 Powre out [r] thy wrath vpon the heathen that know thee not, and vpon the families that call not on thy Name: for they haue eaten vp Iaakob, and deuoured him, and consumed him, and haue made his habitation desolate.

CHAP. XI.

3 A curse of them that obey not the word of Gods couenant. 10 the people of Iudah, following the steps of their fathers, worship strange gods. 15 The Lord forbiddeth Ieremiah to pray for them.

THe word that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Heare yee the words of this couenant, and speake vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem,

3 And say thou vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel, [s] Cursed be the man that obeyeth not the words of this couenant, a God forbiddeth his people to giue credit or feare the constellations and coniunctions of starres and planets, which haue no power of themselues, but are gouerned by him, and their secret motions and influences are not knowen to man, and therefore there can be no certaine iudgement thereof, Deut. 18. 9

b Meaning, not onely in the obseruation of the starres, but their lawes and ceremonies whereby they counsime their idolatry, which is forbidden, Deut. 12. 30.

c The Prophets vse thus plainely and simply to set forth the vile absurdity of the idolaters, that men might learne to be ashamed of that whereunto their corrupt nature is most subiect, reade Isa. 44. 12.

d He teacheth the people to lift vp their eyes to God, who hath all power, and therefore ought onely to be feared: and herein he sheweth them not onely the euill that they ought to eschew, but the good which they ought to follow, Reuel. 15. 4.

e Because the people thought that to haue images, was a meane to serue God, and to bring them to the knowledge of him, he sheweth that nothing more displeaseth God, nor bringeth man into greater errors and ignorance of God, and therefore he calleth them the doctrine of vanitie, the worke of errours, verse 15. and Habak. 2. 18. calleth them the teachers of lyes contrary to that wicked opinion, that they are the bookes of the lay people. f Whereas they foun the best gold: shewing, that they thought nothing too deare for their idoles: some read Ophir. 1 King. 9. 28. g This declareth that all that hath bene in this chapter spoken of idols, was to arme the Iewes when they should be in Caldea among the idolaters, and now with one sentence hee instructeth them both how to protest their owne religion against the idolaters, and how to answere them to their shame, which should exhort them to idolatrie, and therefore he writeth this sentence in the Caldeans tongue for a memoriall, whereas all the rest of his writing is Ebreyne, h The more that man thinketh to do any thing well by his owne wisedome, and not as God instructeth him, the more doth he prooue himselfe to be a vile beast. i By these words Portion and Rod, he signifieth their inheritance, meaning, that God should be all sufficient for them: and that their felicity consisted in him alone, and therefore they ought to renounce all other helps and succours as of idols, &c. Deut. 32. 9 Psal. 16. 5.

k The Prophet willeth the Iewes to prepare themselues to this captiuity, shewing that it was now at hand that they should feele the things whereof he had told them.

l It is my iust plague, and therefore I will take it patiently: whereby he teacheth the people how to behaue themselues toward God.

will be your God,

5 That I may confirme the oathe, that I haue sworne vnto your fathers, to giue them a land, which flweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day. Then answered [b] I, and said, So be it, O Lord.

6 Then the Lord said vnto me, Crie all these words in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, saying, Heare ye the words of this couenant, and doe them.

7 For I haue protested vnto your fathers, when I brought them vp out of the land of Egypt vnto this day, [c] rising early and protesting, saying, Obey my voyce.

8 Neuerthelesse they would not obey, nor en-cline their eare: but euery one walked in the stubbornnesse of his [d] wicked heart: therefore I will bring vpon them all the [e] words of this couenant which I commanded them to doe, but they did it not.

9 And the Lord said vnto me, A [f] conspiracie is found among the men of Iudah, and among the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

10 They are turned backe to the iniquities of their forefathers, which refused to heare my wordes: and they went after other gods to serue them: thus the house of Israel and the house of Iudah haue broken my couenant, which I made with their fathers.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring a plague vpon them, which they shall not be able to escape, and though they crie vnto me, [g] I will not heare them.

12 Then shall the cities of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem go, and crie vnto the gods vnto whom they offer incense, but they shall not be able to helpe them in time of their trouble.

13 [h] For according to the number of thy cities were thy gods, O Iudah, and according to the number of the streetes of Ierusalem haue ye set vp altars of confusion, euen altars to burne incense vnto Baal.

14 Therefore thou shalt not i pray for this people, neither lift vp a cry or prayer for them: for when they cry vnto me in their trouble, I will not heare them.

15 What should my [k] beloued tarie in mine house, seeing they haue committed abomination with many? and the holy flesh [l] goeth away from thee: yet when thou doest euill, thou reio-ycest.

16 The Lord called thy name, A greene oliue tree, faire, and of goodly fruit: but with [m] noyse and great tumult he hath set fire vpon it, and the branches of it are broken.

17 For the Lord of hoastes that planted thee, hath pronounced a plague against thee, for the wickednes of the house of Israel, and of the house of Iudah, which they haue done against themselues to prouoke me to anger in offering incense vnto Baal.

18 And the Lord hath taught mee, and I know it, euen then thou shewedst me [n] their practises.

19 But I was like a lambe, or a bullocke, that is brought to the slaughter, and I knew not that they had deuised thus against mee, saying, Let vs [o] destroy the tree with the fruit thereof, and cut him out of the land of the liuing, that his name may be no more in memorie.

20 But O Lord of hoasts, that iudgest righteously, and triest the reines and the heart, let me see thy [p] vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

21 Therefore thus speaketh thus of the men of [q] Anathoth, (that seeke thy life, and say, [r] Prophecie not in the name of the Lord, that thou die not by our hands)

22 Thus therefore saith the Lord of hoasts, Behold, I will visit them: the yong men shall die by the sword: their sonnes and their daughters shall die by famine.

23 And none of them shall remaine: for I will bring a plague vpon the men of Anathoth, euen the yeere of their visitation.

Chap. 12. 1. r Not that they could not abide to heare God (for they would shew themselues most holy) but because they sharply reprooued, and therefore desired to be flattered, Isai. 30. 10. and to be maintained in their pleasures, Michah 2. 11. and not to heare vice condemned, Amos 7. 12.

CHAP. XII.

1 The Prophet maruelleth at the prosperitie of the wicked, although he confesse God to be righteous. 7 The Iewes are forsaken of the Lord. 10 He speaketh against pastors & preachers, that seduce the people. 14 The Lord threatneth destruction vnto the nations that troubled Iudah.

O Lord, if I dispute with thee, thou art [a] righteous: yet let me talke with thee of thy iudge-ments: wherefore doeth the way of the wicked [b] prosper? why are all they in wealth that rebelliously transgresse?

2 Thou hast planted them, and they haue taken roote: they grow, and bring forth fruit, thou art neere in their mouth, and farre from their [c] reines.

3 But thou, Lord, knowest me: thou hast seene me, and tried mine heart toward thee: pull them out like sheepe for the slaughter, and [d] prepare them for the day of slaughter.

4 How long shall the land mourne, and the herbes of euery fielde wither, for the wickednesse of them that dwell therein? the beasts are consumed, and the birds, because they sayd, He will not see our last ende.

5 If thou hast runne with the [e] footmen, and they haue wearied thee, then how canst thou match thy selfe with horses? and if thou though-test thy selfe safe in a peaceable land, what wilt thou doe in the swelling of Iorden?

6 For euen thy brethren and the house of thy father, euen they haue dealt vnfaithfully with thee, and they haue cried out altogether vpon thee:
but beleeue them not, though they speake faire to thee.

7 I haue forsaken [g] mine house: I haue left mine heritage: I haue giuen the dearely beloued of my soule into the hands of her enemies.

8 Mine heritage is vnto me, as a [h] lion in the forest: it crieth out against me, therefore haue I hated it.

9 Shall mine heritage be vnto mee, as a bird

[a] The Prophet confesseth God to be iust in all his doings, although man be not able to giue a reason of all his actes.
[b] This question hath beene alway a great tentation to the godly, to see the wicked enemies of God in prosperitie, and his deare children in aduersitie, as Iob. 21. 7. psalme 37. 1. and 73. 3 Habac. 1. 2.
[c] They professe God in mouth, but deny him in heart, which is here meant by the reines, Isa. 29. 13. matth. 15. 8.
[d] The Hebrewe word is, Sanctifie them, meaning, that God would be sanctified in the destruction of the wicked, to whom God for a while giueth prosperitie, that afterward they should the more feele his heauie iudgement when they lacke their riches, which were a signe of his mercie.
[e] Abusing Gods lenitie and his promises, [f] they flattered themselues as though God would euer be mercifull, and not vtterly destroy them: therefore they hardened themselues in sinne, till at length the beasts and insensible creatures felt the punishment of their stubburne rebellion against God. [f] Some thinke that God reproueth Ieremiah, in that that hee would reason with him, saying, that if he were not able to match with men, that he were farre vnable to dispute with God. Others, by the footemen, meane them of Anathoth: and by the horsemen, them of Ierusalem, which should trouble the Prophet worse then his owne contreymen did. [g] God willeth the Prophet to denounce his iudgements against Ierusalem, notwithstanding that they shall both by threatnings and flatteries, labour to put him to silence. i In stead of bearing my liuerie, and wearing onely my colours, they haue change and diuersitie of colours of their idols and superstitions: therefore their enemies, as thicke as the foules of the aire shall come about them to destroy them.

k He prophecieth of the destruction of Ierusalem, by the captaines of Nebuchad-nezzar, whom he calleth pastors.

l Because no man regardeth my word, or the plagues that I haue sent vpon the land.

m To wit, the Prophets.

n They lamented the sinnes of the people.

o For in stead of amendment, you grew worse and worse, as Gods plagues testified.

p Meaning, the wicked enemies of his Church, which blasphemed his Name, and whom he would punish after that he hath deliuered his people.

q After that I haue punished the Gentiles I will haue mercie vpon them.

r The true doctrine and manner to serue God, of the faithfull, and 10 Many pastours haue destroyed my k vineyard, and troden my portion vnder foote: of my pleasant portion they haue made a desolate wildernesse.

11 They haue layd it waste, and it, being waste, mourneth vnto mee, and the whole land lyeth waste, because no man setteth his minde on l it.

12 The destroyers are come vpon all the high places in the wildernesse: for the sworde of the Lord shall deuoure from the one end of the land, euen to the other end of the land: no flesh shall haue peace.

13 m They haue sowen wheate, and reaped thornes: they were n sicke, and had no profit and they were ashamed of o your fruits, because of the fierce wrath of the Lord.

14 Thus saith the Lord against all mine euill P neighbours, that touch the inheritance, which I haue caused my people Israel to inherite, Be, holde, I will plucke them out of their land, and plucke out the house of Iudah from among them.

15 And after that I haue plucked them out, I q will returne, and haue compassion on them, and will bring againe euery man to his heritage, and euery man to his land.

16 And if they will learne the r wayes of my people, to sweare by my Name, (The s Lord liueth, as they taught my people to sweare by Baal) then shall they be built t in the middes of my people.

17 But if they will not obey, then will I vtterly plucke vp, and destroy that nation, sayeth the Lord.

s Because this riuer Perath or Euphrates was farre from Ierusalem, it is euident that this was a vision, whereby was signified that the Iewes should passe ouer Euphrates to be captiues in Babylon, and there for length of time should seeme to be rotten, although they were loyned to the Lord before as a girdle about a man.

destroy the pride of Iudah, and the great pride of Ierusalem.

10 This wicked people haue refused to heare my word, and walke after the stubburnnesse of their owne heart, and walke after other gods to serue them, and to worship them: therefore they shall be as this girdle, which is profitable to nothing.

11 For as the girdle cleaueth to the loynes of a man, so haue I tied to me the whole house of Israel, and the whole house of Iudah, saith the Lord, that they might be my people: that they might haue a name, and praise, and glory, but they would not heare.

12 Therefore thou shalt say vnto them this word, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Euery b bottell shall be filled with wine, and they shall say vnto thee, Doe we not know that euery bottell shall be filled with wine?

13 Then shalt thou say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land, euen the kings that sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and the Priests and the Prophets, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem with drunkennesse.

14 And I will c dash them one against another, euen the fathers and the sonnes together, saith the Lord: I will not spare, I will not pitie, nor haue compassion, but destroy them.

15 Heare and giue eare, be not proud: for the Lord hath spoken it.

16 Giue glory to the Lord your God before he bring d darkenesse, and or euer your feet stumble in the darke mountains, and whiles you looke for e light, hee turne it into the shadow of death and make it as darkenesse.

17 But if ye will not heare this, my soule shall f weepe in secret for your pride, and mine eye shall weepe and drop downe teares, because the Lords flocke is caried away captiue.

18 Say vnto the g King and to the Queene: Humble your selues, sit downe, for the crowne of your glory shall come downe from your heads.

19 The cities of h the South shall be shut vp, and no man shall open them: all Iudah shall be caried away captiue: it shall be wholly caried away captiue.

20 Lift vp your eyes, and behold them that come from the North: where is the i flocke that was giuen thee, euen thy beautifull flocke?

21 What wilt thou say when he shall visit thee? (for thou hast k taught them to be captaines and as chiefe ouer thee) shall not sorow take thee as a woman in trauaile?

22 And if thou say in thine heart, Wherefore come these things vpon mee? For the multitude of thine iniquities are they skirts l discouered and thy heeles made bare.

23 Can the blacke Moore change his skin? or the leopard his spots, then may ye also doe good that are accustomed to doe euill?

24 Therefore will I scatter them, as the stubble that is taken away with the Southwind.

25 This is thy portion, and the part of thy measures from mee, saith the Lord, because thou hast forgotten me, and trusted in lyes.

26 Therefore I haue also discouered thy skirts vpon thy face, m that thy shame may appeare.

27 I haue seene thine adulteries, and thy neyings, the filthinesse of thy whoredome on the hils in b Euery one of you shalbe filled with spirituall drunkennesse, and be without all knowledge to seeke how to help your selues.

c It shall be as easie for me to destroy the greatest and the strongest, as it is for a man to breake earthen bottels.

d That is, affliction and miserie by the Babylonians, Isa. 8. 22.

i He asketh the king, where his people is become.

k By seeking to strangers for helpe thou hast made them skilfull to fight against thee.

m As thine iniquities haue beene manifest to all the world, so shall thy shame and punishment.

n He compareth idolaters to horses inflamed after mares,

CHAP. XIII.

The destruction of the Iewes is prefigured. 11 Why Israel was receiued to be the people of God, and why they were forsaken. 15 He exhorteth them to repentance.

THus saith the Lord vnto mee, Goe, and buy thee a linnen girdle, & put it vpon thy loynes, and put it not in water.

2 So I bought the girdle according to the commandement of the Lord, and put it vpon my loynes.

3 And the word of the Lord came vnto mee the second time, saying,

4 Take the girdle that thou hast bought, which is vpon thy loynes, and arise, goe toward a Perath, and hide it there in the cleft of the rocke.

5 So I went, and hid it by Perath, as the Lord had commanded me.

6 And after many dayes the Lord sayd vnto mee, Arise, goe toward Perath, and take the girdle from thence, which I commanded thee to hide there.

7 Then went I to Perath, and digged, and tooke the girdle from the place where I had hid it, and behold, the girdle was corrupt, and was profitable for nothing.

CHAP. XIV.

1 Of the dearth that should come. 7 The prayer of the people asking mercie of the Lord. 10 The vnfaithfull people are not heard. 12 Of prayer, fasting, and of false prophets that seduce the people.

THe word of the Lord that came vnto Ieremiah, concerning the a ‖ dearth.

2 Iudah hath mourned, and the gates thereof are desolate, they haue beene b brought to heauinesse vnto the ground, and the crye of Ierusalem goeth vp.

3 And their nobles haue sent their inferiours to the water, who came to the walles, and found no water: they returned with their vessels empty: they were ashamed and confounded, and c couered their heads.

4 For the ground was destroyed, because there was no raine in the earth: the plowmen were ashamed, and couered their heads.

5 Yea, the hinde also calued in the field, and forsooke d it, because there was no grasse.

6 And the wilde asses did stand in the high places, & drew in their wind like e dragons: their eyes did faile, because there was no grasse.

7 f O Lord, though our iniquities testifie against vs, deale with vs according to thy Name: for our rebellions are many, we sinned against thee.

8 O thou hope of Israel, the sauiour thereof in the time of trouble, why art thou as a g stranger in the land, as one that passeth by, to tary for a night?

9 Why art thou as a man astonied, and as h a strong man that cannot helpe? yet thou, O Lord, art in the mids of vs, and thy name is called vpon vs: forsake vs not.

10 Thus saith the Lord vnto this people, Thus haue they delighted to wander: they haue not refrained their feet, therefore the Lord hath no delight in them: but hee will now remember their iniquity, and visit their sinnes.

11 Then said the Lord vnto mee, i Thou shalt not pray to doe this people good.

12 When they fast, I will not heare their cry, and when they offer burnt offering, and an oblation, I will not accept them: but I will consume them by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence.

13 Then answered I, Ah Lord God, behold, the k prophets say vnto them, Yee shall not see the sword, neither shall famine come vpon you, but I will giue you assured peace in this place.

14 Then the Lord said vnto me, The prophets prophecie lies in my name: * I haue not sent them, neither did I command them, neither spake I vnto them, but they prophecie vnto you a false vision, and diuination, and vanity, and deceitfulnesse of their owne heart.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that prophecie in my Name, whom I haue not sent, yet they say, Sword and famine shall not be in this land, by sword and famine shal those prophets be consumed.

16 And the people to whom these prophets do prophecie shalbe cast out in the streetes of Ierusalem, because of the famine, & the sword, and there shall be none to bury them: both they and their wiues, and their sonnes, and their daughters: for I will powre their wickednes vpon them.

17 Therefore thou shalt say this word vnto them, Let mine eyes drop down l teares night and day without ceasing: for the virgine daughter of my people is destroyed with a great destruction, and with a sore grieuous plague.

18 For if I goe into the field, behold the slaine with the sword: & if I enter into the citie, behold them that are sicke for hunger also: moreouer, the Prophet also and the Priest go a wandring m into a land that they know not.

19 Hast thou vtterly reiected n Iudah, or hath thy soule abhorred Zion? why hast thou smitten vs, that wee cannot be healed? Wee looked for peace, and there is no good, and for the time of health, and behold trouble.

20 We o acknowledge, O Lord, our wickednesse, and the iniquitie of our fathers: for we haue sinned against thee.

21 Doe not abhorre vs: for thy Names sake cast not downe the throne of thy glory: remember and breake not thy couenant with vs.

22 Are there any among the p vanities of the Gentiles, that can giue raine? or can the heauens giue showres: Is it not thou, O Lord our God? therefore we will waite vpon thee: for thou hast made all these things.

1 The Lord would heare no prayer for the Iewes, 3 and threatneth to destroy them with foure plagues.

THen said the Lord vnto me, a Though Moses and Samuel stood before me, yet mine affection could not be toward this people: cast them out of my sight, and let them depart.

2 And if they say vnto thee, Whither shall we depart? then tell them, Thus saith the Lord, * Such as are appointed to death, vnto death: and such as are for the sword, to the sword: and such as are for the famine, to the famine: and such as are for the captiuitie, to the captiuitie.

3 And I will appoint ouer them foure kindes, saith the Lord, the sword to slay, and the b dogs to teare in pieces, and the foules of the heauen, and the beasts of the earth to deuoure, and to destroy.

4 I will c scatter them also in all kingdoms of the earth, d because of Manasseh the sonne of Hezekiah King of Iudah, for that which he did in Ierusalem.

5 Who shall then haue pitie vpon thee, O Ierusalem? or who shall be sory for thee? or who shall goe to pray for thy peace?

6 Thou hast forsaken me, sayeth the Lord, and gone backward: therefore will I stretch out mine hand against thee, and destroy thee: for I e am wearie with repenting.

will I deliuer vnto the sword before their enemies, saith the Lord.

10 ¶ k Woe is me, my mother, that thou hast borne me a contentious man, and a man that striueth with the whole earth: I haue neither lent on vsury, nor men haue lent vnto me on vsury, yet euery one doth curse me.

11 The Lord said, m Surely thy remnant shall haue wealth: surely I will cause thine enemie to intreat thee in the time of trouble, and in the time of affliction.

12 Shall the o yron breake the yron, and the brasse that commeth from the North?

13 Thy substance and thy treasures will I giue to be spoiled without ‖ gaine, and that for all thy sinnes euen in all thy borders.

14 And I will make thee to go with thine enemies into a land that thou knowest not: for a fire is kindled in mine anger, which shall burne you.

15 O Lord, thou know'st, remember me, and visit me, and reuenge me of my p persecuters: take me not away in the continuance of thine anger: know that for thy sake I haue suffered rebuke.

16 Thy words were found by me, and I did q eate them, and thy word was vnto me the ioy and reioycing of mine heart: for thy Name is called vpon me, O Lord God of hoastes.

17 I sate not in the assembly of the mockers, neither did I reioyce, but sat alone ‖ because of thy plague; for thou hast filled me with indignation.

18 Why is mine heauineſſe continuall? and my plague desperate and can not be healed? why art thou vnto me r as a liar, and as waters that faile?

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord, If thou s returne, then will I bring thee againe, and thou shalt stand before me: and if thou take away the t precious from the vile, thou shalt be u according to my word: let them returne x vnto thee, but returne not thou vnto them.

20 And I will make thee vnto this people a strong brasen wall, and they shall fight against thee, but they shall not y preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to saue thee, and to deliuer thee, saith the Lord:

21 And I will deliuer thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeeme thee out of the hand of the tyrants.

k These are the Prophets words, complaining of the obstinacie of the people, and that he was reserued to so wicked a time: wherein also he sheweth what is the condition of Gods ministers: to wit, to haue all the world against them, though they giue none occasion.

l Which is an occasion of contention and hatred.

m In this perplexitie the Lord comforted me, and said that my last dayes should be quiet: and by the enemy he meaneth here, Nebuzardan the captaine of Nebuchadnezzar, who gaue Ieremiah the choise either to remaine in his countrey, or to go whither he would: or by the enemie he meaneth the Iewes, which should afterward know Ieremiahs fidelity, and therefore fauour him.

n As for the people, though they seemed strong as yron, yet should they not be able to resist the hard yron of Babylon, but should be led captiues.

‖ Or, vanseme.

o He speaketh not this for desire of reuengeance, but wishing that God would deliuer his Church of them whom he knew to be hardened, and incorrigible.

p I receiued them with as great ioy, as he that is assamished, eateth meat. q I had nothing a doe with the wicked contemners of thy word, but lamented bitterly for thy plagues: shewing what the faithfull should do when they see tokens of Gods anger. r And hast not assisted mee according to the promise? wherein appeareth that in the Saints of God is imperfection of faith, which through impatience is oft times assailed, as Chap. 20. 7. s If thou forget these carnall considerations, and faithfully execute thy charge. t That is, seeke to win the good from the bad. u To wit, as my mouth hath pronounced. Chap. 1. 18 and as heere followeth, verse 20. x Conforme not thy selfe to their wickednes, but let them follow thy godly example. y I will arme thee with an inuincible strength and contancie, so that all the powers of the world shall not ouercome thee.

CHAP. XVI.

a The Lord forbidding Ieremiah to marrie, sheweth him what should be the afflictions vpon Iudah. 13 The captiuitie of Babylon. 15 Their deliuerance. 19 The calling of the Gentiles.

THe word of the Lord came also vnto mee, saying,

2 Thou shalt not take a thee a wife, nor haue sonnes nor daughters in this place.

3 For thus sayth the Lord concerning the sonnes, and concerning the daughters, that are borne in this place, and concerning their mothers that beare them, and concerning their fathers that beget them in this land,

4 They shall die of deaths and diseases: they shall not be lamented, neither shall they be buried, but they shalbe as dung vpon the earth, and they shall be consumed by the sword, and by famine, and their carkeises shall be meat for the foules of the heauen, and for the beasts of the earth.

5 For thus saith the Lord, b Enter not into the house of mourning, neither goe to lament, nor be mooned for them: for I haue taken my peace from this people, saith the Lord, euen mercy and compassion.

6 Both the great and the small shall die in this land: they shall not be buried, neither shall men lament for them, c nor cut themselues, nor make themselues bald for them.

7 They shall not stretch out the hands for them in the mourning to comfort them for the dead, neither shall they giue them the d cup of consolation to drinke for their father or for their mother.

8 Thou shalt not also goe into the house of feasting, to sit with them to eat and to drinke.

9 For thus saith the Lord of hoastes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will cause to cease out of this place in your eyes, euen in your dayes, the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of gladnesse, the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride.

10 And when thou shalt shew this people all these words, and they shall say vnto thee, * Wherefore hath the Lord pronounced all this great plague against vs? or what is e our iniquitie? and what is our sinne that we haue committed against the Lord our God?

11 Then shalt thou say vnto them, Because your fathers haue forsaken me, saith the Lord, and haue walked after other gods, and haue serued them, and worshipped them, and haue forsaken me, and haue not kept my Law,

12 (* And ye haue done worse then your fathers: for behold, you walke euery one after the stubburnnes of his wicked heart, & will not heare me)

13 Therefore will I driue you out of this land into a land that ye know not, neither you nor your fathers, and there ye shall serue other gods day and night: for I will shew you no grace.

14 * Behold therefore, saith the Lord, the dayes come that it shall no more be said, The Lord liueth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt,

15 But, The Lord liueth, that brought vp the children of Israel f from the land of the North, and from all the landes where hee had scattered them, and I will bring them againe into their land that I gaue vnto their fathers.

16 Behold, saith the Lord, I will send out many g fishers, and they shall fish them, and after will I send out many hunters, and they shall hunt them from euery mountaine, and from euery hill, and out of the caues of the rocks.

17 For mine eyes are vpon all their ways: they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquitie hid from mine eyes.

18 And first I will recompense their iniquitie and their sinne double, because they haue defiled my land, and haue filled mine inheritance with their filthie h carions and their abominations.

19 O Lord, thou art my i force, and my strength and my refuge in the day of affliction: the Gentiles shall come vnto thee from the endes of the world, and shall say, Surely our fathers haue inherited k lies, and vanitie, wherein there was no profit.

20 Shall a man make gods vnto himselfe, and they are no gods?

21 Behold,

b Signifying, that the affliction should be so great, that one should not haue leasure to comfort another.

c That is, should not reost their cleathes in signe of mourning.

d For in these great extremities all consolation and comfort shall be in vaine.

* Chap. 5. 19.

e Because the wicked are alwayes rebellious, and dissemble their owne sinnes, and murmure against Gods iudgements, as though he had iust cause to punish them, he sheweth him what to answere.

* Chap. 7. 26.

* Chap. 23. 7.

f Signifying the benefit of their deliuerance out of Babylon should be so great, that it should abolish the remembrance of their deliuerance from Egypt: but he hath here chiefly respect to the spirituall deliuerance vnder Christ.

g By the fishers and hunters are meant the Babylonians and Caldeans, who should destroy them in such sort, that if they escaped the one, the other should take them.

h That is, their sonnes and daughters, which they offered to Molech.

i He wondreth at the great mercy of God in this deliuerance, which shall not onely extend to the Iewes, but also to the Gentiles.

k Our fathers were most vile idolaters, therefore it commeth onely of Gods mercy, that he performeth his promise, and hath not vtterly cast vs off.

21 Beholde, therefore I will this once [l] teach them: I will shewe them mine hand and my power, and they shall know that my Name is the Lord.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The frowardnesse of the Iewes. 5 Cursed be those that put their confidence in man. 9 Mans heart is wicked. 10 God is the searcher of the heart. 13 The liuing waters are forsaken. 21 The right keeping of the Sabbath is commanded.

THe sinne of [a] Iudah is written with a pen of yron, and with the point of a diamond, and grauen vpon the [b] table of their heart, and vpon the hornes of your [c] altars.

2 [d] They remember their altars as their children, with their groues by the greene trees vpon the high hils.

3 [e] O my mountaine in the field, I will giue thy substance, and all thy treasures to be spoyled, for the sinne of thy high places throughout all thy borders.

4 And thou shalt rest, [f] and in thee shall be a rest from thine heritage that I gaue thee, and I will cause thee to serue thine enemies in the land, which thou knoweſt not: for yee haue kindled a fire in mine anger, which shall burne for euer.

5 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, [g] Cursed be the man that trusteth in man, and maketh flesh his arme, and withdraweth his heart from the Lord.

6 For he shall be like the heath in the wildernesse, and shall not see when any good commeth, but shall inhabite the parched places in the wildernesse, in a salt land, and not inhabited.

7 Blessed be the man that trusteth in the Lord, and whose hope the Lord is.

8 [h] For he shall be as a tree that is planted by the water, which spreadeth out her rootes by the riuer, and shall not feele when the heat commeth, but her leafe shall be greene, and shall not care for the yeere of drought, neither shall cease from yeelding fruit.

9 [i] The heart is deceitfull and wicked aboue all things, who can know it?

10 I the Lord search the heart, and trie the reines, euen to giue euery man according to his wayes, and according to the fruite of his works.

11 [k] As the Partrich gathereth the young, which shee hath not brought foorth: so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leaue them in the middes of his dayes, and at his end shall be a foole.

12 As a glorious throne exalted from the beginning, so is the place of our Sanctuary.

13 O Lord, the hope of Israel, all that forsake thee, shall be confounded: they that depart from thee, shalbe written [m] in the earth, because they haue forsaken the Lord, the fountaine of liuing waters.

14 Heale mee, O Lord, and I shall be whole: [n] saue mee, and I shall be saued: for thou art my prayse.

15 Behold, [o] they say vnto me, Where is the word of the Lord? let it come now.

16 But [p] I haue not thrust in my selfe for a pastour after thee, neither haue I desired the day of miserie, thou knoweſt that which came out of my lips was right before thee.

17 Be not [q] terrible vnto me: thou art mine hope in the day of aduersitie.

18 Let them be confounded, that persecute me, but let not me be confounded: let them be afraid, but let not me be afraid: bring vpon them the day of aduersitie, [r] and destroy them with double destruction.

19 Thus hath the Lord said vnto me, Goe and stand in the [s] gate of the children of the people, whereby the Kings of Iudah come in, and by the which they goe out, and in all the gates of Ierusalem, 20 And say vnto them, Heare the word of the Lord, yee kings of Iudah, and all Iudah, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, that enter in by these gates.

21 Thus saith the Lord, Take beede to your soules, and beare no burden in the [t] Sabbath day, nor bring it in by the gates of Ierusalem, 22 Neither carie forth burdens out of your houses in the Sabbath day: neither doe yee any worke, but sanctifie the Sabbath, as I commanded your fathers.

23 But they obeyed not, neither inclined their eares, but made their neckes stiffe, and would not heare, nor receiue correction.

24 Neuertheleſſe, if ye will heare me, saith the Lord, and beare no burden through the gates of the citie in the Sabbath day, but sanctifie the Sabbath day, so that ye do no worke therein,

25 Then shall the Kings and the Princes enter in at the gates of this citie, and shall sit * vpon the throne of Dauid, and shall ride vpon charets and vpon horses, both they and their princes, the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem: and this citie shall remaine for euer.

26 And they shall come from the cities of Iudah, and from about Ierusalem, and from the land of Beniamin, and from the plaine, and from the mountaines, and from the South, which shall bring burnt offerings, and sacrifices, and meat offerings, and incense, and shall bring sacrifice of praise into the house of the Lord.

27 But if ye will not heare me to sanctifie the Sabbath day, and not to beare a burden, nor to go through the gates of Ierusalem in the Sabbath day, then will I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem, and it shall not be quenched.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 God sheweth by the example of a potter, that it is in his power to destroy the despisers of his word. 18 The conspiracie of the Iewes against Ieremiah. 19 His prayer against his aduersaries.

THe word which came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Arise and go downe into the potters house, and there shall I shew thee my words.

3 Then I went downe to the potters house, and behold, he wrought a worke on the wheeles.

4 And the vessel that he made of [a] clay, was broken in the hand of the potter, so he returned, and made it another vessel, as seemed good to the potter to make it.

5 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

l They shall once againe feele my power, and mercie for their deliuerance, that they may learne to worship me.

6 O house of Israel, cannot I doe with you as this potter, saith the Lord? behold, as the clay is in the potters hand, so are you in mine hand, O house of Israel.

7 I will speake suddenly against a nation, or against a kingdome to plucke it vp, and to roote it out, and to destroy it.

8 But if this nation against whom I haue pronounced, turne from their wickednes, I will [b] repent of the plague that I thought to bring vpon them.

9 And I will speake suddenly concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdome to build it and to plant it.

10 But if it doe euill [c] in my sight, and heare not my voyce, I will repent of the good that I thought to doe for them.

11 Speake thou now therefore vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I prepare a plague for you, and purpose a thing against you: returne you therefore euery one from his euill way, and make your wayes and your workes good.

12 But they said [c] desperately, Surely we will walke after our owne imaginations, and doe euery man after the stubburnnesse of his wicked heart.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Aske now among the heathen, who hath heard such things? the virgin of Israel hath done very filthily.

14 Will a man forsake the snow of Lebanon, which commeth from the rocke of the field? [d] or shall the cold flowing waters, that come from another place, be forsaken?

15 Because my people hath forgotten me, and haue burnt incense to vanitie, and their prophets haue caused them to stumble in their wayes from the [e] ancient wayes, to walke in the paths and way that is not troden,

16 To make their land desolate, and a perpetuall derision, so that euery one that passeth thereby shall be astonished and wagge his head.

17 I will scatter them with an East winde before the enemie: I will shew them the backe, and [f] not the face in the day of their destruction.

18 Then said they, Come, and let vs imagine some deuise against Ieremiah: for the Law shall not perish from the Priest, nor counsell from the wise, nor the word from the Prophet: come, and let vs smite him with the [h] tongue, and let vs not giue heed to any of his words.

19 Hearken vnto mee, O Lord, and heare the voyce of them that contend with me.

20 Shall euill be recompensed for good? for they haue digged a pit for my soule: remember that I stood before thee, to speake good for them, and to turne away thy wrath from them.

21 Therefore, [i] deliuer vp their children to famine, and let them drop away by the force of the sword, & let their wiues be robbed of their children, and be widowes: and let their husbands be put to death, and let their yong men be slaine by the sword in the battell.

22 Let the crye be heard from their houses, when thou shalt bring an hoaste suddenly vpon them: for they haue digged a pit to take me, and hid snares for my feet.

23 Yet Lord thou knowest all their counsell against me tendeth to death: forgiue not their iniquitie, neither put out their sinne from thy sight, but let them be ouerthrowen before thee: deale thus with them in the time of thine anger.

CHAP. XIX.

Hee prophecieth the destruction of Ierusalem for the contempt and despising of the word of God.

THus said the Lord, Goe, and buy an earthen bottell of a potter, and take of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the Priests,

2 And goe forth vnto the valley of Ben-hinnom, which is by the entry of the ‖ Eastgate: and thou shalt preach there the words, that I shall tell thee,

3 And shalt say, Heare yee the word of the Lord, O [a] Kings of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem, Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring a plague vpon this place, the which whosoeuer heareth, his eares shall [b] tingle.

4 Because they haue forsaken me, and prophaned this place, and haue burnt incense in it vnto other gods, whom neither they, nor their fathers haue knowen, nor the Kings of Iudah (they haue filled this place also with the blood of innocents,

5 And they haue built the hie places of Baal, to burne their sonnes with fire for burnt offrings vnto Baal, which I [c] commanded not, nor spake it, neither came it into my mind)

6 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that this place shall no more be called [d] Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of slaughter.

7 And I will bring the counsell of Iudah and Ierusalem to nought in this place, and I will cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies, and by the hand of them that seeke their liues: and their carkeises will I giue to be meat for the foules of the heauen, and to the beastes of the field.

8 * And I will make this citie desolate, and an hissing, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shal be astonished and hisse because of all the plagues thereof.

9 * And I will feed them with the flesh of their sonnes, and with the flesh of their daughters, and euery one shall eate the flesh of his friend in the siege and straitnesse, wherewith their enemies that seeke their liues, shall bold them strait.

10 Then shalt thou breake the bottell in the sight of the men that goe with thee,

11 And shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hoasts, Euen so will I breake this people and this citie, as one breaketh a [e] potters vessell, that cannot be made whole againe, and they shall burie them in Topheth till there be no place to burie.

12 Thus will I doe vnto this place, saith the Lord, and to the inhabitants thereof, and I will make this citie like Topheth.

13 For the houses of Ierusalem, and the houses of the Kings of Iudah shalbe defiled as the place of Topheth, because of all the [f] houses vpon whose [g] rooues they haue burnt incense vnto all the hoast of heauen, and haue powred out drinke offrings vnto other gods.

14 Then came Ieremiah from Topheth, where the Lord had sent him to prophecie, and he stood in the court of the Lords house, and said to all the people,

[b] When the Scripture attributeth repentance vnto God, it is not that he doeth contrary to that which he hath ordeined in his secret counsell: but when hee threatneth, it is a calling to repentance, and when he giueth man grace to repent, the threatning (which euer conteineth a condition in it) taketh no place: and this the scripture calleth repentance in God, because it so appeareth to mans iudgement.

[c] As men that had no remorse, but were altogether bent to rebellion and to their owne fesse will.

[d] As no man that hath thirst refuseth fresh conduit waters which he hath at home, to goe and seeke waters abroad to quench his thirst: so they ought not to seeke for helpe and succour at strangers and leaue God which was present with them. That is, the way of trueth which God had taught by his law. reade Chap. 6. 16.

[e] I will shew mine anger and not my fauour toward them.

[h] Let vs slander him, and accuse him: for we shall be beleeued.

[i] Seeing the obstinate malice of the aduersaries, which grew dayly more and more, the Prophet being moued with Gods Spirit, without any carnall affection prayeth for their destruction, because he knewe that it should tend to Gods glory, and profit of his Church.

15 Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring vpon this city, and vpon all her townes, all the plagues that I haue pronounced against it, because they haue hardened their neckes, and would not heare my wordes.

CHAP. XX.

a Ieremiah is smitten and cast into prison for preaching of the word of God. 3 He prophecieth the captiuitie of Babylon. 7 He complaineth that hee is a mocking stocke for the word of God. 9 Hee is compelled by the spirit to preach the word.

WHen Pashur, the sonne of Immer, the priest, which was appointed gouernour in the house of the Lord, heard that Ieremiah prophecied these things,

2 Then Pashur smote Ieremiah the Prophet, and put him in the [a] stockes that were in the hie gate of Beniamin, which was by the house of the Lord.

3 And on the morning, Pashur brought Ieremiah out of the stockes. Then said Ieremiah vnto him, The Lord hath not called thy name Pashur, but ‖ Magor-missabib.

4 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will make thee to be a terrour to thy selfe, and to all thy friendes, and they shall fall by the sword of their enemies, and thine eyes shall behold it, and I will giue all Iudah into the hand of the king of Babel, and hee shall carry them captiue into Babel, and shall slay them with the sword.

5 Moreouer, I will deliuer all the substance of this citie, and all the labours thereof, and all the precious things thereof, and all the treasures of the Kings of Iudah will I giue into the hand of their enemies, which shall spoyle them, and take them away and cary them to Babel.

6 And thou Pashur, and all that dwell in thine house, shall goe into captiuitie, and thou shalt come to Babel, and there thou shalt die, and shalt be buried there, thou and all thy [b] friendes, to whom thou hast prophecied lies.

7 O Lord, thou hast deceiued mee, and I am [c] deceiued: thou art stronger then I, and hast preuailed: I am in derision dayly: euery one mocketh me.

8 For since I spake, I cryed out of wrong, and proclaimed [e] desolation: therefore the word of the Lord was made a reproach vnto me, and in derision dayly.

9 Then I sayd, I will not make mention of him, nor speake any more in his Name. But his word was in mine heart as a burning fire shut vp in my bones, and I was wearie with forbearing, and I could not stay.

10 For I had heard the rayling of many, and feare on euery side. [f] Declare, sayd they, and wee will declare it: all my familiars watched for mine halting, saying, It may be that he is deceiued: so we shall preuaile against him, and we shall execute our vengeance vpon him.

11 ¶ But the Lord is with mee like a mighty gyant: therefore my persecuters shall be ouerthrowen, and shall not preuaile, and shalbe greatly confounded: for they haue done vowisely, and their euerlasting shame shall neuer be forgotten.

12 * But, O Lord of hoastes, that tryest the righteous, and seest the reines and the heart, let mee see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

13 Sing vnto the Lord, praise ye the Lord: for he hath deliuered the soule of the poore from the hand of the wicked.

14 ¶ [h] Cursed be the day wherein I was borne: and let not the day wherein my mother bare me, be blessed.

15 Cursed be the man that shewed my father, saying, A man child is borne vnto thee, and comforted him.

16 And let that man be as the [i] cities, which the Lord hath ouerturned and repented not: and let him heare the cry in the morning, and the shouting at noone tide,

17 Because he hath not slaine mee, amen from the wombe, or that my mother might haue beene my graue, or her wombe a perpetuall [k] conception.

18 How is it, that I came forth of the wombe, to see labour and sorow, that my dayes should be consumed with shame?

CHAP. XXI.

He prophecieth that Zedekiah shalbe taken, and the city burned.

THE worde which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, when king Zedekiah sent vnto him Pashur, the sonne of Malchiah, and Zephaniah, the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, saying,

2 [a] Inquire, I pray thee, of the Lord for vs, (for Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel maketh warre against vs) if so be that the Lord will deale with vs according to all his wonderous workes, that he may returne vp from vs.

3 Then said Ieremiah, Thus shall you say to Zedekiah,

4 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Behold, I will [b] turne backe the weapons of warre that are in your hands, wherewith ye fight against the king of Babel, and against the Caldeans, which besiege you without the walles, and I will assemble them into the mids of this city.

5 And I my selfe will fight against you with an outstretched hand, and with a mighty arme, euen in anger and in wrath, and in great indignation.

6 And I will smite the inhabitants of this citie, both man and beast: they shall die of a great pestilence.
